RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE SUBURBAN MUNICIPALITY FOR 1874-75.

MUNICIPAL

Calcutta, the 11th November 1875.

READ—

Letter No. 19M.M., dated 14th August 1875, from the Commissioner, Presidency Division, submitting with his remarks the Annual Administration Report of the Suburban Municipality for 1874-75.

Read again—

The Report for the previous year with the orders passed thereon.

1. Income.—In submitting the annual report on the Suburban Municipality for the past year, the Commissioner of the Presidency Division has drawn attention to the satisfactory and solvent condition of the municipal finances. Against a total expenditure of Rs. 4,05,865, there was a current revenue amounting to Rs. 4,18,162; while in the charges there was a merely nominal excess of Rs. 11,865 over the estimates; the receipts were better than what was anticipated by no less a sum than Rs. 53,862. Of this excess, the greater part no doubt is nominal merely, as against an increase of Rs. 28,907 in the receipts under the new scavengering scheme is to be placed an excess in the expenditure on that account of Rs. 24,801; while of the Rs. 28,587 surplus, with which the head "Miscellaneous" is credited, no less than Rs. 22,026 appear in the suspense account. The chief sources of the income of the Municipality continue to be the house-rate and the horse and carriage tax. Under the former head the collections amounted to Rs. 2,39,120, against Rs. 2,33,550 in the previous year. Under the latter head also there has been some increase of income, the receipts having amounted to Rs. 25,239, against Rs. 24,957 in the previous year. The Commissioner regards the increase in the collections on account of the house-rate as specially satisfactory; and, considering the depreciation which is reported to have occurred in the value of house property in the suburbs, the Lieutenant-Governor agrees that it is so. The receipts on account of the registration of carts amounted to Rs. 8,061, or Rs. 1,596 in excess of those in the previous year. Payment, however, not having been received till after the close of the year, the account of receipts appears less favorable than it should by that amount. The year opened with a balance of Rs. 71,263, and closed with a balance of Rs. 78,559.

2. Expenditure.—The total charges of the year exceeded those of the previous year by Rs. 90,804. Under a few heads, such as "Police," "Watering," and "Conservancy," a trifling reduction in expenditure was effected: but on the other hand the increase under other heads has been great, and, it is to be feared, permanent. The price of stone-metal for the roads appears to have risen 50 per cent. during the year, so that the average cost per 100 cubic feet for renewing a road has risen from Rs. 23-5-10 to Rs. 34-10-3. To this fact is to be attributed no inconsiderable part of the increased expenditure on roads (which amounted to Rs 1,04,215, against Rs. 50,345 in the previous year). The Lieutenant-Governor observes, however, with satisfaction, that the amount of work done largely exceeded that carried out in 1873-74, 19 miles of road having been either newly metalled or repaired, against 10 in the previous year. The increase of Rs. 21,106 observable in the expenditure on account of house scavengering has been more than met by the increased receipts already noticed under that head. Similarly, an increase of Rs. 2,217 in the expenditure in the workshop was more than covered by increased receipts from parties for whom work was done on payment.

3. Water-supply.—It is an unsatisfactory feature in the administration of the Municipality that so little has hitherto been done towards improving the water-supply of the suburbs. It is stated that during the past five years Rs. 6,998 only have been spent with this object. The Lieutenant-Governor observes that difficulty has been experienced in obtaining eligible sites for drinking-water tanks. Apparently, however, from the Commissioner's letter, one site at least should by this time have been made available; and it is to be hoped that no time will be lost in taking advantage of it for the purpose of providing the inhabitants of the neighbourhood with pure water. As it may now be accepted as definitely settled that the Justices of Calcutta will not, for many years to come, be in a position to extend their system of water-supply to the suburbs, Sir Richard Temple trusts that the Municipal Commissioners will see their way to taking some decisive steps during the ensuing season for supplying by other means what has for many years been a marked defect in their Municipality. In this connection, also, it is of the utmost importance to improve the drainage of the suburbs—a matter regarding which little appears to have been hitherto done—so as to preserve the sub-soil and the existing tanks from being contaminated by sewage matter.

4. Conservancy.—The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that the important question of how to improve the conservancy of the suburbs has occupied much of the attention of the Commissioners during the year. The recommendations which their Committee drew up with this object have been referred to the Legislative Department for consideration in connection with the new Municipalities' Bill. Meanwhile much good may be effected by a rigid enforcement of the existing law. The most obvious nuisances to which attention has been repeatedly drawn are such as might effectually be dealt with under it. What appears to be chiefly necessary at present is to create vigilance on the part of the police. Improvement may be effected no doubt by rendering the owners of land responsible for keeping it in a cleanly state, but even they will be powerless without assistance such as the police are in the best position to afford.

5. The Lieutenant-Governor observes with pleasure the steps which have been taken to improve the burning-ghâts at Kallyghat and Barranagore. Much credit is due to the Narail zemindars for the handsome way in which they have made over the land on the river bank at the latter place to the Commissioners for the purpose of enforcing better conservancy.

6. The account which is given in the report of the working of the system of house scavengering introduced in 1873, while it discloses many defects, yet shows that considerable good has been effected. In order that the full benefit derivable from the system may be secured, it is possible that a resort to legislation may be necessary, and any representation on the subject which may be separately submitted will be duly taken into consideration with the new Municipalities' Bill. Meanwhile, the efforts made to render the voluntary system popular should not be relaxed.

7. The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to observe the assistance which has been given by certain Municipal Commissioners, who are also Honorary Magistrates, in the disposal of municipal cases. Prince Mahomed Roheem-ooddeen and Baboos Khelut Chunder Ghose and Prankissen Mookerjee are particularly deserving of credit for the regularity with which they have attended the sittings on the Bench.

8. The thanks of Government are due to the Municipality for the liberality with which they have come forward in support of the cause of education, the total expenditure incurred by them on this behalf having amounted to Rs. 6,461.

9 The Lieutenant-Governor observes the favorable testimony borne by the Commissioner to the attention paid by Messrs. Peacock and Wells during their respective terms of office to their duties in connection with the Municipality. The value of Mr. Craufurd Sterndale's services has been frequently acknowledged, and the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to learn that they have met with substantial recognition at the hands of the Municipal Commissioners.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

R. L. MANGLES,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

NORMAL SCHOOLS FOR VERNACULAR INSTRUCTION IN THE SEVERAL PROVINCES UNDER THE GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

Minute by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, dated 9th September 1875.

THE papers submitted by the Director of Public Instruction render it necessary that I should state my views regarding the normal schools in the provinces under the Government of Bengal. It is to be remembered that these schools exist only for the teaching of schoolmasters in the vernacular languages, and that we have no schools at all for the teaching of schoolmasters in English.*

2. As our normal schools, then, relate to vernacular learning only, I must begin by noting the position and prospects of that branch of learning in these provinces.

3. As is well known, the University of Calcutta does not confer degrees in the vernacular or the classical languages of India; the object of this most important institution is to confer degrees in English. It is true that a candidate for entrance to the University, and for a degree, must pass in one additional language, which is generally an oriental language. But this is only subsidiary to the main purpose, namely that of imparting the highest kinds of instruction through the medium of English. However desirous we may be of promoting oriental studies, and of using the vernacular as the vehicle of instruction, we cannot but concur in the practical wisdom of the course adopted by the University in this matter, inasmuch as in Bengal the intellectual aspirations and practical desires of the people are all in the direction of English. So strong is this bent of the popular will, and so much does it coincide in several respects with our own predilections, that we must needs allow full scope to it. Although a very fair Bengalee literature is springing up,—of a scholastic kind chiefly, and of a general kind also,—which will, we may hope, grow and flourish more and more; although Sanscrit will, we trust, continue to be studied as the parent of the Bengalee language; although a fair culture in their own language will doubtless always characterise all educated Bengalees, even those whose principal education may have been in English; although some studious classes may continue to cultivate oriental learning for the sake of the noble literature and the historical interest of ancient times—still the fact remains that almost every Bengalee youth who can afford the means does aspire to English education as one of the main objects of his life. And this important fact, so far from being likely to be weakened or shaken in the future, will probably gain in strength and expansion. As regards higher education, then, we are apparently forced to accept the conclusion that although vernacular learning will be followed largely as an adjunct to English learning, still exclusive vernacular education will hold but an inferior place to English.

4. Nevertheless vernacular learning has a vastly wide field of its own in another quarter, that is, in the middle and lower branches of the national education. However much English learning may spread, still, if education is to be imparted to the mass of the people of these provinces, it must be, it can only be, through the medium of the vernacular. The latest published education report shows a total number of 458,000 persons at schools. Out of these there were certainly 391,000 learning in the vernacular only, as they were attending schools in which English is not taught; the remainder, 67,000, were attending schools where English is more or less taught together with the vernacular, but a considerable portion of this number were not learning English, though how many exactly I cannot discover from the returns. Thus five boys out of every six at school, perhaps eight out of every nine, are learning in the vernacular only; and with the expansion of primary education the already great numerical majority on the vernacular side is likely to become greater and greater. In other words, while English will remain the medium of the higher and of a part of the middle instruction to the upper classes entirely, and to a section of the middle classes, the vernacular will remain the medium of the middle instruction to the remainder of the middle classes, and of the primary instruction to the lower classes entirely. From this point of view their vernacular education, affecting as it does the vast numerical majority of the people, becomes of the greatest interest.

It is to the quality of this vernacular education that our normal schools or colleges will be found to have so close a relation.

5. Before proceeding further, I wish to examine for a moment the reasons which can or cannot be properly advanced for the establishment of normal institutions. On the one hand, it may be truly said that there is no reason why schoolmasters should be trained gratuitously for their profession at the expense of the State. On the other hand, it may be urged that when, in a country like India, the Government has to introduce education among the whole people of a province, or has to extend it to some large class of the people previously uneducated, the necessary supply of schoolmasters is not forthcoming, and can only be obtained by the State itself undertaking to train men for that profession: and then the establishment of normal schools is justified by special necessity. But clearly the measure should be limited by the extent and duration of that necessity. After a time, as the education spreads, schoolmasters from the educated classes will become available, and the State may then leave the scholastic profession to fill itself, just as all other professions are filled. It is for this reason that we, in Bengal, have not maintained normal schools for the English section, where competent men are abundant, while we have maintained such institutions for the vernacular section, where competent men are scarce.

6. I do not forget that there is an art of pedagogy for which some preparation may be desirable. But some educational authorities consider that it is not necessary to maintain normal schools for this purpose alone, and that the real point is to indoctrinate the masters thoroughly with the matter which they will have to teach, in the confidence that if the teacher is himself master of his subject, he will communicate his own spirit to his pupils. I incline to concur in this view. In Bengal, although we have not (as already observed) any normal schools at all for English, we do not find our teachers of English deficient in the art of pedagogy.

7. I come, then, to the question as to how far, according to the principle above laid down, we ought to have normal schools in these provinces.

As set forth in my minute of the 3rd May 1875, we have or shall have three classes of vernacular schools, which, beginning from the lowest class, may be classed thus: "primary," intermediate," and "middle," for each of which a separate standard is prescribed. For the reasons just explained we neither have, nor are likely to have, any vernacular schools worthy of being classed as "higher." It has been laid down as a good principle that the schoolmaster of each class of school must be educated up to a standard above that class: that is to say, a teacher for the "primary" schools must be himself at least taught up to the "intermediate" standard; a teacher for the "intermediate" schools must be taught at least up to the "middle" class standard; and ateacher for the "middle" class schools must be taught up to a standard something above that class.

8. Now, in Bengal Proper (exclusive of Behar, Orissa, the Chutia Nagpore province, and the Cooch Behar division), middle class vernacular education has so far advanced, that there ought not to be, and in fact there generally is not, any difficulty in obtaining teachers for the intermediate and primary schools. Any of the scholars who have passed the "middle" standard are qualified for such teacherships. All that is required is to prescribe that in future no person can be appointed permanently or temporarily to any school of the intermediate class unless he shall have passed the "middle" standard, nor to any primary school unless he shall have passed the "intermediate" standard. So far, then, there is no need for normal schools. But in the primary schools there are many teachers or "gooroos" who existed before we took these schools under Government aid and inspection, and who have to be trained so far as they are capable of training. These men are obliged, as one of the conditions of State assistance, to undergo a certain degree of normal training. To this extent, and to this only, is there any real need for normal schools. These men, who are at the best but unsatisfactory teachers, will gradually disappear, and be replaced by better teachers who have been properly taught in our schools. And in all vacancies it will be a condition of State assistance that the new man must have passed either the "intermediate" or the "middle" standard. In Bengal Proper, exclusive of the other provinces as already mentioned, there are now 18 normal schools of the second and third grades, costing Rs. 52,144 per annum. I should hope to gradually reduce and dispense with these, looking forward to their total abolition ultimately. With this view, I desire that no persons be admitted to these institutions save "gooroos" who belonged to primary schools before the introduction of Government assistance and inspection. The reduction of cost ought to begin to take effect almost immediately. This direction need not be applied to those other than "gooroos" who are now at these institutions, and are undergoing a course; these may complete their course. But there will be no fresh admissions, except "gooroos."

9. There remain the normal schools of the first grade, five in number, at Calcutta, Hooghly, Dacca, Rajshahye, and Chittagong, respectively. Here are trained the masters for the middle class vernacular schools. Had there been higher vernacular schools, then these normal institutions would not have been necessary, inasmuch as persons who had passed a higher vernacular standard would be eligible for masterships in the middle school. But, as already explained, there neither are, nor are likely to be, higher vernacular schools, nor any vernacular college, save the Sanscrit College at Calcutta. Therefore we must maintain some higher normal institutions; otherwise we shall not obtain good teachers for the middle schools. There are now about 700 of these middle vernacular schools in Bengal Proper, and the number will doubtless increase. One institution must be maintained at or near Rajshahye for Northern Bengal, and one at Dacca for Eastern Bengal. But it seems to me doubtful whether one institution need be maintained both at Hooghly and Calcutta. I desire that the possibility of amalgamating them, with a view to reduction of expense, may be considered, or else that the attaching of the Calcutta Normal School to the Sanscrit College may be considered.

10. As regards this limited number (five, perhaps to be reduced to four) of normal institutions of the first grade, I desire that the existing staff be maintained at its full efficiency. Upon these institutions will depend the quality of our vernacular education; by their standard must all teachers for the middle class schools be qualified and passed; upon these masters, again, will depend the educational character of the masters for the lower vernacular, that is, the "intermediate" and the "primary" schools, inasmuch as in future all masters for the "intermediate" and "primary" schools must have passed the standard of the middle schools.

11. Present incumbents, who may not have passed this standard, may be left undisturbed. But in future no person should be appointed permanently or temporarily to the head-teachership of a "middle" vernacular school aided or suported by Government unless he holds the certificate of the final examination of a first grade normal institution.

12. These four or five first grade normal institutions will (in addition to the Sanscrit College) indeed be our only vernacular schools with any pretension to be classed as "higher," and we ought to have these few very good. They will constitute the only institutions which at all approach the character of vernacular colleges. I have already, by my minute of the 12th January 1875, afforded additional facilities for Sanscrit teaching in these institutions.

13. Further, it is at these institutions that instruction is to be given through the vernacular in physical science, in the manner laid down in paragraph 5 of my minute of 3rd May 1875. I especially desire that attention be given to this matter, and that each of these institutions be furnished with proper apparatus and laboratories for instruction in chemistry and botany at least. No person is to be passed out unless he is qualified to practically afford elementary instruction in one or both of these sciences. In the minute of 3rd May it was explained that this much of scientific teaching is to form a part of the curriculum and of the standard for our vernacular schools, and that the masters must themselves undergo some practical training: that is to say, they must be instructed in chemistry by means of experiments in a laboratory, and in botany by the scientific dissection and microscopic examination of living plants. It is on these first grade normal institutions that we must depend for the carrying out of this important process, and as their number is so very limited, we shall be able to see that this is really done.

14. Further, these institutions may be examining as well as teaching bodies. Any candidates for vernacular masterships may present themselves for examination at any one of these institutions, although they may not have received instruction at the institution itself.

15. For these first grade normal institutions there should be one annual examination, so that the students may be tried by an uniform test. This rule will accord with a practice which formerly prevailed, and can easily be carried out, as the number of the institutions is so small.

16. There remains the question of stipends receivable by those who study at these institutions. At present such stipends are largely paid, but are objected to by some authorities on the ground that it is indeed liberal on the part of Government to train the students gratuitously, but that it is carrying such liberality too far to train them gratuitously, and to also pay them stipends in order to induce them to accept the instruction whereby they are to earn their own living. There is apparently much force in these objections. But in reality these stipends do not essentially differ in principle from scholarships, which at all sorts of schools are admitted to be among the effective modes of educing merit, and of which we make great use. By rule, however, the scholarships at schools are awarded after competition; whereas the stipends at these normal institutions are not subject to any rule of this sort, but are, as I understand, awarded sometimes after what is virtually competition, and sometimes otherwise. But if rules similar to those of the scholarships were observed for these stipends, I should regard them as resting on the same principal of justification as the scholarships. On the whole, I consider that the stipends at the first grade normal institutions ought to be immediately revised. I would propose to abolish them altogether as stipends, and to regrant them as scholarships. This can, as it seems to me, be easily effected, as we already grant a certain number of scholarships to the middle class vernacular schools, tenable in the higher class English schools. In addition to these scholarships, in these schools there can be allotted a certain number of scholarships which will be tenable in the first grade normal institutions, and will be subject to the same rules and the same competitive examination as all other scholarships. I desire that this plan may be considered with a view to being carried out, if possible.

We should thus make sure that some of our students of the first grade normal institutions are from among the best of the scholars of our vernacular schools. This would not, of course, prevent persons other than scholarship-holders from being admitted to the institution. Whatever fees are chargeable at schools should be levied at these institutions also.

17. Students at these institutions are not bound at present to follow the scholastic profession; and I would not propose to bind them. They would enter and leave these institutions as holders of scholarships or payers of fees, in the same manner as the students at all other schools or colleges.

18. In Behar, in Orissa, in the Chutia Nagpore province, and in the Cooch Behar division, where vernacular education is much more backward, we must for a time maintain normal institutions for training masters, not only for the "middle," but also for the "intermediate" and the "primary" schools, otherwise we shall not be able to obtain competent persons. Indeed, I have already given orders to this effect as regards Behar in my minute of the 31st August 1875. In the several parts of the country, as mentioned above, there must, in each district, be a normal school teaching up to the middle standard. I would allow the civil and educational authorities in these districts to allow stipends at their discretion, as is now done, with only a general injunction to limit these stipends as much as they possibly can, consistently with their obtaining the schoolmasters they want. This provision should, however, be regarded as only temporary and provisional. As middle class vernacular education shall improve and spread, I should expect that the need for these institutions would decrease, so that they might be gradually reduced.

19. As regards first grade normal institutions in these parts of the country, I admit that there must be maintained one at Ranchee for Chutia Nagpore, at Cuttack for Orissa, and at Patna for Behar. Whether a second institution must be maintained for Behar at Bhagulpore may be doubted. I should be glad if the local authorities could manage to reduce the one at Bhagulpore, or amalgamate it with the one at Patna, and so save expense. These institutions are subject to the same remarks as those just made regarding the first grade institutions in Bengal Proper.

20. In conclusion, I must observe that in regard to the educational demands in other directions, it is of consequence to save some of the present expense in the normal instruction, and to throw a fair share of this expense on those who are trained for the scholastic profession, which is so largely aided by the State, and so to place the training for this profession on the same ground as the training for all other civil professions. The present annual cost of the normal institutions in these provinces amounts to Rs. 1,47,656. It has been already proposed to reduce this to Rs. 1,27,734, and this reduction must at least be effected. But in reference to the considerations set forth in this minute, I should hope that reduction may by degrees be carried out considerably further.

21. In connection with this general subject, I have not overlooked the Mahomedan madrissahs recently established with the funds derived from the Mahomed Mohsin Endowment, of which institutions there are now four in these provinces, besides the Calcutta Madrissah, which is supported by a separate grant from Government. Of these, one—that at Calcutta—belongs to the "higher" class, and the remainder to the "middle." At all these Arabic, Persian, and Urdu, are taught conjointly with English. For the oriental section of their teaching, they have no difficulty in obtaining teachers from Calcutta, Behar, or Upper India; therefore the remarks in this minute do not apply to them.

RICHARD TEMPLE.

LIBERALITY TOWARDS THE DINAPORE DISPENSARY OF BABOO GOUR PERSHAD SAHOO, ZEMINDAR.

No. 3524T, dated Darjeeling, the 28th October 1875.

From—R. L. MANGLES, Esq., Officiating Secretary to the Government of Bengal,
To—The Commissioner of the Patna Division.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 398J., dated the 25th ultimo, with enclosures, containing a report from Colonel J. Emerson, the Cantonment Magistrate of Dinapore, on the measures adopted by him with a view to providing a suitable building for the accommodation of the Charitable Dispensary at Dinapore.

2. From Colonel Emerson's report it appears that the landlord has refused to repair the house at present occupied by the dispensary and for which a monthly rental of Rs. 20 is paid, and has further served the Committee with a notice to quit the building on the 18th proximo, and that at this juncture Baboo Gour Pershad Sahoo, an influential zemindar, came forward and liberally offered a donation of Rs. 3,000 for the purpose of providing some other accommodation for the dispensary. Funds having been thus placed at the disposal of the Committee, endeavors were made by them to raise further subscriptions, and at the several public meetings which were convened by them the sum of Rs. 4,772 were subscribed, exclusive of Rs. 3,000 which were contributed by Baboo Gour Pershad Sahoo. The total amount, therefore, thus subscribed for the provision of a dispensary building amounted to Rs. 7,772.

3. The Committee for the management of the dispensary have, however, been unable to find a suitable site for the erection of a new building, and they have consequently proposed to purchase, at a cost of Rs. 4,000, a large pucca-built house situated to the east of the Cantonment, and in close proximity to the lock-up. This house is said to be conveniently situated and to be in every way suitable for the purpose, and Colonel Emerson is of opinion that it would cost at least Rs. 12,000 to build a house so well adapted for the purposes of a dispensary.

4. I am to request that you will be so good as to inform the Committee for the management of the Dinapore Dispensary that the Lieutenant-Governor approves of their proposal to purchase, at a cost of Rs. 4,000, the building which has been selected by them. The Committee should, however, be desired to make the necessary alterations and additions to the building as suggested by Dr. Jamieson in his demi-official letter of the 27th ultimo, to the address of Colonel Emerson, a copy of which has been submitted to Government under cover of your letter No. 414J of the 2nd instant.

5. I am also to convey the approval of His Honor to the proposal made by Colonel Emerson to purchase, at a cost of Rs. 1,000, a small house, adjoining the building intended for the dispensary, as a residence for the hospital assistant attached to that institution.

6. I am at the same time to request that you will inform Baboo Gour Pershad Sahoo that Sir Richard Temple has learnt with much satisfaction of the liberality displayed by him in having contributed so materially towards the raising of the fund for providing a building for the Dinapore dispensary, and I am further to request that you will convey to the gentlemen named in the margin, as well as to Colonel Emerson, the thanks of Government for the successful exertions made by them for raising subscriptions to the fund in question, and to which they, as well as the other European and native gentlemen mentioned in the list submitted, have so liberally contributed.

Major Hedayet Alli, Khan Bahadoor.

No. 398J, dated Bankipore, the 25th September 1875.

From—C. T. METCALFE, Esq., Officiating Commissioner of the Patna Division,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Judicial Department.

I HAVE the honor to submit, for the information of Government, the annexed report, No. 36 of the 17th September, by Colonel Emerson, Cantonment Magistrate of Dinapore, of the steps taken by him to provide a suitable building for the Dinapore Charitable Dispensary.

2. I desire to bring to the favorable notice of Government the liberality of Baboo Gour Pershad Sahoo, a zemindar of Secunderpore, Leslie Gunge, and would ask that his name may be published in the Government Gazette and the approbation of Government be communicated to him, as also to the undermentioned gentlemen, who have exerted themselves in this matter—

Major Hedayet Alli.
Meer Enayet Hossein.
Baboo Ram Anugra Narayon.

3. The Dispensary Committee have also selected a site for the location of the dispensary, and are negociating the purchase of a suitable house.

4. I have inspected the said premises and find them suitable for the immediate requirements of the dispensary; and although the situation is perhaps a little too confined, and surrounded by buildings, yet the proposed arrangements have received the approval of Dr. Jamieson, in charge of the present dispensary.

5. The legal title to the building of the vendors will be carefully scrutinized before the purchase is completed.

6. In conclusion, I would refer to the great interest taken in this matter by Colonel Emerson, and the very proper action he has taken throughout, whilst initiating meetings, in confining himself simply to advocating the cause of the dispensary and receiving subscriptions.

Division	No	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BENGAL.
		Western Districts
BURDWAN DIVN.	1	Burdwan, Nov. 15.* '75	Nil	The late rice is looking well, with the exception of some on the high lands in the west of the district. The cold weather crops, pulses, barley, &c., are being sown Small-pox has appeared in the east of the district.
	2	Bankoora, „ 13, „	Nil.	Weather dry and cool State and prospects of the crops continue to flourish. The early winter crops are being reaped, and the latter is ripening. Fever is reported from the south-east of the district.
	3	Beerbhoom, „ 13, ..	Nil	Clear and bright weather State and prospects of the crops continue excellent.
	4	Midnapore, „ 13 „	Nil	Cold weather set in. State and prospects of the crops are very good as before.
	5	Hooghly, „ 13, „	Nil.	Weather clear throughout Wind from north-north-east. About four annas of the crops in the high land have been injured. The crops in the low lands are doing well A more than average crop may be reaped People are busily irrigating the high lands. The rubbee sowings have been retarded from want of rain.
		Howrah, „ 13, ..	Nil.	Weather fair State and propects of the crops are very good.
		Central Districts.
PRESIDENCY DIVN	6	24-Pergunnahs, Nov 15,†'75	Nil.	Seasonable weather. The harvest of amun, or late rice, is going on satisfactorily Cold weather sowings completed. Isolated cases of cholera reported from Diamond Harbour, Barasset, Busserhat, and Dum-Dum sub-divisions. Fever prevailing at Barripore, Dum-Dum, and Bussirhat.
	7	Nuddea, „ 13, „	Nil.	Unusually warm weather The prospects of the crops are good, but rain is wanted. Cholera is more or less severe in each sub-division. In the north of Choondanga it is beginning to abate.
	8	Jessore, „ 13 „	Nil.	Bright and clear weather There was no rainfall during the week The winter crops and the amun rice on the higher lands would be the better for a little more rain. The rice on the low land is good.
	9	Moorshedabad „ 13, „	Nil.	Seasonable weather. The cold weather has settled in, but without any burst of rian, as might have been expected, to thoroughly soak the ground The hymanti or late rice crops, especially those on the high land, are therefore suffering. Prices stationary except at Sujaganj, where they have slightly risen, and at Kandi, where they are one seer less Mulberry, indigo, and sugarcane, are thriving. Fever increasing in Sujaganj. Still a few cases of cholera reported from Nawada.
RAJSHAHYE DIVN	10	Dinagepore, „ 12, „	Nil	Weather fair, wind easterly The crops, more especially those on the high lands, are suffering from want of rain No prospect of rain at present. Sporadic cases of cholera in the district
	11	Maldah, „ 13, „	Nil.	Slight rain is reported in one thana, but the weather has been generally dry and clear The late autumn and the winter rice are suffering for want of rain. Some damage has been done by insects to the kalai pulse and mustard. Thirty-two persons were reported to have been attacked by cholera; 90 have died from the disease during the week. Eighty-four of the deaths were in the Khurbah thana.
	12	Rajshahye, „ 13, „	Nil.	No rain during the week The rice crops in the north and west Burind are suffering much from want of rain Rain is also required for the cold weather crops. Thirty-one cases of cholera reported during the week, four proved fatal.
	13	Rungpore, „ 12, „	Nil.	Weather fair, rather warm for this season of the year There is little prospect now of an amelioration of the rice crop; the outturn will probably be an eight anna one. Cold weather crops are promising.
	14	Bogra	......	Return not received.
	15	Pubna, „ 13, „	Nil.	Weather clear and fine, but rather hotter than usual at this time of the year. The amun or late rice harvest has commenced The crop is good everywhere. Winter crops and sugarcane are looking well The Collector, the Deputy Collector of Serajgunge, and the District Superintendent of Police, have been various parts of the district during the week. They all report the state nd prospects of the crops to be excellent.

* Telegram of the 15th November, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

Cooch Behar Divn.	16	Darjeeling, Nov. 12 '75	Nil	Clear sky during the early part of the week, but the last too days it has been threatening rain. The want of rain in the plains will cause a deficiency in the winter rice crop, but no serious results are anticipated. The other crops are progressing favorably.
	17	Julpigoree, „ 13, „	Nil.	Mornings a little colder. Afternoons and evenings are decidedly hotter than is usual at this time of year. Very heavy dews. The Deputy Commissioner has made a complete tour of his district, and sees no cause for apprehension as to the rice crop, which should be all round from 12 to 13 annas, and quite sufficient for the wants of the people. The early rainfall was good—in excess of that of last year. Rain began to fail the district in September, hence the high lands on which hymanti is largely grown in this district greatly burnt up, while in the deep lands the crop is almost everywhere good, and in many places most luxuriant. Sugarcane is in a very few places poor, but all round a good crop. Vegetables, potatoes good, koortie kolai very good. Tobacco is still being transplanted, and promises very well. There is still a great deal of sporadic cholera in the district. There are but few places where cholera has not appeared, and for the greatest proportion of the cases are fatal. The cold weather has not yet set in, and till it does, we cannot expect the cholera to cease.
		Cooch Behar, „ 11, „	Nil	Weather fair. No rain. The prospects of crops continue unfavorable.
		Eastern Districts
Dacca Divn.	18	Dacca, Nov. 15,* '75	Nil.	Weather clear, but hotter in the day time than usual at this season. State and prospects of the crops are favorable. Sporadic cholera reported from every thana, but not to an extent greater than usual at this time.
	19	Fureedpore, „ 13, „	Nil.	The weather during the week has been cooler. The crops, as previously reported, want a little rain. Cholera has also appeared in the Goalundo sub-division. Measures have been taken for the supply of medicines to the affected localities.
	20	Backergunge, „ 11, „	Nil.	Weather dry and rainless. State and prospects of the crops are fair generally. In parts, especially in Dukhin Shabazpore, rain is much wanted, and crops scorched.
	21	Mymensing, „ 12, „	Nil.	Weather clear and seasonable. State and prospects of the crops are favourable throughout the district. Cholera is reported to have broken out in some parts of Kishoregunge and Atea sub-divisions.
	22	Tipperah, „ 12, „	Nil.	Weather rather cloudy and warm for the time of year. In the Kotwali or Sudder thana especially, and also in the thanas Juggernathdigghi, Lakshum, and Burkamta, the amun crop is suffering from the want of rain in October. The rice sown late in the inundated tracts of country will be lost almost entirely.
Chittagong Divn.	23	Chittagong, „ 11, „	Nil.	Weather clear; warmer than it ought to be at this time of the year. Rain is still anxiously looked for throughout the district. The crops on the high lands except in Cox's Bazar sub division, have already failed. Irrigation by bunding streams is being resorted to, a thing which the Collector believes is almost without precedent in this district, usually so fortunate with ample and timely rainfall. The abnormally short rainfall of September and October is in cases telling severely on the tea gardens. Prices are generally about 50 per cent. higher than usual in the north of the district.
	24	Noakholly, „ 11, „	Nil.	Weather fair and cool, but very hot at noon. The late rice is progressing favorably in the low lands. In the high lands the crops are suffering from want of rain. Cholera has appeared both in the town and out in the district.
	25	Chittagong Hill Tracts. „ 9, „	Nil.	Seasonable weather; fogs up to 9 A.M. The joom paddy harvest is over. The outturn is said to be a little below the average. Land is being cleared for mustard.
		Hill Tipperah, „ 10, „	Nil	The sky has been cloudy for some days past, but no rain has yet fallen. Some rain now would be beneficial, but the want of it has not yet been productive of any harm. The condition of the rice crop continues good, and the sowings of mustard, chillies, and onions have commenced. No report this week of the prospects in the hills.

* Telegram of the 15th November, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

	No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BEHAR.
Patna Divn.	26	Patna, Nov. 15,* '75	Nil.	Seasonable weather. No hope of rain. Prospect of crops same as last week, i e, it will not be much below an average crop. Health good.
	27	Gya, " 13, "	Nil.	The weather is rather warmer than usual at this time. The thermometer reached 85·8°. North-west and north east wind. On the low land the rice crop (which is almost fit to cut) is very fair; in some places it is really good. On the high lands the outturn will be poor. A great deal of the cold weather crops is being sown, and with fair prospects notwithstanding the drought. A good deal of grain, which is said to be the surplus kept for seed-grain that could not be sown on unirrigated lands has come into the market in the last hât days, and lowered the price considerably.
	28	Shahabad, " 13, "	Nil	Weather fair and cool. Prospects unchanged, e. g., average outturn of rice is estimated at 10 annas. Dhan being reaped. Rubbee germinating freely. Sugarcane good Dearah crops are promising.
	29	Durbhunga, " 13, "	Nil.	Heavy dews Weather growing perceptibly colder. No improvement in the crops; e. g, in the Mudhoobunnee sub-division the outturn of the rice crop will not exceed four annas, the rest of the district may yield a six-anna crop Rain much required to make rubbee sowings germinate.
	30	Mozufferpore, " 13, "	Nil.	Weather cold, with west wind Prospects of the rubbee, or cold weather crops, are bad In the Seetamurhee sub-division very little of what is sown is coming up A great deal of land is purti, not sown at all for want of moisture. The ruhur pulse too is fast drying up Kurthi is being planted freely, and appears to thrive on less moisture.
	31	Sarun, " 13, "	Nil.	The prospects of cotton, sugarcane, and ruhur pulse continue favorable. Urid pulse and kodo are being harvested In the high lands the rice crop is being cut for fodder f r cattle; in low lands it is coming into ear. The estimated outturn of the crop in the several thanas is as follows:— Sudder Sub-division: Chuprah ... ... 6 annas; Manjhi ... 8 "; Bussuntpore . .. 6 "; Mushruck . 8 "; Pursa .. ... 1 anna; Dighwarah . 2 annas Sewan Sub-division.: Sewan . 5 annas.; Burowli . 5 "; Buragaon . 8 "; Durowli . . ... 10 " Average for the Sudder sub-division 5 16; average for the Sewan sub-division 7 annas, or average for the district 6 8 annas Rubbee crops are still being sown. The early sowings have germinated well. Fields are being prepared for indigo Rain is most urgently wanted all over the district. General health good.
	32	Chumparun, " 12, "	Nil.	The personal inspection by the Collector and Mr. Samuells has convinced them that the failure of the rice crop is much less than was anticipated Except in south-east and centre of the district, there will probably be a good six-anna rice crop, and in the north, in Ramnugger, a full eight annas crop is expected. The rubbee sowings, except in the south-east, are promising well.
Bhagulpore Divn.	33	Monghyr, " 13, "	Nil.	Fair weather. After seeing the rice crops, the Collector in camp towards Khuruckpore, one of the principal rice tracts, is of opinion that the loss in consequence of the early cessation of the rains will not be so great as was first anticipated. Although the natives generally assert that the crop will not exceed 8 annas on an average, the Collector is of opinion that nearly an average crop may be expected. The rice crop this year is looking very different to that of 1873; there can be no comparison between the two. The District Superintendent, who is now in camp in another rice tract near Sheikhpoora, corroborates the above opinion. Rubbee sowings are going on.
	34	Bhagulpore, " 15,* "	Nil.	The crops throughout Muddehpoora sub-division are fair. In Soopool and around head quarters six annas. Proceeding to west and north prospects are reported worst, rubbee, or cold weather crops, are being irrigated. Prices of rice at Soopool 19 seers, Pertabgunge 22 seers, Bongong 19 seers, Dagwara 19 seers, and Bhimnuggur 22 seers per rupee.
	35	Purneah	. ....	Return not received.
	36	Sonthal Pergha. " 13, "	Nil.	Weather growing cooler, but no rain has fallen. Nights chilly; very little wind. There is no change in the prospects of the crops.

* Telegrams of the 15th November, received on the same day, show rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
ORISSA
Orissa Divn 37	Cuttack Nov 5, '75	Nil.	Weather cold, occasionally cloudy, but for the most part clear. The laghu sarud, or earlier portion of the late rice crop, is already being cut in some places, and the rest is coming on well. The weather is highly favorable, and a very full harvest may be expected. The winter crops are also in good condition. Cholera diminishing but not yet extinct.
38	Pooree, " 11, "	Nil.	Weather bright and cold. The laghu, or the first late rice, is being reaped, and part has been harvested with a fair outturn. The sarud, or the main late rice, is generally getting on well; it is nearly ready for the sickle in Khoorda. Sugarcane is nearly ready for harvest. The miscellaneous winter crops are thriving.
39	Balasore, " 12, "	Nil.	Weather fine. The prospects of the crops continue excellent. The main harvest has commenced. Outturn good. Fatal cases of cholera reported from several villages
CHOTA NAGPORE
	South-Western Frontier Agency.
40	Hazareebaugh, Nov. 12, '75	Nil.	The Rice crops are being rapidly gathered in; the outturn is below the average. There will be deficiency in the rubbee, as all the ground usually cultivated with these crops had not been sown.
41	Lohardugga, " 13, "	Nil.	The rice crop promises well throughout the district, but there is no improvement in the prospects of the rubbee crops in the Palamow sub-division owing to want of rain. General health good.
42	Singbhoom, " 12, "	Nil.	Seasonable weather. State and prospects of the crops are very favorable. District is healthy.
43	Maubhoom, " 13, "	Nil.	Seasonably cold in morning and evening. Very good reports all throughout the district both of the harvest and the crops on the ground.

The mean barometer, as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means, are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower raingauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches, above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

NOTE.

Barometric Pressure.—The pressures in column 2 of the above table for all stations below 500 feet are reduced from those given in column 3 of the table on the previous page, by adding the weight of a column of air of the temperatures given in column 17. For stations above 500 feet elevation the reduction is made by Dippe's tables, as given in Guyot's "Meteorological and Physical Tables." The temperatures at the sea-level are taken from column 3 of the above table.

Temperature.—The temperatures in column 3 are reduced from those in column 17 on the preceding page, by adding 1° Fahr. for every 450 feet.

Wind Resultant.—The resultant wind direction and its comparative predominance are calculated from the whole number of wind observations recorded during the month. The relative predominance in the direction of the resultant is given as a percentage of the whole number of observations. The direction is computed in the usual way by Lambert's formula.

Serenity.—This column gives the average proportion of unclouded sky, a cloudless sky being indicated by 10, and one completely overcast by 0.

The above being all comparable, afford the data for constructing a meteorological chart for the month, which shall show the isobaric and isothermal lines and the resultant wind directions, which last may be represented by arrows of varying length, proportioned to the prevalence of the wind. To these may be added the rainfall from the previous tables.

[First Publication.]

The 23rd November 1875.—The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to publish for general information the following revised rules to regulate the Native Civil Service Examination to be held in 1876, and future examinations, in supersession of those published at page 1293 of the Calcutta Gazette of 6th October 1875 :—

NATIVE CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS AND CIVIL SERVICE CLASSES.

[Rules to come into force after the examination of 1875.]

INTRODUCTORY.

Now that there have been held four annual examinations for the Native Civil Service and that a fifth examination is to take place in February 1876, the Lieutenant-Governor wishes to place the Native Civil Service examinations on a permanent footing.

2. All appointments in the Subordinate Executive Service, and all posts of Rs. 50 monthly salary and upwards in the sub-divisional establishments, both in Regulation and Non-Regulation Provinces, will ordinarily be reserved for persons who are passed at the Native Civil Service examination under the conditions specified in the subsequent paragraph 7 of these rules. Candidates for the gazetted appointments in the Police and Opium Departments will not be admitted to the examination save under a special certificate, which can only be granted under the orders of the Lieutenant-Governor. Lists of candidates passed under the subsequent paragraph 7 of these rules will be published in the Gazette.

ELIGIBILITY AND PRELIMINARIES TO THE EXAMINATION.

Admissible to examination

3. All candidates eligible for appointments under rules 5 and 6 (below), who satisfy the preliminary requirements, will be admitted to the Native Civil Service examination.

4. The preliminary requirements which all candidates must satisfy are described below and must be attested by certificates (a), (b), and (c), which must bear dates not later than three months previous to the date fixed for the examination.

(a)—Certificate of Character.

A certificate will be required from every candidate of his character, respectability, and general moral fitness, such certificate being signed by two gentlemen of his own nationality, resident in the district of which he is a native, or where he usually resides, and also signed by the Judge or Magistrate of such district. The certificate of the two first-named is to indicate that the gentlemen who have signed it are qualified by their position and character to give such a certificate, and that the Judge or Magistrate himself knows nothing to the prejudice of the candidate. In the case of the town of Calcutta, instead of the signature of the Judge or Magistrate, the certificate should bear that of any Judge of the High Court, or the Commissioner of Police, or the Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

Each candidate will be required to produce a certificate from the Government medical officer of the district of which the candidate is a native, or where he may for the time being reside, stating that the candidate is generally a man of sound health, that he has expressed his willingness to serve in any district of the Lower Provinces, and that he (the medical officer) believes him to be capable of doing so, so far as can be judged antecedently.

(c)—Certificate of ability to Ride or Walk.

Every candidate for the higher appointments will also be required to prove that he can ride, and for this purpose he may apply to the Magistrate of the district, who will either satisfy himself on the point, or select some other person he thinks competent for that purpose. The examiner must satisfy himself from his own personal observation that the candidate can ride not less than 12 miles at a rapid pace, and is in this respect competent for all practical purposes of district work; and if such examiner be not the Magistrate himself, the certificate must be countersigned by the Magistrate.

Every candidate for an appointment of less than Rs. 100 will be required to prove either that he can ride as above, or that he can walk twelve miles within 3½ hours without difficulty or prostration, to be certified in the same manner as the riding.

Persons eligible for all appointments.

5. The following persons will be eligible for the examination for the Native Civil Service in all appointments:—

(a)—Persons who have served Government for six years, and have held, for not less than two years, a responsible permanent appointment, above that of copyist, with a salary not less than Rs. 50 in one of the civil departments of the Government service, and can produce a sufficient certificate of ability, good conduct, and fitness for promotion from their official superiors.

(b)—Persons who have taken an University degree in Arts, Law, Medicine, or Engineering.

(c)—Persons who may be specially declared eligible for all appointments by a certificate under the hand of a Secretary to Government.

Persons eligible for appointments of less than Rs. 100 per mensem.

6. The following persons will be eligible for the examination for the Native Civil Service in appointments of less than Rs. 100 per mensem :—

(b)—Persons who have passed the First Arts' Examination.

(c)—Persons who may have been specially declared eligible for appointments of the lower grade by a certificate under the hand of a Secretary to Government.

7. The number of places which will be offered for competition in appointments of the higher and lower class respectively will be annually notified in the Gazette three months before the date of the examination. Appointments in the higher class are those of Rs. 100 and upwards, and in the lower class, those of less than Rs. 100. The places in each of the two classes will be awarded to the candidates according to priority in the examination: provided that none be passed for the higher class unless he obtains at least two-thirds, or for the lower class unless he obtains at least one half of the total number of obtainable marks upon the whole examination. Candidates must declare whether they desire to compete for the higher or the lower class; and a candidate for a place in the higher class will not be eligible at that examination for a place in the lower class. To the persons thus passed at the competitive examination a general expectation will be afforded of employment within a reasonable time in the class of appointments for which each has passed, though no guarantee can be given of any particular appointment, or an appointment in a particular grade in that class within a given time. For instance, a person who wins a place in the higher class of appointments will be appointed sooner or later to at least a sub-deputyship on Rs. 100 a month. But it does not at all follow that he will be appointed a Deputy Magistrate and Collector; he may or may not be so appointed; that will depend on the pleasure of Government.

8. Candidates will be examined in the following subjects :—

The Vernacular.	Drawing.
Chemistry.	Engineering.
Botany.	Surveying.

RESOLUTION

GENERAL DEPARTMENT.—MARINE.—No. 3200.

The 15th November 1875.

READ—

A letter, No. 6365, dated 5th October 1875, from the Officiating Master-Attendant recommending the dismissal of Mr. Sparling, a Licensed Leadsman, from the Pilot Service for being intoxicated while on duty on board the S. S. Sirius.

Letter No. 6675, dated 27th October 1875, from the Officiating Master-Attendant submitting the required explanation from Mr. Sparling

Read also—

Letter No. 6798, dated 2nd November 1875, from the Officiating Master-Attendant, submitting Mr. Sparling's resignation of his appointment as a Licensed Leadsman in the Bengal Pilot Service

ON the 5th October 1875, the Officiating Master-Attendant reported that Mr. F. C. Sparling, a Licensed Leadsman, had been intoxicated while on duty on board the steam ship Sirius. As this was not Mr. Sparling's first offence of the kind, Captain Baker recommended that he should be dismissed. It appeared, however, that Mr. Sparling's defence had not been taken, and the Officiating Master-Attendant was accordingly requested to take his answer in writing to the charge brought against him.

2. Mr. Sparling in his explanation admits having been intoxicated, but says that it was after the ship had come to anchor for the night, and that he was fit for duty again the next morning. It seems, however, from the Pilot's report that Mr. Sparling was intoxicated on two consecutive evenings.

3. In a subsequent letter Mr. Sparling requests permission to resign his appointment as a Licensed Leadsman, as he wishes to take other service; but under the circumstances of the case, the Lieutenant-Governor cannot accept his resignation. His Honor accordingly directs that Licensed Leadsman Mr. F. C. Sparling be dismissed from his appointment.

The following are the conditions of sale:—

1. The Opium will be sold for exportation by sea only, and no certificate will be granted except to cover such export.

2. The Opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 800 per chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by Clause 12 of these Conditions of Sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

3. The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M. of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertized for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Member in charge, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the whole quantity advertized shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Member in charge may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

4. Each lot shall contain five chests.

5. A Promissory Note for a sum, calculated according to the scale noted in the margin, shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room, and before the lot is registered in the sale book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal Receipts or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 4 o'clock in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale: or on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal Receipts, or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be resold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Member in charge shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

DEPOSIT.

When the amount bid is less than Rs. 1,200 per chest, Rs. 200 per chest.
On bids of Rs. 1,200 and upwards, but less than Rs 1,600 per chest, Rs. 300 per chest.
On bids of Rs. 1,600 and upwards, but less than Rs 2,000 per chest, Rs. 400 per chest.
And so on, Rs. 100 being added to the deposit for every bid additional, to the extent of Rs. 400.

6. The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the last-mentioned condition, if remaining unredeemed at 4 o'clock of the fifth day following the day of sale, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

7. No tender of money, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or public securities, on account of Opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before 4 o'clock of the fifth day following the day of sale, will be afterwards accepted.

8. The Opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 4 o'clock of the fifteenth day from the day of sale; and in case any lots of such Opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the 5th Condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the Opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Member in charge shall think fit, and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the Opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale.

9. Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of Opium after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests originally required to be included in each certificate or order.

10. No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present Conditions will be received in this Office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

11. The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall, on demand, tender at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or Government Securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these Conditions.

12. With a view to prevent fictitious biddings, designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained, and the first bonâ fide bidder for a lot after it has been offerred for sale in the mode here described shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these Conditions.

13. The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same agency Opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the Opium to complete the said twenty-five.

14. In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the Opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

15. The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue :— No. 1, certificate of the Opium advertized for sale; No. 2, report of the examination of such Opium.

16. The public are hereby informed that, in providing the investment of the Behar and Benares Opium for the year 1874-75, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of Opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at Behar and Beneras, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken for the purpose of comparison from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

17. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the Opium advertized for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Member in charge entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of Opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the Opium for shipment.

18. It is hereby further notified that under the 6th Article of the Convention between Great Britain and France, dated the 7th March 1815, quoted below, the agents in India of the French Government, or persons duly appointed by them, are entitled to demand that out of the quantities of Behar and Benares Opium declared as above for sale at the twelve sales of the year 1876, there shall be delivered to them, at the average of the particular sale or sales to which the Opium so applied for may belong, a quantity not exceeding in the aggregate 300 chests, and the Agents of the French Government must make requisition specifying the quantity of Opium required by them at any particular sale, within thirty days from the advertisement of such intended sale, provided however that the Agents of the French Government may make such requisition for the whole quantity within thirty days from the publication of this notification. If the Agent of the French Government shall not make the requisition for Opium within the time above mentioned, the entire quantity of about 47,000 chests of Behar and Benares, as above estimated, will be brought to sale in the usual manner; and if they shall make application for a quantity of Opium to be delivered to them out of the quantity advertized for sale at each or any of the twelve sales above mentioned, but shall not pay for it within the prescribed period of payment, the Government of Bengal reserves to itself the right of disposing of the Opium which the French Authorities may so fail to pay for, either by increasing the quantity reserved at the sale next ensuing after the date fixed for payment, or by selling such Opium, or any portion of it at any subsequent monthly sale in addition to the quantity which in this advertisement is approximately mentioned as the quantity to be sold at such sale; or by selling such Opium at a sale to be held expressly for the purpose.

STATEMENT OF THE COURSE OF LEGISLATION.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said—"Before calling upon the hon'ble members to speak to the motions which stand in their names, I will, with the permission of the Council, make a very brief statement of the condition of our legislative business. It will be in the recollection of the Council that on the 19th of December last I laid before the Council a programme of the various measures which we proposed to bring before the Council. Again, on the 10th of April last, I made a further statement showing how far that programme had been carried out, and what additions had been subsequently made to it. I now desire briefly to remind the Council of the measures which have been passed into law since the 10th of April last, and of the measures which are still pending before the local legislature. Since that date the Council have passed, under the presidency of the Hon'ble Mr. Schalch, two Bills, one to provide for the survey and demarcation of land, and secondly, a Bill to provide for the amendment of the Abkaree Acts. The first of these two Bills has already received the assent of the Governor-General in Council, and the second, viz. that referring to the Abkaree, still await His Excellency's assent. This leaves the following Bills which are still requiring the consideration of the Council.

The first is a Bill to provide for the voluntary registration of Mahomedan marriages and divorces. That measure will, we hope, be taken up by the Council this day, and perhaps finally passed.

The next is a Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the municipal affairs of Calcutta. That Bill also stands among the list of motions this day, and will, I hope, be proceeded with. Well, that Bill has passed through the Select Committee. The number of its clauses is great, amounting, I think, to some 350, and in passing through this Council much time will be required. Recently, various propositions have been afloat for making constitutional changes. Now, it will be in the recollection of the Council, that the Government of Bengal is not averse to any moderate or any judicious changes in the constitution of that Municipality which may commend themselves to the majority of interests concerned, and also to the majority of this Council. That being the case, in April last I put forth a Minute upon this somewhat important object, stating the various possible changes and improvements, some of them, however, alternative improvements, which, if passed by this Council, would commend themselves to my concurrence and approval. These improvements having been referred to the Select Committee, the Committee reported that no constitutional changes were in their opinion necessary. From that I should he inclined to infer that the sense of the Council is perhaps adverse to the introduction of any important changes in the constitution of the Calcutta Municipality; still, if any hon'ble member should have any specific motion to bring forward, any definite change to propose, all I can say is that I am still willing to consider patiently and carefully any such suggestion, and I believe I may answer for the Council generally that it would be pleased to do the same; and, in reference to my own opinion, for what it may be worth, as to possible changes or possible alternatives, I would refer hon'ble members to the Minute which I have referred to.

The next Bill relates to the provision of irrigation and canal navigation in the provinces subject to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal. That measure has been carefully considered by the Select Committee, and certain questions referring thereto were referred by the Select Committee to the Government of Bengal. I have myself conferred with the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill regarding these references, and I have been able to give such replies as will enable my hon'ble colleague to proceed with the business of the Select Committee upon this subject; so I hope that this measure will soon be submitted to the Council in such a shape that it may be speedily passed. I need not add, perhaps, that at the present time there is a particular reason why this Bill should be passed into law as soon as it may be possible, for although the southern canals are not much called into play, owing to the abundant rains which have been vouchsafed to that part of the country (Orissa), yet the northern canals in south Behar will be most urgently required to save both the autumn and spring crops from ruin.

The next Bill is for the purpose of making better provision for the partition of estates paying revenue to Government in the Lower Provinces. That Bill also has been carefully considered by the Select Committee; at least it was put down as being under the consideration of the Committee, and I know, and the Council knows, that a great deal of valuable opinions—a mass of opinions—has been collated upon the subject; and I think that if the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill shall have sufficient leisure during the present sessions of the Council, he will be able to bring the measure forward in such a shape as have it passed before the close of the session.

The next Bill is that for amending and consolidating the law relating to Municipalities in the mofussil or interior of the country. That also has received, as we all very well know, the most excellent, patient, and able consideration on the part of the hon'ble member in charge of it (Mr. Dampier). A variety of important references has been made by him to Government upon the various points involved. These references are under our immediate consideration, and I hope very soon to be able to give replies thereto, and thus there is a chance of these matters being brought by the Select Committee in a complete shape before the Council. It will be in the recollection of the members of the Council that this is one of those Bills which is not only an important Bill, but a lengthy Bill, and contains some hundreds of sections.

The next Bill is one to provide for inquiry into disputes regarding the rent payable by ryots in certain estates, and to prevent agrarian disturbances. That also, as the Council will recollect, was referred to a Select Committee, but during their deliberations certain legal difficulties were encountered, and they appeared to the Committee to be of so grave a nature that I have submitted a reference on the subject to the Government of India, to which a reply has not yet been recieved. I hope that a reply in some way or another will be soon received, and that if any any measure is to be submitted to be passed by the Council on the subject, it might not occupy any great length of time.

The next Bill is one to provide for the compulsory registration of possessory titles in landed estates. That Bill has been drafted by one of our hon'ble colleagues, and it is believed that various modifications and alterations will have to be made, and I am not able to say now as to when the measure will be fit for acceptance by the Council.

So much for what may be called the Bills actually pending before the Council. Besides these, there are several projects of law, which have been mentioned by me at different times in the Council, and upon which Bills yet remain to be drafted.

The first of these is to provide a law for the appointment of managers in joint undivided estates. I believe that some progress has been made in the drafting of that Bill, as its importance is very considerable, and I hope that perhaps this measure will be completed during the present session.

The next project is a proposal for certain improvements in the sale law, that is, a law for the sale of estates paying revenue to Government on account of default in the payment of revenue. This proposal has been forwarded for the consideration of the British Indian Association, which may be taken as representing to a very great degree the important interests concerned, and a reply from the Association is awaited.

Then comes a proposition for the amendment of the General Police Act V of 1861. Upon that subject I may explain that a very careful Bill has been drafted, with the concurrence of the principal Police authorities, and has been submitted for the general approval of the Government of India. It seemed necessary to do this, inasmuch as whatever is done, supposing anything is done, in Bengal, may be taken to affect in the same way neighbouring local Governments. I have not yet received a reply to the reference which has been made to the Government of India.

The next proposal is one for the establishment of reformatory schools. It will be in the recollection of the Council that in April last I mentioned this as one of the measures that may possibly require to be taken into consideration. This question was also referred to the Government of India, and we have received a reply that, as the matter appears to be one of general interest, and one affecting all local Governments in India, it should better be taken up by the Council of the Governor-General, and a measure for this purpose has been actually introduced into the Council of the Governor-General. So this project may now be struck off from the list of the business pending before the Bengal Council.

The next is a proposal for the prohibition of the levy of illegal cesses in navigable channels, high roads, and market-places. Upon this subject a Bill was drafted by our hon'ble colleague, Mr. Schalch, and has since been referred by the Government of Bengal to the British Indian Association, and upon this subject also the reply of the Association is awaited. I have no doubt it will soon be received.

The next measure is the consolidation of the Abkaree Acts. That is a matter requiring a great deal of care, and it has been taken up by our learned Secretary, and I understand that it has been partially prepared.

The last project is one of merely local importance, hardly affecting any considerable portion of these provinces, viz. some alteration in the rent law for the Chota Nagpore Province. The main object of that is to exclude that province from the operation of certain sections of the general rent law of Bengal, which are considered by well-known authorities, and especially by the late Commissioner, Colonel Dalton, as not applicable to the circumstances of that province.

Thus much for the pending business. I have no particular additions to make to-day to the programme which was made a year ago, and which, as hon'ble members will see, has been steadily kept in view. But it will be clear that there are four important measures which have really to be taken up;—I may say five. First, there is the matter of such immediate importance in respect of the city of Calcutta, viz. the Calcutta Municipality Bill. But besides that, there is the Municipal Bill for the mofussil or the interior of the country generally, upon which the health and comfort of the inhabitants of the towns and large villages of these great provinces so much depend in future. But besides these, there are three great measures intimately affecting what I must regard as the greatest of all the great interests in these provinces, viz. that relating to the tenures of land. One of these Bills relates to the partition of estates, the second relates to the compulsory registration of possessory titles to lands, and the third relates to the appointment of managers for joint undivided estates. These three very important measures have for now nearly a year been before the Council; much labour has been bestowed upon them, and at one time or another much careful consideration has been devoted to them. I must confess to some disappointment in that these measures should not yet have been ready for submission in a complete shape to the Council. But it must be remembered that they are in themselves difficult, and require much deliberation. Still, I must again urge them very much upon the attention of all hon'ble members whose experience lies in that direction; and I will express the most earnest hope of the Government of Bengal that the Council may succeed in passing these measures into law during the present session: and I hope that if we shall succeed in obtaining the undivided care, attention, and time of the hon'ble member (Mr. Dampier), we may hope to succeed in bringing these measures into completeness within a little time. If, during the course of the session, further projects of law shall appear to be called for by the circumstances of the country, I will then lose no time in announcing them to the Council. But my immediate object in making these remarks is to entreat the attention of hon'ble members to those important measures which have been for a long time, and still are pending before the Bengal legislature.

I will now call upon the Hon'ble Mr. Dampier to speak to the motion which stands against his name."

REGISTRATION OF MAHOMEDAN MARRIAGES AND DIVORCES.

THE HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said, the Council would remember that the Bill for the voluntary registration of Mahomedan marriages and divorces was considered and finally settled in Council on the 25th March last, but the final passing of the Bill had been delayed until now at His Honor's request. MR. DAMPIER had since looked over the Bill for the last time, as usual, and he found that there were three verbal additions that he wished to make before the Bill was passed, namely, to insert headings in the Schedule to the different forms of registers required to be kept. The object of the amendment was merely to bring the schedule more into conformity with the substantive provisions of the Bill. The amendments were to prefix the following headings to the forms of registers specified in the schedule, namely—

"Form A, Book I.—Register of marriages (as prescribed by section 6 of the Act for the voluntary registration of Mahomedan marriages and divorces).

"Form B, Book II.—Register of Divorces other than those of the kind known as khula (prescribed by section 6 of the Act for the voluntary registration of Mahomedan marriages and divorces).

"Form C, Book III.—Register of divorces of the kind known as khula (prescribed by section 6 of the Act for the voluntary registration of Mahomedan marriages and divorces)."

The amendments were agreed to.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER then moved that the Bill be passed.

His Honor the President said—"Before putting the motion to the Council, I desire to explain that this Bill having been carefully settled in Council during last spring, I asked the Council to be good enough to allow a short delay before it was finally passed, in order that, as the matter is one very much affecting the domestic concerns of a large portion of the people of these provinces, I might have time to see whether any substantial objections would be started in any quarter against the measure, and also that I might have time to visit some of the principal centres of Mahomedan intelligence and education in these provinces in the interior of the country, and to see whether the measure is likely to meet with the general approval of those classes whom it concerns. As the Council knows, no material or substantial objection of any kind from the classes concerned has been received since the publication in April last of the Bill as it now stands. I have had the benefit of visiting both Patna and Dacca, the western and eastern Mahomedan capitals in Bengal, and of learning the feelings of the Mahomedan gentry there. At Patna I found that the majority of educated Mahomedans are in favor of the Bill, but there were some objections made by certain gentlemen there; but these objections I found are based upon what I must call misapprehension of the Bill, to the effect that the Bill is supposed to prescribe things which it does not prescribe, and to interfere with matters with which it really avoids interference.

Then at Dacca I found but one opinion as to the expediency and necessity of passing this Bill into law, and carrying it into effect as soon as possible. So I can only say that if the Council now should be pleased to pass the Bill, I for one am prepared to give my most entire concurrence and approval to it. The Council will recollect the grave social disadvantages which the Bill is intended to meet. First, the difficulty of registering the celebration of marriages among the poorer classes of Mahomedans, and secondly the difficulty of proving them; then the looseness of the marriage tie. Constant disputes break out in that respect, and the social demoralization therefrom arising lead to disputes and feuds, which are attested not only by general repute, but also by the records of the courts, and especially by the criminal courts. All these evils are well known to the Council, and I need not dwell upon them; and I think it will be the opinion of all hon'ble members who have experience of the working of these courts that registration of this kind will provide, to a considerable degree, a remedy to remove these evils, and become more and more effectual year by year. The registration, it will be remembered, is purely voluntary. Those Mahomedans who live in places where there is a certain amount of religious organization will be able to celebrate their marriages in the most orthodox manner, and they will not require registration; whereas their poorer brethren in the remoter localities, who constitute the vast majority of the Mahomedan population, and who do not enjoy those advantages, will now have the means of registration if they choose to avail themselves of it: and it seems to me very hard upon the poorer and humbler classes of Mahomedans if any rich or fortunate individual among the community, who does not want registration, shall be allowed to object to those who wish to avail themselves of the advantages to be conferred by this Bill doing so if they choose. The question is, do the Mahomedans, or do they not wish to have this registration? If they do, then why, in the name of everything that is sensible and humane and considerate, should the Council not give them the benefit of it? The utility of the measure will be perfectly tested by the number of registrations which will be effected. If a good number of registrations are effected, then those who object to the Bill will not be able to say that it ought not to have been passed; and if there are few registrations, it is perfectly clear that at all events no harm will be done. Under these circumstances, believing that the Bill, if passed, will be of great social benefit to several millions of people living under this Government, I have great pleasure in putting before the Council the motion which has been made, viz. that the Bill be passed."

The motion was agreed to and the Bill passed.

CALCUTTA MUNICIPALITY.

THE HON'BLE MR. HOGG said, when he asked permission to introduce the Bill to consolidate the Municipal Acts relating to the affairs of Calcutta, he explained to the Council that the measure was brought forward owing to the urgent necessity for consolidating the municipal laws affecting the town of Calcutta. The original Municipal Act had been passed in 1863, and since that time there had been fourteen or fifteen amending Acts. Owing to the multiplicity of the Municipal Acts the law was now on some points not quite clear, and difficulty was experienced by the public in understanding the municipal law under which they were living. Permission to bring in the Bill was given on the 3rd of April, and, when bringing it forward, he briefly explained the amendments in the law as it now stood which he should ask the Council to adopt in this consolidation Bill. The Bill was referred for consideration and report of a Select Committee, who submitted their report on the 19th June. Since then the Bill and the report of the Select Committee, together with the partial dissent of two members of the Committee, had been published with the view of eliciting an expression of public opinion as to the proposals contained in the Bill. Although four months had elapsed since the publication of the amended Bill, the Council had only received one report from any of the public bodies on the provisions of the Bill. The report to which he referred had come from the Justices, which body might be assumed to be the one most interested in the Bill now before the Council. The Justices at a largely attended meeting unanimously recorded their approval of the general principle of the Bill, subject only to their desire to support the dissent of the Hon'ble Mr. Brookes and the Hon'ble Baboo Kristodass Pal. They said that there were many points of detail connected with the wording of the Bill which might be improved; but as their Chairman, Mr. Brookes, and Baboo Kristodass Pal, were members of the legislature, they were content to leave the consideration of those amendments to them.

The report of the Select Committee explained fully the amendments proposed by the Committee, and MR. HOGG would not therefore take up the time of the Council by recapitulating what was recorded in the report, which was in the hands of hon'ble members. There was one point upon which he thought some remarks would not be out of place, and it was to explain why he, as a member of the Committee, together with the other members of the Committee, did not propose any constitutional changes in the Bill. The Council would remember that the Lieutenant-Governor, at the time of the Bill being referred to a Select Committee, recorded a Minute, in which His Honor drew the attention of the Committee to the opinion recorded by the late Lieutenant-Governor as to the necessity of altering the constitution of the Municipality; and His Honor intimated that he was prepared to accept any moderate measure for the municipal government of the town of Calcutta which the Council might approve of. Speaking for himself, the reason why MR. HOGG had arrived at the opinion that it was not advisable to recommend constitutional changes, was that he thought it inexpedient to disturb the present well organized system, which was in complete working order, unless he was satisfied that it was to be superseded by one which would prove to be more efficient and more popular. Against the existing corporation it was alleged that it was not a representative body. That might be readily conceded as a fact. It might further be conceded that the conduct of municipal affairs was not such as the masses of the population would select if the privilege of unrestricted self-government was accorded to them. But the question then arose—Is Government, is this Council, prepared to concede to the inhabitants of Calcutta a system of real self-government? and MR. HOGG thought this question must be answered in the negative. No doubt the Council was prepared to grant to the citizens of Calcutta a reasonable measure of independence; but he thought it open to question whether the people of this country, and of Calcutta, were in a state to have real self-government conceded to them. It must be remembered that the views of the masses of the population of this city were in many municipal matters at variance with the views of the governing authorities, and also of the European citizens and rate-payers of Calcutta. The wish of the mass of the population—he said the mass as distinguished from the intelligent portion of the native community, who in a measure agreed with the Europeans—was that they should be left alone, and be permitted to live after the manner of their forefathers. Their idea of good government was a minimum of taxation accompanied by complete immunity from all sanitary control. They objected to be called on to adopt those measures of sanitation which were accepted and acted upon by all nations who had arrived at an advanced stage of civilization. That, he thought, was briefly the view of the mass of the native population.

As regards the views of those responsible for the government of the city, they considered it to be their duty to insist on all the primary rules of sanitation being observed and enforced, and also to press forward works which they knew from experience would be a benefit to the city, and, moreover, be hereafter appreciated, if not by the present generation, certainly by their successors.

That works of high sanitary importance had been pushed on rapidly during the last twelve years under the present administration was an admitted fact, and one which those who were foremost in denouncing the present Municipality would not venture to deny. It was, however, no use ignoring the fact that those works of improvement had been carried out by the Justices with the cordial support of the local Government, not only without the concurrence of the mass of the population, but in direct opposition to their strongly expressed wishes; and not only the expressed wishes of the native population, but also of a section of the European community as represented by at least one English paper, which had strenuously opposed both the drainage and water-supply schemes. If, then, the Calcutta of to-day was a far superior place of abode to what it was twelve years ago, and if many sanitary reforms had been successfully carried out during the last few years, it was all to be attributed to the wisdom of Government in not having accorded to the citizens of Calcutta a too large measure of self-government. These being his views he certainly should not be prepared to support any measure which would, by placing too much power in the hands of the people, stop the progress of sanitary reforms. He held that what was required for Calcutta and other towns in India was a scheme which, while affording every facility for the views of all classes of the community to be fairly represented in the governing board, should reserve to Government the potential voice in the decision of matters of great importance, and should also provide a strong executive head for the administration of municipal affairs.

The present system, MR. HOGG thought, whatever its defects might be, did in a great measure meet the above conditions; for while providing a strong executive head appointed by Government, it associated with him as many intelligent gentlemen from all classes of the community whom the local Government might be pleased to appoint as Justices.

Then came the question whether selection was better than election. In MR. HOGG's judgment the Government was in a better position to select native gentlemen who would really represent in an intelligent way the views of the different native classes of the community in Calcutta than the public would be if the principle of election was adopted. The objections to the present system, it appeared to him, might be briefly stated as follows:—

1st.—That owing to the number of Justices of the Peace, the Municipal Corporation had too many members, and that therefore individual responsibility was not felt.

2nd.—That the Justices being created for life, they had not that sense of responsibility which might be secured if they held office for a fixed term of years, say for one, two, or three years.

3rd.—That the Municipal Meetings led to much waste of time, as some Justices availed themselves of the opportunity to indulge in long speeches far wide of the points at issue, and thereby kept away European gentlemen of position whose presence would be of great value to the Municipality.

The last object was far the most serious one, as there could be no doubt that the Municipality did much lack the presence and support of independent European gentlemen.

The remedy which should be applied was not easy to suggest, as MR. HOGG believed that European and Native opinion was at direct issue on the question of the best form of municipal government.

The majority of Europeans advocated a Municipal Board, constituted of members returned by a system of representative election; whereas the Natives, as a body, were strongly opposed to any system which would not encourage the most complete publicity in all matters which came before the Municipal Board; and they argued, and with justice, that the discussions by a small Municipal Board would not be as public as formal debates by a larger body.

To reconcile these conflicting views was almost impossible: such being the case, it had to be decided whether the views of the European or the Native community should be adopted. On this point MR. HOGG was of opinion that the wishes of the Native community should take precedence of those of the European citizens of Calcutta; for the Natives, besides being far the most numerous, had an abiding interest in the city to which no European could attain.

MR. HOGG would by all means force on the Natives of India sanitary improvements, but whilst doing so, he would afford them, in the way they liked best, every possible facility for expressing their opinions, and for ventilating their views in the most public manner possible. He agreed with the Natives that publicity could best be obtained by public debates and subsequent press criticisms; consequently he would continue the existing system of debates at the municipal meetings, even though it led, as it undoubtedly did, to great waste of time, and, what was still, worse deprived the Municipality of the support of gentlemen whose counsels were much to be desired.

He would now ask the Council to proceed with the Bill in its present form, leaving out one or two sections which defined the constitution of the corporation of Calcutta, and as the Bill passed through Council, any member who might have a scheme would be able to bring it forward.

But because the constitution of the Municipality was left an open question, that was no reason why the other sections of the Bill, which would be equally applicable to any form of Government, should not be proceeded with and settled. The Council had received a representation from the Port Commissioners, urging that the Legislature should not, in the case of assessment on property, allow the decision of the Justices to be final. To meet this reasonable request, the Committee had provided in the amended Bill that any person dissatisfied with the amount at which the Chairman of the Justices might assess his property, should be entitled to appeal either to a Board of Justices or to the Small Cause Court.

This, he thought, entirely met the objections urged by the Port Commissioners. Another important amendment introduced by the Committee into the Bill was the provision that there should be an appeal allowed to a Board of Justices, other than executive officers of the Municipality, against the decision of the Chairman of the Justices determining under what class a trade or profession license was to be granted. There was another very important amendment, which affected the lighting and police rates. At present those rates were payable at the close of each quarter; in future it was proposed that they should be collected in advance. The Committee had also introduced into the amended Bill sections to enable the municipality to exercise more strict supervision over the consumption of water in houses, which was most necessary in order to check the present reckless waste of water.

With these remarks he would move that the Bill be taken into consideration in order to the settlement of its clauses.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said that the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill had explained to the Council the reasons which induced the Select Committee not to recommend any change in the constitution of the Municipal Corporation of Calcutta. He certainly agreed with him that although the Bill had been before the public for such a long time, there was not any very decided expression of opinion as to whether any material changes were wanted in the present constitution of the Municipality. Not until only a month ago was any voice heard on the subject, and he believed the hon'ble member was not far wrong when he said that when the Bill was first laid before the Council, there was such harmony among the several component elements of the Corporation that no change whatever was wanted by any one section of the community. Unfortunately, there had been some friction within the last few months between the executive and the independent members of the Corporation, which had led to somewhat warm discussion, and which in a manner had brought about the present agitation. But independent of that, he thought the subject was well worth the consideration of the Council. The British Government in this country was a progressive one, and the institutions founded by it were essentially progressive in their nature; and as the people were imbued with Western knowledge and ideas, they longed for the Western mode of government, and for the introduction of Western institutions for the protection of their liberties and the advancement of their welfare. It was therefore not at all unnatural that the people of Calcutta, who were admittedly in the van of intelligence and enlightenment, should ask for that measure of self-government which had been accorded to other countries which owned allegiance to the British Crown,—he meant the British colonies and dependencies.

If hon'ble members would look back to the history of municipal government in this city, they would find that about twenty years ago there was an elective system in force. It did not work fairly for many reasons, and was therefore abandoned. Then came the municipal triumvirate. That system also worked for some years, when the public cried for a change. Next came the present Municipality. It was true that this Municipality was not representative in the sense in which that word was usually understood; still it represented, to a great extent, the intelligence, wealth, and respectability of the local community. He admitted that the Corporation, as at present constituted, had undergone changes since,—he meant its personnel,—and that the later nominations had to a certain extent (he did not mean to reflect upon individuals) detracted from the character of the Corporation. The Corporation had, however done a large measure of good. Apart from the many measures of improvement which had been carried out under the present system, and to which reference had been made by the hon'ble mover, it had proved a good school of political training for the people of Calcutta. He might say that since the Corporation had been created, the rate-payers had evinced a lively interest in all its proceedings, and that was simply because the fullest publicity had been given to all that had been done by it. Both when the elective Board used to sit, and when the triumvirate was constituted under the Act of 1856, the proceedings of the Corporation were not published to the same extent as they were now. Then an abstract of the proceedings of the Municipal Commissioners were given to the newspapers, and the public were left to draw their own inferences from that meagre statement. Now the meetings of the Corporation were open to the public. The Press reported the proceedings verbatim for the information of the public, and thereby a healthy public criticism was evoked among all classes who paid rates and took an interest in the affairs of the town. If the proceedings of the Justices were so widely discussed by the Press and the public at large, it was due to the present wholesome practice of publicity. The people of Calcutta being thus trained, and having acquired a proper appreciation of their own interests, naturally enough asked for a further extension of municipal privileges. They wanted, in fact, a larger measure of self-government. It was true that opinion was very much divided as to the scheme of local self-government best suited to the varied interests of the town; still he believed that opinion was unanimous upon this point, that there ought to be some sort of selection in the election of those who governed the affairs of the town, and that there ought to be a greater freedom of action in the Corporation. The hon'ble mover of the Bill had stated that he doubted whether Government was prepared to give real self-government to the people of this town. He thought it was rather bold on the part of the hon'ble member to make such an assertion in the face of the declaration from the Hon'ble President that His Honor was prepared to consider any reasonable and judicious measure of self-government. Baboo Kristodas Pal admitted that constituted as Government was in this country, their rulers were not prepared to surrender the municipal government of the metropolis to the natives of the country; but he believed that when the people wanted a measure of self-government, they did not mean that they should have the whole thing in their own hands. What they meant was that they should be associated with their European fellow-subjects in the task of local self-government. He might observe that the people of this country, if they were in any way to be useful to themselves and the nation at large, could only be so by associating themselves with their European fellow-subjects. They must learn a great deal, and under the direction and guidance of their rulers might prove themselves equal to the task which they might be called upon to perform. Since England had planted its flag in this country, there had been many important changes in its political organization and its internal administration, and the people had been invited to an active share in the administration of the country; and he believed the Government would admit that they had not been found wanting in taking advantage of that honorable and responsible position which it had pleased the Government to confer upon them. He believed that if the people of Calcutta were associated with their advanced European fellow-subjects in the government of the affairs of the city, they would not be found wanting. As matters now went, even if the Corporation was not considered a representative institution, still it was, to a great extent, a free institution, and he believed it would be admitted that his countrymen had done their part of the work well, and to some extent creditably. Looking to the success which had in some measure attended the attempts of the people of this city to work under and with their European rulers and fellow-subjects, he thought the further extension of the experiment of local self-government might be safely made in the administration of its municipal affairs.

He did not at all agree with his hon'ble friend that the views of the masses were opposed to improvement: that they wanted only the minimum of taxation and no improvements in the town whatever. The mass of the tax-payers of the town certainly did object to excessive taxation, simply because it was often succeeded by excessive expenditure. His hon'ble friend had pointed to some of the improvements which had been carried out in the town, and which had proved highly beneficial in spite of, or rather against, the wishes of the native community, and also in spite of the opposition of a portion of the European community. He believed the hon'ble member would admit that opposition to the measures referred to did not proceed so much from any desire to obstruct improvement as to prevent excessive expenditure or extravagance; and say what his hon'ble friend might, it could not be denied that, however successful had been the administration of the Municipality under the present system, it had been most costly, and in some cases the expenditure had been unjustifiably extravagant. He believed that were it not for the healthy control exercised by public opinion and by the working Justices upon the executive action of the Municipality, there would have been much greater extravagance and much more addition to taxation.

The hon'ble member in charge of the Bill had been pleased to remark that he would not, and he hoped the Government would not, consent to delegate the executive duties of the Municipality to the bonâ fide representatives of the masses. He did not clearly understand what the hon'ble member meant by the phrase "bonâ fide representatives of the masses." He believed that many of the Justices professed themselves to be representatives of the mass of the rate-payers in the town, and if such Justices had not abused their privileges and position, he could not understand why his hon'ble friend should object to the bonâ fide representatives of the masses. He thought that any person who took his seat in the Corporation, but did not seek to represent the mass of the rate-payers who bore the bulk of the taxation, did not deserve a place in that body.

Then his hon'ble friend had discussed briefly the comparative merits of selection and election, and was satisfied with the present mode of selection. Baboo Kristodas Pal had already said that the selections made by the Government had not been always happy ones. He believed he would not be far wrong were he to say that there were members of the Corporation who were not even acquainted with the English language, although that was the language in which the proceedings of the Corporation were conducted. Could it be expected that gentlemen who were not acquainted with English would be able to appreciate the merits of the measures proposed for discussion, or realize the character and gravity of the questions brought before them. Under any system, then, he would support the principle of election before selection. He admitted that the present Municipal Corporation was an unwieldy body; and if it was unwieldy, he was constrained to say that it was so owing to the action of the Government. As originally constituted, the Corporation was somewhat unwieldy; but when the Government of Sir William Grey saw that the influx of the Bengal, Behar, and Orissa Justices hampered the action of the independent Justices, he eliminated that element; but again additions had been frequently made to the body, perhaps at the instance of the executive head of the Municipality—he could not say with what object—and the Corporation had again gradually become very unwieldy and ill-assorted. He thought it was of the highest importance that the number of members of the Corporation should be limited by law. As matters at present stood, any Chairman who should consider that there was not a sufficient following at his command might recommend the appointment of additional members, and the Government might assent to the recommendation, and thus the independent Justices might be swamped, and the Corporation might be made more and more unwieldy and less efficient. He thought that in the interests of the town the number of members of the Corporation should be limited. He also agreed with the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill that the tenure of office of the Justices as members of the Corporation should be limited to a term of years. At present the Justices were regarded in the light of life-peers. It was very desirable that there should be an infusion of new blood in the Corporation from time to time. But if there was to be an infusion of new blood, it ought to be done with the consent and support of those who were vitally interested in the working of the Municipality. He meant that the nomination and election of the new members ought to rest in the hands of the rate-payers, or in a body of their representatives. If the Government had the nomination, and if the Justices were to go out by rotation every three years, as proposed, then perhaps the most useful Justices, who in reality rendered the most substantial assistance to the Chairman, but who might be considered obnoxious by reason of their constitutional opposition, might be made to vacate office to the detriment of the best interests of the town.

Reference had been made to the waste of time at the meetings of the Corporation, which had kept away European gentlemen of position and influence, whose presence would be most desirable. He had closely watched the working of the Municipality for the last twelve years, and he was sorry to say that the European residents of the town as a body at the best took very little interest in the business of the Corporation. He generally found the meetings of the Municipality, when personal questions came to the fore, better attended than when lakhs and lakhs of rupees were voted away, on which occasions many of the European Justices were conspicuous by their absence. And he could well understand the reason. The Europeans came to this country as birds of passage, and, as his hon'ble friend expressed it, they had no abiding interest in the land; and so long as they saw that their own wants and comforts were attended to, BABOO KRISTODAS PAL was not surprised to find that they could not afford time to busy themselves with matters which did not immediately interest them. The Europeans in this country were quite willing to give their time to the promotion of public business, if it did not lead to much self-sacrifice; but, as had been pointed out, the municipal debates occupied much time, and as their time was valuable, they could not attend those meetings. But what would you have? Would you have a close borough system, with a view to promote the convenience of a few members of the European community? or would you have the widest publicity for the sake of the hundreds of thousands who were interested in the business of the Municipality? He fully subscribed to every word which fell from his hon'ble friend in charge of the Bill on this part of the subject. He had taken a broad and liberal view of the question, and it was gratifying to BABOO KRISTODAS PAL that his hon'ble friend, as the head of the Corporation, should advocate the widest publicity. If anything was criticised in these debates, it was his own proceedings; and BABOO KRISTODAS PAL fully appreciated the feeling that had prompted his hon'ble friend to advocate the freest publicity. If the municipal debates unfortunately led distinguished members of the European community to avoid the Corporation, he confessed that that was a matter of deep regret; but in no civilized country was public business of that kind conducted without debates, and the debating of questions meant the employment of a certain quantity of time for their discussion from all points of view.

He thought he had touched upon most of the important points which had been urged by his hon'ble friend in his opening speech, and although BABOO KRISTODAS PAL was not prepared to submit a scheme of general election for the municipal local government of Calcutta, he had some ideas of his own on the subject, which he ventured to place before the Council not without the greatest diffidence. He had started with the proposition that there ought to be election and not selection, and, entertaining that view, he proposed that the municipal Corporation of Calcutta should be made self-elective. His plan was this. Let the number of the Justices who were to compose the Corporation be limited or fixed by law. Make it 100, 80, or any number you think reasonable. He might remind the Council that the City of London had a body of 200 Common Councilmen. He would, then first limit the number of Justices to compose the Corporation, would next provide that one-tenth of them should retire annually or every two or three years, and that the remaining members of the Corporation should elect from amongst the rate-payers successors to those who would go out by rotation,—that was to say, the remaining members should form a sort of Board of Electors. The first election might be made by the present Justices from amongst their own body, or the first members might be nominated by the Government. Thus, if the Council should agree to limit the number to 100, these might be elected from amongst the 153 Justices of which the Corporation now consisted, or the Government might select the first 100, and one-tenth of this body, that is, 10, should go out annually, and the remaining 90 should elect successors to those 10 from amongst the rate-payers, and any rate-payer possessing the necessary intellectual qualifications should be considered eligible to election. He would also fix by law the number of representatives of each section of the community, so that there might be no misunderstanding or confusion hereafter. That number should of course be regulated by a consideration of the number of the population of the various sections of the community, of their stake in the city, and of the amount of their contributions to the municipal fund. These were matters of detail. If the general scheme was approved of by the Council, it might be considered in Committee. If such a system of a self-elective Corporation should prove successful, it might be considered hereafter whether the basis of election might not be extended. He proposed the scheme as a tentative measure only, but he was not prepared to propose any amendments at present. If the views which he had ventured to express should meet with any support in Council, he would submit the necessary amendments for the consideration of the Council.

The motion was then agreed to.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR. HOGG the clauses of the Bill were considered for settlement in the form recommended by the Select Committee.

The consideration of Sections 1 to 4 was postponed.

Section 5 was agreed to.

Section 6 provided that the municipal fund should be applied by the Justices as trustees for the purposes of the Act.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG moved to add to the section the words "and for such other local purposes as the Justices at a special general, or quarterly meeting, with the sanction of the local Government, may direct." The reason he proposed the addition was that in his opinion the Justices were now confined too much in regard to expenditure: they could only expend money for purposes of conservancy and the improvement of the town. It frequently occurred that proper and legitimate expenditure which ought to be borne by the Municipality was unable to be done owing to the wording of this section, which was taken from the law as it now stood. It was of course desirable that the Justices should be prevented from expending money upon objects which did not fall within the legitimate concerns of the town, but such a check he proposed to impose by making all expenditure sanctioned by the Justices at a special, general, or quarterly meeting subject to the sanction of the local Government.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said he considered it his duty to oppose the amendment. He thought the power of the Justices to expend money could not be too much guarded. He had just now alluded to the extravagance which sometimes characterized the operations of the Justices, and if this additional power were vested in them, he feared it would lead to considerable waste of the hard earned money of the tax-payers. His hon'ble friend had said that sometimes the Justices themselves regretted their want of power to expend money for what they considered legitimate objects. BABOO KRISTODAS PAL was not aware that the Justices had found themselves fettered from granting money for a single object which properly came within the legitimate scope of the Municipality. The only question which he remembered to have been raised was in connection with the reception of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, but that was an exceptional case, and by a stretch of the law provision had been made by the Justices for the purpose. But if the desire of his hon'ble friend for the introduction of the words he proposed were acceded to, BABOO KRISTODAS PAL could not conceive the variety of subjects that might be brought within this drag-net. As his hon'ble friend was well aware, the municipal fund was charged with a very heavy debt, the interest and sinking fund for which was nearly equal to the ten per cent. house-tax, or ten lakhs per annum. The Justices had, besides, an expensive establishment, the drainage works were not completed, and required a further expenditure of more than thirty lakhs. The water-supply was insufficient and might have to be doubled up. So that the legitimate wants of the town could not be met from the funds available, and he was of opinion that it would be a prostitution of the power of the Justices if they were permitted to apply their funds at their discretion, of course with the sanction of the Government, which, as experience showed, could be easily obtained, for objects not directly connected with the health and comfort of the people.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG said he could not agree with the objection which had been urged. He would call to the recollection of the Council what occurred in 1866, when paupers were pouring into the town and the Justices were unable to make any grant in order to assist in supporting the famished stricken people. Surely, even looking at the matter as a question of sanitary protection of the inhabitants of Calcutta, that was a fair subject of expenditure. Again, there was another project just started, namely, for the establishment of a zoological garden. That, in his opinion, was also a fit subject of municipal expenditure. The amendment did not propose to impose any expenditure upon the Justices arbitrarily: it left the initiative to them, and then placed a check upon their discretion by requiring the sanction of the local Government. Surely the Legislature could trust the Justices, when controlled by the sanction of the local Government, to make expenditure for local purposes. For these reasons he trusted the Council would adopt the amendment, and pass the section as proposed to be altered by him.

The HON'BLE MR. SCHALCH said he certainly thought the purposes to which the municipal fund might be applied should be distinctly stated in the Act. They had seen that his hon'ble friend considered the proposed zoological gardens a fit subject for municipal expenditure. The garden might be an improvement to the neighbourhood of the town, but MR. SCHALCH did not think that the establishment of a zoological garden was a purpose for which we could compel the rate-payers to pay. He thought the words in the law "for the improvement of the town" should serve for all necessary purposes. He would ask the Council not to insert any general clause authorizing expenditure, but to confine the power of expenditure to such special purposes as were strictly necessary to the wants of the town.

The HON'BLE BABOO JUGGADANUND MOOKERJEE said, it appeared to him that the amendment was not only reasonable, but necessary. The reason why he thought it necessary was that it gave power to the Justices, who had the general control over the municipal fund, to do as they pleased, and it was they only, with the sanction of the Government, who could apply the municipal fund to any particular purpose. The control which the Justices at present possessed over the municipal fund they would retain, and the additional power of expenditure which was proposed to be given to them would be subject to the check of the local Government. Under these circumstances he would support the amendment.

After some further conversation, the Council divided:—

Ayes.	Noes.
Hon'ble Baboo Juggadanund Mookerjee.	Hon'ble Baboo Kristodas Pal.
„ Mr. Reynolds.	„ Baboo Doorga Churn Law.
„ Mr. Hogg	„ Mr. Brookes.
„ The President.	„ Mr. Dampier.
	„ The Advocate-General.
	„ Mr. Schalch.

So the motion was negatived, and the section agreed to.

Section 7 related to the appointment of the Chairman, and provided that he should be "removable" by the local Government if his removal were recommended by a resolution in favor of which not less than two-thirds of the Justices present at a special general meeting should have voted.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved the substitution of the word "removed" for "removable." If a majority of two-thirds of the Justices recommended the removal of the Chairman, he thought that his removal should be made absolute, and not left to the discretion of the Government. When the Chairman would forfeit the confidence of two-thirds of the Justices, surely it would not be right to force him upon them.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT explained that the adoption of the amendment would make a great difference in the tenure under which the office was now held, as it would make the Chairman removable by the Justices, whereas at present he could only be removed by the Government.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL observed that he proposed the amendment in order to give effect to the vote of two-thirds of the Justices, for when there would be such a decisive majority the Government ought to act in conformity with it.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG thought that as the Chairman was appointed by the Government, he ought to be removed by the Government, and the law should not make him removable even by the unanimous vote of the Justices.

The HON'BLE MR. SCHALCH considered that the Chairman should not be removable by the Justices: it would be inconsistent with the due discharge of the duties of his office if he were liable to removal by a bare majority.

The motion was negatived, and the section passed as it stood.

Section 8 provided for the appointment of a Vice-Chairman.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG moved the insertion of the words "for such period as they may think fit" after "appoint" in line 4. He said the amendment would enable the Justices to fix the period during which the nominee should hold the office of Vice-Chairman. It might occur that a gentleman advanced in years would be nominated, and it would be advisable not to appoint him for life, and to throw on the Justices the disagreeable duty of compelling him to retire on account of old age. He thought it would be well for the Justices in such cases to recommend to the Government to appoint such an officer for a fixed term of years, and it would be optional with the Justices to renominate him.

The motion was carried, and the section as amended was agreed to.

In Section 9 an amendment was moved by the Hon'ble Mr. Hogg and carried with the object of giving the Government a general supervision over the appointment of the chief officers of the Municipality.

Section 10 provided that the Chairman might hold certain other specified offices in addition to the office of Chairman.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG moved the addition of the following words to clause (b)—"and may perform such other duties as the local Government may from time to time assign to the Commissioner of Police." He need hardly point out that, as Commissioner of Police, the Chairman was frequently called upon to perform other duties besides those specified in the section, such as Visitor of the Presidency Jail and President of the Commission for the Inspection of Boilers. The question had arisen how far it was legal for the Chairman to perform such duties, and he proposed this amendment to remove doubts.

After some conservation as to the advisability of postponing the consideration of the section with reference to the constitution of the Municipality, and the separation of the offices of Commissioner of Police and Chairman of the Justices urged by the Hon'ble Kristodas Pal, the motion was agreed to.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG also moved the adoption in clause (d) of the same section (which provided that the Vice-Chairman might be appointed to hold any other office in addition to his own), of an amendment with the object of making the sanction of the local Government necessary before the health officer could be appointed to any other post by the Justices.

The motion was carried, and the section as amended was agreed to.

Sections 11 and 12 were agreed to.

Section 13 related to the appointment, remuneration, and removal of subordinate officers.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved the insertion, after the word "meeting" in paragraph 3 of line 5, of the following words, "and the dismissal of officers of the Justices in receipt of monthly salaries below Rs. 200 shall be reported to the Justices in meeting." Under the present law it was left to the Chairman to appoint or dismiss officers with salaries under Rs. 200, but their appointment and dismissal were not to be reported to the Justices at meeting. He thought it advisable that the Chairman should be required to report the dismissal of such officers. There was an appeal to Government from the acts of departmental heads dismissing Government servants with salaries much less than Rs. 200, but the fate of subordinate municipal officers was left absolutely to the pleasure of the Chairman. He did not believe that the acts of the Chairman in this respect would be ordinarily or unreasonably interfered with; but if there was any glaring case of injustice, it was much better that the Chairman's power should be curtailed than that injustice should be done.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG thought it was not desirable to weaken the hands of the executive. The subordinate officers of the Municipality must look to their chief alone, and if he had to report the removal of such officers to the Justices, it might give rise to an undesirable and disgreeable discussions between the Justices and their Chairman.

The HON'BLE MR. SCHALCH thought that the Chairman should have full power to remove any subordinate officer with a salary under Rs. 200. An appeal to Government which consisted of one or two individuals was quite a different thing.

The motion was put and negatived.

Section 14, empowering the Justices to grant leave of absence to their officers, was agreed to with a verbal amendment.

Sections 15 to 30 were agreed to.

Section 31 related to the mode of making contracts.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved the insertion of the words at the end of paragraph 2—"and no such contract shall be made without inviting tenders thereon, and without the approval of a Committee of the Justices."

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG considered that it would be detrimental to the despatch of business if any petty contract above Rs. 500 in value were to be subject to the inviting of tenders and approval of a Committee of Justices.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said that after the discussions about contracts which had been going on, he thought the Hon'ble Mover would be the first to accept the amendment which was now proposed. The law required two other Justices besides the Chairman to sign every contract above Rs. 500, but as the business was now transacted, they simply did so pro formâ. By way of illustration of the manner in which contracts were given away by the Justices he mentioned that the contract for the construction of four new filter tanks at Pulta at a cost of a lakh and a half of rupees had been, he was told, settled by private arrangement without inviting any tenders from the public.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER observed that if the amendment was passed as it stood, no doubt there would be room for the objection that in some instances it would not be possible to postpone matters by inviting tenders. He thought that these petty contracts would be practically engineering details; it seemed that there would be such contracts in the nature of things which need not be submitted to a competition and the decision of a Committee of Justices.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG said that it would depend upon what was held to be a contract; if these petty engagements with masons to carry out small sections of the drainage works did not come within the meaning of the term "contract," he would have no objection.

The HON'BLE THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL suggested that the amendment should be agreed to subject to the raising of the minimum amount of the contracts referred to from Rs. 500 to Rs. 1,000.

The suggestion was adopted, the amendment carried, and the section as amended was agreed to.

Sections 32 and 33 were agreed to.

Section 34, which related to the budget of expenditure, was passed with the addition on the motion of the HON'BLE MR. HOGG of the following proviso:—"Provided that nothing in the section shall preclude the Justices in meeting from sanctioning expenditure not provided in the budget."

Section 35 was agreed to.

Division	No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BENGAL.
		Western Districts.
BURDWAN DIVN.	1	Burdwan, Nov. 22,* '75	Nil.	No rain. Good reports of the crops received from all parts of the district. Sowings of cold weather crops are progressing.
	2	Bankoora, " 20, "	Nil.	Weather dry and cool. The aman, or the early winter rice crop, is being reaped, and the amun or late rice is ripening, with every prospect of a very good outturn in all parts of the district, except in the north-west, where it has suffered a little for want of rain. Winter sowings still going on. General health of the district is good, except a few cases of cholera at head-quarters, and some cases of fever in the south-east of the district.
	3	Beerbhoom, " 20, "	Nil	Weather seasonable. Harvest of rice in progress. Cold weather cultivation commenced; prospects good.
	4	Midnapore, " 20, "	Nil.	Weather clear and cold. State and prospects of the crops are very good, as before.
	5	Hooghly, " 20, "	Nil.	Weather dry, cool, and steady. No change since last week; harvest of early amun rice is progressing. Cultivation for cold weather crops going on satisfactorily
		Howrah, " 20, "	Nil.	Weather fine, but hardly cold enough to be seasonable. Prospects of the crops are very good indeed.
		Central Districts.
PRESIDENCY DIVN.	6	24-Pergunnahs, Nov. 2,† '75	Nil.	Seasonable weather. Cold weather sowings completed. Reaping of the amun rice crop has commenced in some places. Crops excellent. A few cases of cholera reported from Dum-Dum, Baraset, Diamond Harbour, Satkhira, and Bussirhat. Fever is prevailing at Barripore and Baraset.
	7	Nuddea, " 20, "	Nil.	Weather warmer than usual, but the evenings begin to be cool. The amun rice harvest has begun in places, and generally promises to be good, but rain is wanted in Meherpore and Bongong sub-divisions. The cold weather crops are everywhere in the ground. Cholera is reported all over the district.
	8	Jessore, " 20, "	Nil.	Weather clear and seasonably cold. No rain. Prospects of the crops continue good. The harvesting of the earlier crops of winter rice is commencing.
	9	Moorshedabad, " 20, "	Nil.	Weather cool. State and prospects of the crops are the same as in last week. The complaints about want of rain have diminished, although there has been no rain during the past week. Fever still continuing in Soojagunj.
RAJSHAHYE DIVN.	10	Dinagepore, " 19, "	Nil.	Weather cool and pleasant. There has been no rain throughout the district. The prospect of the crops are not very favorable, and not more than an eight anna outturn expected. A few cases of cholera reported from the interior.
	11	Maldah, " 20, "	Nil.	No rain has fallen. The weather towards the end of the week has occasionally been cloudy; nights cold. No change in the prospects of the crops since last report. The reaping of the aman has commenced. Fifty-three persons have been attacked by cholera during the week, and fifty-five deaths have occurred from that disease. In the thana of Gazole seventy-six persons have been attacked by small-pox and ten have died.
	12	Rajshahye, " 20, "	Nil.	No rain during the week. The rice and cold weather crops of the northern Burlund are being injured by continued absence of rain. The rice crops in beels and on low lands are reported to be thriving well, and to be likely to give a good outturn. The cold weather crops throughout the district would be much benefited by rain; a ten or twelve anna crop is expected in parts other than the North Burlund. In the Nattore sub-division the prospect of the standing late rice was deemed good, but during the present week it is said by many ryots that injury is being done by insects to crops on dry lands in parts of the sub-division. Sugar manufacturing has commenced. Cold weather crops are good. Harvesting of early rice is going on extensively. Thirteen cases of cholera reported during the week, of which four were fatal. Cholera is bad in Singra thana.
	13	Rungpore, " 19, "	Nil.	Weather fair and somewhat warm. No change in rice prospects. Harvest has commenced in the Kurigram sub-division. Expected outturn eight annas; Cold weather crops, mustard principally, promise well.
	14	Bogra, " 20, "	Nil.	Fine and seasonable weather. No change in the state and prospects of the crops for better or worse.
	15	Pubna, " 20, "	Nil.	Weather seasonable. The harvest of the early amun crop is progressing. The outturn is good. The later rice and the winter crops are still doing well, but would be the better for a little rain. Cholera continues at Chohali, in Serajgunge.

* Telegram of the 22nd November, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

† Report of the 22nd November, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

Cooch Behar Divn.	16	Darjeeling, Nov. 19, '75	Nil.	Bright cold weather, frost in the early morning. In the hills the Indian-corn has been reaped. The winter rice and murwa millet is being reaped, all with very fair results. The winter rice crop in the Terai will fall far short of full return, but no serious results are to be feared.
	17	Julpigoree, " 20, "	Nil.	The weather has become colder the last few days, and is more seasonable. There is no change to observe in the crops since last week's report. Cholera continues.
		Cooch Behar, " 18, "	Nil.	Weather fair. No rain. There has been no improvement in the prospects of the crops It is feared that in some parts of the raj the outturn of the amun dhan will fall much below 8 annas Full enquiries are being made.
		Eastern Districts.
Dacca Divn.	18	Dacca, Nov. 22,* '75	Nil.	Seasonable weather. State and prospects of the crops are good. Sporadic cholera is, as usual at this season, reported from most parts of the district. The baroni mela or fair, is now being held. Only one case of cholera has occurred there to date
	19	Fureedpore, " 20, "	Nil.	The weather during the week has been cooler; the cold season may now be said to have fairly set in. From the short rainfall in October the paddy crops are suffering, and the outturn of the crops will not hence be so good as it otherwise would have been. Cholera still prevails in some parts of the district. Towards the south it is reported as assuming a rather malignant type.
	20	Backergunge, " 18, "	Nil.	The condition of the crops generally is good, save in the thana of Dowlutkhan and Baramodi, where some damage is reported from the want of rain. There is also a good deal of sickness, particularly fever. Sporadic cases of cholera are reported from the following thanas, viz. Dowlutkhan, Perozepore, Backergunge, Nalchittee, and Burrisaul.
	21	Mymensingh, " 19, "	Nil.	Weather fine and dry. State and prospects of the crops are favorable. Cholera still prevails in the Atteah sub-division.
	22	Tipperah, " 19, "	Nil.	Weather clear and cold. The early winter rice crop is being harvested; the winter rice crop generally will be rather below the average, owing to want of sufficient rainfall in October. The rice in the high lands has almost altogether been lost. Cholera prevails to some extent, especially in the north of the district.
Chittagong Divn.	23	Chittagong, " 18, "	Nil	Mornings cool. There is no improvement in the state of the crops in the north. Insects, and great want of rain, are also now reported from the south of the district. Cholera prevalent in the Futteekcherry thana.
	24	Noakholly, " 18, "	Nil.	Weather fair and cool, but hot at noon. The amun or late rice crop, is progressing favorably. For want of rain about four annas and six annas of the crops have been lost in the islands of Sundip and Hatya respectively. Cholera is raging both in the town and interior of the district.
	25	Chittagong Hill Tracts	......	Return not received.
		Hill Tipperah, " 17, "	Nil.	No rain during the week, and no immediate prospect of any. The rice crop will be below the average if rain is not soon forthcoming.
BEHAR.
Patna Divn.	26	Patna, Nov. 22,* '75	Nil.	Weather fine and seasonably cold, with no apparent sign of rain. The Collector cannot learn, however, that the crops are in any worse state than they were at the time of his last report Health of the district is good, and cholera has disappeared from the vicinity of Dinapore.
	27	Gya, " 20, "	Nil.	Weather dry. Winds south and north-west. Occasionally cloudy. Thermometer reached 84° 8′. Paddy almost all ripe; some has been cut. Some is good, only a small proportion of utter failures on the high lands. The average expectations are of a ten-anna crop. The rubbee is also reported to be now germinating well in most parts, and some growth has been made.
	28	Shahabad, " 20, "	Nil.	The winter may be said to have set in, although the middays are somewhat hot. Prospects of the crops remain unchanged. Paddy being reaped Rubbee crops growing; sugarcane good; dearah crops promising.
	29	Durbhunga, " 19, "	Nil.	Heavy dews; weather growing perceptibly colder. There is no change in the prospects of the rice crop; the late heavy dews have prevented the crops in many places from drying up, but rain is urgently needed. From want of moisture the cold weather crops in many parts of the district have not germinated. Irrigation is being largely resorted to, and the crops are being resown. It is too early to decide on the future prospects of the cold weather crops.

* Telegrams of the 22nd November, received on the same day, show rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

BEHAR.—(Contd.)
PATNA DIVN.—(Contd.)	30	Mozufferpore, Nov. 20, '75	Nil.	Early mornings very foggy; weather getting colder; west wind prevailing. The prospects of rice crop in Mozufferpore and Hazeepore sub-divisions remain unchanged. The rubbee crops, where sowings germinated, are growing weak, and in some parts dying for want of moisture. Without early rain these crops will probably come to maturity only on the lands which lay fallow during the rains, and which were sown early. Root crops are fairly good, and are coming into consumption. The Collector has just made a complete tour of Sitamarhee sub-division, and considers that there will be an average five annas rice crop in the sub-division. Many rice tracts, especially those which have been recently irrigated from Luckandayee and Adhwara streams, are far better than he had been led to believe, but other large tracts are very much worse than he had thought possible. In an area of 150 square miles in and around Sitamarhee itself, and where the rainfall generally has been only 22 inches during the year, neither rice crop nor rubbee crops will exceed one anna. In south Shewhur thana, half Belsund outpost, and two-fifths of Jalley thana, the rice crops will be two annas only. Rahur and kurthee pulses grown over small areas promise full crops. Indian-corn is being largely imported from Nepal. On the whole, considering the failures of rice and rubbee crops, and the fact that the ryots have had to pay two years' rent and about one-third of the Government grain advances with the produce of the last four harvests, the Collector feels great anxiety regarding this sub-division.
	31	Sarun, " 20, "	Nil.	Weather clear and seasonable, west wind prevailing. Cotton and rahur pulse are doing well; sugarcane is being manufactured. Paddy is fast ripening. In thanas Chupra and Manjhi it is being harvested. Rubbee crops are coming on well, but with a steady west wind apprehensions are entertained of the moisture in the fields being soon dried up. General health good.
	32	Chumparun, " 19, "	Nil	Weather hot during the day and cool at night. The prospect of the standing crops is no better than what has been reported last week. The sky now and then is overcast, but no rain. If it rains soon both the aughani and rubbee crops would be largely benefited. The high land rice plants have turned yellow and are being used as fodder for cattle. The average yield is estimated at six annas at the most.
BHAGULPORE DIVN.	33	Monghyr, " 20, "	Nil.	Fine weather. No change in the prospects of the crop since last week. The rice is ripening. The outturn on the high lands generally will be poor, but that on the low lands, and where irrigation has been resorted to, will be, the Collector estimates, nearly an average crop. Rain now would do more harm than good to the rice. The rubbee sowings are now going on, but it is early to calculate the probable outturn of the future crop. The rahur (pulse) and chota jenera are doing well.
	34	Bhagulpore, " 22,* "	Nil.	The crops in the Naridigar pergunnah are much better than previously reported but in Dugwarah they have totally failed. Severe distress will be very local and easily met. The cold weather crops promise to be especially good. A very large area has been sown, and is under ample well-irrigation. In Mudhepoora the price of marowa millet has fallen to 32-8 seers of 84 tolahs per rupee. In Banka a 12 anna crop is being reaped; koorthe pulse promises well. Public health good.
	35	Purneah, " 20, "	Nil.	Weather getting colder every day. No change in the prospects of the crops from last week. The mustard is looking very well, and the sowings of the rubbee crop are progressing satisfactorily. Cholera is prevalent in many places, and fever general throughout the district.
	36	Sonthal Perghs. " 20, "	Nil.	Weather getting steadily cooler The rice harvest has begun in parts, otherwise there is nothing in the condition or prospects of the crops to record.
ORISSA.
ORISSA DIVN.	37	Cuttack, Nov. 13, '75	Nil.	Weather clear and cold. No rain, and none wanted. Laghu rice crop is being reaped with fair outturn; heavy sarudh rice is progressing well. Cold weather crops coming on favorably. Cholera still hanging about.
	38	Pooree, " 18, "	Nil.	Weather bright and cold. The laghu or first late rice, is being reaped and gathered. Sarad, or the main late rice, is in flower, and getting on well. Prospect of the crops in Khoordha is favorable, but cholera is reported to have broken out in different parts of the sub-division.
	39	Balasore, " 19, "	Nil.	The weather continues fine, and the harvest is progressing favorably. Cholera is severe in the south of the district, and 58 deaths have been reported during the first fortnight of November.

* Telegram of the 22nd November, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
CHOTA NAGPORE.
	South-Western Frontier Agency.
40	Hazareebagh, Nov. 19, '75	Nil	Weather seasonable, with west wind. About half the rice crop has been reaped; the outturn it is expected will be a little below the average The prospects of the cold weather crop, of what has been sown, is favorable.
41	Lohardugga, „ 20, „	Nil.	The rice crop now is being rapidly harvested, the outturn will be very good. The rubbee crops are germinating well, but in Palamow only about half the usual area has been sown owing to want of rain. General health good.
42	Singbhoom, „ 19, „	Nil.	Weather seasonable. State and prospects of the crops are favorable. District healthy.
43	Manbhoom, „ 20, „	Nil.	Weather favorable. The paddy is being harvested. The ryots, the Collector says, complain in places that the cheppo or blight, has done a good deal of mischief. The harvest however generally will be a good one. Cold weather crops are promising.

The mean barometer, as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means, are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches, above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

RULES FOR THE CUSTODY, DISTRIBUTION, AND SALE OF POSTAGE STAMP LABELS.

Approved by the Government of India in Financial Department letter No. 2035, dated 31*st March* 1875.

(N.B.—These Rules apply both to Service Stamps and to Ordinary Stamps, with the exceptions noted in Rules V and VIII.)

Supplies from Central Depôts.

I.—Supplies of postage stamps for the Madras Presidency, including Mysore and the local depôts subordinate to Madras, shall be supplied by the Superintendent of Stamps at Madras on the indent of officers in charge of local depôts.

II.—Supplies of postage stamps for the Presidency of Bombay, including Scind, Berar, the Central Provinces, and local depôts subordinate to Bombay, shall be supplied by the Superintendent of Stamps at Bombay on the indent of officers in charge of local depôts.

III.—Stamps for the Bengal Presidency, including the North-Western Provinces, Oudh, the Punjab, Central India, Rajpootana, Assam, and British Burmah, and local depôts subordinate to Calcutta, shall be supplied by the Superintendent of Stamps at Calcutta on the indent of officers in charge of local depôts.

IV.—The above-mentioned supplies from central to local depôts shall be issued on credit.

Local Depôts.

V.—Every Treasury throughout India, including those attached to political, customs, and salt agencies, shall be a local depôt for the sale of postage stamps, provided that the value of the stamps sold at one time to any purchaser shall not be less than Rs. 5, and shall not include any fraction of a rupee. At any station at which there is a Collector of Land Revenue, neither a Salt Agent nor Collector of Customs shall be entrusted with the custody and sale of postage stamps. All sales under this rule will be for cash on delivery; and when the purchaser is one of those who are required to retail stamps under Rule VIII, or is one specially authorized under Rule IX, a discount of one half anna per rupee will be allowed. But to purchasers other than the above, no discount will be allowed, and officers in charge of local depôts must see that discount is not allowed except to the privileged officers above referred to. The sale of embossed envelopes shall be subject to the same conditions, except that they shall be sold in packets containing sixteen envelopes each, portions of a packet not being saleable. The price of each packet shall be the value of the stamps borne by the envelopes contained in it, the discount (if any) being calculated on that value.

The above rule is only partially applicable to "Service Stamps," which may be sold only to Government officials on a written application, accompanied by payment of the value in cash, and on which no discount is allowed. A receipt containing in detail the gross value of each description of Service Postage Stamps sold will be granted by the treasury officer for the amount paid to him.

VI.—A supply equal to the probable consumption for five months of the district attached to each local depôt shall be kept in each, and as soon as the number in store has fallen below the number expended during the preceding six months, the Collector, or other officer in charge of the depôt, shall indent* on the central depôt of his presidency for a number equal to the consumption of the last three months for which accounts have been rendered to the central depôt of the presidency. If by any accident the stock of stamps of any value should run short before the receipt of a fresh supply from the central depôt, the officer in charge of the treasury will indent on neighbouring districts for a quantity sufficient to meet the demand, which may be supplied, or not, according to the discretion, and on the responsibility of the officer indented on, with reference to the wants of his own district. It will be the duty of the Superintendent of Stamps of the Presidency to report to the Director-General of the Post Office, for the orders of Government, every occasion on which it may appear, from the monthly statement or otherwise, that the store of stamps of any particular value in any district has fallen below the authorized amount.

Branch depôts.

VII.—Every Branch Treasury and every Tehsil Treasury shall be a branch depôt for the sale of postage stamps under the conditions described in Rule V. It will receive its stamps from the local depôt to which it is subordinate, keeping always in store a supply sufficient to meet the probable demands of one month, estimated according to the average of former sales. It will keep an account of sales in the same form (3) hereafter prescribed for the Treasurer's account, and will indent for supplies in the same form (4) as hereafter prescribed for the Treasurer's indent. It will render an account monthly to the local depôt in Form 6A immediately on the expiration of the month.

Retail sale of Stamps.

VIII.—A supply of stamps for sale by retail shall be kept available at every post office, receiving house, tehsildaree, thana, and every police station at which letters are received for despatch, and with every licensed stamp-vendor; and it shall be the duty of the officer to whom the person in charge of any of the above-named places is subordinate, to take steps to ensure that the supply kept on hand is at all times equal to at least one week's demand. Persons in charge of the above-mentioned places will receive discount on purchases under Rule V.

This rule does not apply to "Service Stamps."

By the term "licensed vendor," as used above, is meant a stamp-vendor licensed under rules framed by the local Government in accordance with Section 48 of the General Stamp Act (XVIII of 1869).

Authorization of certain retail vendors other than the above.

IX.—A district officer may authorize the grant of discount at ¼ anna per rupee on purchases under Rule V to any person who is a bonâ fide retail vendor of postage stamps, although he may not be one of those required to retail them under the above rule. Such authority shall be given in writing, and must be produced by the person authorized when claiming discount on purchases: the authority will hold good for only 12 months from the date on which it is given, and may be revoked at any time at the discretion of the district officer. No such authority may be given to any person employed in a Government Treasury. A register showing the name, residence, and occupation of every person so authorized, and the date of the authority, shall be kept by the district officer.

Custody of Stamps in Local Depôts.

X.—The bulk of postage stamps in store at any local depôt shall be kept in parcels, containing a known number of sheets, in the Treasury or other secure place, in one or more strong chests or presses, under double locks,—the key of one lock of each chest or press always remaining in the hands of the Collector or other officer in charge of the stamps, and the key of the other in the hands of the Treasurer.

XI.—The remainder of the stamps in store shall be in the hands of the Treasurer, and shall not exceed the probable demand of fourteen days, estimated according to the average of former sales.

XII.—The Treasurer shall keep a daily account of receipts and sales* in the vernacular of the district in which the transactions of each succeeding day shall be entered consecutively, a balance being struck at the close of each day, and attested by the initials of the officer in charge of the Treasury.

* Form 3

XIII.—On the first open day of each month, and on every Monday during the month, the Treasurer shall prepare in the vernacular, and submit to the officer in charge of the postage stamps, an indent† for a supply of postage stamps for the following week. The indent, after being approved or altered by the officer in charge of the postage stamps, shall be signed by him, and complied with as directed in the following rule. The indent thus signed shall be the warrant for the issue of the stamps.

† Form 4

XIV.—The officer in charge of the postage stamps shall cause the store under double locks to be opened, and the required number to be counted and delivered to the Treasurer in his presence. A store-book‡ shall be kept in English, in which the number and value of the stamps delivered to the Treasurer shall be entered, and a balance struck at the time of delivery. This balance will be attested by the initials of the officer in charge and of the Treasurer, both of whom shall invariably be present during the whole time that the store under double locks, or any part of it, remains open. The deliveries shown in the store-book will agree with the indent as approved.

‡ Form 5.

XV.—If the Treasurer require stamps at any intermediate time, the same process will be observed as is prescribed in the two preceding rules.

XVI.—Stamps will be supplied from the store under double locks only to the Treasurer and to branch depôts, and on indent from them, respectively. Sales should be made not out of store, but from the supply in the hands of the Treasurer or the supply in branch depôts.

XVII.—As soon as possible after the arrival of a despatch of postage stamps from a central depôt, or from any other local depot, the packets or boxes are to be opened, one at a time, in the presence of the officer in charge of stamps. The stamps contained in each box or packet are then to be immediately counted and compared with the invoice,§ which, after being receipted, will be returned by the first post to the depôt whence they were despatched. Unless the officer in charge of the stamps can certify that the stamps contained in any given packet or box were immediately counted by himself personally, or in his presence, he will be held responsible for the value of any that may be found deficient. The stamps are then to be placed in the store under double locks, and entered in the store-books, and no stamps are to be delivered to the Treasurer or sold to any party without being first brought into store.

XVIII.—Officers in charge of stamps will have the stamps in store, both those under double locks and those in the hands of the Treasurer, counted in their presence on the last open day of September and March in each official year, and will certify having done so in the following terms at the foot of the monthly accounts of sales and stock|| for those months furnished to the Superintendent of Stamps:—

|| Form 6

"I do hereby certify that I have personally counted the postage stamps in store on 18 , the actual value of which is Rupees (here enter the amount in words and figures); and that the rules prescribed by the order of the Government of India dated are duly observed."

XIX.—On occasions of transfer of charge, postage stamps will be made over in the same manner and under the same precautions as the cash balance in the Treasury.

XX.—The officer in charge of each local depôt will submit, within the first week of each month, an account¶ to the Superintendent of Stamps of his Presidency, showing the balance in hand at the sudder and branch Treasuries at the close of the preceding month, and the sales effected during that month.

¶ Form 6.

Returns to be made by Central Depôt.

XXI.—The Superintendent of Stamps of each Presidency will, on the 15th of each month, in addition to any account required by the Accountant-General, furnish the Director-General of the Post Office with a memorandum showing the number of stamps distributed by him during the preceding month; and at the close of each month he will also furnish another memorandum†† showing the number and value of stamps in hand, and the total amount of the actual sales of each local depôt and of all the local depôts supplied by him.

Superintendent of Stamps.

[Second Publication.]

The 23rd November 1875.—The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to publish for general information the following revised rules to regulate the Native Civil Service Examination to be held in 1876, and future examinations, in supersession of those published at page 1293 of the Calcutta Gazette of 6th October 1875 :—

NATIVE CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS AND CIVIL SERVICE CLASSES.

[Rules to come into force after the examination of 1875.]

INTRODUCTORY.

Now that there have been held four annual examinations for the Native Civil Service and that a fifth examination is to take place in February 1876, the Lieutenant-Governor wishes to place the Native Civil Service examinations on a permanent footing.

2. All appointments in the Subordinate Executive Service, and all posts of Rs. 50 monthly salary and upwards in the sub-divisional establishments, both in Regulation and Non-Regulation Provinces, will ordinarily be reserved for persons who are passed at the Native Civil Service examination under the conditions specified in the subsequent paragraph 7 of these rules. Candidates for the gazetted appointments in the Police and Opium Departments will not be admitted to the examination save under a special certificate, which can only be granted under the orders of the Lieutenant-Governor. Lists of candidates passed under the subsequent paragraph 7 of these rules will be published in the Gazette.

ELIGIBILITY AND PRELIMINARIES TO THE EXAMINATION.

Admissible to examination

3. All candidates eligible for appointments under rules 5 and 6 (below), who satisfy the preliminary requirements, will be admitted to the Native Civil Service examination.

4. The preliminary requirements which all candidates must satisfy are described below and must be attested by certificates (a), (b), and (c), which must bear dates not later than three months previous to the date fixed for the examination.

(a)—Certificate of Character.

A certificate will be required from every candidate of his character, respectability, and general moral fitness, such certificate being signed by two gentlemen of his own nationality, resident in the district of which he is a native, or where he usually resides, and also signed by the Judge or Magistrate of such district. The certificate of the two first-named is to indicate that the gentlemen who have signed it are qualified by their position and character to give such a certificate, and that the Judge or Magistrate himself knows nothing to the prejudice of the candidate. In the case of the town of Calcutta, instead of the signature of the Judge or Magistrate, the certificate should bear that of any Judge of the High Court, or the Commissioner of Police, or the Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

(b)—Certificate of Sound Health.

Each candidate will be required to produce a certificate from the Government medical officer of the district of which the candidate is a native, or where he may for the time being reside, stating that the candidate is generally a man of sound health, that he has expressed his willingness to serve in any district of the Lower Provinces, and that he (the medical officer) believes him to be capable of doing so, so far as can be judged antecedently.

(c)—Certificate of ability to Ride or Walk.

Every candidate for the higher appointments will also be required to prove that he can ride, and for this purpose he may apply to the Magistrate of the district, who will either satisfy himself on the point, or select some other person he thinks competent for that purpose. The examiner must satisfy himself from his own personal observation that the candidate can ride not less than 12 miles at a rapid pace, and is in this respect competent for all practical purposes of district work; and if such examiner be not the Magistrate himself, the certificate must be countersigned by the Magistrate.

Every candidate for an appointment of less than Rs. 100 will be required to prove either that he can ride as above, or that he can walk twelve miles within 3¼ hours without difficulty or prostration, to be certified in the same manner as the riding.

Persons eligible for all appointments.

5. The following persons will be eligible for the examination for the Native Civil Service in all appointments:—

(a)—Persons who have served Government for six years, and have held, for not less than two years, a responsible permanent appointment, above that of copyist, with a salary not less than Rs. 50 in one of the civil departments of the Government service, and can produce a sufficient certificate of ability, good conduct, and fitness for promotion from their official superiors.

(b)—Persons who have taken an University degree in Arts, Law, Medicine, or Engineering.

(c)—Persons who may be specially declared eligible for all appointments by a certificate under the hand of a Secretary to Government.

Persons eligible for appointments of less than Rs. 100 per mensem.

6. The following persons will be eligible for the examination for the Native Civil Service in appointments of less than Rs. 100 per mensem :—

(a)—Persons who have served Government with credit and efficiency for not less than three years, whose thorough facility in the use of the vernacular is certified, and who pass a preliminary examination in English.

(b)—Persons who have passed the First Arts' Examination.

(c)—Persons who may have been specially declared eligible for appointments of the lower grade by a certificate under the hand of a Secretary to Government.

7. The number of places which will be offered for competition in appointments of the higher and lower class respectively will be annually notified in the Gazette three months before the date of the examination. Appointments in the higher class are those of Rs. 100 and upwards, and in the lower class, those of less than Rs. 100. The places in each of the two classes will be awarded to the candidates according to priority in the examination: provided that none be passed for the higher class unless he obtains at least two-thirds, or for the lower class unless he obtains at least one half of the total number of obtainable marks upon the whole examination. Candidates must declare whether they desire to compete for the higher or the lower class; and a candidate for a place in the higher class will not be eligible at that examination for a place in the lower class. To the persons thus passed at the competitive examination a general expectation will be afforded of employment within a reasonable time in the class of appointments for which each has passed, though no guarantee can be given of any particular appointment, or an appointment in a particular grade in that class within a given time. For instance, a person who wins a place in the higher class of appointments will be appointed sooner or later to at least a sub-deputyship on Rs. 100 a month. But it does not at all follow that he will be appointed a Deputy Magistrate and Collector; he may or may not be so appointed; that will depend on the pleasure of Government.

8. Candidates will be examined in the following subjects :—

The Vernacular.	Drawing.
Chemistry.	Engineering.
Botany.	Surveying.
Law.	Gymnastics

No subjects are obligatory, but candidates are at liberty to name, at the time of applying for admission to the examination, the subjects in which they desire to be examined.

9. In the vernacular, candidates may be examined in either Bengali, Hindustani, or Ooriya, but can take up two only of the three languages, i.e., Bengali, and Hindustani, or Ooriya and Hindustani. The maximum number of marks obtainable for any subject will be as follows :—

1st Language ...	90
2nd Ditto ...	90
Drawing ...	120
Surveying ...	240
Engineering ...	240
Law ...	240
Botany ...	60
Chemistry ...	60
Gymnastics ...	60
Total ...	1,200

A special examination in gymnastics will be held, which all candidates who desire to compete in this subject must pass.

10. Applications for admission to the Native Civil Service examination may be made—

(a)—By persons who attend Civil Service classes to the Principal of the College where the classes may be held.

Alipore, 24-Pergunnahs,	Berhampore,	Burrisaul, Backergunge,	Durbhunga,
Kishnagurh, Nuddea,	Dinagepore,	Mymensingh,	Mozufferpore,

Midnapore,	Dacca,	Gya,	Cuttack,
	Fureedpore,	Arrah,	Ranchee,

where the medical officers will also examine candidates and grant certificates of sound health.

11. Every candidate, when submitting his application for admission to examination, must at the same time tender a fee for each subject in which he has to be examined, computed according to the scale given below, if he is a candidate for the higher or lower class of appointments :—

12. The authority receiving the application, if he be satisfied that the candidate is admissible to the examination under these rules, shall receive and credit the fees, will desire the candidate to undergo the required medical and riding or walking examination, if he has not already obtained certificates thereof, and when all certificates are complete, shall forward the application with the certificates of health, character, &c., riding or walking, of payment of fees, to the Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal (Examination Department). No fee is required when a certificate is sufficient and is produced

13. A preliminary examination in English and the vernacular of those candidates who have not already qualified in those subjects will be held. Persons who have passed the First Arts' Examination, or who possess an University degree or certificate in Law or Engineering, will not be liable to the preliminary examination in English. Persons who have gained vernacular scholarships, or who have served with credit in vernacular offices, will not be liable to the preliminary examination in the vernacular. The preliminary examinations will be held on some date in December or January, to be locally notified by the Magistrate of the district, at the stations named in rule 9 (above).

ANNUAL EXAMINATION AT CENTRES.

Date of examination.

14. The annual examination of candidates for admission into the roll of persons qualified for admission into the Native Civil Service will be held on some day in the month of February 1876, not later than the 20th of that month, at Hooghly, Dacca, Patna, and Cuttack. There will, if need be, be special examinations for the Police and the Opium Departments. For the ordinary branches of the service there will be two standards—one higher, qualifying for all appointments; and another lower, qualifying for appointments of less than Rs. 100 per mensem only.

Preliminary examination of European candidates in English at the centres.

15. Previous to the other examinations, European candidates who have not passed any University examination will be required, besides passing an examination in English, to show that they possess a thorough knowledge of writing and arithmetic. They must be able to write well, quickly, and correctly, from dictation, to compose a report, and to do all ordinary arithmetic correctly and quickly, which must be duly certified by the examiners.

By European is meant any person whose native language is English or any other European tongue.

16. Candidates passed at any previous examination will be admitted to the examination in the grade in which they may have passed, without being subject to the preliminary requirements of rules 4 and 13. Similarly candidates partially passed at any previous examination, who may for any reason be permitted to present themselves for examination in certain subjects only, may, if they choose, and if otherwise qualified, enter as competitors at the examination, or they may take up those subjects only in which they are liable to examination. In the latter case they will not be held to have passed in any subject for the higher grade unless they obtain at least two-thirds of the marks allotted to it, and of the marks in each paper allotted to each subject in it, nor for the lower grade unless they similarly obtain at least half marks in each paper and subject.

Examination subjects.

17. The Native Civil Service examination on the subjects named in rule 8 will be conducted so as to test the knowledge of the candidates as follows:—

Examination in the Vernacular.

Vernacular examination for native candidates.

Vernacular examination for European candidates.

18. All native candidates will be required to show that they can read and write office papers and orders in the vernacular with complete facility. All European candidates will be examined as to their ability to speak and understand a vernacular language, to read it in print, and translate it. Their knowledge of it must be sufficient to enable them to do business easily immediately on appointment.

Vernacular languages.

The vernacular language in which candidates will be required to pass under the two preceding rules may be either Bengali, Hindustani, or Ooriya.

Candidates who pass in Bengali only will not be eligible for vacancies in Behar, nor will candidates who pass in Hindustani only be eligible for vacancies in Bengal or Orissa.

RESOLUTION.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT.—MARINE.—No. 3200.

The 15*th November* 1875.

READ—

A letter, No. 6365, dated 5th October 1875, from the Officiating Master-Attendant, recommending the dismissal of Mr. Sparling, a Licensed Leadsman, from the Pilot Service, for being intoxicated while on duty on board the S. S. Sirius.

Letter No. 6675, dated 27th October 1875, from the Officiating Master-Attendant, submitting the required explanation from Mr. Sparling.

Read also—

Letter No 6798, dated 2nd November 1875, from the Officiating Master-Attendant, submitting Mr. Sparling's resignation of his appointment as a Licensed Leadsman in the Bengal Pilot Service.

ON the 5th October 1875, the Officiating Master-Attendant reported that Mr. F. C. Sparling, a Licensed Leadsman, had been intoxicated while on duty on board the steam ship Sirius. As this was not Mr. Sparling's first offence of the kind, Captain Baker recommended that he should be dismissed. It appeared, however, that Mr. Sparling's defence had not been taken, and the Officiating Master-Attendant was accordingly requested to take his answer in writing to the charge brought against him.

2. Mr. Sparling in his explanation admits having been intoxicated, but says that it was after the ship had come to anchor for the night, and that he was fit for duty again the next morning. It seems, however, from the Pilot's report that Mr. Sparling was intoxicated on two consecutive evenings.

3. In a subsequent letter Mr. Sparling requests permission to resign his appointment as a Licensed Leadsman, as he wishes to take other service; but under the circumstances of the case, the Lieutenant-Governor cannot accept his resignation. His Honor accordingly directs that Licensed Leadsman Mr. F. C. Sparling be dismissed from his appointment.

The following are the conditions of sale:—

1. The Opium will be sold for exportation by sea only, and no certificate will be granted except to cover such export.

2. The Opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 800 per chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by Clause 12 of these Conditions of Sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

3. The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M. of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertized for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Member in charge, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the whole quantity advertized shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Member in charge may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

4. Each lot shall contain five chests.

DEPOSIT.

When the amount bid is less than Rs. 1,200 per chest, Rs. 200 per chest.
On bids of Rs. 1,200 and upwards, but less than Rs. 1,600 per chest, Rs 300 per chest.
On bids of Rs. 1,600 and upwards, but less than Rs. 2,000 per chest, Rs. 400 per chest.
And so on, Rs. 100 being added to the deposit for every bid additional, to the extent of Rs. 400

5. A Promissory Note for a sum, calculated according to the scale noted in the margin, shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room, and before the lot is registered in the sale book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal Receipts or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 4 o'clock in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale: or on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal Receipts, or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be resold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Member in charge shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6. The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the last-mentioned condition, if remaining unredeemed at 4 o'clock of the fifth day following the day of sale, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

7. No tender of money, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or public securities, on account of Opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before 4 o'clock of the fifth day following the day of sale, will be afterwards accepted.

8. The Opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 4 o'clock of the fifteenth day from the day of sale; and in case any lots of such Opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the 5th Condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the Opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Member in charge shall think fit, and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the Opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale.

9. Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of Opium after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests originally required to be included in each certificate or order.

10. No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present Conditions will be received in this Office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

11. The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall, on demand, tender at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or Government Securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these Conditions.

12. With a view to prevent fictitious biddings, designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained, and the first bonâ fide bidder for a lot after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these Conditions.

13. The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same agency Opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the Opium to complete the said twenty-five.

14. In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the Opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

15. The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue :—No. 1, certificate of the Opium advertized for sale; No. 2, report of the examination of such Opium.

16. The public are hereby informed that, in providing the investment of the Behar and Benares Opium for the year 1874-75, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of Opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at Behar and Beneras, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken for the purpose of comparison from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

17. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the Opium advertized for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Member in charge entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of Opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the Opium for shipment.

18. It is hereby further notified that under the 6th Article of the Convention between Great Britain and France, dated the 7th March 1815, quoted below, the agents in India of the French Government, or persons duly appointed by them, are entitled to demand that out of the quantities of Behar and Benares Opium declared as above for sale at the twelve sales of the year 1876, there shall be delivered to them, at the average of the particular sale or sales to which the Opium so applied for may belong, a quantity not exceeding in the aggregate 300 chests, and the Agents of the French Government must make requisition specifying the quantity of Opium required by them at any particular sale, within thirty days from the advertisement of such intended sale, provided however that the Agents of the French Government may make such requisition for the whole quantity within thirty days from the publication of this notification. If the Agent of the French Government shall not make the requisition for Opium within the time above mentioned, the entire quantity of about 47,000 chests of Behar and Benares, as above estimated, will be brought to sale in the usual manner; and if they shall make application for a quantity of Opium to be delivered to them out of the quantity advertized for sale at each or any of the twelve sales above mentioned, but shall not pay for it within the prescribed period of payment, the Government of Bengal reserves to itself the right of disposing of the Opium which the French Authorities may so fail to pay for, either by increasing the quantity reserved at the sale next ensuing after the date fixed for payment, or by selling such Opium, or any portion of it at any subsequent monthly sale in addition to the quantity which in this advertisement is approximately mentioned as the quantity to be sold at such sale; or by selling such Opium at a sale to be held expressly for the purpose.

Article of the Convention above referred to.

Article VI.—"With regard to the trade in Opium, it is agreed between the high contracting parties that at each of the periodical sales of that article there shall be reserved for the French Government, and delivered upon requisition duly made by the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty, or by the persons duly appointed by them, the number of chests so applied for, provided that such supply shall not exceed three hundred chests in each year, and the price for the same shall be determined by the average rate at which Opium shall have been sold at every such periodical sale, it being understood that if the quantity of Opium applied for at any one time shall not be taken on account of the French Government by the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty within the usual period of delivery, the quantity so applied for shall nevertheless be considered as so much in reduction of the three hundred chests hereinbefore mentioned. The requisitions for Opium, as aforesaid, are to be addressed to the Governor-General at Calcutta within thirty days after notice of the intended sales shall have been published in the Government Gazette."

CALCUTTA MUNICIPALITY.

THE HON'BLE MR. HOGG moved that the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the municipal affairs of Calcutta be further considered in order to the settlement of its clauses.

The motion was agreed to.

Section 65 provided for the levy, amongst other rates and taxes, of a water-rate not exceeding six per cent. when the houses and lands were situated in streets supplied with filtered water, and not exceeding five per cent. in other parts of the town.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG explained that the 6 per cent. rate could only be levied in streets which were supplied with filtered water, as provided in the Act: that was to say, that no portion of the street should be at a greater distance than 150 yards from a stand-pipe. The object the Committee had in view, in raising the tax in certain cases from 5 to 6 per cent., was to increase the supply of water, which was acknowledged to be insufficient. It was the earnest desire of the Justices to double the supply, and they would not be able to do so unless they were authorized by legislative enactment to raise the rate. At present the Justices had, for the following year, made arrangements for, in a measure, providing the town with a more plentiful supply by increasing the number of filters at Pulta. But it was expected that sooner or later the supply would have to be doubled, and what was proposed to be done was only one step in that direction.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved the substitution of "five" for "six" in paragraph one, clause (b), line one. He said that in Select Committee they had agreed to a rate of 6 per cent., because the information then before them showed that without the additional 1 per cent. it would not be practicable to carry out any extension of the water-supply. But the subsequent increase in the assessment of lands and houses in the town had brought in a large accession of revenue, about Rs. 65,000 for 5 per cent., and he believed that when the whole town would be re-assessed, the yield would be much greater. At present there was an increase of about Rs. 58,000 for 4½ per cent., and on referring to the budget for next year, he found that the Justices were enabled, after providing for interest, sinking fund, and working charges, to set apart Rs. 45,000 for extra works, viz. Rs. 30,000 for extension of the water-supply, Rs. 10,000 for the flooring of Pulta tanks, and Rs. 5,000 for additional hydrants, and all that with the rate proposed to be fixed at 4½ per cent. And if we took the other half per cent., the total addition to the water-supply revenue, over and above the usual yield of that tax, would be about one lakh and ten thousand rupees. He did not therefore think it fair to increase the maximum of the water-rate from 5 to 6 per cent. He believed that the arrangements already contemplated for the increase of the filter tanks at Pulta, to which his hon'ble friend had referred, coupled with the additional supply of the Chandpal Ghât scheme, would, to a great extent, meet the wants of the town; but if the new filters would not completely meet the want expressed on all sides for an additional supply of water, the funds which would be derived from the levy of the full 5 per cent. rate, would enable the Justices to go on further increasing the supply. If, however, notwithstanding the large accession of revenue by increased assessment, the Justices still found the funds at their disposal insufficient to meet the demand, it would then be time to consider whether the rate should be increased.

The HON'BLE MR. SCHALCH said this was a matter in which he took a great interest. The demand for the supply of water had very largely increased. The water-supply scheme was originally constructed to meet a demand of 6½ millions of gallons a day; but the demand had far exceeded that quantity. The consequence had been that although by good management the water supplied had been somewhat in excess of that quantity, or about 7½ millions of gallons a day, the demand still exceeded the supply, and to meet that further demand considerable expense had been incurred by the Justices in enlarging the supply of unfiltered water from Chandpal Ghât; consequently the additional supply of unfiltered water had led to an expense of from 4 to 5 lakhs of rupees beyond what was expected, and must be paid from increased taxation. In the same way it had been found necessary to increase the number of filters at Pulta at a cost of Rs. 1,50,000, and the two sums together would amount to from 5½ to 6½ lakhs of rupees, for which additional interest would have to be paid. The interest on 6 lakhs at 6¼ per cent. would be about Rs. 40,000 of annual increased interest. The hon'ble member who had last spoken had alluded to the increased revenue from increased assessment. MR. SCHALCH was assured that the increase from revised assessments would be only about Rs. 40,000, so that an increase of revenue of Rs. 40,000 would but cover the increase actually incurred for interest by the Justices. There was no reason to suppose that the demand for water would remain as at present. The demand was increasing every day. More houses were being brought in connexion with the mains, and year after year the demand would continue to increase. Therefore they might safely say that even with the increased revenue received from increased assessment, the water-supply fund would stand on no better footing than before. Therefore he felt quite sure that a rate of 5 per cent. would not hereafter prove sufficient; and it would be a great pity if we did not take the present opportunity of giving the Justices a sufficient margin of taxation to meet future demands. It would be entirely within their discretion to impose the additional rate or not.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said the hon'ble member who had just addressed the Council seemed to think that the interest on the capital of the Chandpal Ghât scheme was not covered by the present revenue, and that the remaining half per cent. would be required to meet it. But BABOO KRISTODAS PAL would beg to remind the hon'ble member that the budget of 1876 covered all charges, interest, sinking fund, working expenses, and the cost of new works to the tune of Rs. 45,000. The rate was now taken at 4½ per cent., so that there would still be a margin of half per cent. if the maximum were fixed at 5 per cent., and that half per cent. would bring in about Rs. 60,000, taking 1 per cent. to yield Rs. 1,18,000. Taking, then, Rs. 60,000 and the extra charges incurred in the present budget, which were not of a recurring nature, an additional revenue of more than a lakh of rupees from 5 per cent. water-rate would be available to the Justices.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG observed that the present rate was sufficient to cover all existing expenditure, but he thought the legislature should look ahead and provide for the future wants of the town. If they desired to increase the water-supply, the present rate would not be sufficient.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said he would ask the Council to bear in mind that this rate was not to apply to the whole town, but only to those particular streets in it which were provided for in the manner specified in section 106. In those streets the Justices had to do a great deal of work at a very great expense, which afforded great conveniences to the householders in those streets, and must save them a certain amount of domestic expenditure. Then he would ask the Council to consider that it was not obligatory on the Justices at once to impose this increased rate. If, as the hon'ble member on the left (Baboo Kristodas Pal) considered, the present rate was sufficient to provide for the wants of all the inhabitants, then the enhanced rate need not be imposed, and HIS HONOR presumed the Justices would not impose it. Possibly the arguments addressed to the Council would be addressed by his hon'ble friend to greater effect at a meeting of the Justices, and he would be able to convince them that the increase was not, under present circumstances, required. But still the question remained whether the present opportunity should not be taken to take power to increase the rate if circumstances should render that course necessary. They all knew the immense importance of supplying the city with pure water. Notwithstanding all that might be said to the contrary, none of them doubted that this supply had been conducive to the public health. They also knew that the present rate was barely sufficient even within a certain limited area of the town, and that sooner or later additional expense must be incurred if all the poorer inhabitants of the town were to get the benefit of the water-supply. Sooner or later there must be increased expenditure. Either there must be increased expenditure, or a large portion of the inhabitants, particularly the poorer portion, must be deprived of the inestimable benefits of a pure water-supply. That seemed to be the whole horns of the dilemma, either the one or the other, and it seemed to him best to adopt the former alternative. At the same time he quite agreed that the Council should avoid all additional taxation which they could possibly avoid. Therefore he hoped, if this increased rate were passed, the Justices would exercise the greatest caution and consideration in imposing additional taxation. But if such imposition should become absolutely necessary, there was no alternative but to ask the Council to give the power to impose this increased rate.

The Council then divided.

The motion was therefore negatived, and the section agreed to as it stood.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved amendments in paragraphs 3 and 4 of the same section with the object of making the water-rate payable by the occupier instead of by the owner. He was of opinion that in equity the water-rate ought to be paid by the occupier. Strictly speaking, it was the occupier who derived benefit from the water-rate, and therefore it was right and proper that he should pay it. In another amendment he proposed that the occupier should be charged with the whole of the water-rate. But even if that point was not agreed to, still he was of opinion that the water-rate ought to be paid by the occupier, as he had to pay three-fourths of the rate, and he should be empowered to recover one-fourth from the owner by deduction from the rent paid by him.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG said he could not agree that the whole burden of the water-rate should be borne by the occupier. As the law stood, the rate was levied from the owner, and he was empowered to levy from his tenant three-fourths of the rate paid by him, which MR. HOGG thought was reasonable and proper. As the introduction of the water-supply throughout the town of Calcutta very greatly benefited his property, the owner should bear the cost of conservancy of the town, such as the watering of streets and the cleansing of drains; it was but fair that the owner should pay the rate for water, recovering three-fourths from his tenant.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said he should like the honorable mover of the Bill to explain why, in his opinion, the owner should pay the water-rate, and not the occupier. If the arrangement was that the occupier was ultimately to bear the burden of three-fourths of the rate and the owner was only to bear one-fourth, why should you ask the man on whom the smaller portion of the burden would ultimately fall to pay the rate in the first instance? Why should you not make the occupier pay the whole rate, and then let him deduct the owner's share of it out of the rent? It seemed to MR. DAMPIER that that was the simplest arrangement.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG explained that it was very difficult to levy the rates from the occupiers of property, seeing that they constantly moved about, and in some cases actually left the town before the tax bill could be presented, and therefore a large amount of revenue was lost to the town on account of the police and lighting-rates. Therefore it was thought advisable that the whole onus should be thrown upon the owner, leaving him to collect the tenant's portion at the same time that he recovered the rent from the occupier of his house. It was also thought by very many, and by the majority of the Select Committee, that there would be very much less danger of oppression if the owner were called upon to pay all the rates and subsequently recover from the occupier the rates payable by him.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said that he understood that the difficulty of collecting from occupiers in consequence of their frequently removing during the currency of the quarter was met with regard to other taxes in the Bill by making them leviable in advance.

The HON'BLE THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said he would support the amendment. He certainly was not satisfied with the reasons given by the honorable mover of the Bill for imposing this rate on owners. It was said that the law now stood so. This Municipal Bill was not only a Consolidation Bill, but also an amendment of the existing municipal law, and the present was therefore a fitting opportunity to make amendments which were required in the interests of justice. With regard to the argument that the principle upon which the water-rate was imposed on the owner was that he benefited by the introduction of a water-supply, as it tended to increase rents, he would say that the owners of most houses knew that every tax had a tendency to diminish the rents of houses, and consequently if the tax was put on the ground that it was a benefit to owners, all he could say was that his experience was directly opposed to such a conclusion. He would support the amendment, although it was opposed to the principle of the former Municipal Act.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG said that if the Council would agree to allow the police, lighting, and water-rates to be all collected in advance, he would not oppose the amendment.

The amendment was then carried, and the section as amended was passed.

Section 66 was agreed to.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG said they should now consider the principle whether the occupiers of houses should not have the right to deduct from the rent, in the event of his paying the water-rate, the portion appertaining to the owner, one-fourth, which may have been paid by him in advance. As the Bill stood, the rate was collected from the owner, and he had the right of recovering three-fourths of it from the occupier. In consequence of the amendment which had just been accepted, every one of the sections in this Part would require formal alteration.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said, one of the amendments of which he had given notice involved the principle that the whole of the water-rate ought to be paid by the occupier. Under the existing law three-fourths were paid by the occupier and one-fourth by the owner. He considered that the principle on which this division of the incidence of the water-rate had been made was unsound in theory and inequitable in practice. The water-supply had been introduced immediately for the benefit of the occupier, and it was but fair and just that the occupier should bear the full burden, just as the illumination of the town was intended for the benefit of the occupier, who paid the lighting-rate. The police also was for the protection of the occupier, and he paid the police-rate. For the same reasons he thought the whole of the water-rate should be borne by the occupier, who received a quid pro quo. It had been urged that water was used by the Municipality for general purposes, such as watering the streets and the conservancy. He could not understand that the occupier had less interest in conservancy and the watering of streets than the owner. In fact the occupier had a greater interest than the owner in the whole of the improvements carried on by the Municipality. It might be said that these improvements enhanced the value of house property which undoubtedly benefited the owner, and that therefore he ought to contribute towards the cost of the improvements. But the owner was paying, or under the law was liable to pay, half of the Municipal rates; BABOO KRISTODAS PAL meant the house-rate at the maximum rate of ten per cent. Under the present law it was true he had been made to pay one-fourth of the water-rate, but that he submitted was unjust. In discussing this question of the water-rate the Council ought to remember the class of people who bore the greater part of the burden. It was the class of owner-occupier, who formed the majority of the population of the town: the bulk of the native population, nine-tenths, were owner-occupiers, and they paid the whole of the water-rate. So that, strictly speaking, there would be no change made in respect of this class of occupiers. With regard to those occupiers who occupied houses belonging to others, if they derived the whole and immediate benefit of the water-supply, it was fair that they should be made to bear the whole burden. His motion would be that the whole of the water-rate be made payabl by the occupier.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG said he confessed that the arguments advanced did not dispose him to accept the proposal that the whole of the water-rate be payable by the occupier. The owner benefited by the water-rate as it increased the value of his property; and it seemed to him therefore that the owner should pay his quota of the rate. For these reasons he would oppose the motion.

The HON'BLE THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said he would support this proposition, as he had supported the previous amendment. It appeared to him that no sufficient reason had been advanced to make the owner of the house liable for any portion of the water-rate. It had been said vaguely that the laying down of water benefited landlords. If it benefited landlords, it must produce a return in some substantial way, such as an advance of rent. He had tendered his experience on the subject of rents; further evidence might be obtained; and he believed it would be found that the increase of taxation diminished rent. The law imposed a portion of the water-rate on the owner, and if only a portion was imposed, would the hon'ble member inform him on what principle one-fourth was imposed? Why not one-eighth or one-twelfth, or the whole? If the owner derived a certain amount of benefit, let us have the measure of that benefit; but one-fourth was an arbitrary measure, supported on no data.

With regard to the argument that for purposes of conservancy and other similar purposes to which water was applied, the owners of houses should pay, he would submit that since water was laid down and the rate levied, the landlord had to repair his house as often as he did previously, and had to pay a somewhat onerous house-rate. He could not see that any benefit accrued to the landlord; but it was clear that conservancy purposes, such as watering streets, abundantly conduced to the benefit of tenants who lived in particular streets. If legislation was conducted on principle, there was no reason why the landlord should pay a portion of the water-rate any more than the lighting-rate. The one benefited the streets in the day; the other at night by lighting the streets, and by preventing the commission of acts which might otherwise take place. He had often thought on the subject, and had tried to find out on what principle the existing law was based. He could discover no principle. The practice was arbitrary, and should be discontinued.

The HON'BLE BABOO DOORGA CHURN LAW said he did not see why the owner should be saddled with a quarter of the water-rate. He derived no benefit from it, the whole benefit being derived by the occupier; and those who consumed the water and derived benefit therefrom, ought to pay the whole of it. As to the opinion that rents had risen by the introduction of the water-supply, in his knowledge and experience he had not seen that this had been the case, and it was quite inexplicable to him how this one-fourth had been imposed on the owner.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said, without committing himself to vote one way or the other, he wished to ask for information. It was said that the supply of water did not enhance the value of rent. But with respect more particularly to European residents, he would ask whether it was not the case that houses in the suburbs were now less sought after than before, because filtered water was not procurable there? It would be found that out of a given number of people whose avocations bound them to Calcutta, a larger proportion now elected to reside in Calcutta. In that way there was a larger number of competitors for houses in Calcutta, and did competition mean increase in rents or not?

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG said he was just about to make the same remark. It was an undoubted fact that since the water-supply, houses in Calcutta were sought after considerably more than they used to be before, and owners more easily found tenants for their houses.

He would also join issue with the learned Advocate-General as to whether rents had not considerably increased. That had been demonstrated as an absolute fact. The late assessments were made in 1864. The revised assessments had been raised nearly 10 per cent., which proved necessarily that owners realized more from house rents. Consequently, it was proposed next year, instead of keeping the house-rate at 9 or 10 per cent., to impose an 8 per cent. rate, owing to the considerable increase in the value of property, mainly attributable to drainage, and also to the pure water supplied to the whole town. This was a fact which could not be controverted, and could be proved. He certainly considered that owners were being much benefited by the introduction of water, and that they should pay a reasonable amount by way of contribution for the water used for conservancy, the cleaning of drains, and watering of streets, and it seemed to him that the Council should not impose the whole of the tax and put the burden entirely upon the occupier. Another argument was that the water-supply had been introduced now for more than five years, and owners of property had doubtless fixed the rent of their houses on the supposition that the landlord was to pay his share of the tax; and MR. HOGG presumed that if we relieved owners from the burden of the water-rate they would not reduce their rents consequent on such additional taxation being imposed on the occupier. He would therefore move by way of amendment that the principle be accepted that the occupier be entitled to recover a portion of the water-rate from the owner by deduction from rent.

The HON'BLE THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL observed that the fact that the assessment of a house had been increased was not conclusive nor even sufficient evidence of the fact that the rent had increased. The assessment was not upon the rental, but on the reasonable amount upon which a house might be expected to be let. For the above reason the experience of the Chairman of the Justices did not satisfy the ADVOCATE-GENERAL that his representation was not correct—that, in point of fact, houses had not increased in letting value.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL observed that the increase in the assessment was also due to the construction of new buildings.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said it appeared to him, as the learned Advocate-General had said, difficult to fix a principle which was not more or less arbitrary. Even assuming that on the principle of the police and lighting-rate no portion of the water-rate ought to be borne by the owner; nevertheless, allowing even that, was it not reasonable to say that on the same principle that we imposed on the landlord the house-rate, should we not impose upon them some proportion of the water-rate also? What were the grounds on which the house-rate was put upon the owner? He presumed this, that the proceeds of the house-rate were devoted to improvements which permanently added to the value of property. If that was the ground upon which that rate was imposed, did it not equally apply to a portion of the water-rate? Did not the introduction of a water-supply improve the place generally? Did it not add to the general value of property? He presumed it did; and if so, a portion of the water-rate should be borne by the owner on the same ground as the house-rate. Furthermore, was it not a fact that the water-supply did save a certain amount of domestic expenditure? Did it not benefit the occupier, and was not the occupier willing to pay slightly more for a house which had the advantage of a water-supply, than for a house which had not that advantage? It might not be a very great difference, but some slight difference it must make in the long run. On these grounds, despite the argument of the learned Advocate-General, HIS HONOR thought a small proportion of the water-rate was justly chargeable on the person whose property was benefited. For the rest he agreed with the Advocate-General, that on the ground on which we imposed on the occupier the burden of the police and lighting-rates, we should impose upon him the greater portion of the water-rate. So he ventured to suggest that the existing law, which imposed three-fourths of the water-rate on the occupier and one-fourth on the owner, did fulfil a certain rough sort of justice. If it were asked by what estimate do you make out the exact proportion of three-fourths and one-fourth, it would be almost impossible to say. That difficulty was necessarily incidental to all legislation. The whole principle was that the greater portion was charged to the one, and the less to the other. But when you come to define the exact proportion, you must take a rough and arbitrary line: without an arbitrary line all legislation would be impossible.

The Hon'ble Baboo Kristodas Pal's motion, that no portion of the water-rate should be chargeable to the owners of houses and lands, was put and negatived.

The Hon'ble Mr. Hogg's motion, that the occupier be entitled to recover from the owner a portion of the water-rate, such recovery to be made by means of deductions from the rent payable by the occupier to the owner, was then put.

The Council divided:—

Ayes 5.	Noes 5.
The Hon'ble Baboo Kristodas Pal.	The Hon'ble Mr. Reynolds.
The Hon'ble Baboo Doorga Churn Law.	The Hon'ble Mr. Hogg.
The Hon'ble Mr. Brookes.	The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier.
The Hon'ble Baboo Juggadanund Mookerjee.	The Hon'ble Mr. Schalch.
The Hon'ble the Advocate-General.	The Hon'ble the President.

The numbers being equal, the President gave his casting vote with the noes.

So the Hon'ble Mr. Hogg's motion was carried.

The HON'BLE BABOO DOORGA CHURN LAW moved that one-eighth of the water-rate be chargeable upon the owners of houses and lands.

The HON'BLE THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said, as there was no measure for finding out the degree of advantage derived by the owner from the supply of water, and as the benefit derived by the landlord was comparatively very small, he did not see why one-eighth should not be substituted for one-fourth. He would therefore support the motion.

The HON'BLE MR. SCHALCH observed that when the municipal law was passed, this question was very much discussed, and at that time one-fourth was taken to be the proper proportion. He did not see any reason why the Council should now alter it.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT observed that there was one argument in favor of the one-fourth rate, which first fell, he thought, from the hon'ble mover of the Bill, viz. that that rate already existed, and on the strength of it, and on that understanding, current arrangements between the landlord and tenant already existed in the city. Perhaps that was one argument in favor of the one-fourth rate.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL supported the amendment. The present proportion had been made very arbitrarily. He could not perceive any principle upon which it was founded. There was, however, some principle upon which the amendment was based. The Chandpal Ghât scheme cost the Justices about Rs. 40,000. Now, one-eighth of the water-rate would cover more than that sum. The water obtained from the Chandpal Ghât engine was used for street-watering and the flushing of drains. Those were the only two objects for which the owner was considered liable, and the proportion of one-eighth, as he had said, would cover more than the expenditure incurred for those purposes.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG said it was true that the Chandpal Ghât water was used for watering the streets and for drainage, yet it was equally true that a considerable portion of the street-watering was done by means of filtered water.

Baboo Doorga Churn Law's amendment was negatived.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT then put the question that one-fourth of the water rate be recovered by the occupier from the owner by deduction of rent.

The motion was agreed to.

The consideration of Sections 67 to 80 was then postponed.

Section 81 provided how the annual letting value was to be ascertained.

The HON'BLE BABOO DOORGA CHURN LAW moved the insertion, of the following words at the end of the first paragraph of the section—"and when the rent realized is proved by documents and accounts, the same shall be deemed to be the annual value of such house or land." He said that there were cases in which agreements had been produced, and yet the Municipality had thought proper to assess the owner at a higher value than the rents stated in the lease. The object of this amendment was to prevent such an anomaly.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG said he was unable to accept the amendment. If it became a part of the substantive law that whatever amount was entered in the lease should be conclusive proof of the rent that was derived, it might possibly give rise to private understandings between unscrupulous landlords and tenants, and the whole rents would not be stated in the lease. It was to prevent collusion that the law had been so worded. It was the law which prevailed in England, and it did not seem desirable, in this country, to make the measure of taxation depend upon the amount of rent actually payable under a lease. Unless they had reason to suspect collusion, the Justices always accepted the amount of rent entered in a lease as conclusive proof of the letting value.

The HON'BLE BABOO DOORGA CHURN LAW said that he himself, from personal experience, knew that leases of which there was not the slightest doubt were not accepted. If there had been fraud in the matter, the municipal officers would of course be quite justified in rejecting such leases, but to his certain knowledge they had done so in many bonâ fide cases.

The HON'BLE THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL observed that the assessments were for three years, and many leases were for one year. It was possible that the Municipality might consider that on the expiration of a lease for a year, a higher rent might be obtained. It was not only in cases of fraud or collusion that the Justices were entitled to reject a lease, but also in cases in which they had reason to believe that a higher rent could be obtained.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL remarked that the cases to which reference was made were cases of short leases for a year or nine months, and the Justices thought that as the assessments were for three years, they had a right to reject short leases as not affording sufficient evidence of the letting value. At the same time, great complaints existed about the arbitrary manner in which the assessments had been raised; that, however, was not the place to discuss that question.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER observed that he thought the amendment could not but be rejected in the form in which it stood. If the Council passed this amendment, all he could say was that when he renewed his lease, he should give a handsome bonus to his landlord and take his house on a rental of one-tenth its letting value. He should then be able to show his lease as proof of the rent paid, and the real fact would be that the landlord and tenant would settle the matter between themselves, so as to evade the taxes under the protection of this provision of the law.

The HON'BLE MR. SCHALCH said he remembered assessing the property of a very wealthy firm. He believed they paid a rent of Rs. 400 on what was known as a repairing lease, and the consequence of that was that the rent was very low, the lease being for a very long period. When it came before the Justices, they looked to the letting value of the house by a comparison with the corresponding buildings, and they raised the rent to Rs. 1,500, and the occupier admitted that he could not say that the decision was wrong. The Port Commissioners strongly objected to the Justices being vested with the final decision in cases of assessment, and on their representation a condition had been imported into the law to allow an appeal to an independent body, namely the Small Cause Court.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said he felt it his duty to say, with all respect to the hon'ble mover of the amendment, that he earnestly hoped the Council would not accept the amendment. It would afford very great temptation to many people to enter into collusive transactions. It was very important that all matters of taxation should be so regulated as to avoid any temptation for the evasion of just dues, or a tendency to demoralization, and on that ground he thought this provision would have a very bad effect.

The amendment was then, by leave, withdrawn.

The HON'BLE MR. SCHALCH said, in the third paragraph of this section, it was provided that all the unoccupied lands, roads, and slopes of the Port Commissioners, should be rated at the rent for which they might reasonably be expected to be let, in the same manner as if they were used for other than public purposes, and belonged to persons other than a public body. He might say that the Port Commissioners had no objection at all to that provision, so far as related to all unoccupied land which they could reasonably expect to get occupied. The form, however, in which the provision was worded would unjustly impose a heavy expenditure upon the Port Commissioners. Some time back the Port Commissioners had purchased land from Aheereetollah Ghât as far as the Chitpore canal for the purpose of affording facilities for the landing and shipping of goods from native boats; but a considerable portion of the land so purchased was devoted by the Port Commissioners to the formation of two roads at an expenditure of about 10 lakhs of rupees. The roads in question had been thrown open to the use of the public, and therefore could not be appropriated to any other purpose. These roads were a considerable improvement to the town, and greatly improved the old bank of the river, which was very much broken up, and they afforded increased ventilation to a portion of the town which was thickly occupied. The Port Commissioners thought, therefore, that as the Municipality had never been asked to subscribe a penny towards the construction of these roads, and they afforded great advantage to the town, the Port Commissioners should not be called upon to pay any rate for that part of their property. It might be said that by the destruction of houses the Justices had lost the assessment thereon fixed. On the 1st January 1872, when the Port Commissioners took possession of the river bank, the taxation on their property amounted to Rs. 1,35,000; on the 1st January 1875 the assessment had risen to Rs. 3,40,000, an increase due almost entirely to improvements made by the Port Commissioners; and the additional improvement now made had largely increased the value of property in the neighbourhood. Land which used to sell for Rs. 700 a cottah, was now selling for Rs. 1,500. Therefore the loss of revenue from the land occupied by these roads would very shortly be made up by the increased value of land and the improved style of houses now being constructed in the locality. He trusted, therefore, that it would not be considered that the Port Commissioners were asking too much in claiming that that portion of their land which had been thrown open as a public road should be declared to be free from all assessment. With these remarks he would move that the following words be added to the section:—

"Save and except the road extending from the northern boundary of the premises occupied by the East Indian Railway Company at Armenian Ghât to the Chitpore Canal, and the road extending from the Chitpore Road to the River Hooghly at Koomartollah Ghât, for a width not exceeding seventy feet and sixty feet respectively, shall be exempted from assessment of any rate under this Act."

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG said, looking at this question in the interests of the town, and to the fact that the two bodies, the Port Commissioners and the Justices, were working for the common good of the town, he thought that the claim of the Port Commissioners was a reasonable one. The road had improved the river frontage enormously, and to all practical intents and purposes, although the road remained the private property of the Commissioners, yet it was a public road to which the public had full access, although the town was not called upon to pay the expense of repairing the road or lighting it. He thought the Commissioners had conferred a great benefit on the town, and that they could not be called upon to pay any tax in respect of these two roads, but he would suggest that the width of the two roads to be exempted from taxation be uniformly fixed at sixty feet each.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL concurred with what had fallen from the hon'ble mover. He considered that the roads in question were a decided improvement, and that the population of the northern portion of the town derived great benefit from it. If the amendment before the Council did not include the slopes from which the Port Commissioners derived a revenue, he was quite willing to support their claim for exemption from assessment for the road in question. He might observe that the sides of the road were used by the Commissioners for the storage of goods, and therefore he thought only the portion of the road actually used by the public should be exempted. Perhaps exemption on account of the two roads might be given to a uniform width of 60 feet, instead of 70 feet for one and 60 feet for the other.

The HON'BLE MR. SCHALCH said that any deposit of materials on the sides of the road now existing was only temporary. He thought that for the road on the river side over which the traffic was very great, a width of 70 feet ought to be allowed, and 60 feet for the other. If the width of 70 feet was reduced, it would be necessary to remodel the whole road and the foot-path.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said, if the Council were disposed to accept the hon'ble member's amendment, they had better take his figures in full reliance of his local knowledge as Chairman of the Port Commissioners; and, furthermore, he thought the Council would do well to accept the principle of the amendment, because the roads in question were made by the Port Commissioners much to the benefit of the town, and they could derive no particular revenue from it. They were roads that were open to the public; therefore HIS HONOR hoped the Council might be pleased to accept the amendment as it stood.

The motion was carried, and the section as amended was passed.

Sections 82 and 83 were agreed to.

Section 84 provided for the reassessment of a house when substantial injury had occurred to it during the currency of any assessment.

The HON'BLE BABOO DOORGA CHURN LAW moved the insertion in line 6, after "civil commotion," of the words "or suffers material depreciation from any cause." He thought that while the Municipality would benefit by any improvements which had been made, it ought surely to afford relief when property suffered material deterioration. It might be that the house could not be kept in proper repairs for want of means of the owner, and might fall down partly or wholly; in that case, he thought relief from excessive assessment should be given by the Municipality.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG said he could not accept the amendment. It seemed to him quite sufficient to require the Justices to reduce their assessment when the house had suffered depreciation from the causes specified in the section, viz. fire, a cyclone, the act of God, or civil commotion. Why should the municipal revenue suffer loss if the landlord chose to allow his property to remain out of repair?

The HON'BLE BABOO DOORGA CHURN LAW observed that it was not to be expected that a house-owner would wilfully let his house remain out of repair and suffer depreciation merely to escape taxation. There were many houses in the town which were going to ruin from want of means on the part of the owner to repair it. When improvements to house property were made, the Municipality did not fail to raise the assessment, and why should not a reduction be given on account of depreciation?

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said Section 83 provided for reassessment in case of substantial improvements; and to be consistent, the same privilege ought to be given to the owner to claim a reduction of assessment if there were deterioration in his house from causes over which he had no control. The hon'ble mover of the Bill pointed out that Section 84 provided for such circumstances as fire, cyclone, the act of God, or civil commotion. The question was whether an owner, who had once seen prosperity, but had become subsequently much reduced in position and circumstances, and who having a large ancestral house, which he had not means to keep in good repairs, but with which he could not be persuaded to part from a feeling—call it a failing if you will—of attachment to the ancestral hearth and home, a feeling cherished with the greatest tenacity, should be entitled to a reduction of assessment when his house became greatly depreciated from want of due repairs. The Government scrupulously respected the native feeling on this subject, but the tendency of this section would be to force such unfortunate owners to part with their property. He had known ancient families which had been very much reduced by vicissitudes of fortune, but could not shake off their traditional attachment to the ancestral home. He thought that in such cases the deterioration of the value of the property ought to receive due consideration.

The HON'BLE THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL observed that he could see no objection to the amendment if it were confined to cases beyond the control of the owner, and if that were proved to the satisfaction of the Justices. There might be cases in which deterioration of the value of property occurred in a particular street, and other cases in which the depreciation in value was beyond the control of the owner; in such cases, he could see no objection to affording relief by way of a reduction of assessment.

The amendment having been altered to the effect suggested by the Advocate-General, was agreed to, and the section as amended was passed.

Sections 85 and 86 were agreed to.

Section 87 provided for the inspection and survey of houses for purposes of valuation.

On the motion of the HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL, the section was amended so as to require 24 hours' notice before entry.

Sections 88, 89, and 90, were agreed to.

Section 91 provided for the hearing of appeals from assessments.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved the addition of the following words:—"No fee shall be charged for the institution of such appeal, and no costs shall be awarded therefor." He said that when assessment appeals were allowed to the sitting Magistrates no fee was charged, nor was any fee now charged in respect of the appeals heard by a Bench of Justices. He believed that no fee was now chargeable by the Small Cause Court in references by the Justices.

If any fee were charged on assessment appeals to the Small Cause Court, it would be a great hardship to the poor rate-payers. There need be no fear of a large influx of such appeals to the court, for the greater part of the town had been lately reassessed, and the present Bill proposed to extend the currency of an assessment from three to six years.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG said, in his judgment the charging of a reasonable fee for the institution of appeals would be a wholesome provision to prevent frivolous appeals being preferred. He was entirely opposed to an appeal being allowed to the Small Cause Court free of cost; if a person desired to appeal free of cost, he could appeal to the Bench of Justices. If he desired adjudication by an authority independent altogether from the Municipality, he should pay a reasonable fee in order to have the advantage of the superior judicial knowledge of the Small Cause Court.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said he thought it would be better to let the existing law take its course; if the Court thought that the complainant was right and the Justices wrong, they would no doubt give costs against the Justices.

After some further conversation the amendment was, by leave, withdrawn, and the section passed as it stood.

Sections 92 to 107 were agreed to.

Section 108 fixed the pressure at which water must be supplied, and the times during which high pressure should be maintained.

The HON'BLE BABOO DOORGA CHURN LAW moved to substitute the word "ten" for "nine" in line 9, in order that water might be supplied under high pressure from seven to ten o'clock in the forenoon instead of from seven to nine. He observed that it would be inconvenient to the native community to confine the pressure to only two hours in the morning: 9 o'clock was too early an hour to stop high pressure. He proposed therefore that it should be kept up for another hour, or say until 10 o'clock.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG said the only practical objection to the amendment was that at 9 o'clock in the hot weather street watering commenced, and it was found impossible to keep up pressure when street watering began. If the hour was changed to 10 o'clock, then the Justices would probably be compelled to give an insufficient supply of water at a height of fifty feet, or they must postpone the watering of streets to 10 o'clock, which would be somewhat inconvenient.

The amendment was by leave withdrawn.

The HON'BLE MR. SCHALCH said, he believed that Mr. Smith, the Engineer who superintended the construction of the water-works, thought it would be almost impossible to keep up high pressure simultaneously throughout the whole town owing to the considerable waste that occurred. In consequence of the difficulty of getting up water to the higher stories of houses, as soon as the water was got up, the servants, knowing that full pressure was got up, stepped into the bath-rooms and left the cocks open. He had himself had two bath-rooms in the house flooded in consequence of the carelessness of servants. Considering the great waste of water that went on in the town, he thought it should be a matter for consideration whether or not power should be given to the Justices to divide the town into sections, and supply each section with water at high pressure for two or three hours together. That was a plan for the adoption of which Mr. Smith was very strongly in favor. MR. SCHALCH hoped the hon'ble mover would consider the point.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG said, he entirely concurred with the remarks which had fallen from the hon'ble member. The difficulty was that every one was anxious to have water in the early morning, and equally in the evening. If we supplied water to the European portion of the town in the morning and the natives at a later hour, the natives would have a right to object.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL thought the practical difficulties in the way of any such plan would be very great and almost insurmountable.

After some further conversation, the further consideration of the section was postponed.

Section 110 declared the quantity of water to which a householder should be entitled for domestic use.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved the omission of this section, which he thought was by far the most important of the sections relating to water-supply. It altered the system of supply adopted by the legislature and in force for the last six years. Hitherto the rate-payers were given to understand that they were to contribute according to the value of their houses, and to get a supply of water without restriction for domestic use. Now it was proposed that the water was to be sold to the rate-payers according to their respective contributions, and that an additional charge should be made for any excess above the regulation quantity. He could understand the principle of this section if the levy of the rate had not been made compulsory—if water-supply had been treated as a commercial transaction only. But when the rate was imposed as a compulsory tax, and when the tax was imposed under the understanding that a full supply of water would be given, he considered that it would be a breach of faith now to introduce the commercial principle by way of supplement to the compulsory tax. He could assure the Council that this section was regarded by the native community with great consternation, and that if it were enacted into law, it would convert the water-supply into a curse instead of a blessing. Since the water-supply had been introduced, the natives had filled up their old wells and tanks, and they would experience great inconvenience if they were now restricted to a scanty supply; and if to that was added the proposal for charging an additional rate for excess supply, it would be imposing a grievous burden upon the poorer classes. Hon'ble members were doubtless aware that the Hindoos for the most part lived in joint undivided families, and that they were generally poor, living from hand to mouth, and that in every one of those houses numbers of individuals lived together and drew water from the same supply. The monthly rental of such houses did not ordinarily exceed Rs. 40 or Rs. 50; the number of souls in a joint family might be twenty. The owner or proprietor in whose name the house was registered would be entitled to a certain quantum according to the scale laid down, and he must provide for the excess quantity at an additional expense. Thus these poor people would not only have to pay a 6 per cent. rate if the maximum were imposed, but must also undergo additional expense for the excess supply which they must have, as the old supply by means of tanks and wells had been discontinued. The rate of one rupee for every 1,000 gallons was also most arbitrary. The actual cost of water did not exceed four annas per thousand gallons, and it was proposed that the Justices should make a profit of twelve annas for every 1,000 gallons for supplying water to those whose money had provided the water-supply.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG said he did not imagine that the provisions of this section would ever be put in force. But in the face of the wanton waste of water in the town, and more especially in regard to the undivided Hindoo families referred to by the hon'ble member, it was most desirable that the legislature should place it in the power of the Justices, when they saw water wilfully wasted, to place a check upon such waste. The check was a moderate one. It called upon the Justices to undergo a considerable expense in the purchase of a water metre in order to test whether the occupant was taking more than he required. The supply of 1,000 gallons for every rupee of tax paid was a liberal one, and seldom ever need be exceeded. He trusted, therefore, that the amendment would not be carried.

The HON'BLE MR. SCHALCH said the object of this section was to stop the immense waste of water that was going on. It had been arranged that six millions of gallons should be supplied for the consumption of the town. That was raised to seven and a half millions, and the supply was still found to be utterly insufficient. He happened the other day to look out of his house, and he saw a hydrant discharging water to its full extent, and that went on for three days without let or hindrance. It was in thorough working order, but the tap had been left open. He thought that the quantity of water allowed under the section in return for the rate was very liberal, and gave a margin of 20 per cent. He thought that the adoption of the same system was not a hard one in the case of an undivided Hindoo family, and if something of the kind was not done, the waste of water would continue to be enormous. He did not say that the rate for additional water should not be reduced. The net cost was from four to five annas per gallon, and if the charge per thousand gallons were reduced from one rupee to eight annas, there would, in his opinion, be no hardship. The present demand was nothing to what it would be four or five years hence, and he thought they should look to the future as well as to the present.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL observed that there were provisions in the Bill for punishing offenders for wanton waste of water which, he thought, were quite sufficient. The greatest waste went on in the streets, and no measures seemed to be taken to prevent it. If you visited any part of the town, you would not unfrequently find the taps open and the water flowing on without hindrance. If such waste went on in private houses the owners or occupiers would be punished. If the object were merely to charge an additional rate in those cases only, in which wanton waste would occurred and would be proved, that would be consistent; but as the provision stood, it might be enforced at the discretion of the Justices to the great oppression of the people.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said the hon'ble member's difficulty was that some houses might pay a very small rate and might contain a great many souls. That difficulty might be obviated if the section provided for the payment of a certain rate per head: the Justices would see by the water metre what each family consumed, as also the quantity per head. He thought a check was more required for the European quarter of the town than for the portions inhabited by the poorer classes. The water consumed by the poorer classes was very small in quantity in comparison with the waste committed by the richer individuals.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL remarked that the size of the ferule through which the poor people received water was very small indeed—he believed one-eighth of an inch, through which water came by drops as it were, and which was a sufficient check against waste.

The HON'BLE THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL suggested that the objection might perhaps be met by fixing the rate for surplus water at 2,000 gallons per rupee.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG assured the Council that the provisions of this section would not affect any of the poorer classes.

The further consideration of the section was then postponed.

Section 111 was agreed to.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 20th instant.

CALCUTTA MUNICIPALITY.

ON the motion of the Hon'ble Mr. Hogg, the Council proceeded to the further consideration of the clauses of the Bill.

The consideration of the postponed Section 108, which regulated the pressure at which water must be supplied, was then resumed.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG said, the Council would remember that the consideration of Section 108 was postponed because the Council was not decided whether it should be passed in its present form. The section called upon the Justices to provide a pressure sufficient to raise water to the height of 50 feet from 7 o'clock to 9 o'clock in the morning, and again in the evening from 5 o'clock to 6 o'clock,—that was to say to provide the high pressure during three hours in the day. For the remainder of the day the Justices were required to provide a pressure sufficient to deliver water at a height of ten feet. The Hon'ble Mr. Schalch had pointed out that if not now, hereafter, when the demand for water increased, the Municipality would find it difficult to carry out the provisions of the section, and suggested that the Council should give the Justices power to enable them to divide the town into sections, and deliver water under pressure to each division at different hours during the day. The Council were not then prepared to consider that question, and it was therefore postponed. MR. HOGG had since conferred with Mr. Bradford Leslie, the Engineer of the Justices, in conjunction with his hon'ble friend, and they had come to the conclusion that to give effect to the proposal of the Hon'ble Mr. Schalch would be, if not impossible, a matter of considerable difficulty, and impose great inconvenience on the rate-payers and inhabitants of Calcutta. If water was to be delivered in different divisions of the town at different times, the water-supply scheme ought to have been constructed on what they called the loop system, which would have enabled the Engineer in charge of the engine to shut out the water from the whole town and deliver it to one particular division of the town at a time. That system of supply was originally proposed by Mr. Clarke, but was subsequently altered when it was decided that a uniform pressure should be kept throughout the whole town for 13 hours a day. Consequently, now that that system was not adopted, if we attempted to shut out water from the whole town except one particular division of it at a time, the process of so doing would occupy three or four turnkeys going about in carriages three or four hours, which would cause great delay. Another difficulty was that as the water-supply system now existed, we could divide the town into only three divisions, and if it was decided to supply each division with water for three hours during the day, the other two divisions would not receive water at high pressure for six hours at a time, and would be kept altogether without water during that time, which was a proposal which could not possibly meet the approval of the Council. Therefore they were unanimously of opinion that the scheme was impracticable, and should be abandoned. Mr. Bradford Leslie was also of opinion that the pumping power of the engines was sufficient to deliver water throughout the town from 7 o'clock to 9 o'clock in the morning at a high pressure of 50 feet, provided the watering of streets was not carried on during those hours. MR. HOGG therefore suggested that Section 108 should be passed as it stood.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said he had one remark to make before this section was passed. It had been represented to him that, having regard to the great public buildings which had been recently erected in the town, it would be very desirable if the altitude of high pressure could be raised from 50 feet to 100 feet. It had been stated that in these great buildings we had three or four stories, and that the pumping up of water to the height of only 50 feet failed to provide water to the very top stories, and that great inconvenience thereby resulted. It was also urged in behalf of these buildings and the establishments which used them, that they contributed very greatly to the funds of the water-rate. On that ground, and also on the ground of the necessities of these establishments, it was urged that these buildings were entitled to have the water pumped up to an altitude of 100 feet. The point was comparatively new to HIS HONOR, and he was not quite sure whether the matter had even been previously discussed in the Council when the original law was passed for the levy of a water-rate, and he desired to mention it for the consideration of the hon'ble member particularly concerned in the preparation of the Bill. Would the hon'ble mover of the Bill say whether there was any possible provision by which the object could be met; whether we could introduce a provision that in case of Government buildings the height of pressure should be not less than 100 feet? In making this statement, HIS HONOR did not undertake to express any professional opinion, but would merely invite the opinion of hon'ble members or others concerned in the preparation of the measure.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG said that the suggestion made by His Honor the President was that the Municipality should be required to deliver water at a height of 100 feet in Government buildings only. He would point out that it would be impossible to supply Government buildings only without supplying the whole town with water under the same pressure. There must be a uniform pressure throughout the town. As a matter of fact, there were not more than about four Government buildings that had a greater height than fifty feet, namely, the Museum, the Telegraph Office, the Mint, and the High Court. The water-supply of Calcutta was constructed only to give a pressure to the height of 50 feet. He submitted that it would be hardly fair to compel the Municipality to provide additional pumping power in order to meet the special requirements of a few buildings in the town. The matter had been frequently discussed, and the reply given was that the greatest pressure was 50 feet, and exceptional arrangements could not be made for Government buildings. The only course was to have reservoirs in those buildings at a height of 50 feet, and then to have a hand pump to pump up the water to the fourth story.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL observed that, as the hon'ble mover had explained, what was required could not be done without changing the pipes and greatly increasing the engine power, which would involve expenditure to a very considerable amount.

The HON'BLE MR. SCHALCH said it seemed to him that the Government so far had just cause of complaint that the assessment on the Government buildings was very high indeed, and arrangements ought to be made, if possible, for fully supplying them with water up to the highest floor; and if the water could not be so supplied, some reduction should be made in the assessment in regard to the water-rate to meet the expense to which the Government would be put to raise the water from 50 to 100 feet. The assessment was made on the supposed renting power of the house, and he thought it would be but fair to meet the case of the owners of houses built at such a height that water could not be supplied to the highest floor, that the assessment for the water-rate should not be made for the entire house; it was hard that they should have to pay water-rate for the whole house when only a portion of it was supplied with water.

The Hon'ble the Advocate-General observed that the explanation given by the hon'ble mover of the Bill seemed unimpeachable. If the increased pressure would cost a great deal to the Municipality, he did not think they should be compelled to do more than they were doing now, particularly as the expedient pointed out by the same hon'ble member could be readily carried out at a comparatively small expense; and as Government buildings, owing to the number of persons who assembled in them, consumed more water than houses occupied by private individuals, he thought what the hon'ble member proposed seemed reasonable. If the Government were to have the option of deducting a portion of the water-rate on account of the non-supply of water to a portion of the building, then any private occupier who was in the same position would be entitled to claim the same concession, and it would be clear that all these exceptional provisions entailed expense and trouble. He thought pressure to a height of 50 feet was sufficient for all practical purposes.

The Hon'ble Baboo Doorga Churn Law did not think that there should be any exceptional legislation on account of buildings which required water to be supplied to them at a greater height than 50 feet.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier understood it to be said that Government buildings, on account of their being so vast, and having so many pairs of stairs, did not get the water they required on the higher stories, and that it was not fair that they should pay the full water-rate. He did not think the argument was sound. These buildings got precisely the same advantages of water-supply as any other building; they got a supply of water delivered at a height of fifty feet; and for the stories above that height they had only to carry the water up the remainder of the distance by hand; and as it was much easier to take water up one pair of stairs than five pairs, they got a quid pro quo even on the water used on the higher stories.

The Hon'ble Mr. Schalch observed that the main objection proceeded from the fact of the assessment on Government buildings being too high, and now that an appeal was given to an independent tribunal, viz., the Small Cause Court, that objection might not apply so strongly.

The Hon'ble Baboo Kristodas Pal said, the water-supply of Calcutta was not a voluntary system; it was based upon a compulsory system of taxation, and if any distinction were made between the Government and private individuals, because there were certain Government buildings which required water at double the height sanctioned by the existing law, the legislature would be making an invidious distinction between the Government and the public at large. It was well known that water could not at present be supplied to the highest rooms of some of the houses in the town, and the Justices had no power to grant a remission of any portion of the water-rate to the occupiers of such houses. There was great complaint on this score, and provision was accordingly being made in the present Bill to regulate the hours at which the pressure should be put on. It was observable that those who built houses with stories higher than 50 feet did so with their eyes open, because, under the water-supply scheme, pressure could not be given to a greater height than 50 feet, and when the Government had done so, it ought not now to grumble. To keep up the pressure at a 100 feet would be to double the capacity of the pipes and the engine-power, which would entail great expenditure. At the same time to grant a remission of the water-rate because water was not supplied to particular rooms or to particular portions of a house, would be opening a wide door to favoritism. He would therefore oppose any amendment on the subject.

The Hon'ble the Advocate-General observed that the apparent principle upon which water was supplied and paid for was not that a person paid for the quantity of water he consumed; for there were numerous instances where persons got water without paying for it, such as those whose houses were not liable to the rate, or those who got water by taking it from the streets.

His Honor the President wished to know whether those hon'ble members who were opposed to any remission of water-rate on account of Government buildings would be of the same op inion if the rule were made applicable to private as well as to public buildings.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said he was not prepared to recommend any change in the law, because it would lead to great confusion and cause serious loss of revenue to the Municipality. As he had already observed, the water-rate had been imposed on a different principle. altogether. If the principle were that each person should be taxed according to the quantity of water consumed, then the Government would have a right to a remission of the water-rate on account of particular portions of buildings not being supplied with water; but as the principle of the water-supply scheme was different, and the object was to raise a sufficient amount of revenue from all classes of rate-payers without distinction, with a view to supply water throughout the town, he thought the present law was both just and equitable.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT remarked that no one ever proposed to make a different rule for Government as the proprietor of houses, to that which applied to private individuals. But as the case was represented to him, he understood that the only buildings that would come under that category were some of the Government buildings; in fact that they were the only buildings in the town with anything like that altitude. He merely wished to broach the subject in Council, and had no motion to propose.

The section was then agreed to.

The postponed Section 110 declared the quantity of water to which a householder was entitled for domestic use, and the rate at which additional supplies must be paid for.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG said the consideration of this section stood over because it was thought by some hon'ble members that it might press hardly upon the poorer classes. He might mention that the section was not framed with the view to restrict the supply to the poorer and less wealthy classes of the town, but to prevent the improvident waste of water in the higher classes of houses in Chowringhee, and also in the northern division of the town. He had since consulted Mr. Bradford Leslie and the hon'ble member on the left (Baboo Kristodas Pal), and they agreed that instead of allowing 1,000 gallons, we should allow 1,500 gallons for every rupee of tax paid, and instead of charging one rupee for every 1,000 gallons, we should charge one rupee for 1,500 gallons. And, further, to protect the poorer classes it was proposed to enact that the provisions of this section should not have effect or be put in force in respect of any house rated at less than Rs. 1,200 a year. Such houses, under the section as proposed to be altered, would be allowed a monthly supply of 7,500 gallons, or 250 gallons per day. Supposing there were sixteen persons in the house, that would allow to each a supply of fifteen gallons per day. If a person chose to consume a larger quantity of water than fifteen gallons a day, MR. HOGG thought it just and equitable that such person should be charged for such additional supply. He did not believe that the section would be put in force to any extent: it would merely provide a penal clause in case of a person not exercising due control in regard to the expenditure of water in his house. He would therefore move the substitution of 1,500 gallons for 1,000, and the addition of the following proviso:—

"Provided that the provisions of this section shall not be put in force in respect of houses assessed at less than Rs. 1,200 per annum."

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said he was quite willing to accept the compromise proposed by the hon'ble mover. He admitted that it was very desirable to check wanton waste of water, but as he had pointed out at the last sitting of the Council, there were other provisions in the Bill which provided a sufficient check in that respect. The size of the ferule in small houses was in itself a good and wholesome check, and the penal provisions of the Bill would also operate towards that end. But the section as it stood originally contemplated the wholesale restriction of the supply of water, without any distinction between rich and poor, or those who wantonly wasted water and those who used it economically. The section as now proposed to be amended left out a large class of persons from its operation, namely all persons who occupied houses the assessed value of which was less than Rs. 100 a month. That exemption would reach a very great portion of the poorer and middle classes, and so far it was a great point gained. As regards the quantity of water to be sold for a rupee, it was now proposed to be raised to 1,500 gallons. He would have preferred if it had been raised to 2,000 gallons; but as the hon'ble member was not willing to concede that point, he would not press it, but leave it to the sense of the Council to decide. The hon'ble member had said that it was not the intention to put this provision in force generally. But BABOO KRISTODAS PAL would not put much faith in discretionary government of this kind. The hon'ble member as the present head of the municipality might not wish to enforce this section; but who knew what his successor might do? The amendment would, however, to some extent act as a safeguard.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG's amendments were then agreed to, and the section as amended was passed.

Section 112 enacted that all latrines supplied with water should be provided with cisterns.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved the omission of this section. The section required that cisterns should be put up in all latrines and water closets. He did not think the Council ought to anticipate the Justices in a matter of this kind. This matter had never been brought before the Justices, nor was he aware that any report had been called for from their Engineer. He therefore doubted whether the Council was in a position to provide by legislation for such a question. Practically, the system, as far as he had learned by enquiry, had not worked satisfactorily, particularly in native houses. The cistern was filled by a very small tube through which the water entered so very slowly that it took about half an hour to fill it, and as each man passed out the cistern was emptied and it took another half an hour to fill it up. In this way the system caused great inconvenience. If the hon'ble mover did not wish that latrines in native houses should be connected with the new sewers, he was perfectly right in proposing this section. But he was sure that that was not his object, and he was therefore of opinion that the provision under consideration ought not to find a place in the Bill. It ought to be left to the discretion of the Justices to make such arrangements as they might think fit and convenient, and if it were found practicable to adopt the cistern system, they might do so. But he did not think the Council was in a position to legislate in the matter.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG said the system of allowing latrines and closets to be connected with the drainage works involved as a necessity that they should be supplied at all times, both in the day and night, with a full supply of water. That necessity could not be secured unless the cistern was provided and water constantly kept there. That became more necessary now that the Justices were not to be compelled to keep up water by pressure at night. If, therefore, cisterns were not provided from 9 o'clock at night to 6 in the morning, there would be no water in the latrines; consequently they would be either very offensive or they would not be used. That was one substantial objection he had to the motion before the Council. On sanitary grounds, Mr. Bradford Leslie was strongly of opinion that the water-supply should not be in any way directly connected with latrines, and he alluded to a case in New York in which water had become tainted by being so connected. That was another reason why it was proposed that the water should be discharged into a cistern, and from thence into the closet. The hon'ble member had said that the effect of the section would be to prevent latrines in the northern portion of the town being connected with the drainage works. To that MR. HOGG would reply that it was far better that they should not be connected than that the latrines should be directly connected with the water-supply.

The HON'BLE BABOO JUGGADANUND MOOKERJEE observed that Chapter XVI of the Bill empowered the Justices to frame bye-laws on such matters of detail as that to which this section applied. He thought that this matter should be left to be dealt with by the Justices by a bye-law.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG remarked that it was a question of sanitation, and therefore of vital importance, and should be laid down in the law and not be left to the discretion of the Justices.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said the hon'ble mover had observed that this provision was absolutely necessary for sanitation. BABOO KRISTODAS PAL had already pointed out that the cistern took about half an hour to fill, and became emptied as each man passed out. The cistern could only be supplied with water by high pressure; and now that the high pressure was confined to three hours a day, the cisterns would be without water during 21 hours, and the new drainage system, so far as the connection and cleansing of latrines went, would practically come to a dead-lock.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG explained that the cistern ought to have a capacity of at least 20 gallons; we had refused to allow latrines to be connected with the drainage which were not provided with proper cisterns. It was most dangerous to do so.

The HON'BLE MR. SCHALCH said that the section contained a very necessary provision for general sanitation, and he thought the system should be introduced. With regard to the objection that the cistern could only be filled during the hours of high pressure, he thought that as the latrines were situated on the ground floor, the constant pressure of ten feet during the day would be sufficient to fill the cisterns. He should be sorry to see the section omitted.

The HON'BLE THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said the difficulty seemed to be in regard to latrines in which there might be no cistern. As he understood the provision, there must be a cistern before a latrine could be connected with the drainage. The dimensions of the cistern were not given in the Act, and must be regulated by the Justices, and places which were too small to hold a proper cistern would not be connected. It appeared to him that the Council should adopt every necessary precaution in order to secure the perfect working of the system.

After some further conversation the motion was negatived, and the section was passed as it stood.

Sections 113 and 114 were agreed to.

Section 115 gave power to enter premises in order to inspect water-pipes and fittings.

On the motion of the HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL, the following proviso was added to the section:—

"Provided that nothing hereinbefore contained shall authorize an entry into any room appropriated for the zenana or residence of women, which, by the custom of the country, is considered private, unless a notice, in writing, of not less than four hours be given."

Section 116 gave power to turn off water where the pipes or fittings were out of repair.

On the motion of the HON'BLE BABOO DOORGA CHURN LAW an amendment was agreed to, requiring 24 hours' notice in writing before turning off the water.

Sections 117 to 120 were agreed to.

Section 121 required that persons executing any work for laying on water must hold a license from the Justices, and provided that any licensed plumber infringing any rules or regulations under which he held his license, should be liable to have his license cancelled, and to pay a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved an amendment to the effect that the license should only be cancelled after a third conviction. The object of the amendent was to reconcile this section with Section 125. Section 125 provided a penalty of the same kind, but under that section the offender was only liable to forfeit his license after a third conviction. It would be hard, therefore, that under Section 121 the license should be cancelled on the first conviction.

The HON'BLE THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL explained that the two things were different; the one was for disobedience of orders, and the other merely for bad work.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG observed that Section 125 was not for the protection of the Justices, but of the public, who were put to much inconvenience on account of the careless work done.

The motion was negatived, and the section passed as it stood.

Sections 122, 123, and 124 were agreed to.

Section 125 provided a penalty of Rs. 20 and forfeiture of license after a third conviction for bad work done by a licensed plumber.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said he had been anticipated on this point in the discussion on Section 121. He thought the occupier, employing a licensed plumber, who supplied bad materials and gave bad work, should be protected, and he therefore moved the insertion of the following words "and shall forfeit all claim against his employer for such works done or such fittings supplied."

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG thought that that question ought to be left to the decision of a civil court; it was hardly a provision for special legislative enactment.

The HON'BLE THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL observed that it was often a question of opinion as to what constituted bad materials or bad workmanship; that would be a question for the decision of a Court of Justice; the plumber might in such a case recover under a quantum meruit.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER would call attention to the effect of Sections 123 and 125. Under the former section, the Engineer of the Justices might refuse to connect a house with the water-supply if the fittings which had been put on were not executed to his satisfaction. Then, although the house so fitted was not connected with the water-works, and so the bad work could not affect the Justices, yet the Justices might interfere and cause the plumber to be fined. MR. DAMPIER did not object to the cancellation of a license after a third conviction. But if the Justices refused to connect the house with the water-supply because the fittings were bad, why should the plumber be rendered liable to a fine in their interest. How did the matter concern them until a connection was allowed?

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG explained that the provisions of Section 125 were entirely for the protection of the owners and occupiers of houses. The Justices were asked to connect with their mains a house in which fittings had been put on. The Engineer certified that the work was badly done and declined to connect the works, and the owner was put to great inconvenience therefrom. He had to pay a large sum for the fittings, and he was unable to connect them on account of bad work. Then, by this section, the Justices were empowered to step in and to save trouble to the occupier by having the plumber fined. There did not seem to MR. HOGG to be any inconsistency between the two sections or any error in the drafting.

The HON'BLE THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said the chief objection to the amendment seemed to be that the conviction of the plumber, and the adjudication of his claim against his employer, were made to depend upon the certificate of the Engineer. It transferred the right of judgment from the court to the Engineer of the Justices. Suppose the Justices got a conviction on the certificate of the Engineer, and the plumber afterwards satisfied a civil court that the materials and work were sufficiently good?

After some further conversation the amendment was by leave withdrawn, and the section was amended so as to leave the determination of the quality of the materials and workmanship supplied to the convicting officer.

Sections 126 to 132 were agreed to.

Section 133 provided that the occupier on whose requisition works for the supply of water were introduced in a house, should bear the expense of keeping such works in substantial repair.

The HON'BLE BABOO DOORGA CHURN LAW moved the omission of the words "on whose requisition works for the supply of water shall have been introduced in any house." He thought those words were hardly necessary, and were calculated to defeat the object of the section. If it was obligatory on the owner to introduce water works in his house for the convenience of the occupier, the occupier, whether the works were introduced at his requisition or not, ought to bear the expense of keeping them in repair.

The HON'BLE THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL would support the amendment. The words, as they stood, would only make the occupier, on whose requisition the works were executed, liable to pay for the repairs. He thought that every occupier should be bound to keep the water-works in repair.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG said it might happen that very soon after an occupier went into a house he might find the whole of the water-works out of repair, and might be called upon to put the whole of them into thorough repair. To do that would necessitate the breaking up of a large portion of the walls of the house, and it would be very hard upon the occupier to undergo such great expense. Besides, the owner received from the occupier interest at the rate of 12 per cent. for the money he expended in the construction of the water-works, if done on the requisition of the occupier; and in cases where the works were in existence at the time of the entry of the occupier, something would be added to the rent of the house on the ground that water had been laid on.

The HON'BLE MR. SCHALCH observed that when the works were executed on the requisition of the occupier, they would be new, and would require little or no expenditure to keep them in repair during the tenancy of that occupier. In such a case there would be no hardship in requiring the occupier to keep the water-works in repair. But in other cases, when a tenant took a house which had water laid on, the fittings might have been put on ten years before; he would have to pay additional rent for water being laid on, and might afterwards find all the pipes corroded; and it would be very hard for him to have to repair them when he had no opportunity of examining them, and could not have known the condition in which they were. The water-works, after once they were laid on, became a part of the house, and the cost of repairing them should be borne by the landlord.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG explained that the intention of the section was that when works were put in at the requisition of the occupier he should repair them; in other cases it should be a matter of contract between the parties.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER thought the section should provide distinctly who should bear the expense of repairing the water-works. Leases were ordinarily executed with an agreement on the part of the owner to keep the house wind and water-tight. Such leases would not touch the question of keeping the water-works in repair. And if an occupier found the water-fittings out of repair, his state would be worse than if pipes had never been laid at all bringing water to the house; for in that case he might insist under the Act on the owner putting up fittings to supply the house with water; whereas he would have no means of making the owner repair the fittings if out of order. MR. DAMPIER thought that unless there was a contract to the contrary, the owner should be bound to keep the water-works in repair.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER the section was then amended so as to stand thus:—

"Except in the case of a special agreement to the contrary, the owner of any house or land shall bear the expense of keeping all works connected with the supply of water to such house or land in substantial repair. Provided that nothing in this section shall affect the liabilities of parties under leases executed or made previous to the passing of the Act."

Sections 134 to 137 were agreed to.

Sections 138 to 143 provided for the preparation and passing of the police budget.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved that sections 138 to 143 be omitted from the Bill. He said that these sections related to the police budget. The Select Committee, in considering these sections, had placed before them the views of the Government, as represented by the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill. They were informed that the Government was not now disposed to continue to the Justices the power of controlling the police in any way, and as far as the consideration of the police budget was concerned, the Justices therefore, although it was not stated in so many words, would be reduced to the position of "message bearers." It would be in this wise: the Commissioner of Police would send up the budget to the Justices, and the Justices would hand it up to Government; the Justices should raise the police-rate, and Government would disburse the money. This was practically the scope and object of the Bill as amended by a majority of the Select Committee. He did not know how far the position assumed by the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill had been influenced by Government, but he submitted that that position reflected upon the Justices as a body, and he was not aware that any cause had been given to Government for such a course. It was in 1867 that the police-rate was first imposed by the Government upon the people of Calcutta. Previous to that, the whole of the police charges had been borne by Government, who controlled the police and met its expenses. In 1865, Baboo Kristodas Pal believed, when Sir Charles Trevelyan was Finance Minister, the Government of India decided that towns in the country should be called upon to bear the greater portion of the police charges, and that in the case of Calcutta it was resolved that the Municipality should bear three-fourths and the Government one-fourth. That resolution of the Government of India was embodied in Act XI of 1867. With a view to give the rate-payers a voice in the police administration of the town, the Justices were vested with the power of considering and passing the police budget. From 1867 up to that time this system had been in operation, and BABOO KRISTODAS PAL would appeal to the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill to say whether at any time there had been any undue interference by the Justices with the action of the Commissioner of Police or the Government in the administration of the police. It was meet, he thought, that the Justices, as representatives of the rate-payers, should have a voice in the administration of the funds which were raised by them. That being the case, he did not see any good or valid reason why the power which had been exercised theretofore by the Justices without detriment to the police, should now be withdrawn. It was urged in Select Committee that there might arise some contingencies which might render the relations between the Justices and the Government anomalous, something in the womb of future which could not now be anticipated. But if the Government was anxious, as he believed it was, to extend a measure of self-government, it was a curious way of expressing its anxiety by withdrawing a power which the Justices had long possessed and which they had never abused. He was sorry to see that his colleague Hon'ble Mr. Brookes) was not there that day to express the views of the European community; but from what he said in the Select Committee, BABOO KRISTODAS PAL believed that the views which Mr. Brookes expressed were shared by the non-official community generally. It would be painful to him, as well as to the other non-official members of the Council, if the question was made an issue between the Government and them; but BABOO KRISTODAS PAL hoped that the Government would on further consideration admit the importance of the subject, and not take any hasty action in the matter. But, as he had said, the Justices had done nothing to forfeit the confidence which the present law reposed in them; on the contrary, the Justices, while criticising the police budget, and making suggestions now and then, had uniformly passed it in its integrity. He thought it was assuming too much to say that the power was likely to be abused, and that therefore it ought to be withdrawn. He might point out that since the maintenance of the police had devolved on the town, there had been a tendency to increased police expenditure; but he believed the hon'ble mover would admit that the Justices had in no way meddled. They were well aware that police arrangements ought not to be rashly interfered with, and that one man should, if practicable, rule over the police, and that that man ought to be the Commissioner of Police; and with that view, if they had any important suggestions to make in respect of police administration, they ought to go through their Chairman who was Commissioner of Police, and they had done so. Having regard to these facts, and believing that it was much better that the Justices should be altogether relieved of all connection with the police than that they should have placed before them a mere shadow without the substance, he would propose that these sections be omitted, and that the old sections of the existing Act be restored.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG said he could not accept the amendment. The object of Sections 138 to 143 of the Bill was, in fact, to give effect to the law as it stood. The Calcutta police was constituted under Act IV of 1866 of this Council, and by that Act was entirely under the control and orders of the Government. He thought it would be conceded by the Council that the police of the metropolis of India could not be placed under any other control than that of the Government of Bengal; and for the Justices to desire to have any voice in the direct administration of the affairs of the police, was to wish for more than could be conceded to them. When the expenditure of the police was imposed on the Municipality, it was provided that the Commissioner of Police should submit to the Justices a budget of expenditure under Act XI of 1867; and by Section 5 of that Act it was left to the discretion of the Justices to pass or to reject or to modify and to submit the budget as passed or modified by them to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal. It would be clear to the Council that that section was entirely antagonistic to the principle upon which the police was constituted as laid down under Act IV of 1866; so much so that the late Advocate-General (Mr. Cowie) was of opinion that Section 5 of Act XI of 1867 was practically inoperative, as it set aside the principle of Act IV of 1866. It was true that the Justices up to this time had never endeavoured to interfere in the administration of the police, and had always accepted, with perhaps slight modifications, the budget the Commissioner of Police had submitted. But it was obvious that misunderstandings might possibly arise, and the Justices might claim to exercise the discretion which was apparently vested in them. In order to do away with the possibility of any such misunderstanding, it was proposed by the Bill that the Commissioner of Police should lay before the Justices year by year an estimate of expenditure on account of police, and that it should be the duty of the Justices to forward the budget to Government with any remarks which the Justices might think fit to offer. That gave to the Justices full opportunity for an expression of their opinion and remonstrance against any additional expenditure proposed by the Commissioner of Police; but left to the local Government to decide on the strength and cost of the police. That, he thought, was the proper principle that should be adopted by the legislature. It was precisely the same procedure as that which existed at Bombay and Madras. The Madras Act IX of 1867, Section 9, provided that after the date of the Act the Municipal Commissioners should pay into the Bank every month such sum as the local Government might direct for the maintenance of the police. If they turned to the Bombay Act, they found that under Section 86 of Act III of 1872, the Bombay Municipality were required similarly under the orders of the Government to pay into the Bank of Bombay such sum as the Government chose to direct. These were two analagous cases, and he did not see why the Justices should claim greater power than the municipalities of Madras and Bombay. For these reasons he trusted the Council would adopt the provisions of the Bill as they stood.

The HON'BLE THE ACTING ADVOCATE-GENERAL said it appeared to him that no great hardship was imposed on the Justices by an alteration of the existing law. As far as he could make out, they had no control over the police. That was entirely under the Commissioner of Police, subject to the orders of the local Government. The only matter with which the Municipality had to deal was the imposition and collection of the police-rate. It was provided that the amount of the estimate passed should, after deducting therefrom such amount as might from time to time be allowed by the Government, from the general revenues, towards the maintenance of the police force, be paid to the Lieutenant-Governor by the Justices out of the annual proceeds of the police rate. So that the Justices had to supply that amount out of the police rate, and not out of the general revenues of the Municipality. Then, could it be said that the mere effect of collecting the money ought to give them that controlling influence which the present law allowed them? Under the present law, the Municipality had the right of rejecting the budget altogether. In the event of the budget being rejected, it could not go up to Government at all. It appeared to him that they ought not to have the power of rejecting the budget altogether; they ought not to have the power of rejecting a budget on a subject on which they could have no proper information nor any sufficient knowledge, and he thought that the argument which sought to enforce the principle of the present law was somewhat specious. The police rate was collected for the maintenance of the police and held in trust, and he really did not see that the Justices should have any control over the object for which they were collected unless they had some voice over the objects to which that fund was devoted. He thought that in this case there was no hardship imposed, and that the amendment in the Bill was in the right direction. It prevented a possible collision which might take place between the Government and the Municipality. It had been said, with great truth, that no instance could be shown in which the police budget had been rejected by the Justices. That circumstance proved clearly that the power of rejection was one which was not required, inasmuch as it had never been used; and further, that it was not likely to be used, except in some extraordinary cases. What would be the effect, suppose the power was used? It would, in the event of the rejection of the budget on the ground of excessive expenditure, be an animadversion on the conduct of the Commissioner of Police and the Government for having submitted such a police budget! Such a state of things was not desirable, and was never contemplated; and he thought that proper criticism by the Justices would be duly considered. As far as he could see, looking at the matter from a disinterested point of view,—for he had no sympathy one way or the other,—he thought the Justices had no right to complain if the arbitrary power of rejection was taken away. They could be heard now as loudly as before, and they might collect the police-rate, though they had no control over the expenditure of that rate. He would oppose the amendment on this ground, that beyond collecting the rate the Justices had no control; and the mere effect of collecting the rate did not entitle them to have a control in rejecting the budget.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL wished to say a few words in reply. While appreciating the feelings which had prompted the hon'ble and learned Advocate-General to address the Council, he regretted that he could not agree with him. But he seemed to have lost sight of the fact that when the police-rate was first imposed upon the town by Government, it was, if he (BABOO KRISTODAS PAL remembered it aright, distinctly declared that a share should be given to the people in the administration of the police; that, in fact, the people should be invited to take a part in that administration. That having been the object of the new police administration, the principle was recognized in the Act of 1867. That principle had been in operation for the last eight years, and it was admitted that it worked fairly. It was now proposed to go back and make the Justices only tax-collectors. He would ask whether such a position—he meant the position assumed under the new sections—was consistent with the previous declarations of Government and its present professions for the extension of local self-government. Then the hon'ble and learned member had pointed out that the fact that the Justices had not exercised the power of interference with the budget showed that there was no necessity for it. Might it not be said that the knowledge of the circumstance that the budget of the Commissioner of Police would be sifted by the Justices might have influenced that officer to frame it in such a way as to disarm criticism, and that the present law had had that good moral effect upon him? Then it had been said that the withdrawal of the power would cause no hardship to the Justices. But undeservedly it would imply a want of confidence in the Justices. The hon'ble mover had pointed out that under Act IV of 1866 the police was entirely under the direct control of Government. He admitted it. Section 8 provided that the strength at which the police of Calcutta should be maintained should be fixed by the local Government, subject to the sanction of the Government of India; so that its ultimate control was vested in the Governor-General of India in Council, and not, as the hon'ble member had stated, in the Bengal Government. The final control being vested in the Government of India, it was suggested in Select Committee that, with a view to provide against such contingencies as had been apprehended, it might be enjoined that in case of any difference of opinion between the Justices and the Government of Bengal with reference to any item of police expenditure, the decision of the Government of India should be declared conclusive. But that amendment was not accepted by the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill. BABOO KRISTODAS PAL was still willing to propose such an amendment if the Council would accept it. He did not wish that there should be no supervision of Government over the police, or that the decision of the Justices should be final in case of any difference of opinion between the Commissioner of Police and the Justices or the local Government. He would follow the theory of the law laid down in Act IV of 1866, that the ultimate control of the police be vested in the Government of India; that the final decision should rest in all matters with that Government; and if the Council would accept such an amendment, he would be prepared to move it.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said—"I may say at once that I for one cannot in any respect accept the amendment which the hon'ble member has proposed. It would be wholly out of the question to place the Government of Bengal and the Justices in Calcutta as now constituted two parallel bodies who may have a difference of opinion, which difference should be submitted to the Government of India for decision.

As regards the general question, I desire to disclaim on the part of the Government of Bengal any intention whatever to take away from the Justices any substantial portion of the power which they now enjoy. The fact is, as stated by the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill, that the power of fixing the strength of the police has been by the section already quoted (Section 8 of Act IV of 1866) retained by the Government of Bengal, subject, of course, to the sanction of the Government of India. The Council are aware that in all matters of finance and strength of establishments, there rests in the Government of India, in the Financial Department, the ultimate power of control. In all matters of finance such control is necessary in order that the finances may be kept together. That is as well the case in regard to the provincial services. There is no sort of expenditure, from the largest to the smallest, which is not liable to the ultimate control of the Government of India. In that respect I do not perceive that the expenditure on account of the Calcutta police in any way differs from any other expenditure, and in any way confers any higher power on the Government of Bengal. As I understand the question, it is, as stated by the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill, that there is just a possible conflict between the provisions of Act IV of 1866 and the provisions of Act XI of 1867. The fact is that the terms of Section 5 of Act XI of 1867 are quite unscientifically drawn. I say it with all deference to the legal gentlemen who drafted the Act of 1867. From a drafting point of view it may mean more or less, according to the interpretation which individuals may put upon it; but it is extremely doubtful whether Section 5 of the Act really interferes with Section 8 of Act IV of 1866. Act IV of 1866 gives the Government the power of fixing the strength of the police force. The Act of 1867 gives power to the Justices to pass or to reject or to modify the budget. The preparation of a budget is a mere financial process relating to an establishment otherwise fixed, and would ordinarily be little more than fixing the details of expenditure. There might be discussion on a budget as to whether for such and such a given strength it is necessary to provide such and such a sum; for instance a sum which was entered as five and a half lakhs of rupees should be fixed at five lakhs or vice versâ and so on. In such a discussion many important financial points would arise without however touching the fundamental point, namely the strength of the establishment. The process of preparing a budget would not ordinarily mean more than that. But looking to the ambiguity of the expression used in the Act, it is possible that some particular person, even some legal authority, may put a different construction upon that provision, and may say that the power of passing or rejecting the budget really means the power of interfering with the strength of the establishment. I believe, however, that that is not the correct ordinary financial acceptation of the term "passing a budget." But I feel sure that the legislature of that day, if they understood that the accepting or modifying of a budget meant a substantial alteration of the power given by the Act of 1866, would never have passed such a provision. I believe that what I have stated is the ordinary financial acceptation of the term passing or modifying a budget, which is a perfectly practical arrangement. That, I am convinced, is the real meaning of the legislature. I cannot conceive that the legislature had any other intention whatever. But looking to the importance of the matter and the possibility of a different, and perhaps embarrassing interpretation being put on this section, I cordially concur with what has fallen from the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill and the learned Advocate-General, that the present opportunity should be taken to put a good interpretation on these two apparently conflicting enactments, and to enact an arrangement which should be workable and practical. For although I entirely accept what the Hon'ble Baboo Kristodas Pal has said as to the desire of the local Government to accord a reasonable amount of self-government to the Municipality, yet, with all deference to him, I must say at once that, however great concessions we may make in that direction, we cannot make the concession go to the extent of giving over to the Justices the power of regulating the strength and constitution of the police in the metropolis of Bengal. That is a very important power, and, under certain circumstances, may be of vital importance; and however great may be our confidence in the power of the Justices to regulate their municipal affairs, we cannot go so far as to give over to them such a very large amount of power as to fix and determine the strength of the force which is to keep the metropolis in order. I will therefore hope that the Council will see fit to pass the sections as they stand."

The motion was then put and negatived, and Sections 138 to 143 of the Bill were agreed to.

Sections 144 to 151 were agreed to.

Section 152 provided a penalty of Rs. 100 for neglecting to give information of births or deaths.

The HON'BLE BABOO DOORGA CHURN LAW moved the substitution of Rs. 20 for Rs. 100. The penalty imposed was, in his opinion, too heavy. Considering the large number of ignorant classes that would have to be dealt with under this section, it would be a great hardship if any Magistrate took it into his head to levy the full penalty under the section, and he therefore thought that the maximum penalty should not exceed Rs. 20.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG observed that in the case of a poor person a fine of Rs. 100 would no doubt be very heavy. But in the case of a person who absolutely declined to conform to the provisions of the law, he certainly thought the maximum penalty would not be too heavy.

The HON'BLE THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said he should support the amendment. He was for limiting discretion, in every case, as much as possible. Persons who were likely to be offenders under this section would not belong to the wealthy classes. The object should be to secure generally the objects of the section, and he thought a fine of Rs. 20 was sufficient.

The motion was carried, and the section as amended was agreed to.

Sections 153 to 168 were agreed to.

Section 169 provided that the gross proceeds of the lighting-rate should be applied to the purposes of lighting, "but the Justices may expend, out of the Municipal Fund, such further sums as may from time to time be requisite for the purchase, setting up, clearing, and maintenance of lamps, lamp-posts, pipes, and other necessary apparatus."

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved the omission of the words quoted. He had stated at the last sitting that the produce of the increased assessments had been so large that the Lighting-rate Fund was now self-supporting, and the Council ought therefore to take the opportunity afforded by this Bill to omit the power given to the Justices to make contributions from the General Fund to the Lighting-rate Fund. If the illumination of the town depended upon the Lighting-rate Fund, then there would be economy practised in its administration; otherwise there might be extravagance.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG said it was suggested in the Bill, as introduced, that the lighting-rate should be fixed at 2½ per cent. The hon'ble member objected to increase the rate, but thought that this power to make contributions from the General Fund should be given. But now, having obtained in Committee the alteration of the 2½ per cent. to 2 per cent., he proposed to omit the power to make contributions from the General Fund. His hon'ble friend should remember that the whole of the town was not at present lighted as it should be. True it was that all the chief public streets in the European portion of the town were lighted with gas, and although the chief streets in the native portion of the town were also so lighted, there were many lanes in that quarter which required better lighting. Under the Bill as it now stood, the Justices would only be entitled to levy a rate of 2 per cent. But as that would not be enough to provide for exceptional expenditure it was proposed that charges on account of lamps, lamp-posts, and the like, might be paid by a grant from the Municipal Fund. He believed that the majority of the Justices were unwilling to exercise this power, but he thought the Council would do wisely in enabling the Justices to do so if they thought it advisable.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said the hon'ble mover was correct in saying that he (BABOO KRISTODAS PAL) had objected to the increase of the lighting-rate and consented to power being given to the Justices to make contributions from the General Fund, if necessity arose. But circumstances had since changed. There had been a large accession to the Lighting-rate Fund. Formerly one per cent. of lighting-rate produced one lakh of rupees, whereas it now yielded Rs. 1,18,000, so that the Justices would have an additional revenue of Rs. 36,000 from the two per cent rate. That was the reason why he thought it was not now necessary to give the Justices power to make contributions to the Lighting-rate Fund from the general revenues of the municipality.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG observed that the proceeds of the lighting-rate just covered the current expenditure on account of lighting. The Justices had for a series of years annually sanctioned a grant of Rs. 20,000 to the General Fund, and that was without any exceptional expenditure for providing lamps, lamp-posts, &c.; so that if they desired to extend gas-lighting throughout the town, especially the northern portion of the town, the power to make contributions for such extensions should be given.

The motion was by leave withdrawn, and the section passed as it stood.

Sections 170 to 179 were agreed to.

Section 180 specified the conditions under which the Justices might declare private streets to be deemed public.

On the motion of the HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL, the consent of three-fourths of the owners of houses in such streets was rendered necessary before the Justices could declare any such street to be public.

Sections 181 and 182 were agreed to.

Section 183 provided that the doors and ground-floor windows of houses were not to open outwards upon any street.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved an amendment, with the object of confining the operation of the section to doors and windows "hung or placed subsequent to the 1st June 1863," the date of the commencement of Act VI of 1863, the existing municipal law.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG said the section was drafted precisely as the existing law stood. The object was to compel the owners of houses, in which doors and windows opened on the street, to hang them so as to open inwards. The opening of such doors and windows outwards was unobjectionable before the foot-paths were constructed, as they opened over the drain, and did not obstruct traffic. But now it would not only obstruct the traffic on the foot-path, but become absolutely dangerous to the passers-by. In the interests of the public, he considered it absolutely necessary that the section should stand as it was.

The motion was by leave withdrawn, and the section passed as it stood.

Sections 184 and 185 were agreed to.

Section 186 provided for the removal of existing projections from houses, and the conditions under which compensation should be made in such cases.

The HON'BLE THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL drew attention to the portion of this section, which provided that if the projection was lawfully made, the Justices should make reasonable compensation to any person who suffered damage by the removal, and if any dispute should arise touching the amount of such compensation, the same should be settled in the manner provided for the settlement of disputes, damages, and expenses. Suppose the dispute were whether the projection was lawful or unlawful; suppose the right of compensation was denied. There was no provision for the decision of the question whether the projection was lawful or unlawful, but only as to the amount of compensation.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG thought that under the section the question of a projection being lawful or unlawful would depend upon the date upon which the projection was erected: the section only applied to projections erected before 1st June 1863.

After some further conversation the section was amended, on the motion of the HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER, providing that the right to compensation as well as the amount of compensation should be the subject of settlement in the manner provided in the Bill.

Sections 187 to 209 were agreed to.

Section 210 provided that no latrine should be constructed within fifty feet of a tank.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL moved the addition to the section of the following proviso:—

"Provided that the Justices shall not withhold assent, if any latrine, urinal, cesspool, house drain, or ohter receptacle be constructed with masonry."

He said that this section, if allowed to pass without modification, was calculated to prove a source of great practical inconvenience to the native community. It would lead to the demolition of all latrines in native houses situated in the vicinity of tanks. The object of the provision, he understood, was to prevent the percolation of fœcal matter into tanks by reason of the vicinity of latrines, urinals, and drains. But he contended that if they were constructed of masonry, there would be no danger of such percolation, and he hoped therefore the Council would consent to the amendment he proposed.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG said he did not think it would be wise to adopt the amendment. As a fact, the matter would not be less offensive if it came from a pucca than from a kutcha latrine or drain. Having regard to the health of the town generally, he thought it would not be advisable to allow latrines to be constructed close to tanks used for the purpose of drinking or other domestic purposes.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT asked whether it was not possible for percolation to go on through masonry, by means of some chink or other? From experience in various parts of India, he believed there was nothing more dangerous than to have anything like a latrine in the vicinity of tanks or wells. That one thing was probably more frequently the cause of outbreaks of cholera than anything else. It was quite possible for percolation to go on even through masonry; water would find its way almost through anything. Though he quite concurred in the inconvenience described by the hon'ble member who moved the amendment, he entreated the native members of the Council to be extremely particular in legislating in regard to latrines in the proximity of tanks. The inconvenience spoken of was better than the risk of infection. Even where tanks in the vicinity of latrines were used only for washing and bathing purposes, he knew of cases of terrible disease breaking out, probably caused by that very thing; and if the provision of the section was good for kutcha latrines and drains, he thought it was almost equally necessary for pucca drains. Water would ooze through almost anything.

The motion was negatived, and the section passed as it stood.

Section 211 was agreed to.

The Council was then adjourned to Saturday, the 27th instant.

SUPPRESSION OF DACOITY IN BENGAL.

From—R. L. MANGLES, Esq., Officiating Secretary to the Government of Bengal,
To—All Commissioners.

I AM directed to invite your particular attention to the remarks recorded by the Lieutenant-Governor in paragraphs 22 and 28 of his Resolution on the Annual Report of the Police Department for the year 1874, and to request that you will impress upon every District Magistrate, and upon every District Superintendent of Police in your division, that the Lieutenant-Governor is determined that the continued prevalence of the crime of dacoity will not be tolerated in these provinces, and that active and energetic means shall be taken for its suppression. During the past year 405 dacoities were committed in Bengal, as against 356 in 1873, and the Lieutenant-Governor observes that, as compared with 1870, there has been an increase of this crime during each successive year.

2. The Lieutenant-Governor is willing to admit that in some instances this crime is committed by practised criminals, who, travelling from distant districts by rail or river, commit depredations in districts where no previous opportunities of prevention could have been taken. He is, however, of opinion, and in this he finds that his views are similar to those entertained by his predecessor, that at the present day dacoities are chiefly the work of local bad characters, whose movements it is well within the power of the local authorities to watch and control. The Lieutenant-Governor is also prepared to admit that dacoities attended with marked attrocities are not so frequent now as formerly, and that many which now occur are of a comparatively petty description. His Honor, however, considers that it is none the less discreditable to the administration, and to the existing and expensive organization of the police force, with selected European officers placed in special charge in each district, that such crimes should occur so frequently; and in drawing attention to the above remarks, and those recorded by the Lieutenant-Governor in his Resolution on the Police Report as to the crime being for the most part preventible, I am to say that if in future the crime continues to be of frequent occurrence in any district, His Honor is resolved to hold the District Magistrate and the District Superintendent responsible in the matter, and to place them on their defence.

3. As to the means to be adopted in any district for the repression of the crime, Sir Richard Temple is willing to leave much to the discretion of the local authorities, who cannot be relieved of their responsibilities in the matter. He would suggest, however, that much useful information might be extracted by patient and judicious enquiries from convicted dacoits undergoing their sentences in jail, and His Honor will be prepared to give favorable consideration to the case of any prisoner who may be induced to give such information as has led to the tracing and breaking up of any existing gangs of dacoits. Another method, which has been followed with advantage in certain districts, is the payment for such information as actualy leads to results in the capture of gangs; and the Lieutenant-Governor, relying upon the discretion of Commissioners to secure the proper application of the money, will, on their representations, be willing to place funds to a limited extent at their disposal for secret service of this description.

4. But above all, and as the most important matter, the Lieutenant-Governor must insist upon the movements of persons known to be of bad character, or whose habits are suspected, being systematically watched, and upon the officers of one district giving timely information to those of neighbouring districts in case such persons are found to have left their homes. If the prescribed register of convicts released on expiry of sentence, and of persons of notorious bad livelihood, has been properly kept up at each police station, every person, in each district, whose movements require to be watched should be well known to the officers in charge of police stations, and the responsibilities of these officers and of inspectors of divisions under the rules relating to the keeping of this register should be strictly enforced. The services of the rural police also should be much more utilized in these matters than is apparently at present the case; and as the Lieutenant-Governor is prepared, on the application of the local authorities, to extend to any regulation district the provisions of Act VI (B.C.) of 1870, no difficulty should now be experienced in the payment of chowkeedars, and in securing loyal service on their part.

5. In the non-regulation districts, and in some of the regulation districts, valuable assistance may also be obtained from ghatwals and other rural police of this description, who, when justly dealt with, and secured in possession of their lands, have not unfrequently been found of much use.

6. In conclusion, I am to say that the Lieutenant-Governor will await a report at the end of this cold weather on the special measures which have been adopted in your division for the repression of dacoity and of their result.

ENDOWMENT FOR SCHOLARSHIPS BY RAI SHAMANUND DE, BAHADOOR.

No. 3361, dated the 29th November 1875.

From—J. H. Reynolds, Esq., Officiating Secretary to the Government of Bengal, General Department.
To—The Commissioner of Orissa.

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 208, dated 17th November 1875, with enclosures, and in reply to say that the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to accept the offer of Rai Shamanund De, Bahadoor, to found two scholarships of Rs. 100 per annum each, tenable in the new Orissa College under establishment at Cuttack. Sir Richard Temple also approves of the rules for the allotment of these scholarships, and of the donor's proposal that they be named "the Prince of Wales' Scholarships," as a memorial of the visit of His Royal Highness to India. With regard to the proposed addition to rule 3, the Lieutenant-Governor thinks it sufficient to commend the suggestion to the consideration of the founder of the scholarships.

2. I am to request you to convey to Rai Shamanund De, Bahadoor, the thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor for his liberal endowment, and to say that the papers on the subject will be published in the next issue of the Calcutta Gazette.

No. 208, dated Cuttack, the 17th November 1875.

From—T. E. Ravenshaw, Esq., Commissioner of the Orissa Division,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, General Department.

I have the honor to submit, for the information and approval of Government, copy of a letter No. 128 of 9th November 1875, from the Magistrate of Balasore, giving cover to an offer from Rai Shamanund De, Bahadoor, to found two scholarships of Rs. 100 each, tenable in the new Orissa College under establishment at Cuttack.

2. It is the desire of Rai Shamanund De, Bahadoor, that these scholarships be named "the Prince of Wales' Scholarships," in memory of His Royal Highness' visit to India.

3. I feel assured that the Rai Bahadoor's loyalty and liberality will meet with the approval of Government, and I request that intimation of the foundation of these scholarships may be published in the Gazette.

4. I have suggested the addition of a clause after Rule 3 to the effect that, if there be no students of Balasore zillah school qualified to hold the scholarships, they may be awarded to any native student of any other zillah school in Orissa who may stand next on the divisional list below any other scholar to whom a Government scholarship may be awarded.

No. 128, dated Balasore, the 9th November 1875.

From—T. Norman, Esq., Acting Magistrate of Balasore,
To—The Commissioner of the Orissa Division.

I have the honor to report that Rai Shamanand De, Bahadoor, has offered to endow two scholarships, each with a stipend of Rs. 100 per annum, to be competed for by the students of the zillah school of this district at the Entrance Examination. The donor proposes to deposit for that purpose Government securities for the sum of Rs. 5,000, bearing interest at 4 per cent.

2. The following rules and conditions for the allotment of the scholarships have been suggested by me, and have been agreed to by the donor.

I.—One scholarship, with a stipend of Rs. 100 per annum, will be annually offered for competition at the University Entrance Examination.

II.—The annual scholarship will not be assigned to any candidate who shall not have studied for the previous two years, at least, in the Balasore zillah school; and to qualify for a scholarship at any University Entrance Examination, it is necessary that the candidate shall pass at such examination.

III.—Subject to the provisions contained in Rule II, the annual scholarship will be assigned to the candidate who shall rank in order of merit next after any other candidate who may be awarded a Government scholarship.

IV.—The examination shall be the same as that for Government junior scholarships, and, except as hereinbefore provided, the rules now or hereafter in force, with respect to the terms and conditions on which Government scholarships may be obtained and held, shall apply with equal force to these scholarships.

V.—If any annual scholarship shall remain unassigned, or shall lapse from any cause, the unexpended stipend shall be deposited in the Government savings bank to the credit of the endowment fund; and when such surplus shall amount to the sum of Rs. 200, two scholarships, instead of one, may be offered for competition, due notice to that effect having been given beforehand.

3. The donor respectfully desires permission to name these scholarships The "Prince of Wales' Scholarships," in honor of His Royal Highness' visit to the country.

4. I have the honor to request that you will move Government to accept the Rai Bahadoor's offer, and to give it such publicity as will stimulate others to show similar public spirit. As soon as Government shall have notified its acceptance of the offer, the Government securities will be purchased.

5. The district certainly seems to require some encouragement to its higher class education, such as that now offered. The ever recurring impossibility of procuring competently educated young men to fill vacant appointments in Government service shows that in this respect Balasore is still far behind Bengal districts, where higher class education is eagerly pursued as a means of livelihood. I need scarcely remark how opportunely these scholarships will act as feeders to the Cuttack College, towards the establishment of which Rai Shamanund De, Bahadoor, has offered a donation of Rs. 1,000.

6. A copy of the Rai Bahadoor's letter is annexed.

Dated Balasore, the 31st October 1875.

From—RAI SHAMANUND DE, BAHADOOR,

To—T. NORMAN, ESQ., Collector and Magistrate of Balasore.

I HAVE the honor to bring to your notice the suggestion made for the appropriation of Rs. 5,000 voluntarily offered by me, and the submission of the same for your kind approval—

That two scholarships Rs. 8 each to be given to the students of the Balasore Government school who, having passed the Entrance Examination, fail to secure junior college scholarships, to enable them to continue their studies in the college.

I further beg to inform you that I shall be happy to get a promissory note for the amount from Calcutta as soon as I learn of the acceptance by Government of my humble offer, and the interest accruing therefrom will be appropriated for the purpose.

It would gratify me exceedingly if Government will grant permission to name these scholarships "The Prince of Wales' Scholarships," in remembrance of His Royal Highness' visit to Bengal.

	8	Jessore, „ 27 „	Nil.	Weather very pleasant. No rain, but heavy dew during the nights. Late rice crop is being harvested. A good outturn expected everywhere except on some high lands here and there in the Narail and Suddor sub-division. State of winter crops is satisfactory
	9	Moorshedabad, „ 27, „	Nil.	Seasonable weather The amun harvest has commenced. An average of full 12 annas crop is expected. Other winter crops are thriving. Common rice almost stationary in price. Fever still continuing in Sujaganj and Gorabazar.
RAJSHAHYE DIVN.	10	Dinagepore, „ 26, „	Nil	Fair weather with westerly wind. The crops are now being cut. A moderate outturn only is expected Three cases of cholera at Hemtabad and three at Peergunge thana; single cases at [illegible]mssunkool and Thakoorgaon thana.

It is being thrashed in one thana, but the outcome has not yet been ascertained. In Shibgunge the amun has been attacked by insects. Spring rice being sown in parts of the district. Rain is still required for the kulai, but the return is expected to be very fair. Half anna share of the crop has been destroyed by insects in thana Shibgunge. During the week 106 deaths have occurred from cholera; seventy-nine persons have been attacked by that disease during the same period. Nineteen deaths from fever are also reported during the week.
	12	Rajshahye, „ 27, „	Nil.	There has been no change in the weather during the week. Want of rain is still much felt both for the rubbee crops and the high land rice, especially for the latter. The winter rice crop on low lands is reaped in most quarters, and the reports of the expected outturn are generally favourable. Sub-Division Nattore. The cutting of early dhan is fast going on. The same complaint as in the last week, of injury being done by a black worm to paddy on high or rather dry land, continues Sugar-making is going on. The present prospect of the rubbee crops good. Cholera is still somewhat prevalent, and in parts of the district there have been several fatal cases.

		Cooch Behar, „ 25, „	Nil.	Weather fair. No rain. Though the aman dhan has suffered much for want of rain on high lands, it is generally believed that on the whole the outturn will be about 8 annas, in some places the outturn will fall below, and in others exceed their estimate. The prospects of tobacco and of mustard seeds are reported to be good.
		Eastern Districts
Dacca Divn.	18	Dacca, Nov. 29,* '75	Nil.	Fine weather. State and prospects of the crops are good.
	19	Fureedpore, „ 27, „	Nil.	Weather cool and dry. Owing to the want of rain in October the rice crop is less than it otherwise would have been, but on the whole it is a good crop. The winter cereals promise well.
	20	Backergunge, „ 25, „	Nil.	Weather cold and fine State and prospects of the crops are fair, but want of rain has damaged the paddy and stunted its growth. An average crop only is expected. Winter harvesting has begun.
	21	Mymensingh, „ 26, „	Nil.	Weather clear and tolerably cool. State and prospects of the crops are favourable. Cholera is still prevalent in many parts of the district
	22	Tipperah, „ 26, „	Nil.	Weather fair and cool. There is no material difference since last report. The late rice crop will not have such a good outturn as usual, and there will be a good deal less rice for export. Cholera has shown itself in many places.
Chittagong Divn.	23	Chittagong, „ 25, „	Nil.	Cool weather. The crop is still suffering from want of rain, and there is every probability of there being smaller crop than last year, but there is no prospect of scarcity.
	24	Noakholly, „ 25, „	Nil.	Weather fair and cool. Cutting of the intermediate amun crops has commenced in the churs and high lands. Cholera prevalent throughout the district, but not in the town.

Patna Divn.	26	Patna, Nov. 29,* '75	Nil.	Seasonable weather. The late rice crops in low lands are thriving well, but in high lands they are suffering from want of rain. General health good.
	27	Gya, „ 27, „	Nil.	Clear weather, cloudless sky, and cool winds. Rice crop is being reaped. Outturn is better than anticipated; and is estimated at 8, 10, and 12 annas in different parts of the district The rahur crops are good. Sowings of rubbee crops showing fair prospects. General health good.
	28	Shahabad, „ 27, „	Nil.	Weather generally dry and clear Pleasant westerly wind. Paddy being reaped. Rubbee doing well. Health of the people good.
	29	Durbhunga, „ 27, „	Nil.	Weather fine. No change in the state and prospects of the crops. The Collector has just returned from a tour of inspection through the Sudder sub-division, and believes that an 8-anna rice crop will be harvested. There is reason for believing that the outturn of crops in the Mudhoobunee sub-division will be better than that anticipated in the last report. Prices show a tendency to decline both at Durbhunga and Mudhoobunee.

30	Mozufferpore, Nov. 26, '75	Nil.	Weather cold and occasionally cloudy. On the 26th instant it was very cloudy. The prospects of rice and rubbee crops in Mozufferpore and Seetamurhee sub-divisions are much the same as reported last week. The Collector has been on tour in the Hajeepore sub-division during the week ending 26th November. He considers that the previous estimate of an average four-anna rice crop, which is now being cut, will prove correct. The rubbee crops in the Hajeepore and Muhuna thanas are very much better than he anticipated. In the former thana there is a ten-anna crop now on the ground, and even without rain an eight-anna crop is expected. In the latter thana there is at present an average eight-anna crop on the ground, but without rain only four annas will probably come to maturity. Tobacco and ruhur are both very good, but root crops are not so good as previously reported. The Collector has not recently been over the Lalgunge thana jurisdiction, but hopes to visit it next week. It is the only thana of the Hajeepore sub-division in which any distress may be apprehended.
31	Sarun, " 27, "	Nil.	Weather fine and seasonably cold. West wind prevailing. No apparent sign of rain. Cotton and ruhur pulse are doing well. Sugarcane is being manufactured Paddy is being harvested. Rubbee crops are still doing well. Irrigation is being resorted to where practicable. Apprehensions are entertained for want of rain General health good.
32	Chumparun, " 26, "	Nil.	Weather cloudy now and then The prospect of the late rice crop is as bad as was anticipated. Rubbee has been sown. It is not growing well. The sky is overcast.
BHAGULPORE DIVN.
33	Monghyr, " 27, "	Nil	Weather cold and clear. No change since last week. The Collector and the District Superintendent of Police having seen a large portion of the rice country, agree in thinking that nearly an average rice crop will be reaped. The rubbee is coming up, but rain will be wanted after the rice is cut. Rain at present would do more harm than good to the rice.
34	Bhagulpore, " 29,* "	Nil.	Rice crops on low lands are generally good. Harvesting has begun, and prices are falling Report from the south is good. Prospects of rubbee are everywhere good. Public health good.
35	Purneah, " 27, "	Nil.	Weather cool and seasonable. The cutting of the winter rice has commenced. Good reports are received from the north and from the Kosi. The crop in Nepaul is said to be very good. Importation from that country has already begun. The mustard crop promises well, but rain is wanted. Pulses are coming on. The wheat, oats, &c., which have been sown have generally germinated.
36	Sonthal Perghs. " 27, "	Nil.	Weather cold and dry Over the greater part of the district the rice harvest is beginning, with every prospect of a fair outturn.

38	Pooree, " 25, "	Nil.	Weather fine and cold. The laghu, or the first late rice, is being reaped and gathered. Sarad, or the main late rice, is in flower, and promises well. In Khoordah the prospect is favourable. Cholera is still raging in different parts. Sugarcane is now ripe.
39	Balasore, " 26, "	Nil	Weather fine and harvest of rice is progressing fast. Sporadic cholera is general throughout the district, but does not appear to be increasing.
CHOTA NAGPORE
	South-Western Frontier Agency.
40	Hazareebagh, Nov. 26, '75	Nil.	The weather has been slightly cloudy during the past week, and not so cold as it should be. The rice crop is being harvested, and the outturn is expected to be better than it was supposed it would be. The cold weather crop of what there is, looks well, but it would be premature to calculate what the probable outturn may be.
41	Lohurdugga, " 26, "	Nil.	Seasonable weather. A large portion of the rice crop has now been harvested, and the outturn is excellent. The rubbee crops are looking well, but in Palamow only about half the usual area has been sown owing to want of rain. General health good.
4	Singbhoom, " 26, "	Nil.	Seasonable weather. State and prospects of the crops are favourable. General health of the district good, but fever prevailing in some parts
43	Maunbhoom, " 27, "	Nil.	Favourable weather. State and prospects of the crops are favourable throughout the district The paddy of the Chass thana jurisdiction has been considerably affected by the blight during the week ending the 27th November.

The 23rd November 1875.—The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to publish for general information the following revised rules to regulate the Native Civil Service Examination to be held in 1876, and future examinations, in supersession of those published at page 1293 of the Calcutta Gazette of 6th October 1875 :—

NATIVE CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS AND CIVIL SERVICE CLASSES.

INTRODUCTORY.

Now that there have been held four annual examinations for the Native Civil Service and that a fifth examination is to take place in February 1876, the Lieutenant-Governor wishes to place the Native Civil Service examinations on a permanent footing.

2. All appointments in the Subordinate Executive Service, and all posts of Rs. 50 monthly salary and upwards in the sub-divisional establishments, both in Regulation and Non-Regulation Provinces, will ordinarily be reserved for persons who are passed at the Native Civil Service examination under the conditions specified in the subsequent paragraph 7 of these rules. Candidates for the gazetted appointments in the Police and Opium Departments will not be admitted to the examination save under a special certificate, which can only be granted under the orders of the Lieutenant-Governor. Lists of candidates passed under the subsequent paragraph 7 of these rules will be published in the Gazette.

ELIGIBILITY AND PRELIMINARIES TO THE EXAMINATION.

Admissible to examination.

3. All candidates eligible for appointments under rules 5 and 6 (below), who satisfy the preliminary requirements, will be admitted to the Native Civil Service examination.

4. The preliminary requirements which all candidates must satisfy are described below and must be attested by certificates (a), (b), and (c), which must bear dates not later than three months previous to the date fixed for the examination.

(a)—Certificate of Character.

A certificate will be required from every candidate of his character, respectability, and general moral fitness, such certificate being signed by two gentlemen of his own nationality, resident in the district of which he is a native, or where he usually resides, and also signed by the Judge or Magistrate of such district. The certificate of the two first-named is to indicate that the gentlemen who have signed it are qualified by their position and character to give such a certificate, and that the Judge or Magistrate himself knows nothing to the prejudice of the candidate. In the case of the town of Calcutta, instead of the signature of the Judge or Magistrate, the certificate should bear that of any Judge of the High Court, or the Commissioner of Police, or the Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

Each candidate will be required to produce a certificate from the Government medical officer of the district of which the candidate is a native, or where he may for the time being reside, stating that the candidate is generally a man of sound health, that he has expressed his willingness to serve in any district of the Lower Provinces, and that he (the medical officer) believes him to be capable of doing so, so far as can be judged antecedently.

(c)—Certificate of ability to Ride or Walk.

Every candidate for the higher appointments will also be required to prove that he can ride, and for this purpose he may apply to the Magistrate of the district, who will either satisfy himself on the point, or select some other person he thinks competent for that purpose. The examiner must satisfy himself from his own personal observation that the candidate can ride not less than 12 miles at a rapid pace, and is in this respect competent for all practical purposes of district work; and if such examiner be not the Magistrate himself, the certificate must be countersigned by the Magistrate.

Every candidate for an appointment of less than Rs. 100 will be required to prove either that he can ride as above, or that he can walk twelve miles within 3½ hours without difficulty or prostration, to be certified in the same manner as the riding.

Persons eligible for all appointments.

5. The following persons will be eligible for the examination for the Native Civil Service in all appointments:—

(a)—Persons who have served Government for six years, and have held, for not less than two years, a responsible permanent appointment, above that of copyist, with a salary not less than Rs. 50 in one of the civil departments of the Government service, and can produce a sufficient certificate of ability, good conduct, and fitness for promotion from their official superiors.

(b)—Persons who have taken an University degree in Arts, Law, Medicine, or Engineering.

(c)—Persons who may be specially declared eligible for all appointments by a certificate under the hand of a Secretary to Government.

Persons eligible for appointments of less than Rs. 100 per mensem.

6. The following persons will be eligible for the examination for the Native Civil Service in appointments of less than Rs. 100 per mensem :—

(a)—Persons who have served Government with credit and efficiency for not less than three years, whose thorough facility in the use of the vernacular is certified, and who pass a preliminary examination in English.

(b)—Persons who have passed the First Arts' Examination.

(c)—Persons who may have been specially declared eligible for appointments of the lower grade by a certificate under the hand of a Secretary to Government.

7. The number of places which will be offered for competition in appointments of the higher and lower class respectively will be annually notified in the Gazette three months before the date of the examination. Appointments in the higher class are those of Rs. 100 and upwards, and in the lower class, those of less than Rs. 100. The places in each of the two classes will be awarded to the candidates according to priority in the examination: provided that none be passed for the higher class unless he obtains at least two-thirds, or for the lower class unless he obtains at least one half of the total number of obtainable marks upon the whole examination. Candidates must declare whether they desire to compete for the higher or the lower class; and a candidate for a place in the higher class will not be eligible at that examination for a place in the lower class. To the persons thus passed at the competitive examination a general expectation will be afforded of employment within a reasonable time in the class of appointments for which each has passed, though no guarantee can be given of any particular appointment, or an appointment in a particular grade in that class within a given time. For instance, a person who wins a place in the higher class of appointments will be appointed sooner or later to at least a sub-deputyship on Rs. 100 a month. But it does not at all follow that he will be appointed a Deputy Magistrate and Collector; he may or may not be so appointed; that will depend on the pleasure of Government.

8. Candidates will be examined in the following subjects :—

The Vernacular.	Drawing.
Chemistry.	Engineering.
Botany.	Surveying.
Law.	Gymnastics.

No subjects are obligatory, but candidates are at liberty to name, at the time of applying for admission to the examination, the subjects in which they desire to be examined.

9. In the vernacular, candidates may be examined in either Bengali, Hindustani, or Ooriya, but can take up two only of the three languages, i.e., Bengali, and Hindustani, or Ooriya and Hindustani. The maximum number of marks obtainable for any subject will be as follows :—

2nd Ditto	90

Surveying	240
Engineering	240
Law	240
Botany	60
Chemistry	60
Gymnastics	60
Total ...	1,200

A special examination in gymnastics will be held, which all candidates who desire to compete in this subject must pass.

10. Applications for admission to the Native Civil Service examination may be made—

(a)—By persons who attend Civil Service classes to the Principal of the College where the classes may be held.

(b)—By persons who have not attended Civil Service classes to the Magistrate of any one of the following districts :—

13. A preliminary examination in English and the vernacular of those candidates who have not already qualified in those subjects will be held. Persons who have passed the First Arts' Examination, or who possess an University degree or certificate in Law or Engineering, will not be liable to the preliminary examination in English. Persons who have gained vernacular scholarships, or who have served with credit in vernacular offices, will not be liable to the preliminary examination in the vernacular. The preliminary examinations will be held on some date in December or January, to be locally notified by the Magistrate of the district, at the stations named in rule 9 (above).

Preliminary examination of native candidates at out-stations.

ANNUAL EXAMINATION AT CENTRES.

14. The annual examination of candidates for admission into the roll of persons qualified for admission into the Native Civil Service will be held on some day in the month of February 1876, not later than the 20th of that month, at Hooghly, Dacca, Patna, and Cuttack. There will, if need be, be special examinations for the Police and the Opium Departments. For the ordinary branches of the service there will be two standards—one higher, qualifying for all appointments; and another lower, qualifying for appointments of less than Rs. 100 per mensem only.

Date of examination.

15. Previous to the other examinations, European candidates who have not passed any University examination will be required, besides passing an examination in English, to show that they possess a thorough knowledge of writing and arithmetic. They must be able to write well, quickly, and correctly, from dictation, to compose a report, and to do all ordinary arithmetic correctly and quickly, which must be duly certified by the examiners.

Preliminary examination of European candidates in English at the centres.

By European is meant any person whose native language is English or any other European tongue.

16. Candidates passed at any previous examination will be admitted to the examination in the grade in which they may have passed, without being subject to the preliminary requirements of rules 4 and 13. Similarly candidates partially passed at any previous examination, who may for any reason be permitted to present themselves for examination in certain subjects only, may, if they choose, and if otherwise qualified, enter as competitors at the examination, or they may take up those subjects only in which they are liable to examination. In the latter case they will not be held to have passed in any subject for the higher grade unless they obtain at least two-thirds of the marks allotted to it, and of the marks in each paper allotted to each subject in it, nor for the lower grade unless they similarly obtain at least half marks in each paper and subject.

Examination subjects.

17. The Native Civil Service examination on the subjects named in rule 8 will be conducted so as to test the knowledge of the candidates as follows:—

Examination in the Vernacular.

Vernacular examination for native candidates.

Vernacular examination for European candidates

18. All native candidates will be required to show that they can read and write office papers and orders in the vernacular with complete facility.

Vernacular languages.

The vernacular language in which candidates will be required to pass under the two preceding rules may be either Bengali, Hindustani, or Ooriya.

Candidates who pass in Bengali only will not be eligible for vacancies in Behar, nor will candidates who pass in Hindustani only be eligible for vacancies in Bengal or Orissa.

The following are the conditions of sale:—

1. The Opium will be sold for exportation by sea only, and no certificate will be granted except to cover such export.

2. The Opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 800 per chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by Clause 12 of these Conditions of Sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

3. The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M. of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertized for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Member in charge, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the whole quantity advertized shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Member in charge may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

4. Each lot shall contain five chests.

DEPOSIT.

When the amount bid is less than Rs. 1,200 per chest, Rs. 200 per chest.

On bids of Rs. 1,200 and upwards, but less than Rs 1,600 per chest, Rs. 300 per chest.

On bids of Rs. 1,600 and upwards, but less than Rs 2,000 per chest, Rs. 400 per chest.

And so on, Rs. 100 being added to the deposit for every bid additional, to the extent of Rs. 400.

5. A Promissory Note for a sum, calculated according to the scale noted in the margin, shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room, and before the lot is registered in the sale book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal Receipts or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 4 o'clock in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale: or on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal Receipts, or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be resold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Member in charge shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6. The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the last-mentioned condition, if remaining unredeemed at 4 o'clock of the fifth day following the day of sale, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

7. No tender of money, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or public securities, on account of Opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before 4 o'clock of the fifth day following the day of sale, will be afterwards accepted.

8. The Opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 4 o'clock of the fifteenth day from the day of sale; and in case any lots of such Opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the 5th Condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the Opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as

9. Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of Opium after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests originally required to be included in each certificate or order

10. No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present Conditions will be received in this Office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

11. The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall, on demand, tender at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or Government Securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these Conditions.

12. With a view to prevent fictitious biddings, designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained, and the first bonâ fide bidder for a lot after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these Conditions.

13. The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same agency Opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the Opium to complete the said twenty-five.

14. In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the Opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

15. The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue:—No. 1, certificate of the Opium advertized for sale; No. 2, report of the examination of such Opium.

16. The public are hereby informed that, in providing the investment of the Behar and Benares Opium for the year 1874-75, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of Opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at Behar and Beneras, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken for the purpose of comparison from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

17. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the Opium advertized for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Member in charge entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of Opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the Opium for shipment.

18. It is hereby further notified that under the 6th Article of the Convention between Great Britain and France, dated the 7th March 1815, quoted below, the agents in India of the French Government, or persons duly appointed by them, are entitled to demand that out of the quantities of Behar and Benares Opium declared as above for sale at the twelve sales of the year 1876, there shall be delivered to them, at the average of the particular sale or sales to which the Opium so applied for may belong, a quantity not exceeding in the aggregate 300 chests, and the Agents of the French Government must make requisition specifying the quantity of Opium required by them at any particular sale, within thirty days from the advertisement of such intended sale, provided however that the Agents of the French Government may make such requisition for the whole quantity within thirty days from the publication of this notification. If the Agent of the French Government shall not make the requisition for Opium within the time above mentioned, the entire quantity of about 47,000 chests of Behar and Benares, as above estimated, will be brought to sale in the usual manner; and if they shall make application for a quantity of Opium to be delivered to them out of the quantity advertized for sale at each or any of the twelve sales above mentioned, but shall not pay for it within the prescribed period of payment, the Government of Bengal reserves to itself the right of disposing of the Opium which the French Authorities may so fail to pay for, either by increasing the quantity reserved at the sale next ensuing after the date fixed for payment, or by selling such Opium, or any portion of it at any subsequent monthly sale in addition to the quantity which in this advertisement is approximately mentioned as the quantity to be sold at such sale; or by selling such Opium at a sale to be held expressly for the purpose.

Article of the Convention above referred to.

Article VI.—"With regard to the trade in Opium, it is agreed between the high con-" tracting parties that at each of the periodical sales of that article there shall be reserved for " the French Government, and delivered upon requisition duly made by the Agents of His " Most Christian Majesty, or by the persons duly appointed by them, the number of chests " so applied for, provided that such supply shall not exceed three hundred chests in each year, " and the price for the same shall be determined by the average rate at which Opium shall " have been sold at every such periodical sale, it being understood that if the quantity of " Opium applied for at any one time shall not be taken on account of the French Government " by the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty within the usual period of delivery, the quan-" tity so applied for shall nevertheless be considered as so much in reduction of the three " hundred chests hereinbefore mentioned. THERE are two routes from India to the Australian Colonies: –

(1.) Viâ Bombay and Galle to Melbourne.

(2.) Viâ Bombay, Galle, and Singapore, through Torres Straits, to Brisbane and Sydney.

The first line is a four-weekly one served by the Australian Peninsular and Oriental Company's mail packets.

The second line is also a four-weekly one served by the Peninsular and Oriental Company's China mail packets as far as Singapore (every alternate steamer carrying a mail), and thence by mail packets under contract with the Eastern and Australian Steam Navigation Company.

Mails for the several Australian colonies are conveyed as follows, viz.—

Queensland (Brisbane) ·
By the Torres Straits line only

Western Australia (Perth), South Australia (Adelaide), Tasmania (Hobart Town), New Zealand (Wellington):
By the line viâ Bombay and Galle to Melbourne only

New South Wales (Sydney)
By both routes.

This colony therefore enjoys postal communication with India twice a month

Victoria (Melbourne)

Covers for this colony are sent by the line viâ Bombay and Galle to Melbourne, unless specially superscribed for despatch by the Torres Straits route, when the last-named route is followed RESOLUTION ON THE ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE JAILS OF BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1874.

JUDICIAL.

Calcutta, the 7th December 1875.

READ—

The Administration Report of the Jails of Bengal for the year 1874.

Read again—

The Report for the previous year, with the orders of Government passed thereon.

THE report on the administration of the jails of Bengal for the past year has been drawn up by Major Bowie, who did not assume office till after the close of the year under review. During the short period, however, that he has held charge of the department, he has gained considerable insight into its working, and he has submitted a good and interesting report on the results of the past year's administration. Due attention has also been paid by him to the orders recently issued, enjoining condensation in the preparation of reports.

2. In connection with the appointment of a judicial officer of experience to fill the important post of Inspector-General, the late Lieutenant-Governor pointed out the advantage of bringing a new class of experience and a new class of mind to bear upon the administration of the Bengal prisons. The importance of insisting upon a due regard being had to their function as places for punishment was especially dwelt upon. Sir Richard Temple cordially admits that the result of the experiment has fully justified the selection made by his predecessor. The zeal and ability which Mr. Heeley has brought to bear upon his work are deserving of high commendation, and the progress made in the administration of the department during his tenure of office has been encouraging. A good spirit has been maintained in all connected with the management of jails, disputed points of principle have been determined, details have been settled, and every arrangement made for giving effect to the administrative improvements which were initiated during recent years. Unfortunately, in the early part of the current year, Mr. Heeley was constrained to go to England to recruit his health.

The Lieutenant-Governor observes that this credit may be freely accorded to Mr. Heeley without any disparagement of the great credit due to his distinguished predecessor, Dr. Mouat, for many improvements by him effected in the condition of the prisons and the prisoners.

3. In selecting an officer to hold Mr. Heeley's appointment while on leave, the Lieutenant-Governor was desirous of securing the services of an officer who would energetically carry out the many reforms which had been inaugurated, and who would sustain the impetus which had been communicated to every branch of the administration of the department. In judging from Major Bowie's antecedents that he would render loyal service in giving effect to the views of Government, Sir Richard Temple has not been mistaken. Major Bowie has already given ample earnest that he will maintain in his present appointment the high reputation he had previously gained in the police; and the Lieutenant-Governor has much pleasure in recording his satisfaction at the zealous and efficient manner in which Major Bowie has conducted his duties since taking charge of the department.

4. In summing up the results of the administration of the year, Major Bowie justly claims for Mr. Heeley much credit for what has been accomplished in the face of much difficulty:—"Numerous substantial improvements and important reforms have been carried out; jail buildings have been vastly improved; two large central jails have been nearly completed; full effect has been given to the rules for the classification of prisoners in most jails; the mark system has been proved beyond cavil to be a successful and beneficial measure; the segregation of under-trial prisoners has been carried out to an extent it never before attained; the means of improving penal labour have been largely increased, and discipline has been greatly improved." In all this there is much room for satisfaction; and in acknowledging what has been done, the Lieutenant-Governor entertains the hope that the measure of success which has already been attained in all those matters will stimulate all concerned to raise still higher the standard of jail administration in Bengal. And the Lieutenant-Governor must add that instances of irregularity and laxity still occasionally occur (some of them, too, being of long standing and existence) which show that work remains to be accomplished.

5. Chapter II, Numbers of Prisoners.—In reviewing the Police Report, the Lieutenant-Governor had occasion to notice the large increase of crime, especially of offences against property, which is shown to have occurred during the past and previous years. The extent to which this increase has affected the jail returns is shown by the following table, in compiling which jails in districts transferred to Assam have been omitted from consideration:—

Remained on 31st December of preceding year	18,180	19,748	20,562
Admitted during the year ..	63,921	68,833	82,207
Remaining on 31st December . .	18,523	20,562	20,782

The above figures show a gradually increasing number of prisoners under confinement at the close of each succeeding year. A still greater increase is observable in the average number of prisoners under confinement during each year; the figures being 21,701 in 1874, against 19,957 during 1873. In effect it has now become necessary to provide jail accommodation for some 2,000 prisoners in excess of the average number under confinement in recent years, and, as a result, a large annual outlay will for some time to come have to be incurred in extending those central jails which are already in a fair way to completion, in constructing others, such as those at Buxar and Fureedpore, which have already been sanctioned, and in reconstructing on improved principles and with enlarged accommodation the district jails, such as those at Gya, Chumparun, and Tirhoot, which have been already condemned as unsuited to their purpose.

6. Of the 82,207 persons shown above to have been admitted into the jails in the past year, 40,902 were under-trial and 1,561 were civil prisoners. The number of convicts then admitted to undergo their sentence was 39,744, against 35,480 in 1873, and 30,301 on an average of four years, from 1869 to 1872. These figures place in a striking light the increase in crime which, as noticed above, has been observed to have occurred of late years, and more especially during the past year. In a detailed statement which Major Bowie has incorporated with his report, he shows in which districts chiefly the results of the past year exhibit a variation from those of the previous year. Except Dacca and Chota Nagpore, he remarks, every division shows an increase in criminality as compared with 1873; and taking the average from 1869 to 1872 as the standard, the increase has been general throughout these provinces. As also remarked by him, the increase is specially marked in the Bhagulpore, Rajshahye, Cooch Behar, and Patna divisions. In all these divisions, in which the effects of want and scarcity have been chiefly felt, the increase has ranged from 42 to 73 per cent. The causes to which this increase of crime is generally referable have been considered in connection with the police report.

7. The total number of females convicted during the year was 2,263, against 1,660, in 1873, showing an increase of 603 persons. The number of juvenile offenders sent to jail has been slightly less than in the previous year, being 535 against 548 in 1873. The question of establishing a separate reformatory for criminals of this class has lately been considered by the Legislature, and there is a prospect of an early determination being come to in the matter. The fact that no less than 7 girls and 64 boys under 12 years of age were sentenced to imprisonment during the year, in addition to 536 sentenced to flogging, is suggestive of melancholy considerations, and would seem to corroborate the remarks made by Mr. Heeley in his report for 1873, that there is reason to apprehend that a practice is increasing of deliberately training young children to a life of crime.

8 The number of Europeans convicted during the year corresponds almost precisely with the number imprisoned in the previous year. Of a total number of 279, 242 were British subjects. As in previous years, these convictions chiefly occur in Calcutta under the Merchant Shipping Act. The table which the Officiating Inspector-General has drawn up, showing the number of persons convicted among the several castes of natives, and the proportion which such numbers bear to the total number of persons belonging to each caste, is very interesting. The Domes and Dosadhs of the Patna and Bhagulpore divisions continue to be conspicuous for their thieving propensities. Of the Ahirs, a caste which is much more widely extended throughout the province, no less than 8 per 1,000 were sent to jail. Large as this proportion is, however, it is exceeded by that noticeable among certain sects of Mussulmans, the Sheikhs and Sunnis, of whom 1 per cent. were convicted during the year.

The necessity for carefully ascertaining the antecedents of prisoners with a view to the imposition of adequate sentences in the case of old offenders, is a matter which of late years has been much pressed upon the attention of all police and magisterial officers. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that the repeated orders which have been issued on the subject appear to have borne some fruit from the fact that previous convictions had been ascertained and noted in the case of 2,757 prisoners during the year, against 1,695 in 1873 and 1,377 in 1872. Still in certain districts, and notably in Purneah, Fureedpore, Mymensingh, Dinagepore, and Jessore, all districts where serious crime is frequent, the very small proportion said to have been borne by re-convicted prisoners to those admitted gives some ground to fear that even yet the rules are not sufficiently attended to. Sir Richard Temple accordingly desires that the Magistrates of these districts will give closer attention to the subject.

Of the 40,902 under-trial prisoners stated above to have been admitted during the year, 22,342 prisoners are shown to have been convicted and sentenced during the year, and 18,065 to have been released. The proportion of convictions to persons kept under trial was thus 54·6 per cent., against 51·9 per cent. in the previous year. The average period of the detention of prisoners when under trial appears to have been 12·8 days. The fact that prisoners committed to the sessions are usually confined in district jails would tend to increase this average in the jails as compared with lock-ups; and it accordingly appears that while in the former the average period of detention was 14·78, in the latter it was only 11·44. The figures given regarding the Rungpore district jail are far from satisfactory, and should have been explained. They show that of 2,119 prisoners who were under trial there during the year, 1,673 were released, and only 431 convicted, while the average period of detention of each convict was only 10·16 days. The Inspector-General is requested to bring this matter to the notice of the Magistrate, and to obtain an explanation from him of the cause to which these results were due. In Purneah also the average number of prisoners under trial was very large; but here the result would seem to be mainly due to delay in the decision of the prisoners' cases, the average period for which each prisoner was detained having been 20·08 days. Considering the extended operations taken against criminals in this district, this detention was perhaps unavoidable. No excuse, however, suggests itself for the long detention of prisoners in the following jails and lock-ups:—

Jails
Midnapore central jail	34·50
Moorshedabad	26 90
Bogra	25·21
Backergunge	23·78
Noakholly	22·07
Lohardugga	21·27
Russa	21·12
Maldah	20·80
Dinagepore	20·73
Lock-ups.
Bhowaneegunge	41·97
Buxar	33·87
Buxa	28·35
Gurbetta	24·68
Atia	21·87
Cutwa	20·65

The Magistrates of the districts in which these jails and lock-ups are respectively situated should satisfy themselves as to the regularity of the proceedings of their subordinates.

8. The orders regarding the disposal of prisoners confined in lock-ups after conviction are not open to misconception, and the Lieutenant-Governor therefore observes with dissatisfaction that they appear to have been ignored in certain districts. There would seem to be no reason why, when the majority of officers are able to despatch their convicts to the district jail within little more than a week of their sentence, in other cases there should be a delay of more than a fortnight. The Inspector-General is requested to inquire into the matter further, and to report to Government anything which may require its orders, with a view to the strict observance of the rules in future.

9. From the statement submitted to show the working of the Whipping Act, it appears that the number of persons flogged in the execution of judicial sentences was 6,502, against 3,880 in the previous year. Of the whole number 1,171 were youths under 20 years of age. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that closer compliance is now paid to the orders which have been issued, directing the attention of all Magistrates to the salutary provisions of the law in this particular.

10. Sanitary.—The number of deaths in the jails of Bengal during the year was 1,151, against 934 in the previous year. The death-rate was thus 5·59 per cent., against 4·84 in 1873 and 5·40 in 1872. While there was this change for the worse in the jails, however, as compared with the previous year, there was a slight improvement in the lock-ups, in which the rate of mortality was 2·16 per cent. against 2·97 in the previous year. Taking both jails and lock-ups together, the number of deaths was 1·175 and the death-rate 5·41. This great mortality is much to be deplored, and the more so as the efforts which have been made of late years to improve the sanitation of the jails has been attended with so little success. It is true that the mortality does not amount to from 9 to 13 per cent., as it used to do in the years prior to 1864, but it is disappointing to find that notwithstanding the close attention which has been given to the subject, the constant proportion of deaths has continued to remain at from 40 to 50 per thousand. The matter is one which has had the earnest consideration of Government, and all that can be done to mitigate the evil is fully attended to. Still there remains the fact that in seven important jails there was in the past year a mortality of 10 per cent. and upwards of the average number of prisoners confined in them.

11. In the Julpigoree jail, with an average population of 147·77 inmates, there were 40 deaths, the rate of mortality being thus--27·02 per cent. against 5·55 per cent. in the previous year, and 42·62 per cent. in 1872. Little explanation can be afforded of this great mortality. The site of the jail is said to be fairly good, the water excellent, and the accommodation for prisoners ample. Every care has been bestowed upon the sick, and every precaution possible has been taken against disease. Still 66·21 per cent. of the average number of convicts were attacked with dysentery and diarrhœa, and 16·15 per cent. died of these diseases, while 24 per cent. suffered from remittent or intermittent fever, from the effect of which 3·22 per cent. died. From these facts and the results of enquiries held, the Inspector-General would appear to hold that the marked unhealthness of this jail was owing to some widespread climatic causes rather than to any purely local influence. The Inspector-General must, however, endeavour to ascertain the real cause of the marked unhealthiness of this jail. In the Rungpore Jail, with an average population of 510 inmates, 90 prisoners died, giving a mortality of 17·68 per cent. Of the deaths, 31 were due to diarrhœa and dysentery, and 10 to cholera. In this jail the admissions into hospital for treatment of these diseases amounted to no less than 47 per cent. of the average number present, while the admissions for the treatment of intermittent and remittent fevers amounted to upwards of 50 per cent. No explanation has been given of this excessive mortality except that the district is notoriously unhealthy, but the Lieutenant-Governor observes that the death-rate in this jail during 1872 and 1873 did not exceed 3·59 and 7·73 per cent. respectively. He would therefore wish for a special report on the exceptionally heavy mortality of the past year.

12. In the Behar jails of Gya, Tirhoot, and Chumparun, the mortality was 17·13, 10·00, and 15·20 per cent. respectively. Dysentery appears to have been the most fatal disease. Out of a total of 98 deaths in the Gya jail, 60 were due to dysentery. Out of a total of 61 deaths in the Tirhoot Jail, 38 were due to dysentery. In the Chumparun jail nine deaths were from cholera, six from dysentery and thirteen from diarrhœa. All these jails have been already condemned. New jails in the Gya and Tirhoot districts will be commenced during the current season, and meanwhile steps have been taken, on the report of the committee appointed to enquire into the condition of these jails, to procure pure water for the use of the prisoners, and to remedy as far as possible the defects of imperfect drainage and ventilation.

13. In the Mymensing jail the death-rate was nearly double that of the previous year, being 12·86 against 5·80 per cent. The Sanitary Commissioner's report shows that there was an increase in mortality in the district generally, and that the year was a very unhealthy one. It also appears that out of 829 admissions into the jail, 374 were recorded in the admission register as being in bad health. In this jail also dysentery was the most fatal disease. The heavy mortality in the Hooghly jail, viz., 11·43 per cent., is chiefly due to cholera, which appeared in a virulent form towards the close of the year and carried off 28 persons.

14. It is noteworthy that though there was overcrowding in several of the jails during the year, there was no such overcrowding in any of the jails which proved the most unhealthy. With the exception of the Tirhoot, Gya, and Rungpore jails, in which special arrangements were made by the erection of temporary sheds to relieve the overcrowding in the barracks, the daily average strength was below the capacity in the fourteen jails in which the mortality was heaviest, i. e., 6 per cent. and upwards.

15. Among the jails where a marked improvement in the death-rate is observable, as compared with the previous year, are the Shahabad, Patna, Bhagulpore central and district, Singbhoom, and Malda jails. There was also a continued absence of mortality among the European prisoners at Hazareebaugh and the Presidency. The continued healthiness of the convict camp at Dehri is encouraging, as indicating a means of reducing mortality in cases where permanent jails are found to be unhealthy. The great drawback to extramural labor is, however, as has been frequently pointed out, the difficulty of maintaining jail discipline effectively, and camps can consequently be had recourse to only in cases where such work can be provided as shall admit of the adoption of proper precautions for the purpose.

During the current year prisoners will be encamped in large numbers at Buxar and Mozufferpore for the purpose of constructing the new jails at those places.

16. Chapter IV.—Jail Buildings.—The total amount spent on jail buildings by the Public Works Department during the year was Rs. 3,77,893, against Rs. 3,88,833 in 1873. Adding the charges incurred by the Jail Department itself in repairing temporary buildings the amount spent was Rs. 3,96,545, against Rs. 4,07,016 in 1873. The restrictions on expenditure necessitated by the famine prevented any new works of importance being undertaken. Rs. 1,19,120 were, however, spent in pressing towards completion the new central jails at Hazareebagh, Midnapore, and Bhagulpore. At Berhampore a new jail was provided by the conversion, at a small cost, of the European hospital into a prison; at Chittagong and Jessore a considerable sum was expended in effecting improvements, and especially in providing upper storeys to certain wards. For the rest the chief expenditure as regards original works was incurred in providing hajut wards attached to certain jails, and in building lock-ups at certain sub-divisions. The Lieutenant-Governor observes the unfavourable opinion expressed by Major Bowie with respect to the plan recently adopted of providing separate hajut wards at the head-quarters of districts near the Magistrate's cutcherry. The provision of secure lock-ups at the various sub-divisions which have still to be provided for is a matter to which Sir Richard Temple attaches much importance. From late reports it has been ascertained that in consequence of the want of suitable buildings great laxity has prevailed in certain sub-divisions with respect to the enforcement of penal labour, and it is very desirable that all occasions for such and other irregularities should be removed. But by secure lock-ups the Lieutenant-Governor does not mean masonry structures, which would involve an excessive expense, but strong wooden structures made from the cheap material with which the country abounds. The various important works (such as the construction of a new district jail at Mymensingh) which have been sanctioned, but not undertaken, owing to the want of funds, will be taken up as soon as possible, and the Lieutenant-Governor will set aside during the current year such sums for the construction of new jails and the improvement of existing buildings as financial considerations and the requirements of other departments will permit. Considering the high rate of mortality which has prevailed of late years in the northern districts of Bengal, the question of how far the existing jail buildings in those districts are suitable and sufficient, is one which demands the careful and early attention of the Inspector-General. The question of the plan to be adopted in future in building district jails has been again recently under the consideration of Government with a view to effect, if possible, some saving in the expenditure entailed by an adherence to the standard plans sanctioned at Mr. Heeley's instance. Sir Richard Temple anticipates that it will be found possible, without departing in any material point from the principles involved in Mr. Heeley's proposals, to decide upon a plan of construction which will be less costly than the present standard plan; and if this should prove to be the case, the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that it will be possible within a reasonable time to provide effectually for the construction of the buildings which Major Bowie mentions as being so much required in several districts.

17. CHAPTER V. Guards and Escapes.—The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that the question of improving the system of guarding jails has the attention of the Inspector-General, who proposes to consider the subject fully in communication with the Inspector-General of Police. Improvement in this direction is no doubt feasible, and any recommendations which Major Bowie has to make on the subject will be awaited. The partial substitution of warder for police guards has, the Lieutenant-Governor observes, been carried out in seven district jails and in 28 lock-ups at a net increase of expense of some Rs. 250 per mensem. The new system, it is stated, has been so short a time in force that its results cannot yet be fairly judged of. In the next report it is hoped that the conclusions which have been arrived at in the matter will be laid before Government. As regards this question, Major Bowie states that one of the weakest points in the system is the difficulty there will always be in keeping up a proper supervision and control over the warder establishment; but on this point the Lieutenant-Governor agrees fully with the remarks already recorded by Mr. Heeley, that the Superintendent of a jail can inspect as well as the Superintendent of Police, and the Jailor as well as an Inspector of Police. The total number of escapes reported during the year was 142, against 129 in 1873 and 178 in 1872. The recaptures effected in each year respectively were 120, 125, and 122. The large proportion of under-trial prisoners who escaped from lock-ups during the year would seem to point to the existence of some defect in the system of guarding adopted, and to demand attention. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that credit is attributable to the police for the large number of recaptures made by them.

18. Chapter VI, Internal Discipline.—In his report for 1873, Mr. Heeley brought very prominently to notice the claims of the jailors of the several grades to increased rates of pay. Sir Richard Temple, while admitting the force of his arguments, said that in view of the financial difficulties in the way all he could promise was that the matter should be borne in mind. Major Bowie again in the present report presses the matter on the attention of Government, and separately he has made certain specific proposals on the subject. These are under consideration. The Lieutenant-Governor regrets, however, that he cannot yet hold out any immediate prospect of a general increase of salaries. In every direction matters connected with jail management in these provinces force themselves upon the attention as requiring improvement, and in every case these improvements can only be effected at a great increase in cost. The provision of new buildings, of improved appliances for enforcing penal labour, the supply of efficient subordinate establishments to secure the maintenance of discipline, and the efficient watch and ward of the jails, are all of them matters which appear to the Lieutenant-Governor to demand the primary consideration of Govervment, and should be first provided for as far as funds will permit. The proposals made by Major Bowie to revert to the system of granting commission to jailors cannot be entertained, but the proposals to place the jailors on a classified list, will be separately considered.

19. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to learn that due attention continues to be given in most jails to the new rules for the classification of prisoners. Some departure from these has been sanctioned in the case of the Behar jails, where overcrowding was complained of. Sir Richard Temple is aware that till the requirements of the several districts in these provinces in the way of improved buildings have been fully met, some difficulty may be experienced in giving full effect to the rules. Still he relies on jail superintendents to do all that circumstances will admit of in this direction, and on the Inspector General to see that this is done. In most districts the danger which Major Bowie points to of massing together the A class prisoners can be much diminished by their transfer to central jails, and the Lieutenant-Governor observes that advantage is taken of these for the purpose. In districts where the jails are insecure and remote from central jails, it may be important that immediate action should be taken to provide for the security of the A wards. The Inspector-General should therefore consider this matter with reference to each district separately, and should make budget provision for the works which he considers urgently necessary in this connection.

20. The success of the mark system, which has been very favourably reported on by most jail superintendents, is very gratifying. Major Bowie states that as a powerful agent in the moral improvement of convicts, as giving a strong incentive to steady work and good behaviour, as affording a valuable aid, in the maintenance of discipline, as offering a ready and efficacious means of mild punishment for minor offences, the system is invaluable. Bearing in mind the great effect which it thus has on the well-being of the prisoners entrusted to their charge, Sir Richard Temple feels assured that Jail Superintendents will cheerfully continue to perform the extra work which the system necessarily entails upon them personally. That prisoners who, for the purposes connected with jail administration, are transferred to lock-ups, should be deprived of the privilege of obtaining marks is, the Lieutenant-Governor thinks, a blemish in the system, which should be removed, and he will be glad to receive a proposal for the purpose. It must, however, be a distinct condition attached to the concession, that the rules so often insisted upon, for providing suitable employment for convicts in lock-ups, shall be strictly complied with.

21. The effect of the relaxation of the rules regarding the employment of convict warders, which has been sanctioned experimentally for a year, should be carefully watched and reported on in due course. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that the necessity of preserving D class prisoners from contamination by conversation with prisoners of other classes, will be steadily borne in mind in the selection of warders to control them.

22. The increasing stringency with which prison discipline is now enforced has resulted in a large increase in offences, against jail rules. In the past year the total number recorded was 31,475 against 25,912 in 1873. Under the head of "Criminal Offences" there was also some increase, the figures for the past year being 632 against 552 in 1873. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe, however, that notwithstanding these facts, there has been a decrease in the number of instances in which it was found necessary to resort to the use of the lash. Corporal punishment was inflicted in 4,143 cases only against 4,738 cases in the previous year. There was on the other hand, a large increase in the number of cases in which the punishment of solitary confinement, and of confinement with reduced diet, were inflicted. On previous occasions the arbitrary manner in which it would appear from the returns that punishments have been inflicted in the several jails, has been the subject of unfavourable comment. The Lieutenant-Governor observes that the same results are apparent from the returns now submitted. While in the important jails of the Dacca division, and in most of those in the Rajshahye division, punishments were infrequent in proportion to the number of prisoners in confinement, in the Jessore and Bogra jails the contrary is the case. As during 1873, the punishment of flogging was largely resorted to in the Presidency, Alipore, Jessore, Meetapore, and Hooghly jails, but the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that, with the exception of the Presidency jail, there has been a large decrease in the number of such punishments in all the above-mentioned jails, and especially in the Alipore and Jessore jails, where the number has decreased from 1,203 and 733 to 554 and 263 respectively. No explanation, however, has been given of the large increase of corporal punishments inflicted in the Dinagepore and Monghyr jails, the number being 222 and 134, as against 60 and 74 respectively in 1873. It is stated in explanation of the increase which is again observable in the number of persons flogged in the Presidency jail, that the conduct of the prisoners has been bad, and that there was a combination among them to do short work. Strong measures may be necessary to meet a case of this kind, but the Superintendent must remember that in judging of the success of his administration, the extent to which he has succeeded in securing good results without recourse to excessive punishments will always be a material consideration; and the Lieutenant-Governor must again remind all officers in charge of jails that the efficient Superintendent is he who succeeds without severe punishments.

23. The remarks made by Major Bowie with respect to the drilling of prisoners have the Lieutenant-Governor's entire concurrence. Nothing in the way of training masses of prisoners to act together in an organized manner can be authorized, but everything requisite to the enforcement of silence and orderly behaviour should have the attention of Jail Superintendents. Sir Richard Temple fully believes that by the exercise of tact and patience on their part much might be done to preserve order without resorting to punishments for disorderly behaviour, which, as the Inspector-General points out, are unduly numerous.

24. The question of employing prisoners in special manufactures with the aid of machinery on a large scale has been referred for the orders of the Government of India, and meanwhile such local arrangements for the employment of the prisoners as are possible have been sanctioned. The erection of treadmills in several of the larger jails has been attended with considerable difficulty, but in view of the extra assistance which has been granted for the purpose, the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that by this time all necessary arrangements have been completed.

25. Chapter V, Financial.—The following table contrasts the receipts and expenditure of the Jail Department under the several heads during the past two years:—

	1874. Rs.	1873. Rs.
Supervision	48,126	41,680
Rations	6,78,228	5,89,316
Establishment	2,79 746	2,42,943
Hospital charges	31,973	24,576
Clothing	65,985	63,701
Contingencies	74,469	58,775
Petty repairs	18,652	18,193
Police charges	64,084	1,80,679
Public Works Department charges	3,77,893	3,88,833
Total	17,39,156	16,08,726
Charges for manufactures	5,38,824	5,15,272
Gross expenditure	22,77,980	21,23,998
Manufactory receipts	7,51,537	8,08,413
Net expenditure	15,26,443	13,15,585

26. Excluding public works, the above table shows that the average gross cost of a prisoner in Bengal during the past year was Rs. 57-11, or Rs. 2-9 more than in 1873. From the explanations given of the variations in the average rate of charge in the several jails, the Lieutenant-Governor gathers that the result would have been even more unfavourable had the grain stored in the previous year, but consumed in the past year, been taken into account. As the scarcity which prevailed during the past year tended to a considerable rise in prices, the largest increase in expenditure, as was to be expected, is observable under the head of "rations." The increase in the charge on account of establishment and contingencies is not so readily explained, but is probably due in a great measure to the increase in the number of convicts in confinement. While the gross increase in expenditure on jails, excluding manufactures, amounted to Rs. 1,30,430, the diminution in the receipts on account of manufactures resulted in a net increase of charge of Rs. 2,10,858. In the above calculation cash receipts as well as the value of articles consumed for public purposes, and for which no cash payments were made, have been included under the head of receipts from manufactures. Were the latter item excluded, the results would appear even more unfavourable; the cash receipts from the sale of manufactures in 1874 having been only Rs. 6,76,697, against Rs. 7,85,204 in 1873. Deducting the cash received from the treasury in each of these years, the balance or cash profit was Rs. 1,37,900 in 1874, as against Rs. 2,69,900 during 1873.

27. The Lieutenant-Governor has considered Major Bowie's remarks in regard to the difference of practice with reference to the calculation of profits which has been introduced by the adoption of the new form XIII. The difference, it appears to His Honor, is one which may slightly affect the returns of any particular year, but he thinks that in a series of years the new form will give the more correct results, and he would therefore adhere to the form as laid down.

28. Taking the figures for all jails as given in this table, the following results are observable:—

	Rs.
Total credits on account of manufacture	11,67,711
,, debits	7,87,640
Excess of credits or profit	3,80,071

Calculated in the manner formerly adopted by Mr. Heeley, the profits would be Rs. 3,48,700, or some Rs. 31,000 less. Whichever method of calculation be adopted, however, the fact remains the same,—that at the close of 1874 the value of the manufactured goods in store, unsold, was Rs. 3,07,600, against Rs. 1,33,200 in 1873, and somewhat less than one lakh in 1872. The cause to which this accumulation of goods is attributable is not fully explained. The Lieutenant-Governor apprehends, however, that it is in no small measure due, as stated by Major Bowie, to depression in the jute trade, the accumulations in Alipore and Hooghly alone exceeding Rs. 2,00,000 in value.

29. As usual, the greater portion of the profits stated above were due to the earnings of the Alipore Jail, the profits of which are put down at Rs. 2,87,957, or taking only the actual cash profits at Rs. 1,24,900. The corresponding figures for the previous year were Rs. 2,54,900 and Rs. 2,36,900 respectively. Excluding Alipore, the profits of all the other jails in Bengal amounted only to Rs. 96,863, or, taking cash profits only, to Rs. 13,050.

30. In the returns as now prepared, the change has been introduced of calculating the ratio of profits on the number of effective prisoners instead of on the number of prisoners engaged in manufactures, and there is consequently some difficulty in comparing the results obtained in the several jails in the past with those obtained in the previous year. Taking the jails which paid best in 1874, the results would seem to have been as follows:—

	1873.	1874.	1873.	1874.	1873.	1874.
			Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Alipore	1,711	2,063	2,54,863	2,87,957	140	139·5
Hazareebagh (Europeans)	77	80	1,399	3,447	18	43
Hooghly	436	417	19,464	14,487	44·6	34·7
Russa	239	280	5,729	6,397	23·6	22·8
Lohardugga		207		3,288	..	15·9
Barasut	159	137	1,755	1,044	11	14·4
Backergunge	452	374	787	5,313	1·7	14·1
Chittagong	210	190	2,740	2,621	13	13·7
Noacolly	141	165	1,567	2,228	11	13·4
Purneah	310	324	3,713	4,088	12	12·6
Pubna	112	124	140	1,480	1·2	11·8
Bogra	92	108	743	1,182	8	10·8
Presidency (Native)	897	963	27,703	10,059	31	10·5

Most of those jails which are enumerated as having been successful in the past year did well also in 1873. The Lohardugga, Backergunge, and Pubna jails, however, which did very badly in that year, are conspicuous for the improved results obtained in 1874. In the Presidency Jail for natives there has been a marked decline in the amount of profit realized. It is indeed the reproach of this jail that notwithstanding the many advantages which it possesses, the prisoners are not yet able to earn sufficient for their own maintenance.

31. In the district jails of Rungpore, Tipperah, Jessore, Beerbhoom, and Darjeeling, the expenditure on manufactures exceeded the returns from sale. In each case the explanations given are unsatisfactory. Irrespective of the financial questions which should not be lost sight of while proper measures are adopted for enforcing penal labour, it is to be observed that the absence of profits is an indication also of the absence of steady hard work and good discipline. In this view, the present condition of the above-mentioned jails must be carefully enquired into by the Inspector-General, and the Lieutenant-Governor will expect better results during the current year. Careful enquiry in regard to these jails is the more necessary, as it is to be observed that the results in the Beerbhoom and Jessore jails were fairly good in 1873, and that the Rungpore jail earned a comparatively large profit during the year 1871-72.

32. The amount of outstanding bills due to jails, viz. Rs. 48,945, is very large, and immediate steps should be taken for their realization. The large outstandings against the Rajshahye, Rungpore, Jessore, Burdwan, Tipperah, and Bankoora jails more especially require the attention of the Inspector-General. The system on which credits are permitted should be fully enquired into, and Superintendents should be given to understand that credit can only be permitted on their personal responsibility.

33. In considering the figures given above as representing the profits made by the several jails, it must be borne in mind that the cost of the prisoners' labour is not charged against manufactures. Were this to be done, in no case but the exceptional one of the Alipore jail would there result any profit at all. The earnings of the prisoners can therefore only be regarded as going so far in reduction of the cost of their maintenance. In the future, by the introduction of manufactures to be carried on in a large scale by the aid of machinery in the central jails, the Lieutenant-Governor hopes that a very appreciable portion of the expense of the maintenance of the prisoners will be recovered. At present, however, and for some time to come, there is little prospect of manufactures proving remunerative in the proper sense of the term, and the chief consideration now to be kept in view is that they should not be carried on at a positive loss.

34. To recapitulate briefly the matters which have been noted above, the chief points in the administration of prisons in Bengal during the past as compared with the previous year which force themselves upon attention are the increase of 2,415 in the number of persons who passed through the jails, and of 1,744 in the average number of prisoners under confinement; the increase of 211 deaths, and of ·67 per cent. in the average death-rate among them; the continued unhealthiness of some of the Behar jails, and of the worst among the jails of Northern Bengal; the extension of the system of employing warder guards in jails and lock-ups; the stricter enforcement of the classification of prisoners and of jail rules generally, accompanied by a considerable increase in jail offences and in petty punishments; the increase of Rs. 2,10,858 in the cost of the department as a whole; and the increase of Rs. 44,500 in the profitable outturn of prisoners' labor, contrasted with the increase of Rs. 1,74,400 in the value of manufactured articles undisposed of at the close of the year. In extenuation of anything which may be deemed to be unfavorable in the above results, the fact is to be considered that the year was one of scarcity; that in many districts the year was not one favorable to health; that the prices of food ranged very high; that these causes produced their ill-effects on the prisoners before admission to jail; that the depressed state of the gunny market injuriously affected the principal form of jail industry; and that the year being one of great financial pressure, numerous improvements which were contemplated had to be deferred. Bearing all these circumstances in mind, the Lieutenant-Governor thinks that the results of the administration of the year cannot, on the whole, be deemed to be unfavorable, and that the history of the year contains no small element of hope for the future.

35. In conclusion, Sir Richard Temple has to acknowledge the services of the several Superintendents of Jails and of the subordinate officers who have been favorably mentioned. Mr. Heeley has selected as worthy of special commendation the officers whose names are mentioned in the margin, and the Lieutenant-Governor desires that an expression of his approval of the manner in which they have discharged their several duties may be conveyed to them. The acknowledgments of Government have already been expressed above in regard to the manner in which Mr. Heeley has presided over the department. To Major Bowie the Lieutenant-Governor tenders his thanks for the able and interesting report which he has compiled.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

R. L. MANGLES,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE APPOINTMENT OF A TEMPORARY MANAGING COMMITTEE FOR THE ZOOLOGICAL GARDEN.

SINCE the Lieutenant-Governor's Minute of the 24th September last, regarding the establishment of a Zoological Garden at Calcutta, the site selected, viz. the ground on both sides of the road leading from Zeerat Bridge to Belvedere, has been cleared, and a commencement has been made, in the western portion of the land, towards the laying out of the gardens, the alignment of the roads and paths, and the preparation of structures for the reception of the animals. The nucleus of a collection of animals is ready to hand in Mr. Schwendler's fine contribution, and other specimens have been given and promised. The affair has, in fact, been so far developed that it has become desirable to appoint a committee of management to settle questions of administrative detail.

2. Considering the proximity of the Garden to his official residence, and the greater opportunities of supervision thereby afforded to him; considering also the importance of fully developing such an institution with all the rapidity which limited time and resources will admit: it has appeared to His Honor advisable to keep the Garden for the present under his immediate charge, and to select the names of a few gentlemen to serve on the Committee, who will be best able by their position and special qualifications to attain the above objects, in the public interests. He has therefore, with their consent, nominated the following gentlemen to constitute the Honorary Managing Committee of the Zoological Garden:—

President:

Lord Ulick Browne, C.S., Commissioner, Presidency Division.

Members:

L. Schwendler, Esq., Telegraph Department.

Dr. G. King, Superintendent, Botanical Gardens.

A. F. Watson, Esq., Executive Engineer, 3rd Calcutta Division.

C. E. Buckland, Esq., C.S., Private Secretary to the Lieutenant-Governor. The last-named gentleman to be also Honorary Secretary.

It may be necessary from time to time to alter the numbers and powers of this executive body, until experience shows the best course to adopt. The present one must therefore be considered as a temporary arrangement, liable to be changed.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor is prepared to entrust to the above-named gentlemen all the duties usually devolving on the administrative body of a public institution, such as, in this case, the settlement of the rates of admission fees, the number and cost of the establishment required, the food of the animals, the acceptance of contributions, the regulations for the preservation of order, the internal economy and extension of the gardens, the purchase, exchange, or disposal of stock, the collection of subscriptions and donations, to settle the privileges of donors and subscribers, &c., &c.; and it will be incumbent on the committee to publish either in the Gazette, or by advertisement, all rules and notices of which it may concern the public to receive information.

4. It will also be within the province of the committee, in their corporate capacity, to apply to the departments of the local Government for such assistance as it may be able to afford, namely for grants of money or materials; and it is hereby generally notified that the Managing Committee of the Zoological Garden is a constituted body under Government, the existence of which is officially recognised. On the other hand, the committee will be required to render an annual statement of their accounts, to furnish any reports they may be called upon to submit, and to be generally subject to the orders of the local Government.

5. It has been estimated that the minimum cost of the establishment immediately required for the gardens will be about Rs. 140 a month, and that the food of the animals will bring up the immediate charges to about Rs. 200 per month. This sum will be increased as each additional animal is obtained, and must eventually be considerably larger. It does not include the salary of the Director, whom it is intended to bring out from Europe as soon as possible. The Lieutenant-Governor has sanctioned the above charges as a commencement, debitable to provincial revenues.

6. Some handsome donations have been already received, and others have been promised, which will be duly published. The Lieutenant-Governor is of opinion that the local Government having provided the site, have a claim to hope for the support of the public in an undertaking in which the whole population is interested. Gentlemen who desire to afford assistance should now communicate with the Secretary of the Committee, who will gladly acknowledge and notify all subscriptions and donations.

By order of the Lietuenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. J. REYNOLDS,

Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

	No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BENGAL.
		Western Districts
Burdwan Divn.	1	Burdwan, Dec 6,* '75	Nil.	No change in the condition and prospects of the crops; reports of the outturn of the amun, or late rice, and the prospects of the rubbee, or cold weather crops, are all favorable Cholera reported from B[illegible]lbood and Culna.
	2	Bankoora, " 4, "	Nil	Weather dry and hotter than usual at this time of the year Amun, or late rice crop, is being reaped; outturn good Winter crops are doing well. Sporadic cholera prevailing throughout the district
	3	Beerbhoom, " 4, "	Nil.	The weather is rather warm Harvest of the rice crops is nearly finished. Sowing of the winter crops is proceeding. No need of rain at present.
	4	Midnapore, " 4 "	Nil.	Weather fair, but rather warm for the season The rice crop has proved, as was anticipated, a first rate crop. The cold weather sowings are doing very well.
	5	Hooghly, " 4, "	Nil.	The weather was rather warm as compared with the preceding week. The amun, or late rice harvest, has commenced About one-fourth of the paddy on the high lands has been cut; the outturn looks like an eight-anna crop The paddy in the low lands will be ripe for cutting about the middle of the month. High and low land rice crops taken together, a thirteen-anna crop may be held promised, as far as can at present be judged. The outturn of the vegetables has been very favorable, potatoe is doing well, and sugarcane tolerably. Prospects of kalai pulse are not good.
		Howrah, " 4, "	Nil.	Weather good State and prospects of the crops are very good. The harvest of the rice crop is going on, and promises to be very exceptionably heavy.
		Central Districts.
Presidency Divn.	6	24-Pergunnahs, Dec 6,† '75	Nil.	Seasonable weather. Amun, or late rice crop, is being cut. Cholera prevalent at Baraset, Barripore, and Diamond Harbour. Fever continues at Baraset and Busseerhat.
	7	Nuddea, " 4, "	Nil.	Weather hot and sultry for the time of the year. The amun harvest is generally fair, except on the higher lands, where it has sufferred from the drought in October Want of rain is affecting the cold weather crops also, especially kalai pulse and chillies. Cholera is still very prevalent in many parts of the district.
	8	Jessore, " 4 "	Nil.	Weather somewhat warmer than during the past fortnight. No sign of rain. Rice crop is being harvested. Winter crops require rain.
	9	Moorshedabad, " 4, "	Nil	Much warmer weather than usual at this time of the year. Rain wanted for the winter crops in the southern half of the district. In other respects the prospects are the same as in last report, viz, late rice harvest is going on; an average of full twelve-anna crop is expected Other winter crops are thriving Fever continuing in Sujagunge and Gorabazar. A few cases of cholera reported from Gorabazar, Dawlatabad, Nowada, Burwa, and Bharutpur.
Rajshahye Divn.	10	Dinagepore, " 3, "	Nil.	Weather fair, cold, and cloudy. The rice crops are being cut; a moderate outturn is expected throughout the district. Cholera at Thakoorgaon.
	11	Maldah, " 4, "	Nil.	Weather dry; no rain has fallen in the district; sky at times was slightly cloudy. The drought has destroyed two annas of the late autumn rice crop in Khurlee thana, three annas of the winter rice in Maldah, and two annas of the latter crop in Gazole. Amun crops are being reaped; the yield is not expected to be good. Kalai pulse is ripening; haimanta rice is being reaped in Nowabgunge. The cold weather crops are in general doing well, but have been attacked by insects in Shibgunge. Seventy-six deaths have occurred from cholera during the week.
	12	Rajshahye, " 4, "	Nil.	There has been no rain. The weather is warm for the time of the year. The prospects of the crops are unchanged since last report. The cutting of the transplanted rice in the Bhurind tract has commenced. The cold weather crops will do well should there be rain soon. Cholera has abated, but much fever is reported in parts of the distrct.
	13	Rungpore, " 3, "	Nil.	Cloudy weather Rice is being cut every where. In Kurigram the outturn exceeds the estimate, and is a good one. Mustard is generally good.
	14	Bogra, " 4, "	Nil.	Fine and seasonable weather A fair crop is now certain all round, and in some parts the crops will be good. Rice is now being extensively cut, and the rubbee or cold weather crops are coming on well.
	15	Pubna, " 4, "	Nil.	Seasonable weather. State and prospects of the crops are good. Cholera is still prevalent.

* Telegram of the 6th December, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

† Report of the 6th December, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

Cooch Behar Divn.	16	Darjeeling, Dec 3, '75	0·33	Bright weather during the early part of the week; a little rain fell on Wednesday night, and ever since it has been very misty, with a sharp, raw cold, threatening rain or snow. The reaping of the haimanta rice in the Terai is progressing; the deficiency in the outturn will not materially affect the district. All the crops in the hills have yielded a fair outturn.
	17	Julpigoree, „ 4, „	·05	Weather cloudy and hot for the season. No change in the state of the crops, high land rice is being reaped, and tobacco going on well. The season is exceptionally unhealthy, fever being very prevalent. Cholera has again broken out in the jail, but only two deaths.
		Cooch Behar, „ 2, „	Nil	Weather fair and cold. There has been no change in the prospects of the crops. The outturn of the late rice crop, as stated before, will not fall below eight annas. The prospects of tobacco continue favorable.
		Eastern Districts.
Dacca Divn.	18	Dacca, Dec 6,* '75	Nil	Weather warm for the season. Rain wanted for the winter crops, otherwise the state of the crops are good.
	19	Furreedpore, „ 4, „	Nil	Weather cool and dry. The crops are as reported last week, viz. owing to want of rain in October the rice crop is less than it otherwise would have been, but on the whole it is a good crop. Winter crops are doing well. Cholera has appeared in the Sudder station, two cases having ended fatally up to date. One European was attacked in Goalundo.
	20	Backergunge, „ 2, „	Nil.	All well, save a little cholera and fever in detached localities.
	21	Mymensingh, „ 3, „	Nil.	Weather fine and cold. Late rice harvest is generally very good, the chief exception being in parts of Kishoregunge sub-division. Rape-seed plants are in flower.
	22	Tipperah, „ 3, „	Nil	Weather fair and cool. No material difference since the last report. The amun rice crop is being reaped in all the places; but the outturn generally will be less than the average owing to want of rains in October. Cholera has made its appearance in many places in the district.
Chittagong Divn.	23	Chittagong, „ 2, „	Nil.	Weather warmer than it should be. Heavy dews at night. No change since last report. The yield will be throughout the district much less than it ordinarily is, and will in some high lands be hardly worth the reaping. The failure will, however, be only one of the surplus which would have been exported elsewhere. There will remain ample for local wants.
	24	Noakholly, „ 2, „	Nil.	Weather fair and cold. The evening of the 1st and morning of the 2nd instant were cloudy. Reaping of the late rice, and in some places sowing of pulses and chillies have commenced. Cholera prevalent in the interior.
	25	Chittagong Hill Tracts, Nov. 30 „	Nil.	Seasonable weather. Rice sown by plough cultivators is being harvested; a very poor outturn is anticipated. Cotton is being gathered, and mustard sown.
		Hill Tipperah, Dec. 1, „	Nil.	Cloudy weather off and on, but no rain. The late rice crop is being cut. About Agurtolla the outturn is very fair, but not so good to the south, where it has suffered more than elsewhere from want of rain. Cotton is being gathered on the jooms. Several cases of cholera are reported as having occurred in the hills to the south.
BEHAR.
Patna Divn.	26	Patna, Dec. 6,* '75	Nil	Whether much too hot for the time of the year. On more than one occasion it has looked like rain, which must come sooner or later, but still it holds off. The rice crop is now being reaped, and the Collector does not think, on the whole, it will be a bad one. The prospects of the rubbee crops are fair, but of course would be benefited by rain. Health of the district is good.
	27	Gya, „ 4, „	Nil	Weather mostly dry, with westerly winds, and hardly any dew. In the north, forenoons are damp. Much warmer than usual at this time, and gradually getting warmer. Thermometer reached 86·2. Rice is being cut, with prospects as before, viz. outturn 8, 10 and 12 annas in different parts of the district. Rubbee nearly all sown.
	28	Shahabad, „ 4, „	Nil	Dry and clear weather. The winter rice crop is being reaped. Rubbee crops are promising well, and are much better than was expected. Health of the district is good.
	29	Durbhunga, „ 4, „	Nil.	No change. In Mudhoobani rubbee crops where sown are feeling the want of rain. Importations reported into Mudhoobuni, which has caused a slight fall in prices. The Magistrate has proceeded to investigate the state of affairs in Northern Mudhoobuni.

* Telegrams of the 6th December, received on the same day, show rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

	No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BEHAR.—(Contd.)
PATNA DIVN.—(Contd.)	30	Mozufferpore, Dec 4, '75	Nil.	Weather rather warm and occasionally cloudy. The rice harvest has commenced in many parts of the district. The prospects of the rubbee crops in Mozufferpore and Hajeepore sub divisions are unchanged, but in Seetamurhee subdivision are daily becoming worse.
	31	Sarun, „ 4, „	Nil.	Clear weather, cloudless sky, and cool winds; fleeting clouds on Thursday and Friday. There is no material difference in the state and prospects of the crops since last report. Late rice crop is being harvested. Sugar manufacture is going on. Cotton and ruhar pulse are doing well. Prospects of the rubbee crops still continue favorable. The heavy dew at night has kept up the moisture in the fields. Irrigation is being extensively resorted to. General health good.
	32	Chumparun, „ 3, „	Nil.	Cool at night and hot during the day. The condition of the crops remains as before, viz., the prospect of the late rice crop is as bad as was anticipated. Rubbee has been sown, but is not growing well.
BHAGULPORE DIVN.	33	Monghyr, „ 4, „	Nil.	Weather cloudy, with easterly wind, but no rain. An early harvest has commenced all over the rice tracts The outturn on high lands, not irrigated is very poor as expected, but the Collector sees no reason to change his opinion already expressed, that the average outturn will be nearly an average one. The rubbee crops up to the present time are doing well.
	34	Bhagulpore, „ 6,* „	Nil	The Collector has just returned from a tour in the north of the district, and reports that the rice prospects are very good everywhere except in the Soopool subdivision; even there all low lands are decidedly good, but the high lands will yield nothing Harvesting is in progress. The koorthi pulse and tori oilseed crops are indifferent throughout the north of the district, but the rubbee crops so far promise to be very fine. With an unusually large area sown down, should this harvest be a good one, there will not be much to fear except very locally and over limited areas. Prices are falling. General health is very good.
	35	Purneah, „ 4, „	Nil.	Weather dry, but not so cold as usual at this time of the year. The state and prospects of the crops remain unaltered; viz, reaping of the winter rice has commenced Good reports are received from the north and from the Kusi. Mustard promises well; pulses are coming on; wheat, oats, &c., have generally germinated. Rain is much wanted.
	36	Sonthal Perghs „ 4, „	Nil.	Weather dry and considerably warmer than the previous week. The harvest of rice is going on well.
ORISSA.
ORISSA DIVN.	37	Cuttack, Nov. 27, „	Nil	No rain; weather cold and fine. Early sarudh rice crop is being reaped, and late sarudh is ripening. State of all crops is excellent.
	38	Pooree, Dec. 2, „	Nil.	Weather bright and cold The laghu, or the first late rice, is being reaped and gathered; sarudh, or the main late rice, has commenced to ripen. Chana (gram), mustard, and kolthi pulse are progressing fairly. Sugarcane is ripe. Prospects of the crops in Khoordah are fair.
	39	Balasore, „ 3, „	Nil.	Weather fine, but warmer than in the previous week Harvest operations actively going on Rice crop is excellent. Cases of cholera are still numerous.
CHOTA NAGPORE
		South-Western Frontier Agency.
	40	Hazareebagh, Dec. 3, '75	Nil.	Weather clear and cloudy alternately, and continue to remain warmer than it should be. The prospects of the crops continue very much the same as reported last week. Rain, which would be very beneficial to the cold weather crops, still holds off.
	41	Loharduggu, „ 4, „	Nil.	Weather warmer than in the previous week, and clouds hanging about. The harvesting of the rice crop is now nearly complete. The outturn is reported from all sides to be very good The rubbee crops are looking well, but would be benefited by some rain. In Palamow the area sown is very small owing to drought in October. General health good.
	42	Singbhoom, „ 3, „	Nil.	Weather very warm for the season. State and prospects of the crops are favorable. Much fever and dysentery are prevalent.
	43	Manbhoom, „ 4, „	Nil.	Unusually hot weather. Favorable reports of the cold weather crops throughout the district. A little rain is required.

* Telegram of the 6th December, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

The mean barometer, as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means, are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches, above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

NOTE.

Barometric Pressure.—The pressures in column 2 of the above table for all stations below 500 feet are reduced from those given in column 3 of the table on the previous page, by adding the weight of a column of air of the temperatures given in column 17. For stations above 500 feet elevation the reduction is made by Dippe's tables, as given in Guyot's "Meteorological and Physical Tables." The temperatures at the sea-level are taken from column 3 of the above table.

Temperature.—The temperatures in column 3 are reduced from those in column 17 on the preceding page, by adding 1° Fahr. for every 450 feet.

Wind Resultant.—The resultant wind direction and its comparative predominance are calculated from the whole number of wind observations recorded during the month. The relative predominance in the direction of the resultant is given as a percentage of the whole number of observations. The direction is computed in the usual way by Lambert's formula.

Serenity.—This column gives the average proportion of unclouded sky, a cloudless sky being indicated by 10, and one completely overcast by 0.

The above being all comparable, afford the data for constructing a meteorological chart for the month, which shall show the isobaric and isothermal lines and the resultant wind directions, which last may be represented by arrows of varying length, proportioned to the prevalence of the wind. To these may be added the rainfall from the previous tables.

3. The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M. of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertized for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Member in charge, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the whole quantity advertized shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Member in charge may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

4. Each lot shall contain five chests.

5. A Promissory Note for a sum, calculated according to the scale noted in the margin, shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room, and before the lot is registered in the sale book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal Receipts or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 4 o'clock in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale: or on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal Receipts, or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be resold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Member in charge shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

And so on, Rs. 100 being added to the deposit for every bid additional, to the extent of Rs. 400.

6. The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the last-mentioned condition, if remaining unredeemed at 4 o'clock of the fifth day following the day of sale, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

7. No tender of money, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or public securities, on account of Opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before 4 o'clock of the fifth day following the day of sale, will be afterwards accepted.

8. The Opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 4 o'clock of the fifteenth day from the day of sale; and in case any lots of such Opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the 5th Condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the Opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Member in charge shall think fit, and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the Opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale.

9. Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of Opium after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests originally required to be included in each certificate or order.

10. No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present Conditions will be received in this Office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

11. The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall, on demand, tender at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or Government Securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these Conditions.

12. With a view to prevent fictitious biddings, designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained, and the first bonâ fide bidder for a lot after it has been offerred for sale in the mode here described shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these Conditions.

13. The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same agency Opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the Opium to complete the said twenty-five.

14. In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the Opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

15. The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue:—No. 1, certificate of the Opium advertized for sale; No. 2, report of the examination of such Opium.

16. The public are hereby informed that, in providing the investment of the Behar and Benares Opium for the year 1874-75, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of Opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at Behar and Beneras, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken for the purpose of comparison from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

17. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the Opium advertized for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Member in charge entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of Opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the Opium for shipment.

18. It is hereby further notified that under the 6th Article of the Convention between Great Britain and France, dated the 7th March 1815, quoted below, the agents in India of the French Government, or persons duly appointed by them, are entitled to demand that out of the quantities of Behar and Benares Opium declared as above for sale at the twelve sales of the year 1876, there shall be delivered to them, at the average of the particular sale or sales to which the Opium so applied for may belong, a quantity not exceeding in the aggregate 300 chests, and the Agents of the French Government must make requisition specifying the quantity of Opium required by them at any particular sale, within thirty days from the advertisement of such intended sale, provided however that the Agents of the French Government may make such requisition for the whole quantity within thirty days from the publication of this notification. If the Agent of the French Government shall not make the requisition for Opium within the time above mentioned, the entire quantity of about 47,000 chests of Behar and Benares, as above estimated, will be brought to sale in the usual manner; and if they shall make application for a quantity of Opium to be delivered to them out of the quantity advertized for sale at each or any of the twelve sales above mentioned, but shall not pay for it within the prescribed period of payment, the Government of Bengal reserves to itself the right of disposing of the Opium which the French Authorities may so fail to pay for, either by increasing the quantity reserved at the sale next ensuing after the date fixed for payment, or by selling such Opium, or any portion of it at any subsequent monthly sale in addition to the quantity which in this advertisement is approximately mentioned as the quantity to be sold at such sale; or by selling such Opium at a sale to be held expressly for the purpose.

Article of the Convention above referred to.

Article VI.—"With regard to the trade in Opium, it is agreed between the high con-"tracting parties that at each of the periodical sales of that article there shall be reserved for "the French Government, and delivered upon requisition duly made by the Agents of His "Most Christian Majesty, or by the persons duly appointed by them, the number of chests "so applied for, provided that such supply shall not exceed three hundred chests in each year, "and the price for the same shall be determined by the average rate at which Opium shall "have been sold at every such periodical sale, it being understood that if the quantity of "Opium applied for at any one time shall not be taken on account of the French Government "by the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty within the usual period of delivery, the quan-"tity so applied for shall nevertheless be considered as so much in reduction of the three "hundred chests hereinbefore mentioned. In hazy weather, prevalent during the south-west monsoon, about	7 miles.

Present light very inferior. A dioptric light of the 2nd order recommended.

DRAUGHT OF VESSELS ENTERING OR LEAVING PORT

Vessels with a draught not exceeding 21½ feet can now enter and leave the Port without difficulty or delay during all seasons of the year.

During the fair season, from October to 15th May, vessels with a draught not exceeding 24 feet can now enter and leave the harbour.

Fixed moorings are placed for such vessels.

TIME OF TIDE FOR ENTERING PORT.

Sailing vessels should enter Port on the ebb-tide.

Steamers can enter either flood or ebb, and stand at once into Port.

N. B—Masters of Ships should not, under any circumstances, attempt to enter the harbour without a Pilot.

HARBOUR IMPROVEMENTS.

Among the extensive works executed, a breakwater* has been built, running out from Manora point S. by E. to a distance of 1,500 feet into 6 fathoms water; this affords complete shelter to the Entrance Channel during the south-west monsoon. Also a channel has been opened through the bar with a depth of 20 feet at low water spring-tides, 500 feet in breadth; the channel is marked by buoys, and these on entering should be kept on the port side distant about 150 feet.

* A red-light is exhibited at the outer extremity of the breakwater during the fine season only.

Note.—A Mail Steamer arriving off the port at night and requiring a Pilot should fire two guns.

APPROACHING THE PORT.

COAST OF SIND.

Indus Banks.

The Coast of Sind below the parallel of 24° North latitude should be approached with great caution; too much attention cannot be paid to the lead, more especially in passing the Banks of the Indus.*

* Banks of the Indus have extended about 10 miles to the southward since 1856.

No sailing vessel should come nearer this coast than 20 fathoms by night, or in rough weather; or under 12 fathoms by day in fine weather.

The tides during the springs are strong, the flood sets S. E., and the ebb to N. W.

From March to the end of the monsoon, a strong south-easterly current is experienced, running at a rate of from 15 to 40 miles a day.

During the south-west monsoon, sailing vessels should make Ras Muari (Cape Monze),—which is 18 miles W. ½ N. from Manora Light-house,—and keep to windward of the port, if the weather is thick, or if the tide does not suit for entering the harbour. Allowance must also be made for a strong set to the south-east, which prevails more or less during the south-west monsoon.

Do not bring Manora point to the southward of East, or go under 15 fathoms near Cape Monze.

Masters of ships should endeavour to make the port at daylight, and can with safety approach into 8 fathoms at about 2 miles distance from the light-house, keeping it on any bearing from N. E. to N. by E., until boarded by a Pilot.

ANCHORAGE IN THE ROADS.

September to end of March.

Light-house N. by E. to N. N. E., distant one mile, 7 fathoms.

April and May.

Light-house N. N. E. to N. E., distant 1½ miles, 8 fathoms.

June to the middle of September.

Ships should not on any account anchor, but stand off and on, keeping the light-house bearing from N. by E. to N. E., 2 to 3 miles distant, until boarded by a Pilot or directed by signal.

TELEGRAPH.

The 7th December 1875.

No. 508.—Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India having decided that the provisions of the St. Petersburgh Convention shall be brought into effect for Foreign Telegrams to and from India on the 1st January 1876, the Hon'ble the President in Council is pleased to direct the publication of the following Rules, which will come into effect on the date mentioned:—

Rules for Foreign Messages (from 1st January 1876).

GENERAL.

RULE 1.—Messages to Europe, Asia or Africa are accepted subject to the regulations of the International Telegraph Convention for the time being in force. Messages to America are accepted subject to the same conditions as far as regards their transit to the European termini of the cables.

International Telegraph Convention.

Foreign messages are accepted for transmission under these rules at all such Telegraph stations of the following Railway Companies at which no Government Telegraph Office exists:—

Great Indian Peninsula, East Indian, South Indian, Eastern Bengal, and the following stations of the Madras Railway—

Arconum, Cuddapa, Gooty, Raichoor, Jolarapet, Palghat, Beypore, Coimbatore, Salem.

RULE 2.—The Government of India accepts no responsibility whatsoever in respect of foreign telegrams.

ART. 3.

ACCEPTANCE OF MESSAGES.

RULE 3.—Foreign telegrams are classified as follows:—

ART. 5. Classification of messages.

(1*st*).—State messages; those which emanate from the Chief of the State, Ministers, Commanders-in-Chief of land or sea forces, and Diplomatic or Consular Agents of the contracting Governments; also the replies to these messages.

Messages from Consular Agents who are engaged in commerce are not considered as State messages, except when they are addressed to a Government official and relate to the Government service.

ART. XI.

(2*nd*).—Service messages; those which emanate from the Telegraph Departments of the contracting States, and which relate either to the service of the International Telegraphs or to objects of public interest determined upon by common accord by the said Departments.

(3*rd*).—Private messages.

RULE 4.—Messages may be sent in any one of the languages used in the territories of the States which are parties to the International Telegraph Convention, or in Latin.

ART. VI. In what languages messages may be sent.

RULE 5.—Messages in ordinary language must offer an intelligible sense in one of the above languages.

ART. VI Ordinary messages.

RULE 6.—The following are considered as secret messages:—

ART. VII. Secret messages.

(1*st*).—Messages which contain passages of figures.

(2*nd*).—Messages which contain any series or groups of figures* of which the signification is not understood by the original sending station.

(3*rd*).—Messages containing passages written in words of preconcerted meaning (Code), incomprehensible to the offices in correspondence, or containing words not forming part of any of the languages mentioned in Rule 4.

Messages in secret language (cipher) are liable to an extra charge for collation (see Rule 22). State messages and those in Code language are exceptions to this rule.

* Groups of letters not forming words cannot be sent.

RULE 7.—State and Service messages may be sent in secret language without any reservation.

ART. 6. When secret messages may be accepted.

Private messages in secret language may be exchanged with countries which admit that mode of correspondence.

RULE 8.—The text of private cipher messages may be either entirely in cipher, or partly in cipher and partly in ordinary language; in the latter case the cipher portions must be placed between parenthesis; the cipher text must be composed exclusively of Arabic figures.

ART. VII. Cipher messages.

RULE 9.—Messages must be legibly written in characters which have their equivalent in the official Code of telegraph signals, and which are in use in the country where the message is presented.

ART. VIII. How messages must be written.

The body of the message must be preceded by the Address; which can be written in Code or abbreviated form; but in such case the delivery of the telegram is contingent on a previous arrangement between the Addressee and the Local Telegraph Office.

The signature can similarly be in Code or abbreviated form, or may be omitted. If inserted, it should be placed after the body of the message. If not inserted, the last word of the message replaces it.

The Sender of a private message can always be called upon to prove that the signature attached to it is genuine. He has, on his side, the power of including in his message the legalization of his signature.

ART. XIII. Legalization of signature.

Every interlineation, reference, erasure or addition of words must be authenticated by the Sender of the message or his representative.

ART. VIII.

RULE 10.—The Address must contain all the information necessary to insure the delivery of the message at its destination. Such information should be written either in French or in the language of the country to which the message is addressed.

ART. X. Address.

The Address of private messages should always be such that delivery can be effected without difficulty or the necessity of making enquiries.

For large towns it should comprise the name of the street and the number of the house, or, in default of these particulars, the profession of the Addressee, or some such information.

For small towns the name of the Addressee ought, if possible, to be accompanied by information sufficient to guide the Office of delivery in case of any alteration in the Addressee's name.

The name of the country in which the residence of the Addressee is situated is indispensable, unless it is a capital or important town, and even then if there are two places of importance of the same name in different countries. It is included in the number of words charged for.

Messages the addresses of which do not contain these particulars are nevertheless transmitted, but in all cases the Sender must bear the consequences of insufficiency of address.

The Address of a message to be conveyed beyond the telegraph lines is written as in the following example :—

M. Müller, Stiglitz, express (or post) Berlin, the name of the terminal telegraph station being always written last.

The Address of a message for a ship at sea should contain, in addition to the ordinary directions, the name or official number of the vessel and its nationality.

ART. LVIII.

RULE 11.—The Sender must write immediately before the address of his message any instructions he wishes to give relative to its delivery, acknowledgment, collation, prepaid reply, being caused "to follow," &c. Such instructions if written in abbreviated form, as under, will be counted each as one word :—

ART. VIII. Instructions as to delivery, &c.

ART. IX.

Postage prepaid (poste payée) ...	PP.
Express charges prepaid (exprès payée) ...	XP.
Acknowledgment prepaid (accuser de reception)	CR.
Collation prepaid (telegramme collationné)	TC.
Reply prepaid (reponse payée) ...	RP.
To follow (Faire suivre)	FS.

When such instructions are given in unabbreviated form, they should be written either in French or in the language of the country of destination. If that language be not understood in the office of origin, the Sender is bound to annex a translation for its guidance.

RULE 12.—The Sender can prescribe the route he wishes his message to follow by writing the same on the message form in the place provided for the purpose. The administrations are not bound to conform to printed instructions regarding the route.

ART. XXXVI. Route.

When the Sender prescribes the route to be followed, his wishes are complied with, unless the route indicated be interrupted, in which case no objection can be raised to the selection of an alternative route.

When no route is specified the message is sent by the least expensive one.

ART. XVIII.

RULE 13.—Any Sender can, on proving his identity, stop, if in time, the transmission of his message.

ART. XXXIX. Cancellation of message.

When the Sender withdraws or stops his message before transmission has been commenced, the charges are returned to him after deducting a fixed sum of 4 annas, the fee of the original sending Station; but if transmission has commenced, the Sender has a right to a refund only of the portion of the charge belonging to the distance not traversed.

If the message has been already transmitted, the Sender's only means of cancelling it is by a paid (Service) telegram addressed to the terminal Station.

The Sender must pay also for a reply if he desires to be informed by telegraph in what manner his request has been acted upon.

A Station which receives a message, requesting the suppression of another message, previously received, informs the Original sending Station by post in what manner the request has been acted upon, unless the Sender has prepaid a reply by telegraph.

DELIVERY OF MESSAGES.

Rule 14.—Messages may be addressed either to the place of residence of the Addressee, or poste restante or bureau restant (to wait arrival).

Art. XLI.
How messages may be addressed.

Messages which have to be sent to their destination by post, or which are addressed poste restante, are immediately sent by the office of destination to the Post Office and treated as registered letters, without charge either to Sender or Addressee —(see Rule 36).

Art. XLI and LVII.
Messages addressed to non-telegraph stations, or poste restante.

Rule 15.—A message taken to the place of residence of the Addressee may be delivered either to the Addressee, to the adult members of his family, to his employés, lodgers, or guests, or to the porter of the hotel or house in which he resides, unless the Addressee has designated in writing a special person to receive it, or the Sender has instructed that the message be delivered to the Addressee only. This last demand, if made, should be mentioned in the Address of the message, and is written on the envelope by the Station of delivery.

Art. XLII.
To whom message may be delivered.

When a message is addressed bureau restant (to wait arrival), it is delivered only to the Addressee himself or to a person duly appointed by him.

Message addressed bureau restant.

Rule 16.—When the message cannot be delivered, the terminal Station, if it supposes that the address is insufficient or that it has been altered in transmission, intimates the fact by a Service telegram to the Station of origin, which verifies the correctness of the Address, and immediately rectifies any error. If, however, the Address be in Code, or abbreviated form, no advice of non-delivery is sent.

Art. XLII.
Procedure when the message cannot be delivered.

Rule 17.—If, in consequence of inaccuracy or insufficiency of Address, or the absence or refusal of the Addressee, the expenses of a special messenger are not paid on arrival, the costs incurred are specified in the advice of non-delivery or refusal and ARE RECOVERABLE FROM THE SENDER.

Art. XLII.
Cost of express not paid by Receiver recoverable from Sender.

CONTROL.

Rule 18.—The Government of India reserves to itself the right of stopping any private message which may appear dangerous to the security of the State, or which may be contrary to the laws of the country, to public order or decency; and any intermediate Administration may stop the transmission of such a message on condition of immediately advising the Administration to which the original sending Station belongs.

Art. 7.
Objectionable messages.

Art. XL.

This control is exercised by the terminal or intermediate offices subject to recourse to the central Administration, which decides without appeal.

RECORDS.

Rule 19.—The originals and copies of messages, and the slips containing the signals or similar papers, are preserved for a period of eighteen months after date with all necessary precautions to ensure their secrecy.

Art. LXV.
Message drafts now long kept.

Rule 20.—The originals or copies of messages can only be communicated to the Sender or to the Addressee after proving his identity, or to the authorized attorney of either.

Art. LXVI.
Copies of messages.

The Sender and Addressee, or the authorized attorney of either, have a right to be furnished with certified true copies of the messages sent or received by them. This right ceases after the expiration of 18 months from the date of the message, and is contingent on the exact date of the message to which the request refers being mentioned.

For every such copy, a fee of 4 annas per 100 words, or fraction of 100 words, is payable.

SPECIAL MESSAGES.

Rule 21.—The Sender of a message can prepay the reply which he requests his correspondent to send. The amount deposited for the reply must not exceed three times the cost of the original message.

Art. XLV.
Prepayment of reply.

In this case he must write between the Address and the body of the message and pay for the notice "reply paid (or Reponse payée, or RP.)———words."

Art. XLVII.

When a prepaid reply is requested, the station of delivery pays to the Addressee the amount deposited for the reply, either in money, in Telegraph Stamps, or by an order for payment on the Office, leaving it to the Addressee to send his reply at any time, by any route, and to any address he chooses.

Art. XLVI.

The reply, when tendered, is considered and treated as any other message.

If the original message cannot be delivered within six weeks, or if the Receiver formally refuses the amount deposited for the reply, the Station of delivery informs the Sender of it by a telegram, which indicates the cause of non-delivery and takes the place of the reply.

Rule 22.—The Sender of any message can, by writing the word "Collationnée" (or "TC.") immediately before the Address, ensure its being repeated. In this case the different Offices concerned in its transmission collate it integrally (i. e., it is repeated back from Office to Office to ensure its correctness). Collation is obligatory in the case of private cipher messages composed of figures.

Art. XLVIII.
Collation or repetition of messages.

The charge for collation is equal to half the charge for the message, any fraction of 2 annas being counted as 2 annas.

Rule 23.—The Sender of a message can, by adding the words "acknowledgment paid" (or "accuser reception" or "CR.") immediately before the Address, ensure that a notice shall be telegraphed to him of the hour of its delivery.

Art. XLIX.
Advice of delivery.

If the message cannot be delivered the terminal station intimates the fact, and the reason, by a service telegram. (See Rule 16.) The return message paid for by the Sender is afterwards transmitted, either on delivery of the telegram, should that be found possible, or at the expiration of 24 hours in the contrary event.

The charge for an "acknowledgment" is that for a simple message of 10 words by the same route as that followed by the original message.

RULE 24.—The Sender of a message can by writing the words "To follow" (or "Faire suivre" or "FS") immediately before the Address ensure its following the Addressee to different Addresses, if necessary, within the limits of Europe.

ART. LII. Messages "To follow" or "Faire suivre."

When a message bears the notice "Faire suivre" or "To follow," the terminal Station, after presenting it at the Address given, transmits it immediately, if requisite, to any new Address supplied at the residence of the Addressee. If no new Address is supplied, the message is kept in the Office and its non-delivery reported (see rule 16). If the message is retransmitted, and the second Station cannot find the Addressee, the message is retained by that Station.

If the notice "Faire suivre" or "To follow" is accompanied by successive Addresses, the message is successively transmitted to each, if necessary, and the last Office treats it in accordance with the regulations of the preceding paragraph.

The charge for a message "To follow" to be levied from the Sender is simply the charge to the first terminal Station, all the Addresses entering into the number of words charged for. The supplementary charge is recovered from the Addressee.

RULE 25.—Any person, by explaining the necessity, can request that messages which may arrive at a Telegraph Office to be delivered to him, within the radius of delivery of that Office, be re-transmitted in conformity with the conditions of the preceding paragraphs, to the Address which he furnishes; this request must be made in writing.

ART. LIII.

ART. LIV. Multiple messages.

RULE 26.—Telegraphic messages may be addressed:—

i.—to several persons in different places;
ii.—to several persons in the same place;
iii.—to the same person in different places, or at several residences in the same place.

In the two first cases, each copy of the message bears only its own Address, unless the Sender requests the contrary, in which case the request must be entered after the Address, and will be charged for.

A message addressed to several persons, or to one person, in localities served by different offices, is charged for as so many separate messages.

A message addressed to several persons in the same locality, or to one person at several places of residence in the same locality (whether with or without transmission by post), is charged for as a single message; but a copying fee of 4 annas per 10 words, plus 4 annas for the excess, is charged for each destination after the first.

RULE 27.—In applying the preceding Rules, the facilities given to the public for prepayment of Replies or Acknowledgments, collation of messages, messages to follow, multiple messages or messages for transmission beyond the limits of the Telegraph Lines, can be combined; subject to the conditions of Rule 11.

ART. LX. Combination of rules.

RULE 28.—The minimum charge is:—

ART. XV. Messages charged by the words or group.

(a).—In ordinary messages for a single word not exceeding 10 letters, or for a group of figures not exceeding five.

(b).—In cipher messages, for a single group not exceeding 5 figures.

RULE 29.—All that the Sender writes in his message to be transmitted is included in reckoning the cost except as stated in para. 8 of Rule 30 and para. 2 of Rule 31.

ART. XX. Words charged for.

The translation of instructions given in a language not understood at the Office of origin (referred to in Rule 11) is not counted in the number of words charged for.

Words, numbers, or signs added by the Office in the interest of the Service are not charged for.

Words not charged for.

RULE 30.—In ordinary messages the maximum length of a word is fixed at 10 letters; every 10 letters (or fraction of 10 letters) in excess is counted as a word.

ART. XXI. Words how counted in ordinary messages.

Words joined by a hyphen are counted as so many separate words.

Words separated by an apostrophe are counted as so many separate words.

Proper names of towns and persons, names of places, squares, streets, &c., titles, Christian names, particles and qualifications, are counted for the number of words (not exceeding 10 letters) employed by the Sender to express them.

Combinations of words contrary to the usage of the language to which they belong are not admitted. If there be any real doubt, it should be decided in favor of the Sender.

Numbers expressed in figures are counted at the rate of five figures to a word, plus one word for any excess.

Every isolated character, whether letter or figure, is counted as a word. The same applies to an underline.

Signs of punctuation, hyphens, apostrophes, inverted commas, parenthesis, fresh paragraphs, are not counted, but decimal points, commas and bars of division used with figures are each counted as a figure.

Letters added to figures to form ordinal numbers are each counted as a figure.

ART. XX and XXXI. Name of "Station from" given free.

RULE 32.—The name of the original sending Station, and the date, hour, and minute (Madras time) of deposit of the message are added free, and entered in the copy of the message delivered to the Addressee.

ART. XVII. Rectifying and completing messages to be paid for.

RULE 33.—Every rectifying or completing message, and generally every communication made to a Telegraph Office relative to a despatch already transmitted or in course of transmission, is charged for, unless such communication shall have been necessitated by an error of the Service.

ART. XVIII. Route by which messages are sent.

RULE 34.—The charge on a message is calculated according to the least expensive route from the starting point of the message to its destination, unless that route is interrupted or the Sender selects another.

The indication of the route is transmitted in the Official Instructions and is not charged for.

REG. LXIV. Calling for repetition.

RULE 35.—The Addressee of any message can, within 24 hours after the delivery of the telegram, request the correction of passages which may appear to him to be doubtful. The same privilege is accorded to the SENDER within a limit of 72 hours following the despatch of the message. The following charges are collected:—

(a).—If from the Sender—the price of a message and of the answer if one be demanded.

(b).—If from the Receiver—1*st*, the price of the message for the Demand; 2*nd*, the price of a return message calculated according to the length of the passage to be repeated.

In the case of a collated message these charges are returned (on application being made to the Check Office, Calcutta, in the manner indicated in Rule 41) if the repetition shows that the mutilation of the sense of the message was made by the Telegraph. No refund is given of the cost of messages thus rectified.

SPECIAL CHARGES.

ART LVII. Postage.

RULE 36.—Every message which has to be transmitted to its destination by post, or deposited poste restante, is posted as a registered letter by the Office of delivery, without extra charge either to the Sender or Addressee, except in the two following cases:—

(a).—Messages which have to be transmitted to destination by Sea post, either in consequence of interruption to a submarine line, or by reason of being addressed to a country not connected with the International Telegraph system, are subject to a charge for postage of 12 annas, payable by the Sender.*

(b).—Messages transmitted to an Office situated near a frontier, to be delivered by post in the neighbouring territory, are posted as unpaid letters, and the postage is payable by the Addressee.

PAYMENT.

ART. XXIV. All charges prepaid.

RULE 37.—The charges on messages are prepaid by the Sender. The following are, however, exceptions, and are recovered from the Receiver:—

Exceptions.

1*st*.—The charge for messages sent from sea by Semaphore.

2*nd*.—The supplementary charge for onward transmission of messages "To follow" (Faire suivre).

3*rd*.—The expense of transport beyond the Telegraph lines by quicker means than the post, in States where such service is organized. (The Sender of a message for which an Acknowledgment has been prepaid can, however, prepay this transport by depositing a sum for the purpose, to be fixed by the Station of origin subject to after-adjustment. The Acknowledgment mentions the amount expended.)

In every case where charges are to be made on arrival, the message is not delivered till payment of the amount due is received.

ART. XXV. Insufficient and excess charges.

RULE 38.—Insufficient charges received in error, or charges not recovered through refusal of the Addressee to defray them in full or through his not being found at the address given, MUST BE MADE GOOD BY THE SENDER.

Excess charges made in error are returned, but the value of Telegraph stamps attached to a message in excess of the correct charge by the Sender, can only be recovered by application to the Check Office (see Rule 41).

FREE MESSAGES.

ART. 11.

RULE 39.—Messages relating to the traffic requirements of the International Telegraph Service are transmitted free.

REFUNDS.

ART. LXVII. Non-delivery or serious delay.

RULE 40.—The whole cost of any message which has suffered a serious delay in transmission, or which has not been delivered through the fault of the Telegraph Service, is refunded to the Sender by the Administration which received it.

REG. LXIX.

In case of delay the claim for reimbursement is absolute if the message did not reach its destination sooner than it would have done by post, or if the delay exceeds 6 days.

ART. LXVII. Mutilation.

No refund is given for errors in uncollated messages, but the whole cost of a collated message is returned to the Sender, if, in consequence of errors in transmission, it has manifestly failed to fulfil its object.

* On messages from India addressed to places out of India, and which are to be posted from a seaport to destination, the sender also prepays a postage and registration fee of 12 annas.

Interruption on sub-marine line.

In the case of interruption on a sub-marine line, the Sender of any message has a right to a refund of the portion of the charge belonging to the distance not traversed, deduction being made, if necessary, of the expense incurred in sending the message by any other mode of transport.

Rules not applicable to non-adhering Administrations.

These rules do not apply to messages which pass over the lines of a non-adhering Administration which would not on its side make similar refunds.

REG LXVIII. Claim to refund how to be made.

RULE 41.—Every claim for reimbursement of charges ought to be made to the CHECK OFFICE, GOVERNMENT TELEGRAPH DEPARTMENT, CALCUTTA, and be supported as follows:—In case of non-delivery, by a written statement from the terminal Station or Addressee; in case of mutilation or delay, by the copy actually delivered to the Addressee, and by a certificate stating that, in consequence of the errors complained of, the message failed to fulfil its object. The particular errors which led to this result should also be specifically mentioned. A complaint regarding a received message may, if the Addressee chooses, be addressed to the CHECK OFFICE which, if possible, disposes of it, otherwise it is returned to be presented at the Office of Origin.

If the Sender does not reside in the country where he deposited his message for transmission, he can have his claim forwarded to the original Administration through the medium of another Administration. In this case, if it becomes evident on investigation that the claim is well founded, the latter is deputed to make the refund.

Claims not paid till admitted by Administration in fault.

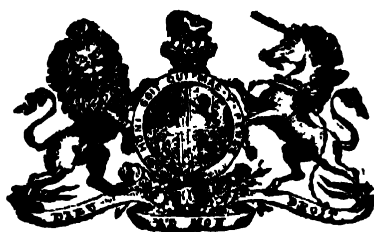
When a claim to refund is admitted to be well founded by the Administration in fault, the refund is made to the Sender by the CHECK OFFICE.

Claims which are not admissible are not forwarded.

Complaints are not forwarded when the fault complained of does not give the Sender a claim to refund, or has resulted from an omission or irregularity on his part.

REG. LXX. Messages stopped in transit

RULE 42.—The charges on messages stopped in transit under operation of Rule 18 are returned to the Sender.



ART. LXVII.

RULE 43.—The refund rules apply only to the cost of the actual messages lost, delayed, or mutilated, and not to the cost of any further correspondence caused or rendered useless by such loss, delay, or mutilation, except in the case of the exception mentioned in Rule 33.

ART. LXVIII. Claim must be made within six months.

RULE 44.—Every claim should be made, under penalty of rejection, within six months of the date of the message.

A Bill to define and amend the Law relating to certain kinds of specific Relief.

Preamble. WHEREAS it is expedient to define and amend the law relating to certain kinds of specific relief obtainable in civil suits; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

PART I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title. 1. This Act may be called "The Specific Relief Act, 1876:"

Local extent. It extends to the whole of British India, except the Scheduled Districts as defined in Act No. XIV of 1874;

Commencement. And it shall come into force three months after the passing thereof.

Repeal of enactments. 2. The enactments specified in the schedule hereto annexed are repealed to the extent mentioned in its third column.

Interpretation-clause. 3. In this Act, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context,—

'discretion.' 'discretion' means a sound and reasonable discretion, exercised according to the rules for the time being in force in the Courts of Civil Judicature:

'obligation.' 'obligation' includes every duty the breach of which is punishable by law:

'agreement.' 'agreement' includes also an award and an obligation constructively created by operation of law:

'trust' 'trust' includes every species of express, implied, or constructive fiduciary ownership:

'trustee.' 'trustee' includes every person holding, expressly, by implication, or constructively, a fiduciary character:

Illustrations.

(a). Z bequeaths land to A, 'not doubting that he will pay thereout an annuity of Rs. 1,000 to B for his life.' A is a trustee within the meaning of this Act for B to the extent of the annuity.

(b). A is the legal, medical, or spiritual adviser of B. A gains some pecuniary advantage by availing himself of his situation as such adviser. A is a trustee within the meaning of this Act of such advantage.

(c). A, being B's banker, discloses for his own purposes the state of B's account. A is a trustee within the meaning of this Act of the benefit gained by him by means of such disclosure.

(d). A, the mortgagee of certain leaseholds, renews the lease in his own name. A is a trustee within the meaning of this Act of the renewed lease.

(e). A, one of several partners, is employed to purchase goods for the firm. A, unknown to his co-partners, supplies them, at the market-price, with goods previously bought by himself when the price was lower, and thus makes a considerable profit. A is a trustee within the meaning of this Act of the profit so made.

(f). A buys certain land with notice that B has already contracted to buy it. A is a trustee within the meaning of this Act of the land so bought.

(g). A buys land from B, having notice that C is in occupation of the land. A omits to make any inquiry as to the nature of C's interest therein. A is a trustee within the meaning of this Act to the extent of that interest.

'settlement.' 'settlement' means any instrument (other than a will or codicil) whereby the destination or devolution of moveable or immoveable property is settled or agreed to be settled.

English law how far inapplicable. 4. Except so far as they are embodied in this Act, the provisions of the law of England shall not be applicable to the kinds of relief hereinafter mentioned.

Except where it is herein otherwise expressly enacted, nothing in this Act shall be deemed—

(a) to give any right to relief in respect of any agreement which, according to the general law applicable to contracts, is not a valid contract: or

(b) to deprive any person of any right to relief other than specific performance which, according the same law, he may have under any contract.

Specific relief how given. 5. Specific relief is given—

(a) by taking possession of certain property and delivering it to a claimant;

(b) by ordering a party to do the very act which he is under an obligation to do,

(c) by prohibiting a party from doing that which he is under an obligation not to do; or

(d) by declaring and determining the rights of parties otherwise than by an award of compensation.

Preventive relief. 6. Relief granted under clause (c) of section five is called preventive relief.

Purposes for which relief cannot be given. 7. Specific or preventive relief cannot be granted for the mere purpose of enforcing a penal law.

OF SPECIFIC RELIEF.

CHAPTER I.

OF RECOVERING POSSESSION OF PROPERTY.

(a).—Possession of Immoveable Property.

Recovery of specific immoveable property. 8. A person entitled to specific immoveable property may recover it in the manner prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure.

Suit by person dispossessed of immoveable property. 9. If any person is dispossessed without his consent of immoveable property otherwise than in due course of law, he or any person claiming through him may, by suit instituted within six months from the date of the dispossession, recover possession thereof, notwithstanding any other title that may be set up in such suit.

Nothing in this section shall bar any person from suing to establish his title to such property and to recover possession thereof.

Nothing in this section applies to immoveable property claimed to belong to the Crown.

(b).—Possession of Moveable Property.

Recovery of specific moveable property. 10. A person entitled to the immediate possession of specific moveable property may recover the same in the manner prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure.

EXPLANATION 1.—A trustee may sue under this section for the possession of property to the beneficial interest in which another is entitled.

EXPLANATION 2.—A special or temporary right to the present possession of property is sufficient to support a suit under this section.

Illustrations.

(a). A bequeaths land to B for his life, with remainder to C. A dies. B enters on the land, but C, without B's consent, obtains possession of the title deeds B may recover them from C.

(b). A pledges certain jewels to B to secure a loan. B disposes of them before he is entitled to do so A, without having paid or tendered the amount of the loan, sues B for possession of the jewels. The suit should be dismissed, as A is not entitled to their possession, whatever right he may have to secure their safe custody.

(c). A receives a letter addressed to him by B. B gets back the letter without A's consent. A has such a property therein as entitles him to recover it from B

(d). A deposits books and papers for safe custody with B. B loses them and C finds them, but refuses to deliver them to B when demanded. B may recover them from C, subject to C's right, if any, under section 168 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872

(e). A, a warehouse-keeper, is charged with the delivery of certain goods to Z, which B takes out of A's possession. A may sue B for the goods.

Liability of person in possession, not as owner, to deliver to person entitled to immediate possession. 11. Any person having the possession or control of a particular article of moveable property, of which he is not the owner, may be compelled specifically to deliver it to the person entitled to its immediate possession, in any of the following cases:—

(a) when the thing claimed is held by the defendant as the agent or trustee of the claimant;

(b) when compensation in money would not afford the claimant adequate relief for the loss of the thing claimed;

(c) when it would be extremely difficult to ascertain the actual damage caused by its loss.

Illustrations.

(a). A, proceeding to Europe, leaves his furniture in charge of B as his agent during his absence. B, without A's authority, pledges the furniture to C, and C, knowing that B had no right to pledge the furniture, advertises it for sale. C may be compelled to deliver the furniture to A, for he holds it as A's trustee.

(b). A, a colliery-owner, keeps for the purpose of his business fifty coal-wagons. A sells B 50,000 tons of coal and lets to him the wagons to convey the coal. B, without A's authority, pledges the wagons to C, who threatens to sell them immediately. C may be compelled to deliver the wagons to A, for they are necessary for conducting his business, and their loss would cause him an injury for which money would not be an adequate compensation.

(c). A is entitled to a picture by a dead painter and a pair of rare China vases. B has possession of them. The articles are of too special a character to bear an ascertainable market-value. B may be compelled to deliver them to A.

CHAPTER II.

OF THE SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE OF AGREEMENTS.

(a). Agreements which may be specifically enforced.

Cases in which specific performance enforceable

12. Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, the specific performance of any agreement may in the discretion of the Court be enforced—

(a) when it has been expressly agreed in writing between the parties to the agreement that specific performance thereof may be required by either party, or that compensation in money shall not be considered adequate relief for its non-performance:

(b) when the act agreed to be done is in the performance, wholly or partly, of a trust:

(c) when there exists no standard for ascertaining the actual damage caused by the non-performance of the act agreed to be done: or

(d) when the act agreed to be done is such that pecuniary compensation for its non-performance would not afford adequate relief:

(e) when it is probable that pecuniary compensation cannot be got for the non-performance of the act agreed to be done.

EXPLANATION.—Unless and until the contrary is shewn, it is to be presumed that the breach of an agreement to transfer immoveable property cannot be adequately relieved by compensation in money, and that the breach of an agreement to transfer moveable property can be thus relieved.

Illustrations.

(a). A holds certain stock in trust for B. A wrongfully disposes of the stock. The law creates an obligation on A to restore the same quantity of stock to B, and B may enforce specific performance of this obligation.

(b). A sells 500 tons of iron stacked on his wharf to B, in consideration of a bill accepted by C, and undertakes in writing to deliver the iron to bearer, he (A) 'having been paid for the same.' B mortgages the iron to D. The bill is dishonoured. A refuses to deliver the iron. A holds the iron as a trustee for D, and D may compel him specifically to perform his agreement.

(c). A agrees to buy, and B agrees to sell, a picture by a dead painter and two rare China vases. The articles are of too special a character to bear an ascertainable market-value. A may compel B specifically to perform this agreement, for it would be extremely difficult to ascertain the actual damage caused by its non-performance.

(d). A transfers without endorsement, but for valuable consideration, a note to B. A becomes insolvent, and C is appointed his assignee. B may compel C to endorse the note, for C has succeeded to A's liabilities, and a decree for pecuniary compensation for not endorsing the note would be fruitless.

(e) A, B and C agree to enter into partnership for a definite term under the style of A & Co. A refuses to carry out the agreement. B and C may compel A to join them in executing a proper partnership-deed, for the interest of B and C in the performance of the agreement cannot be adequately compensated for by money.

(f). A agrees with B to sell him a house for Rs. 1,000. B is entitled to a decree directing A to convey the house to him, he paying the purchase-money.

(g). In consideration of being released from certain obligations imposed on it by its Act of incorporation, a railway company agree with Z to make and maintain an archway through their railway to connect lands of Z severed by the railway, to construct a road between certain specified points, to pay a certain annual sum towards the maintenance of this road, and also to construct and maintain a siding and a wharf as specified in the agreement. Z is entitled to have this agreement specifically enforced, for his interest in its performance cannot be adequately compensated for by money; and the Court may appoint a proper person to superintend the construction of the archway, road, siding and wharf.

(h). A agrees to sell, and B agrees to buy, a certain number of railway-shares of a particular description. A refuses to complete the purchase. B may compel A specifically to perform this agreement, for the shares are limited in number and not always to be had in the market, and their possession carries with it the status of a shareholder, which cannot otherwise be procured.

(i). A agrees with B to paint a picture for B, who agrees to pay therefor rupees 1,000. The picture is painted. B is entitled to have it delivered to him on payment or tender of the rupees 1,000.

(j). A advances Rs. 10,000 to B, and B agrees to execute a mortgage of certain houses 'with an immediate power of sale' to secure the repayment of the advance. A requires B either to pay off the advance at once or to execute the mortgage. B refuses. A is entitled to have the agreement specifically performed.

Mutual rights of parties.

13. When either of the parties to an agreement is entitled to a specific performance thereof according to the provisions of section twelve, the other party is also entitled to it, though not within those provisions.

Illustration.

A agrees to sell, and B agrees to buy, a patent for 10,000 rupees. B declines to complete the purchase. Here, though pecuniary compensation for its non-performance might afford A adequate relief, A may enforce the agreement specifically, for, if he had declined to complete it, B would have been entitled to a specific performance thereof.

Specific performance of part of an agreement where the part unperformed is small.

14. Where a party to an agreement is unable to perform the whole of the agreement, but the part which must be left unperformed bears only a small proportion to the whole in value, and admits of compensation in money, the Court may, at the suit of either party, direct the specific performance of so much of the agreement as can be performed, and award compensation in money for the deficiency.

Illustrations.

(a). A agrees to sell B a piece of land consisting of 100 bíghás. It turns out that 98 bíghás of the land belong to A, and the two remaining bíghás to a stranger, who refuses to part with them. The two bíghás are not necessary for the use or enjoyment of the 98 bíghás, and the loss of them may be made good in money A may be directed at the suit of B to convey to B the 98 bíghás and to make compensation to him for not conveying the two remaining bíghás; or B may be directed, at the suit of A, to pay to A on receiving the conveyance and possession of the land, the stipulated purchase-money, less a sum awarded as compensation for the deficiency.

(b). In a contract for the sale and purchase of a house and lands for two lákhs of rupees it is agreed that part of the furniture should be taken at a valuation. The Court may direct specific performance of the contract notwithstanding the parties are unable to agree as to the valuation of the furniture, and may either have the furniture valued in the suit and include it in the decree for specific performance, or may confine its decree to the house.

Specific performance of part of an agreement where the part unperformed is large.

15. Where a party to an agreement is unable to perform the whole of the agreement and the part which must be left unperformed forms a considerable portion of the whole, or does not admit of compensation in money, the party in default is not entitled to obtain a decree for specific performance. But the Court may, at the suit of the other party, direct the party in default to perform specifically so much of the agreement as he can perform, provided that the party seeking specific performance relinquishes all claim to further performance, and all right to compensation, either for the deficiency, or for the loss or damage sustained by him through the default of the other party.

Illustrations.

(a). A agrees to sell to B a piece of land consisting of 100 bíghás. It turns out that 50 bíghás of the land belong to A, and the other 50 bíghás to a stranger, who refuses to part with them. A cannot obtain a decree against B for the specific performance of the contract; but if B is willing to pay the price agreed upon, and to take the 50 bíghás which belong to A, waiving all right to compensation either for the deficiency or for loss sustained by him through A's neglect or default, B is entitled to a decree directing A to convey those 50 bíghás to him on payment of the purchase-money.

(b). A agrees to sell to B an estate with a house and garden for 1,00,000 rupees. It turns out that A is unable to convey the garden. A cannot obtain a decree against B for the specific performance of the contract; but if B is willing to pay the price agreed upon, and to take the estate and house without the garden, waiving all right to compensation either for the deficiency or for loss sustained by him through A's neglect or default, B is entitled to a decree, directing A to convey the house to him on payment of the purchase-money.

Bar in other cases of specific performance of part of agreement.

16. Except in cases coming under one or other of the two last preceding sections, it is not competent for the Court to direct the specific performance of a part of an agreement.

Purchaser's rights against vendor with imperfect title.

17. Where a person agrees to sell or let certain property, having only an imperfect title thereto, the purchaser or lessee (except as otherwise provided by this chapter) has the following rights:—

(a) if the vendor or lessor has subsequently acquired any interest in the property, the purchaser or lessee may compel him to make good the agreement out of such interest;

(b) where the concurrence of other persons is necessary to validate the title, and they are bound to convey at the vendor's or lessor's request, the purchaser or lessee may compel him to procure such concurrence;

(c) where the vendor professes to sell unincumbered property, but the property is mortgaged for an amount not exceeding the purchase-money, and the vendor has in fact only a right to redeem it, the purchaser may compel him to redeem the mortgage and obtain a conveyance from the mortgagee;

(d) where the vendor or lessor sues for specific performance of the agreement, and the suit is dismissed on the ground of his imperfect title, the defendant has a right to a return of his deposit (if any) with interest thereon, to the costs of the suit, and to a lien for such deposit, interest and costs on the property agreed to be sold or let.

Power to award compensation in certain cases.

18. Any person suing for the specific performance of an agreement, may also ask for compensation for its breach, either in addition to, or in substitution for, such performance.

If in any such suit the Court decides that specific performance ought not to be granted, but that there is a valid agreement between the parties which has been broken by the defendant and that the plaintiff is entitled to compensation for that breach, it shall award him compensation accordingly.

If in any such suit the Court decides that specific performance ought to be granted, but that it is not sufficient to satisfy the justice of the case, and that some compensation for breach of the agreement should also be made to the plaintiff, it shall award him such compensation accordingly.

Compensation awarded under this section may be assessed in such manner as the Court may direct.

EXPLANATION.—The circumstance that the agreement has become incapable of specific performance does not preclude the Court from exercising the jurisdiction conferred by this section.

Illustrations.

(a). A, a purchaser, sues B, his vendor, for specific performance of an agreement for the sale of a patent. Before the hearing of the suit, the patent expires. The Court may award A compensation for the non-performance of the agreement.

(b). A agrees with B to sell him a house for Rs. 1,000 the price to be paid and the possession given on the 1st January 1876. A fails to perform his part of the agreement, and B brings his suit for specific performance, which is decided in his favour on the 1st January 1877. The decree may, besides ordering specific performance, award to B compensation for any loss or damage which he has sustained by A's refusal.

(c). A sues for the specific performance of a resolution passed by the directors of a public company, under which he was entitled to have a certain number of shares allotted to him. All the shares had been allotted before the institution of the suit. The Court may, under this section, award A compensation for the non-performance.

(d). A contracts to sell a hundred maunds of rice to B. B brings a suit to compel A to perform the agreement or to pay compensation. The Court is of opinion that A has made a valid contract and has broken it without excuse to the injury of B, but that specific performance is not the proper remedy. It shall award to B such compensation as it deems just.

Liquidation of damages not a bar to specific performance.

19. An agreement, otherwise proper to be specifically enforced, may be thus enforced, though a sum be named in the agreement as the amount to be paid in case of its breach, and the party in default is willing to pay the same.

Illustration.

A agrees to grant B an underlease of property held by A under C, and covenants that if C refuses to grant a license necessary for that purpose, A will pay B Rs. 10,000. A refuses to apply for the license and offers to pay B the Rs. 10,000. B is nevertheless entitled to have the agreement specifically enforced.

(b). Agreements which cannot be specifically enforced.

Agreements not specifically enforcible.

20. The following agreements cannot be specifically enforced:—

(a) an agreement for the breach of which compensation could not be recovered;

(b) an agreement for the non-performance of which compensation in money is an adequate relief, and which does not come within section twelve, clause (a);

(c) an agreement which runs into such minute or numerous details, or which from its nature is such, that the Court cannot enforce specific performance of all its material terms;

(d) an agreement which is in its nature revocable;

(e) an agreement entered into by trustees either in excess of their powers or in breach of their trust;

(f) an agreement entered into by or on behalf of a corporation or public company created for special purposes, or by the promoters of such company, which is in excess of its powers;

(g) an agreement the performance of which involves the performance of a continuous duty extending over a longer period than five years from its date;

(h) an agreement to submit a controversy to arbitration.

Illustrations.

To (a).—A agrees in consideration of Rs. 500 to obtain an office under the Crown for B. This agreement cannot be specifically enforced.

A, a banker holding bills as a security for advances to B, takes a guarantee from B's brother, C, that the loss to the bank should not exceed Rs. 20,000. This transaction took place after B had commenced proceedings for the liquidation of his affairs and unknown to his other creditors with a view to prevent A from opposing a composition. The guarantee cannot be specifically enforced, as the transaction would have the effect of giving A an undue advantage over B's other creditors.

A, a military pensioner of Government, in consideration of Rs. 500, agrees to assign to B all future payments in respect of his pension. This agreement cannot be specifically enforced.

A husband and wife, professing the Christian religion, enter into an agreement providing for their future separation. This agreement cannot be specifically enforced.

A agrees to grant B a lease of a certain house. The length of the term to be granted is not stated, nor the date at which it is to commence. This agreement cannot be specifically enforced.

A agrees with B to take from B a lease of a certain house for a specified term, at a specified rent, "if the drawing-room is handsomely decorated." This agreement cannot be specifically enforced.

Z, a resident in Calcutta, agrees, as trustee for B, a resident in Australia, to sell to C an annuity to which B is entitled for his life. The day before the date of the agreement B had died. Z cannot enforce this agreement.

A, the lessee of a house much out of repair, agrees to sell the lease to B. Before the sale, A receives from his landlord a notice of re-entry in default of the premises being repaired. A does not communicate this notice to B, who enters and is ejected in consequence of the non-repair. A cannot enforce the agreement against B.

A, the owner of a patent, agrees to sell it to B. B institutes a suit to compel specific performance of this agreement. Before the suit is heard the patent expires. Specific performance of the agreement cannot be compelled.

On A's marriage with B, A's father, C, agrees with B's father, D, to settle certain lands on A and his children by B. D sues C to enforce specific performance of this agreement. C proves that the agreement was conditional on D settling a lákh of rupees on A and his children by B, and that D had not settled such lákh accordingly. The suit must be dismissed.

A, an author, agrees with B, a publisher, to complete a literary work, and dies before doing so. The agreement requiring A's personal skill and taste is discharged by his death, and B cannot enforce its performance as against A's representative.

A, a shoemaker, agrees with B to receive B's son as an apprentice for a term of years and teach him shoemaking. A dies before the expiration of the term. B cannot enforce performance of the agreement.

A and B enter into an agreement to become partners for a term and afterwards agree to rescind it.

A agrees to buy B's business at the amount of a valuation to be made by two valuers, one to be named by A and the other by B. A and B each name a valuer, but before the valuation is made A instructs his valuer not to proceed.

A agrees to buy certain houses in Calcutta, and before the completion of the agreement becomes insolvent. A's assignee, in exercise of his option under the Indian Insolvent Act, abandons the agreement.

In none of these cases can the agreement be specifically enforced.

To (b).—A agrees to sell, and B agrees to buy, a lákh of rupees in the four per cent. loan of the Government of India.

A agrees to sell, and B agrees to buy, 40 chests of indigo at Rs. 1,000 per chest.

In consideration of certain property having been transferred by A to B, B agrees to open a credit in A's favour to the extent of Rs. 10,000, and to honour A's drafts to that amount.

These agreements cannot be specifically enforced, for, in the first and the second both A and B, and in the third A, would be reimbursed by compensation in money.

To (c).—A agrees to render personal service to B.

A agrees to employ B on personal service.

By a charter party entered into in Calcutta between A, the owner of a ship, and B, the charterer, it is agreed that the ship shall proceed to Rangoon, and there load a cargo of rice, and thence proceed to London, freight to be paid, one-third on arrival at Rangoon, and two-thirds on delivery of the cargo in London.

These agreements cannot be specifically performed.

A lets land to B and B agrees to cultivate it in a particular manner for three years next after the date of the lease. A is not entitled to have this agreement specifically performed.

A and B agree that in consideration of annual advances to be made by A, B will for three years next after the date of the agreement grow particular crops on the land in his possession and deliver them to A when cut and ready for delivery. A is not entitled to have this agreement specifically performed.

A agrees with B to execute certain works which the Court cannot superintend.

A agrees to supply B with all the goods of a certain class which B may require.

These agreements cannot be specifically enforced.

To (d).—A and B agree to become partners in a certain business, the agreement not specifying the duration of the proposed partnership. This agreement cannot be specifically performed, for, if it were so performed, either A or B might at once dissolve the partnership.

To (e).—A is a trustee of land with power to lease it for seven years. He enters into an agreement with B to grant a lease of the land for seven years, with a covenant to renew the lease at the expiry of the term. This agreement cannot be specifically enforced.

The directors of a company have power to sell the concern with the sanction of a general meeting of the shareholders. They contract to sell it without any such sanction. This contract cannot be specifically enforced.

Two trustees, A and B, empowered to sell trust-property worth a lákh of rupees, agree to sell it to C for Rs. 30,000. The agreement is so disadvantageous as to be a breach of trust. C cannot enforce its specific performance.

The promoters of a company for working mines agree that the company, when formed, shall purchase certain mineral property. They take no proper precautions to ascertain the value of such property and in fact agree to pay an extravagant price therefor. They also stipulate that the vendors shall give them a bonus out of the purchase-money. This contract cannot be specifically enforced.

To (f).—A railway company contracts for the purchase of a piece of land for the purpose of erecting a cotton-mill thereon. This contract cannot be specifically enforced.

To (g).—A agrees to let for twenty-one years to B the right to use such part of a certain railway made by A as was upon B's land, and that B should have a right of running carriages over the whole line on certain terms, and might require A to supply the necessary engine-power, and that A should during the term keep the whole railway in good repair. Specific performance of this contract must be refused to B.

(c). Of the Discretion of the Court.

21. The jurisdiction to decree specific performance is discretionary, and the Court is not bound to grant such relief, merely because it is lawful to do so; but the discretion of the Court is not arbitrary but sound and reasonable, guided by judicial principles and capable of correction by a Court of appeal.

Discretion as to decreeing specific performance.

The following are cases in which the Court may properly exercise a discretion not to decree specific performance:—

I. Where, though it is clear that an agreement has been made and broken, the Court cannot find, with reasonable certainty, what are the terms of the agreement of which specific performance is sought.

Illustration.

(a). A, the owner of a refreshment-room, agrees with B to give him accommodation there for the sale of his goods and to furnish him with the necessary appliances. A refuses to perform his agreement. The case is one for compensation and not for specific performance, the amount and nature of the accommodation and appliances being undefined.

II. Where the circumstances under which the agreement is made are such as to give the plaintiff an unfair advantage over the defendant, though there may be no fraud or misrepresentation on the plaintiff's part.

Illustrations.

(b). A tenant for life of certain property assigns his interest therein to B. C agrees to buy, and B agrees to sell, that interest. Before the contract is completed, A receives a mortal injury from the effects of which he dies the day after the contract is completed. If B and C were equally ignorant or equally aware of the fact, B is entitled to specific performance. If B knew the fact and C did not, specific performance should be refused to B.

(c). A agrees to sell to B the interest of C in certain stock-in-trade. It is stipulated that the sale shall stand good, even though it should turn out that C's interest is worth nothing. In fact the value of C's interest depends on the result of certain partnership-accounts, on which he is heavily in debt to his partners. This indebtedness is known to A, but not to B. Specific performance of the agreement should be refused to A.

(d). A agrees to sell, and B agrees to buy, certain land. To protect the land from floods, it is necessary for its owner to maintain an expensive embankment. B does not know of this circumstance, and A industriously conceals it from him. Specific performance should be refused to B.

(e). A's property is put up to auction in one lot. B requests C, A's attorney, to bid for him. C does this inadvertently and in good faith. The persons present seeing the vendor's attorney bidding, think that he is a mere puffer and cease to compete. The lot is knocked down to B at a low price. Specific performance should be refused to B.

(f). A contracts with B who at the time is intoxicated. Specific performance should be refused to A.

III. Where the performance of the agreement would involve some hardship on the defendant which he did not foresee, whereas no such hardship would fall on the plaintiff if the agreement was not performed.

Illustrations.

(g). A is entitled to some land under his father's will on condition that, if he sells it within twenty-five years, half the purchase-money shall go to B. A, forgetting the condition, agrees, before the expiration of the twenty-five years, to sell the land to C. Here, the enforcement of the agreement would operate so harshly on A, that the Court will not compel its specific performance in favour of C.

(h). A and B, trustees, join their beneficiary, C, in an agreement to sell the trust-estate to D, and personally agree to exonerate the estate from heavy incumbrances to which it is subject. The purchase-money is not nearly enough to discharge those incumbrances, though, at the date of the agreement, the vendors believed it to be sufficient. Specific performance of the agreement should be refused to D.

(i). A, the owner of an estate, agrees to sell it to B, and stipulates that he, A, shall not be obliged to define its boundary. The estate really comprises a valuable property not known to either to be part of it. Specific performance of the agreement should be refused to B unless he waives his claim to the unknown property.

(j). A agrees with B to sell him certain land, and to make a road to it from a certain railway-station. It is found afterwards that A cannot make the road without exposing himself to litigation. Specific performance of the part of the agreement relating to the road should be refused to B, though he may be entitled to specific performance of the rest with compensation for loss of the road.

(k). A, a lessee of mines, agrees with B, his lessor, that at any time during the continuance of the lease B may give notice of his desire to take the machinery and plant used in and about the mines, and that he shall have the articles specified in his notice delivered to him at a valuation on the expiry of the lease. Such a contract might be most injurious to the lessee's business, and specific performance should be refused to B.

(l). A agrees to buy certain land from B. The agreement is silent as to access to the land. No right of way to it can be shown to exist. Specific performance of the contract should be refused to B.

(m). A agrees with B to buy from B's manufactory and not elsewhere all the goods of a certain class used by A in his trade. The Court cannot compel B to supply the goods, but if he does not supply them, A may be ruined unless he is allowed to buy them elsewhere. Specific performance of the agreement should be refused to B.

IV. The circumstance that the plaintiff has done substantial acts or suffered losses in consequence of an agreement susceptible of specific performance is one which the Court may reasonably consider in exercising its discretion to grant specific performance of such agreement.

Illustration.

A sells land to a railway company who agree to execute certain works for his convenience. The company take the land and use it for their railway. Specific performance of the agreement to execute the works should be awarded in favour of A.

(d.) For whom Agreements may be specifically enforced.

Who may obtain specific performance.

22. Except as otherwise provided by this chapter, the specific performance of an agreement may be obtained by—

(a) any party thereto.

(b) the representative in interest, or the principal, of any party thereto: provided that, where the learning, skill, solvency or any personal quality of such party is a material ingredient in the agreement, or where the agreement provides that his interest shall not be assigned, his representative in interest or principal shall not be entitled to specific performance of the agreement:

(c) where the agreement is a settlement on marriage, any person beneficially entitled thereunder:

(d) where the agreement has been entered into by a tenant for life in due exercise of a power, the remainderman:

(e) a reversioner in possession, where the agreement is a covenant entered into with his predecessor in title and the reversioner is entitled to the benefit of such covenant:

(f) a reversioner in remainder, where the agreement is such a covenant, and the reversioner is entitled to the benefit thereof and will sustain material injury by reason of its breach:

(g) when a public company has entered into an agreement and subsequently becomes amalgamated with another public company, the new company which arises out of the amalgamation:

(h) when the promoters of a public company have, before its incorporation, entered into an agreement for the purposes of the company, and such agreement is warranted by the terms of the incorporation, the company.

(e). For whom Agreements cannot be specifically enforced.

23. An agreement for the sale or letting of property cannot be specifically enforced in favour of a vendor or lessor—

Agreement to sell property by one who has no title or who is a voluntary settlor.

(a) who, knowing himself not to have any title to the property, has agreed to sell or let the same;

(b) who, though he entered into the agreement believing that he had a good title to the property, cannot at the time fixed by the parties or by the Court for the completion of the sale or letting give the purchaser or lessee a title free from reasonable doubt;

(c) who, previous to entering into the agreement, has made a voluntary settlement of the subject-matter thereof.

Illustrations.

(a). A agrees to sell to B an estate which A knows to belong to C. A cannot enforce specific performance of this agreement, even though C is willing to confirm it.

(b). A bequeaths his land to trustees, declaring that they should not sell it without the consent in writing of his sons and daughters. A dies. Then one of his daughters dies. The trustees then enter into an agreement with B to sell him the land. B refuses to carry out the agreement. The trustees cannot specifically enforce this agreement, as the title which they can give B is not free from reasonable doubt.

(c). A makes a voluntary settlement of certain property on his brothers and their issue, and afterwards enters into an agreement to sell the property to a stranger. A cannot enforce specific performance of this agreement so as to override the settlement and thus prejudice the interests of the persons claiming under it.

24. Specific performance of an agreement cannot be enforced in favour of a party—

Personal bars to the relief.

(a) who could not recover compensation for its breach;

(b) who has become incapable of performing, or violates, any essential term of the agreement that on his part remains to be performed; or

(c) who has already chosen his remedy and obtained satisfaction for the alleged breach of contract;

(d) who, previously to entering into the agreement, had notice that a voluntary settlement of the subject-matter thereof had been made.

Illustrations.

(a). A agrees to sell B a house and to become tenant thereof for a term of 14 years from the date of the sale at a specified yearly rent. A becomes insolvent. Neither he nor his assignee can enforce specific performance of the agreement. Neither can B, although he might recover compensation from A's assignee for breach of the agreement.

(b). A agrees to sell B a house and garden in which there are ornamental trees, a material element in the value of the property as a residence. A without B's consent fells the trees. A cannot enforce specific performance of the agreement.

(c). A, holding land under an agreement with B for a lease, commits waste, or treats the land in an unhusbandlike manner. A cannot enforce the agreement.

(d). A agrees to let, and B agrees to take, an unfinished house, B agreeing to finish the house and the lease to contain covenants on the part of A to keep the house in repair. B finishes the house in a very defective manner: he cannot enforce the agreement, though A and B may sue each other for compensation for breach of the agreement.

(e). A agrees to let, and B agrees to take, a house for a specified term at a specified rent. B refuses to perform the agreement. A thereupon sues for and obtains compensation for the breach of contract. A cannot obtain specific performance of the agreement.

(f). For whom Agreements cannot be specifically enforced except with a variation.

25. Where a plaintiff seeks specific performance of an agreement in writing, to which the defendant sets up a variation, the plaintiff cannot obtain the performance sought except with the variation so set up, in the following cases (namely):—

Non-enforcement except with variation.

(a) where by fraud or mistake of fact the agreement of which performance is sought is in terms different from that which the defendant supposed it to be when he entered into it;

(b) where by fraud, mistake of fact, or surprise the defendant entered into the agreement under a reasonable misapprehension as to its effect as between himself and the plaintiff;

(c) where the defendant, knowing the terms of the agreement and understanding its effect, has entered into it relying upon some misrepresentation by the plaintiff, or upon some stipulation on the plaintiff's part, which goes to vary the agreement, but which he refuses to fulfil;

(d) where the parties have varied the agreement subsequently to its execution.

Illustrations.

(a). A, B and C sign a writing by which each agrees to enter into a bond to D for Rs. 1,000. In a suit by D, to make A, B and C separately liable each to the extent of Rs. 1,000, they prove that the word 'each' was inserted by mistake; that the intention was that they should give a joint bond for Rs. 1,000. A can obtain the performance sought only with the variation thus set up.

(b). A sues B to compel specific performance of an agreement in writing to buy a dwelling-house. B proves that he assumed that the agreement included an adjoining yard, and the agreement was so framed as to leave it doubtful whether the yard was so included or not. The Court will refuse to enforce the agreement, except with the variation set up by B.

(c). A agrees in writing to let to B a wharf, together with a strip of A's land delineated in a map. Before signing the agreement, B proposed orally that he should be at liberty to substitute for the strip mentioned in the agreement another strip of A's land of the same dimensions, and to this A expressly assented. B then signed the written agreement. A cannot obtain specific performance of the written agreement except with the variation set up by B.

(d). A agrees in writing to let a house to B, for a certain term, at the rent of Rs. 100 per month, putting it first into tenantable repair. The house turns out to be not worth repairing, so with B's consent A pulls it down and erects a new house in its place: B agreeing orally to pay rent at Rs. 120 per mensem. B then sues to compel specific performance of the agreement in writing. He cannot enforce it except with the variations made by the subsequent oral agreement.

(g). Against whom Agreements may be specifically enforced.

26. Except as otherwise provided by this chapter, specific performance of an agreement may be enforced against—

Relief against parties and persons claiming under them by subsequent title.

(a) either party thereto;

(b) any other person claiming under him by a title arising subsequently to the agreement, except a transferee for value, who has paid his money in good faith and without notice of the original agreement;

(c) any person claiming under a title which, though prior to the agreement, and known to the plaintiff, might have been displaced by the defendant;

(d) when a public company has entered into an agreement, and subsequently becomes amalgamated with another public company, the new company which arises out of the amalgamation;

(e) when the promoters of a public company have, before its incorporation, entered into an agreement, the company: provided that the company has ratified and adopted the agreement and the agreement is warranted by the terms of the incorporation.

Illustrations.

(a). A agrees to convey certain land to B by a particular day. A dies intestate before that day without having conveyed the land. B may compel A's heir or other representative in interest to perform the agreement specifically.

(b). A agrees to sell certain land to B for Rs. 5,000. A afterwards conveys the land for Rs. 6,000 to C, who has notice of the original agreement. B may enforce specific performance of the agreement as against C.

(c). A agrees to sell land to B for Rs. 5,000. B takes possession of the land. Afterwards A sells it to C for Rs. 6,000. C makes no enquiry of B relating to his interest in the land. B's possession is sufficient to affect C with notice of his interest, and he may enforce the agreement against C.

(d). A agrees in consideration of Rs. 1,000 to bequeath certain of his lands to B. Immediately after the agreement A dies intestate, and C takes out administration to his estate. B may enforce the agreement against C.

(e). A agrees to sell certain land to B. Before the completion of the agreement, A becomes a lunatic and C is appointed his committee. B may specifically enforce the agreement against C.

(f). A, the tenant for life of an estate, with remainder to B, in due exercise of a power conferred by the settlement under which he is tenant for life, agrees to sell the estate to C, who has notice of the settlement. Before the sale is completed, A dies. C may enforce specific performance of the agreement against B.

(g). A and B are joint tenants of land, his undivided moiety of which either may alien in his lifetime, but which, subject to that right, devolves on the survivor. A agrees to sell his moiety to C and dies. C may enforce specific performance of the agreement against B.

(h). Against whom Agreements cannot be specifically enforced.

What parties cannot be compelled to perform.

27. Specific performance of an agreement cannot be enforced against a party thereto in any of the following cases:—

(a) if the consideration to be received by him is so grossly inadequate, with reference to the state of things existing at the date of the agreement, as to be either by itself or coupled with other circumstances evidence of fraud or of undue advantage taken by the plaintiff;

(b) if his assent was obtained by the misrepresentation (whether wilful or innocent), concealment, circumvention, or unfair practices, of any party to whom performance would become due under the contract, or by any promise of such party which has not been substantially fulfilled;

(c) if his assent was given under the influence of mistake of fact, misapprehension or surprise: Provided that, when the agreement provides for compensation in case of mistake, compensation may be made for a mistake within the scope of such provision, and the agreement may be specifically enforced in other respects if proper to be so enforced.

Illustrations.

(a). A, one of two executors, in the erroneous belief that he had the authority of his co-executor, enters into an agreement for the sale to B of his testator's property. B cannot insist on the sale being completed.

(b). A directs an auctioneer to sell certain land. A afterwards revokes the auctioneer's authority as to 20 bíghás of this land, but the auctioneer inadvertently sells the whole to B, who has not notice of the revocation. B cannot enforce specific performance of the agreement.

(i). The Effect of dismissing a Suit for Specific Performance.

Bar of suit for breach after dismissal.

28. The dismissal of a suit for specific performance of an agreement shall bar the plaintiff's right to sue for the breach of such agreement.

CHAPTER III.

OF THE RECTIFICATION OF INSTRUMENTS.

When instrument may be rectified.

29. When through fraud or a mutual mistake of the parties, a contract or other instrument in writing does not truly express the intention of the parties, the Court, on finding it clearly proved—

(a) that there has been fraud or mistake in framing the instrument, and

(b) that the intention of the parties in executing the instrument was as alleged by the plaintiff, may in its discretion rectify the instrument, so as to express that intention, so far as it can be done without prejudice to rights acquired by third persons, in good faith and for value.

Illustrations.

(a). A, intending to sell to B his house and one of three godowns adjacent to it, executes a conveyance prepared by B, in which, through B's fraud, all three godowns are included.

Of the two godowns which were fraudulently included, B gives one to C and lets the other to D for a rent, neither C nor D having any knowledge of the fraud.

The conveyance may, as against B and C, be rectified so as to exclude from it the godown given to C; but it cannot be rectified so as to affect D's lease.

(b). By a marriage-settlement, A, the father of B, the intended wife, covenanted with C, the intended husband, to pay to C, his executors, administrators and assigns, during A's life, an annuity of Rs. 5,000. C dies insolvent and the official assignee claims the annuity from A. The Court, on finding it clearly proved that the parties always intended that this annuity should be paid as a provision for B and her children, may rectify the settlement, and decree that the assignee has no right to any part of the annuity.

Presumption as to intent of parties.

30. For the purpose of rectifying a contract in writing, it must be presumed that all the parties thereto intended to make an equitable and conscientious agreement.

Principles of rectification.

31. In rectifying a written instrument, the Court may inquire what the instrument was intended to mean, and what were intended to be its legal consequences, and is not confined to the inquiry what the language of the instrument was intended to be.

Specific enforcement of rectified contract.

32. A contract in writing may be first rectified and then, if the plaintiff has so prayed in his plaint and the Court thinks fit, specifically enforced.

Illustration.

A agrees in writing to pay his attorney, B, a fixed sum in lieu of costs.

The agreement contains mistakes as to the name and rights of the client, which, if construed strictly, would have excluded B from all rights under the agreement. B is entitled, if the Court thinks fit, to have it rectified, and to an order for payment of the sum, as if at the time of its execution it had expressed the intention of the parties.

CHAPTER IV.

OF THE RESCISSION OF CONTRACTS.

33. Any person interested in a contract in writing may sue to have it rescinded, and such rescission may be adjudged by the Court, in any of the following cases, namely:—

When rescission may be adjudged.

(a) where the contract is voidable or terminable by the plaintiff;

(b) where the contract is unlawful for causes not apparent on its face, and the defendant is more to blame than the plaintiff;

(c) where a decree for specific performance of a contract of sale, or of a contract to take a lease, has been made, and the purchaser or lessee makes default in payment of the purchase-money or other sums which the Court has ordered him to pay.

EXPLANATION.—In the case mentioned in clause (c) of this section, when the purchaser or lessor is in possession of the subject-matter, the Court may also order him to pay to the vendor or lessor the rents and profits, if any, received by him, together with the costs occasioned by the non-completion of the purchase or lease.

Illustration.

To (b)—A, an attorney, induces B, his client, to transfer property to him for the purpose of defrauding B's creditors. Here the parties are not equally in fault, and B is entitled to have the instrument of transfer rescinded.

34. Rescission of a contract in writing cannot be adjudged for mere mistake, unless the party against whom it is adjudged can be restored to substantially the same position as if the contract had not been made.

Rescission for mistake.

35. A plaintiff instituting a suit for the specific performance of a contract in writing may pray in the alternative that, if the contract cannot be enforced, it may be rescinded and delivered up to be cancelled.

Alternative prayer for rescission in suit for specific performance.

36. On adjudging the rescission of a contract, the Court may require the party to whom such relief is granted to make any compensation to the other which justice may require.

Court may require party rescinding to do equity.

CHAPTER V.

OF THE CANCELLATION OF INSTRUMENTS.

37. Any person having reasonable apprehension that a written instrument, if left outstanding, may cause serious injury to a person against whom it is void or voidable, may sue to have it so adjudged, and the Court may, in its discretion, so adjudge it and order it to be delivered up and cancelled.

When cancellation may be ordered.

Illustrations.

(a). A, the owner of a ship, by fraudulently representing her to be seaworthy, induces B, an underwriter, to insure her. B may obtain the cancellation of the policy.

(b). A conveys land to B, who bequeaths it to C and dies. Thereupon, D gets possession of the land, and produces a forged instrument stating that the conveyance was made to B in trust for him. C may obtain the cancellation of the forged instrument.

(c). A, representing that the tenants on his land were all at will, sells it to B, and conveys it to him by an instrument dated the 1st January 1875. Soon after that day, A fraudulently grants to C a lease of part of the lands, dated the 1st October 1874. B may obtain the cancellation of this lease.

(d). A agrees to sell and deliver a ship to B, to be paid for by B's acceptances of four bills of exchange, for sums amounting to Rs. 10,000, to be drawn by A on B. The bills are drawn and accepted, but the ship is not delivered according to the agreement. A sues B on one of the bills. B may obtain the cancellation of all the bills.

38. Where an instrument is evidence of different rights or different obligations, the Court may, in a proper case, cancel it in part and allow it to stand for the residue.

What instruments may be partially cancelled.

Illustration.

A draws a bill on B, who endorses it to C, by whom it appears to be endorsed to D, who endorses it to E. C's endorsement is forged. C is entitled to have such endorsement cancelled, leaving the bill to stand as regards A, B, D and E.

39. On adjudging the cancellation of an instrument, the Court may require the party to whom such relief is granted to make any compensation to the other which justice may require.

Power to require party for whom instrument is cancelled to make compensation

CHAPTER VI.

OF DECLARATORY DECREES.

40. Any person entitled to any legal character, or to any future right as to any property, may institute a suit against any person denying, or interested to deny, his title to such character or right, and the Court may in its discretion make therein a declaration that he is so entitled, and the plaintiff need not in such suit ask for any further relief.

Discretion of Court as to declarations of status or right.

EXPLANATION.—A trustee of property is a person interested to deny a title adverse to the title of some one who is not in existence, and for whom, if in existence, he would be a trustee.

Provided that no Court shall make any such declaration in any of the following cases:—

Bar to such declaration.

(a) where the right as to which the declaration is sought is contingent, or may never arise;

(b) where the plaintiff is in possession of the right which he seeks to have declared;

(c) where the right respecting which the declaration is sought could be enforced by ordinary suit.

EXPLANATION.—The presumptive right of a Hindú to property, if he survive the widow of a sonless Hindú, is not within clause (a) of the above proviso.

Illustrations.

(a). A bequeaths his property to B, C and D, "to be equally divided amongst all and each of them, if living at the time of my death, then amongst their surviving children." No such children are in existence. In a suit against A's executor, the Court may declare whether B, C and D took the property absolutely, or only for their lives, but it may not declare the interests of the children before their rights are vested.

(b). A covenants that if he should at any time be entitled to property exceeding one lákh of rupees, he will settle it upon certain trusts. Before any such property accrues, or any persons entitled under the trusts are ascertained, he institutes a suit to obtain a declaration that the covenant is void for uncertainty. The Court cannot make the declaration.

(c). The widow of a sonless Hindú alienates part of the property of which she is in possession as such. The person presumptively entitled to possess the property if he survive her, may, in a suit against the alienee, obtain a declaration that the alienation was made without legal necessity and was therefore void beyond the widow's life-time.

(d). A Hindú widow in possession of property adopts a son to her deceased husband. The person presumptively entitled to possession of the property on her death without a son may, in a suit against the adopted son, obtain a declaration that the adoption was invalid.

(e). A is in possession of certain property. B, alleging that he is the owner of the property, requires A to deliver it to him. This alone is not enough to entitle A to a declaration of his right to hold the property.

(f). A bequeaths property to B for his life, with remainder to B's wife and her children, if any, by B, but if B die without any wife or children, to C. B has a putative wife, D, and children, but C denies that B and D were ever lawfully married. D and her children may, in B's life-time, institute a suit against C and obtain therein a declaration that they are truly the wife and children of B.

Effect of declaration

41. A declaration made under this chapter is binding only on the parties to the suit, persons claiming through them respectively, and, where any of the parties are trustees, on the persons for whom, if in existence, such parties would be trustees.

Illustration.

A, a Hindú, in a suit to which B, his alleged wife, and her mother are defendants, seeks a declaration that his marriage was duly solemnized and an order for the restitution of his conjugal rights. The Court makes the declaration and order. C, claiming that B is his wife, then sues A for the recovery of B. The declaration made in the former suit is not binding upon C.

CHAPTER VII.

OF THE ENFORCEMENT OF PUBLIC DUTIES.

Power to order public servants and others to do certain specific acts.

42. Any of the High Courts of Judicature at Fort William, Madras and Bombay may, on application, make an order requiring any specific act to be done by any person holding a public office of a permanent nature, or by any corporation or inferior Court of Judicature: provided—

(a) that such act is clearly incumbent on such person or Court in his or its public character, or on such corporation in its corporate character;

(b) that, in the opinion of the High Court, such act is consonant to right and justice;

(c) that the applicant has no other specific and adequate legal remedy; and

(d) that the remedy given by the order applied for will be complete.

Exemptions from such power.

Nothing in this section shall be deemed to authorize any High Court—

(e) to make any order binding on the Secretary of State for India in Council, on the Governor General in Council, on the Governor of Madras in Council, on the Governor of Bombay in Council, or on the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal; or

(f) to make any order on any other servant of the Crown, as such, merely to enforce the satisfaction of a claim upon the Crown.

Application how made.

43. Every application under section forty-two must be founded on an affidavit of the party injured, stating his right in the matter in question, his demand of justice and the denial thereof; and the High Court may, in its discretion, either make the order applied for absolute in the first instance, or refuse it and grant a rule to show cause why the order applied for should not be made.

Procedure thereon.

Order in alternative.

If, in the latter case, the party complained of shows no sufficient cause, the High Court may first make an order in the alternative, either to do the act required, or to signify some reason to the contrary and make an answer thereto by such day as the High Court fixes in this behalf.

Peremptory order.

44. If the person to whom such order is directed makes no answer, or makes an insufficient or a false answer, the High Court may then issue a peremptory order to do the act absolutely.

Execution of, and appeal from, orders.

45. Every order under this chapter shall be executed, and may be appealed from, as if it were a decree made in the exercise of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the High Court.

Costs.

46. The costs of all applications and orders under this chapter shall be in the discretion of the High Court.

Bar to issue of mandamus.

47. Neither the High Court nor any Judge thereof shall hereafter issue any writ of mandamus.

Power to frame rules.

48. Each of the said High Courts shall, as soon as conveniently may be, frame rules to regulate the procedure under this chapter; and until such rules are framed, the practice of such Court as to applications for and grants of writs of mandamus shall apply, so far as may be practicable, to applications and orders under this chapter.

PART III.

OF PREVENTIVE RELIEF.

CHAPTER VIII.

OF INJUNCTIONS GENERALLY.

Preventive relief how granted.

49. Preventive relief is granted at the discretion of the Court by injunction, temporary or perpetual.

Temporary injunctions.

50. Temporary injunctions are such as are to continue until a specified time. They may be granted at any period of a suit, and are regulated by the Code of Civil Procedure.

Perpetual injunctions.

A perpetual injunction can only be granted by the decree made at the hearing and upon the merits of the suit: the defendant is thereby perpetually enjoined from the assertion of a right, or from the commission of an act, which would be contrary to the rights of the plaintiff.

CHAPTER IX.

OF PERPETUAL INJUNCTIONS.

Perpetual injunctions when granted.

51. Subject to the other provisions contained in, or referred to by, this chapter, a perpetual injunction may be granted to prevent the breach of an obligation existing in favour of the applicant, whether express or implied.

When such obligation arises from contract, the Court shall be guided by the rules and provisions contained in chapter II of this Act.

When such obligation arises from an actual or threatened invasion by the defendant of the plaintiff's right to, or enjoyment of, property, the Court may grant a perpetual injunction in the following cases (namely)—

(a) where the parties have expressly agreed in writing that, in case of such invasion, a perpetual injunction may be granted:

(b) where there exists no standard for ascertaining the actual damage caused by the invasion:

(c) where the invasion is such that pecuniary compensation would not afford adequate relief:

(d) where it is probable that pecuniary compensation cannot be got for the invasion:

(e) where the injunction is necessary to prevent a multiplicity of judicial proceedings:

(f) where the obligation arises from a trust.

Illustrations.

(a.) A lets certain land to B, and B agrees not to dig sand or gravel thereout. A may obtain an injunction to restrain B from digging in violation of his agreement.

(b.) A, the owner of two adjoining houses, lets one to B and afterwards lets the other to C. A and C begin to make such alterations in the house let to C as will prevent the comfortable enjoyment of the house let to B. B may obtain an injunction to restrain them from doing so.

(c.) A lets certain arable lands to B for purposes of husbandry, but without any express agreement as to the mode of cultivation. Contrary to the mode of cultivation customary in the district, B threatens to sow the lands with seed injurious thereto and requiring many years to eradicate. A may obtain an injunction to restrain B from sowing the lands in contravention of his implied agreement to use them in a husbandlike manner.

(d.) A, B and C are partners, the partnership being determinable at will. A threatens to do an act tending to the destruction of the partnership-property. B and C may, without seeking a dissolution of the partnership, obtain an injunction to restrain A from doing the act.

(e.) A, a Hindú widow in possession of her deceased husband's property, commits destruction of the property without any cause sufficient to justify her in so doing. The heir expectant may obtain an injunction to restrain her.

(f) A, B and C are members of an undivided Hindú family. A cuts timber growing on the family-property, and threatens to destroy part of the family-house and to sell some of the family-utensils. B and C may obtain an injunction to restrain him.

(g.) A, the owner of certain houses in Calcutta, becomes insolvent. B buys them from the official assignee and enters into possession. A persists in trespassing on and damaging the houses, and B is thereby compelled, at considerable expense, to employ men to protect the possession. B may obtain an injunction to restrain further acts of trespass.

(h.) The inhabitants of a village claim a right of way over A's land. In a suit against several of them, A obtains a declaratory decree that his land is subject to no such right. Afterwards each of the other villagers sues A for obstructing his alleged right of way over the land. A may obtain an injunction to restrain them.

(i.) A, in an administration-suit to which a creditor, B, is not a party, obtains a decree for the administration of C's assets. B proceeds against C's estate for his debt. A may obtain an injunction to restrain B.

(j.) A and B are in possession of contiguous lands and of the mines underneath them. A works his mine so as to extend under B's mine and threatens to remove certain pillars which help to support B's mine. B may obtain an injunction to restrain him from so doing.

(k.) A rings bells or makes some other unnecessary noise so near a house as to interfere materially and unreasonably with the physical comfort of the occupier, B. B may obtain an injunction restraining A from making the noise.

(l.) A pollutes the air with smoke so as to interfere materially with the physical comfort of B and C, who carry on business in a neighbouring house. B and C may obtain an injunction to restrain the pollution.

(m.) A builds a house with eaves projecting over B's land. B may obtain an injunction to prevent A from so doing.

(n.) A infringes B's patent. If the Court is satisfied that the patent is valid and has been infringed, B may obtain an injunction to restrain the infringement.

(o.) A pirates B's copyright. B may obtain an injunction to restrain the piracy, unless the work of which copyright is claimed is libellous or obscene.

(p.) A improperly uses the trademark of B. B may obtain an injunction to restrain the user, provided that B's use of the trademark is honest.

(q.) In order to sell his goods, A uses marks, labels or descriptions so closely resembling those used by B as to be likely to deceive buyers into thinking that they are actually buying B's goods. B may obtain an injunction to restrain the user, provided his own use of the marks, labels or descriptions be an honest one.

(r.) A sells an article called "Mexican Balm", stating that it is compounded of divers rare essences, and has sovereign medicinal qualities. B commences to sell a similar article to which he gives a name and description such as to lead people into the belief that they are buying A's Mexican Balm. A sues B for an injunction to restrain the sale. B shows that A's Mexican Balm consists of nothing but scented hog's lard. A's use of his description is not an honest one and he cannot obtain an injunction.

(s.) A trustee threatens a breach of trust. His co-trustees, if any, should, and the beneficial owners may, obtain an injunction to prevent the breach.

(t.) The directors of a public company are about to pay a dividend out of capital or borrowed money. Any of the shareholders may obtain an injunction to restrain them.

(u.) The directors of a fire and life-insurance company are about to engage in marine insurances. Any of the shareholders may obtain an injunction to restrain them.

(v.) A, an executor, through misconduct or insolvency, is bringing the property of the deceased into danger. The Court may grant an injunction to restrain him from getting in the assets.

(w.) A, a tradesman, holds out B as his partner against the wish and without the authority of B. B may obtain an injunction to restrain A from so doing.

(x.) A, a trustee for B, is about to make an imprudent sale of a small part of the trust-property. B may obtain an injunction to restrain the sale, even though compensation in money would have afforded him adequate relief.

(y.) A makes a voluntary settlement of an estate on B and his children. A then contracts to sell the estate to C. B or any of his children may obtain an injunction to restrain the sale.

(z.) In the course of A's employment as a vakíl, certain papers belonging to his client, B, come into his possession. A threatens to make those papers public, or to communicate their contents to a stranger. B may obtain an injunction to restrain A from so doing.

(aa.) A mortgages lands to B with the usual power of sale. C and D then recover judgments against A. B exercises the power and threatens to part with the surplus-monies. As regards these, he is a trustee for A and those claiming under A. C and D may therefore obtain an injunction to restrain B from parting with the surplus.

(bb.) A is B's medical adviser. He demands money of B which B declines to pay. A then threatens to make known the effect of B's communications to him as a patient. This is contrary to A's duty, and B may obtain an injunction to restrain him from so doing.

(cc.) A, a very eminent man, writes letters on family-topics to B. After the death of A and B, C, who is B's residuary legatee, proposes to make money by publishing A's letters. D, who is A's executor, has a property in the letters, and can obtain an injunction to restrain C from publishing them.

(dd.) A carries on a manufactory and B is his assistant. In the course of his business, A imparts to B a secret process of value. B afterwards demands money of A, threatening, in case of refusal, to disclose the process to C, a rival-manufacturer. A can obtain an injunction to restrain B from disclosing the process as being a thing contrary to his duty.

52. When, to prevent the breach of an obligation, it is necessary to compel the performance of certain acts which the Court is capable of enforcing, the Court may in its discretion grant an injunction to prevent the breach complained of, and also to compel performance of the requisite acts.

Mandatory injunctions.

Illustrations.

(a.) A, by new buildings, obstructs lights to the access and use of which B has acquired a right under the Indian Limitation Act, Part IV. B may obtain an injunction not only to restrain A from going on with the buildings, but also to pull down so much of them as obstructs B's lights.

(b.) In the case put as illustration (bb) to section 51, the Court may also order all written communications made by B, as patient, to A, as physician, to be destroyed.

(c.) In the case put as illustration (cc) to section 51, the Court may also order A's letters to be destroyed.

(d.) In the cases put as illustrations (p), (q) and (r) to section 51, the Court may also order the copies produced by piracy, and the trademarks, labels and descriptions improperly used, by A to be destroyed.

Injunction when refused.

53. An injunction cannot be granted—

(a) to stay a judicial proceeding pending at the institution of the suit in which the injunction is sought, unless such restraint is necessary to prevent a multiplicity of proceedings:

(b) to stay proceedings in a Court superior to that from which the injunction is sought:

(c) to restrain persons from applying to any legislative body:

(d) to interfere with the public duties of any department of the Government of India or the Local Government, or with the sovereign acts of a foreign Government:

(e) to stay proceedings in any criminal matter:

(f) to prevent the breach of an agreement the performance of which would not be specifically enforced:

(g) to prevent, on the ground of nuisance, an act of which it is not reasonably clear that it will be a nuisance:

(h) to prevent a libel or other act, whether punishable by criminal law or not, which is not an invasion of the plaintiff's right to, or his enjoyment of, property, and is not inconsistent with any contract made by the defendant with the plaintiff, or with any special duty which the defendant owes to the plaintiff:

(i) to prevent a continuing breach in which the applicant has acquiesced:

(j) when equally efficacious relief can certainly be obtained by any other usual mode of proceeding, except in case of breach of trust:

(k) when the conduct of the applicant or his agents has been such as to disentitle him to the assistance of the Court:

(l) where the applicant has no personal interest in the matter.

Illustrations.

(a.) A being B's neighbour, and having no other relations with him, threatens to publish a statement concerning B which would be punishable under chapter XXI of the Indian Penal Code. The Court cannot grant an injunction to restrain the publication, even though it may be injurious to B's property.

(b.) A, being B's medical adviser, threatens to publish B's communications with him, showing that B has led an immoral life: B may obtain an injunction to restrain the publication.

(c.) A applies for an injunction to restrain B from working mines under A's land. It appears that B has been working them with A's permission for eight years. The injunction should be refused.

(d.) A seeks an injunction to restrain his partner, B, from receiving the partnership-debts and effects. It appears that A had improperly possessed himself of the books of the firm and refused B access to them. The Court will refuse the injunction.

(e.) A manufactures and sells crucibles, designating them as "patent plumbago crucibles", though, in fact, they have never been patented. B pirates the designation. A cannot obtain an injunction to restrain the piracy

54. Notwithstanding section fifty-three, clause (f), where a contract comprises an affirmative agreement to do a certain act, coupled with a negative agreement express or implied not to do a certain act, the circumstance that the Court is unable to compel specific performance of the affirmative agreement, shall not preclude it from granting an injunction to perform the negative agreement; provided that the applicant has not failed to perform the contract so far as it is binding on him.

Injunctions to perform negative agreement.

Illustrations.

(a.) A agrees to sell to B for rupees 1,000 the good-will of a certain business unconnected with business-premises, and further agrees not to carry on that business in Calcutta. B pays A the rupees 1,000, but A carries on the business in Calcutta. The Court cannot compel A to send his customers to B, but B may obtain an injunction restraining A from carrying on the business in Calcutta.

(b.) A agrees to sell to B the good-will of a business. A then sets up a similar business close by B's shop, and solicits his old customers to deal with him. This is contrary to his implied agreement, and B may obtain an injunction to restrain A from soliciting the customers, and from doing any act whereby their good-will may be withdrawn from B.

(c.) A agrees with B to sing for twelve months at B's theatre and not to sing in public elsewhere. B cannot obtain specific performance of the agreement to sing, but he is entitled to an injunction restraining A from singing at any other place of entertainment.

(d.) B agrees with A that he will serve him faithfully for twelve months as a clerk. A is not entitled to a decree for specific performance of this agreement. But he is entitled to an injunction restraining B from serving a rival-house as clerk.

(e.) A agrees with B that, in consideration of rupees 1,000 to be paid to him by B on a day fixed, he will not set up a certain business within a specified distance. B fails to pay the money. A cannot be restrained from carrying on the business within the specified distance.

SCHEDULE.

(See section 2.)

Number and year	Subject.	Extent of repeal.
VIII of 1859	Code of Civil Procedure ...	Secs. 15 and 192.
XIV of 1859	Limitation Act	Sec. 15.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill, which is intended as a supplement to the Code of Civil Procedure, as revised and published in March 1875, is to define and amend the law relating to specific and preventive relief.

2. Under the head of specific relief, it deals with suits for—

(a) the possession of specific property, moveable or immoveable,
(b) the specific performance of agreements,
(c) the rectification of instruments,
(d) the rescission of contracts,
(e) the cancellation of instruments,
(f) declaratory decrees, and
(g) the enforcement of public duties.

3. Under the head of preventive relief, it treats of perpetual injunctions.

4. The chapter relating to the recovery of possession of specific property embodies the English rules as to detinue, and the useful provision of the Indian Act, XIV of 1859, section 15, as to the right of persons informally dispossessed of land to recover possession by a summary suit. Words have been introduced to show expressly that this provision does not apply to lands claimed to belong to Government. This exemption in effect resulted from section 17 of Act XIV of 1859.

5. The matter of the chapter relating to specific performance is distributed under the following heads:—

(a) Agreements which may be specifically enforced:
(b) Agreements which cannot be specifically enforced:
(c) For whom agreements may be specifically enforced:
(d) Of the discretion of the Court:
(e) For whom agreements may not be specifically enforced:
(f) For whom agreements may not be specifically enforced, except with a variation:
(g) Against whom agreements may be specifically enforced:
(h) Against whom agreements may not be specifically enforced:
(i) The effect of dismissing a suit for specific performance.

It attempts to codify the English law on this subject with the following modifications:—

6. Subject to the negative rules afterwards set forth in this chapter, the Bill empowers the Courts to decree specific performance of any agreement when the parties have expressly agreed in writing that specific performance thereof may be required by either of them, or that damages shall not be considered adequate relief. This novel provision, taken from the New York Civil Code, is one of the means by which the Bill proposes to extend a useful jurisdiction, one, it may be remarked, peculiarly adapted to India, where the alternative remedy for a breach of contract, that, namely, of damages, is, owing to the poverty of the bulk of the population and the difficulty of executing money-decrees, often so utterly nugatory.

7. In England it has more than once been ruled that the Court of Chancery will not compel the performance of a continuous duty extending over many years. The Bill renders this doctrine more precise by declaring that an agreement, the performance of which necessarily involves the performance of continuous duties over a longer period than five years from its date, shall not be specifically enforced. Whether this is the best limit of time, will be a point for consideration before the Bill is passed.

8. With regard to specific performance of contracts to execute buildings or to cultivate lands, the Bill is intended to express the present law.

9. The rules as to when a contract for the sale of a married woman's estate will be specifically enforced are in England excessively complicated. The Bill makes no distinction in her case, and thus recognizes the principle embodied in the Indian Succession Act, section 4, and Act III of 1874.

10. In England a voluntary settlement of personal chattels is binding on the settlor and cannot be defeated by a subsequent sale. But it is otherwise in the case of freeholds, copyholds and leaseholds, and specific performance of a subsequent agreement to sell land may be enforced against the voluntary settlor and the parties claiming under the settlement. The Bill does not recognize this distinction (which is due to an artificial construction of 27 Eliz., c. 4), and treats land, in this respect, as if it were moveable property.

11. The absence in India of any enactments resembling the Statute of Frauds, sections 1, 3, 4 and 17, renders it unnecessary to embody in the Bill the intricate rules of the Court of Chancery as to when a parol agreement relating to land will, and when it will not, be specifically enforced.

12. It seems impossible to elicit a consistent doctrine from the English decisions as to the rights of a purchaser or lessee to specific performance with abatement or compensation when the title of the person agreeing to sell or lease is defective. The Bill lays down that only in one case can such relief be granted, namely, where the part of the agreement which must be left unperformed bears only a small proportion to the whole in value and admits of compensation in money. This will relieve the Courts from the exercise of a duty which, in many cases, must be more a matter of guesswork than of judicial discretion.

13. The right to enforce a contract specifically may, in England, be lost by delay in resorting to the Court, and a large mass of cases exists relating to this doctrine. The Bill contains no rules on the subject, for in India the provision of the Limitation Act (IX of 1871), schedule II, No. 113, that suits for specific performance must be brought within three years from the day on which the plaintiff has notice that performance is refused, renders the doctrine of laches inapplicable to this kind of litigation. See 2 Mad. High Court Rep. 114, 270.

14. It seems to be erroneously supposed by some of the Mofussil Judges that, when a contract is proved, the grant of a decree for its specific performance is a matter of course. Care has been taken in this chapter to show distinctly that the grant of such decrees is purely within the sound discretion of the Court.

15. As in this country all remedies on an agreement can be granted by one and the same Court, it is conceived that only one suit should lie on account of its non-performance. It has on this account been provided in section 28 that if a suit for specific performance is dismissed, no other suit shall be brought on the same agreement.

16. Chapter III, as to the rectification of instruments, chapter IV, as to the rescission of contracts and chapter V, as to the cancellation of instruments, require no special notice. They are taken, with a few verbal changes, from the New York Civil Code, and represent substantially the law on these subjects administered by English Courts of Equity.

17. Chapter VI, as to declaratory decrees, is intended to take the place of Act VIII of 1859, section 15, and differs from the English law on the subject principally in authorising the Court to make declarations of future rights, provided only that such rights are vested. In the absence of such a jurisdiction, it would seem to be necessary to authorise suits to perpetuate testimony, and there are obvious reasons why such suits should not be allowed in India.

18. Chapter VII deals with the subject of mandamus, and applies only to the Presidency High Courts. Care has been taken to exempt from orders under this chapter the Secretary of State in Council, the Government of India, and the Local Governments.

19. In Part III are contained some general rules as to when perpetual injunctions will, and when they will not, be granted. The chief modifications of the present law which the Bill proposes to make are as follows:—

20. By the Bill, the Courts are expressly given power to grant injunctions to do substantive acts, when such injunctions are necessary to prevent the breach of an obligation. In England, the same thing is partially effected by the indirect method of making orders, called mandatory injunctions, to refrain from leaving a thing undone.

21. Under the Bill, an injunction to restrain a partner may be obtained without seeking a dissolution of the partnership, even when the partnership is determinable at will. In England the rule on this subject is still unsettled.

22. In England a married executrix will, as a rule, be restrained from getting in the assets if her husband be out of the jurisdiction, or a lunatic. The reason is that the husband, and he alone, is liable for a devastavit committed by his wife. The Indian Succession Act, sections 4 and 275, appears to relieve husbands of this liability, and the Bill accordingly contains no provision on the subject.

23. It is hardly necessary to observe that, in a country where law and equity are administered by the same Courts, the subject of staying legal proceedings need not be dealt with at much length. The provisions of the Bill relating to this matter are contained in section 56, clause (c), illustration (m), and in section 57, clauses (a) and (b), which relate to injunctions necessary to prevent a multiplicity of suits.

24. It may, in conclusion, be remarked that most of the many illustrations contained in the Bill are taken from the English Equity Reports.

THE REPORT ON IRRIGATION REVENUE FOR THE YEAR 1874-75.

No. 836I.A.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, in the Public Works Department, Irrigation Branch, under date the 10th December 1875.

The total capital outlay on irrigation works in Bengal to the end of 1874-75 amounted to Rs. 3,65,16,108, of which Rs. 49,97,142 were expended during the year.

2. The outlay is debitable as follows:—

Canals more or less incomplete, but in operation and yielding revenue, viz:—

	Rs.	Rs.
Orissa Canals	1,55,19,508
Midnapore Canal	61,30,403
Tidal „	17,98,183
		2,34,48,094

Canals partly finished, but not yet in operation, and projects under investigation, viz:—

	Rs.	Rs.
Sone Canal	1,26,24,628
North Behar Irrigation Scheme	2,09,873
Hooghly ditto ditto	75,454
Damooda Canal (in abeyance)	1,58,059
		1,30,68,014

3. The gross revenue for the year from all sources was Rs. 2,17,593, against Rs. 1,47,688 for the previous year.

4. The cost of maintenance and repairs was Rs. 2,98,298, and of revenue management Rs. 61,687.

5. The receipts therefore fell short of the working expenses by Rs. 1,42,392. The deficit was mainly due to the Orissa Canals, and is thus accounted for, viz:—

		Rs.
Orissa Canals deficit	... ...	1,47,942
Midnapore Canal „	... ...	12,807
	Total deficit ...	1,60,749
Tidal Canal surplus	... ...	18,357
	Net deficit ...	1,42,392

6. The Tidal Canal is a navigation work and derives no income from irrigation. It is the only canal which has as yet paid any interest upon capital. The surplus for the year was at the rate of 1·02 per cent. upon the outlay.

7. The charges for interest upon the capital invested in revenue-paying canals amounted for the year to Rs. 10,13,912, and to the end of the year to Rs. 45,40,783.

8. The excess of working expenses over income was for the year Rs. 1,42,392, and to the end of the year Rs. 7,97,789.

9. The combined charges for interest and deficit on working were for the year Rs. 11,56,304, to the end of the year Rs. 53,38,572.

10. The total accumulated debt on account of interest and excess of expenses over income on all the irrigation works in the province was for the year Rs 16,86,757, and to the end of the year Rs. 68,92,515.

11. The cost of maintenance and repairs, though still in most cases in excess of the income of the canals, is moderate, and shows but a very small percentage upon the capital outlay.

12. The cost of revenue management was excessive in Orissa, owing to the small demand for water. In Midnapore it was as low as 16·4 per cent. upon the collections of water-rates only.

13. The total area irrigated was 94,777 acres, against 48,920 acres in the previous year.

14. In Orissa the year was one of excessive rainfall, 80 inches having been registered. The demand for water was nevertheless in excess of former years, the areas irrigated having been in—

1872-73	... ...	4,753
1873-74	... ...	12,571
1874-75	... ...	22,459

The highest area is still but a small fraction of that for which water is available.

15. In Midnapore the rainfall, which was 52 inches, was slightly below the average. There also, however, an increase of irrigation is apparent. The area irrigated was in—

		Acres.
1871-72	... ...	6,028
1872-73	... ...	14,130
1873-74	... ...	36,349
1874-75	... ...	72,318

16. A cyclone, which passed over the district in October 1874, devastated the crops of the irrigated portion, rendering necessary large remissions of water-rates and considerable postponements of collections.

17. There was no irrigation from the Sone Canals during the year, none of them being in a sufficiently forward state.

18. The Navigation receipts were in—

		Rs.
Orissa	... ...	21,412
Midnapore	... ...	44,886
Tidal Canal	... ...	52,209
	Total ..	1,18,507

or Rs. 37,848 in excess of the collections of the previous year.

This increase was in spite of the closure of the Midnapore and Tidal Canals for special repairs during the three most profitable months of the year

19. Two hundred miles of canal were in use: the receipts were therefore at the rate of Rs. 592 per mile.

20. The statistics of the canal traffic are important. The tonnage of cargoes carried in boats paying tolls during the year was—

		Tons.
Orissa	... ...	57,312
Midnapore	... ...	168,090
Tidal Canal	... ...	132,282
	Total ...	357,684

21. The total value of this tonnage is computed at £1,800,000 sterling.
22. On the whole a steady growth is apparent in the revenues from all the canals.
23. The outlay on construction, inclusive of surveys and investigation of new projects during the year, was –

					Rs.
Orissa Canals	...	...	...	...	16,06,144
Midnapore Canal	...	..	...		3,32,471
Tidal „	...	..	...	...	14,648
Sone Canals		...	...	...	27,58,810
North Behar Irrigation Surveys		..	...	...	2,09,873
Hooghly Irrigation Scheme		...	...	...	75,454
Damoodur Canal (in abeyance)		...	...	...	—258
			Total	...	49,97,142

The principal outlay took place in Orissa and on the Sone. In the latter project the works were vigorously pushed forward, but none were actually brought into use.

Some progress was made with the projects for small irrigation works in North Behar.

24. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are due to Colonel Gulliver, R.E., for his able management of the Irrigation Department during the year. The services of Messrs. Levinge and Walker, Superintending Engineers, also merit acknowledgment.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

F. T. HAIG, Colonel, R.E.,
Joint Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal,

	Western Districts
BURDWAN DIVN.
1	Burdwan, Dec. 13,* '75	Nil.	Rice being harvested generally. Cold weather crops promising; would be better for more rain. Much sporadic cholera.
2	Bankoora, " 11, "	Nil.	Weather cooler than last week, but cloudy Rice crop is nearly reaped An average of 14 annas is expected. The cold weather crops are doing well. Cholera is still prevalent.
3	Beerbhoom	..	Return not received.
4	Midnapore, " 11. "	·02	We had a shower of rain in the middle of the week, since which the weather has been cooler. Prospects of the crops continue as good as could be desired.
5	Hooghly, " 11. "	Nil.	Weather seasonable. About three-fourths of the amun or late rice on the high land, has been cut. In other respects no change since the date of the last report.
	Howrah, "	Nil.	The weather has at last become seasonably cold. No change in the state and prospects of the crops since last report, save that the reaping of the harvest is now general.
	Central Districts.
PRESIDENCY DIVN.
6	24-Pergunnahs, Dec. 13,† '75	Nil	Weather cold; slightly cloudy in the early part of the week Harvest of the amun or late rice, progressing fairly Cold weather crops doing well. Fever and cholera are prevailing more or less in every sub-division.
7	Nuddea, " 11, "	Nil.	The nights are cold, but days often very hot for the time of the year. The amun, or late rice crop, is being harvested everywhere. On the whole it will yield a fair average crop. Many of the cold weather crops require rain. Cholera is somewhat abating.
8	Jessore, " 11. "	Nil	Cool, with northerly wind; sky occasionally clouded, but still no rain. Reaping of late rice continues Rain wanted everywhere for the cold weather crops, which, from the dry state of the ground, are for the most part very stunted though not altogether failures.
9	Moorshedabad, " 11, "	Nil	Weather cooler than last week. Reaping of the paddy crop nearly completed. Prospects of the rubbee crops are fair. A slight fall in the price of common rice. A few cases of cholera reported from Hariharpara, Dowlutabad, Jelunghi, Borwa, Bharutpore, and Shumshergunge Fever is still continuing in Serajgunge.
RAJSHAHYE DIVN.
10	Dinagepore, " 10, "	Nil.	Weather fair, cold, and cloudy. The rice crops are being cut generally throughout the district. The outturn will be moderate. Cholera in Hemtabad, Bungsibari, and Thakurgaon thanas.
11	Maldah, " 11, "	Nil.	Weather cool, occasionally cloudy Rubbee crop is slightly injured in Sudder station from want of rain. It is attacked by insects in thana Gorgoribah. Kalai reaping commenced. Good outturn is expected. Amun and hoemunti reaping continues. Fair yield is expected from the latter. Cholera decreasing: during the week there have only been nine deaths from that disease, and seven fresh attacks reported. Twenty-eight deaths have occurred from fever.
12	Rajshahye, " 11, "	Nil.	A northerly wind has been blowing during the great part of the week. The sky was cloudy on the 11th instant. The cutting of early paddy is fast going on. Complaints of some injury caused by a black worm are made. The cold weather crops have not yet suffered materially from absence of rain. Two or three days' rain would, however, be very beneficial. The seedlings of boro dhan in the nurseries where they are easily watered, are thriving well, and in some places are nearly ready for transplantation. Cholera cases are still reported, but not to any considerable extent. There has been a good deal of fever, chiefly in Burgaon.
13	Rungpore, " ... "	Nil.	Foggy mornings; weather seasonable. Harvesting of rice is general. Outturn is equal to the estimate, 8 annas for the whole district. Cold weather crops promising Cholera is very prevalent.
14	Bogra, " 11, "	Nil.	Weather fair No change in the state and prospects of the crops since last report, i.e., a fair crop is now certain all round, and in some parts the crops will be good. Rice is now being extensively cut, and the rubbee or cold weather crops are coming on well.
15	Pubna, " 11, "	Nil.	Weather seasonable. State and prospects of the crops are good. Cholera and fever are still prevalent.

* Telegram of the 13th December, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

COOCH BEHAR DIVN.	16	Darjeeling, Dec. 10, '75	Nil.	Frosty mornings and clear, bright days. The harvesting of the hoemanti dhan is progressing in the Terai; the deficiency in the outturn will not be felt seriously. The crops in the hills have done well on the whole.
	17	Julpigoree, " 11, "	·01	Weather cloudy and hot for the season. No change to report in crops. Cultivators are busy in cutting hoemanti paddy. Fever is still prevalent. Cholera is abating
		Cooch Behar, " 9, "	Nil.	The mornings are beginning to be foggy. Two days of the week were cloudy, but there was no rain. No change in the prospects of the crops. The outturn of the late rice crop will, it is believed, turn out to be 8 annas The prospects of tobacco continue good.
		Eastern Districts.
DACCA DIVN.	18	Dacca, Dec. 13,* '75	Nil.	Weather still warm. State of the crops is good. Health improving.
	19	Furreedpore, " 11, "	Nil.	Weather getting gradually colder. The paddy crops are being reaped It is reported from Madareepore that in some places in that sub-division the amun, or late rice, is said to have been attacked by insects Cholera still prevails in all the sub-divisions in the district.
	20	Backergunge ..	......	Return not received.
	21	Mymensingh, " 10, "	Nil.	Weather fine and cold. Generally a fair harvest throughout the district
	22	Tipperah, " 10, "	Nil.	Weather seasonable No difference in the state and prospects of the crops since last report. The amun crop is still being reaped. The outturn is not expected to exceed three-fourths in average in the district. Winter crops are in a favorable condition. Cholera has made its appearance in many places in the district.
CHITTAGONG DIVN.	23	Chittagong, " 9, "	Nil.	Weather warmer than it should be. Heavy dews at night. No change since last report. Harvesting is going on. The yield will be throughout the district much less than it ordinarily is, and will in some high lands be hardly worth the reaping. The failure will, however, be only one of the surplus which would have been exported elsewhere. There will remain ample for local wants
	24	Noakholly, " 9, "	Nil.	Weather fair, wind generally northerly. It was cloudy on the 5th instant. The reaping of the amun, or the late rice, continues. Sowing of pulses, chillies, &c., has commenced in some places. Cholera much prevalent in Begumgunge station. In all other parts it is not so dangerous. No cases of cholera in the town.
	25	Chittagong Hill Tracts, " 7. "	Nil.	Weather seasonable; very cold at night. Cotton is still being collected and mustard sown.
		Hill Tipperah	....	Return not received.
BEHAR.
PATNA DIVN.	26	Patna, Dec. 13,* '75	Nil.	Since last week it looked as if there would be rain, but it cleared off again Mornings exceedingly cold, with heavy dews Prospects of the crops remain unchanged, i.e., the rice crop is now being reaped, and the Collector does not think, on the whole, it will be a bad one The prospects of the rubbee crops are fair, but of course would be benefitted by rain. Health of the district is good.
	27	Gya, " 11, "	Nil.	Mornings cold and seasonable. Cloudy weather and indications of rain. The greater part of the rice crop is cut. Rubbee crop growing fairly in some places; in others, though the seed has germinated, rain is much required to bring the plant on. General health is good.
	28	Shahabad, " 11, "	Nil.	Weather cloudy and cool. Rubbee crops continue to promise well Rain is wanted. Paddy crop is being harvested. Health of the district is good.
	29	Durbhunga, " 11, "	Nil.	Weather cold and dry. The prospects of the crops are much the same as reported last week. Rubbee sowings are much in want of rain
	30	Mozufferpore, " 11, "	Nil.	Weather is rather warm and cloudy. The rice crop is being rapidly reaped. In the Sudder sub-division recent detailed enquiries show that there will be an average 8 annas outturn. In Seetamurhee sub-division the outturn will probably be only 5 annas, certainly not more than 6 annas. In Hazeepore sub-division 4 annas. The rubbee crops are doing fairly well in Mozufferpore and Hazeepore sub-divisions generally, but are very poor in Lalgunge thana. In Seetamurhee sub-division rubbee sowings are being made in moist rice lands, where the crops have been just reaped, and the rubbee area has been found to be much larger than was expected. Though the average outturn for the sub-division is not likely to exceed 3 annas without early rain, it may, under the most favorable circumstances, be as high as 6 annas. The ruhur has begun to dry up in some places. Prices are stationary.

* Telegrams of the 13th December, received on the same day, show rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

Patna Divn.—(Contd.)
31	Sarun, Dec 11, '75	Nil.	Weather clear and cold, at times cloudy. West wind prevailing. No change in the prospects of the crops since last report. Cotton and rahur pulse are doing well. Sugarcane manufacture is going on. Paddy is still being harvested. Rubbee crops are progressing fairly. The heavy dews at night has kept up the moisture in the fields; the crops too are being irrigated where practicable. Poppy coming on well. In Gopalgunge, an outpost of thana Burrowli, in the Sewan sub-division, there was a slight fall of rain, which did much good to the crops. General health is good.
32	Chumparun, " 10, "	Nil.	Weather mild and cool. There was a slight shower on Saturday. Cultivators have commenced harvesting the aughani, or late rice crop, the outturn of which is as bad as reported before, and there is nothing new to report.
Bhagulpore Divn.
33	Monghyr, " 11, "	Nil.	Weather fair. No change since last week. The rice all over the district is being cut. The outturn on the high lands is very scanty. On the low lands the outturn is good. On the whole, as previously stated, nearly an average crop will be cut. Very favorable weather at the beginning of next year will secure a good rubbee crop.
34	Bhagulpore, " 13,* "	Nil.	Aughani harvest is progressing. Rubbee prospects are still good. General health is very good. Prices are not rising.
35	Purneah, " 11, "	Nil.	Weather warmer during the day time than usual at this time of the year. The state and prospects of the rubbee crops on the whole are good though rain is wanted. Winter rice is being reaped. The outturn from the low lands is good, that of the upland is generally bad.
36	Sonthal Perghs. " 11, "	Nil.	Weather dry and cool. Frequently wind from the north-west. The harvest of rice is going on satisfactorily.
ORISSA.
Orissa Divn.
37	Cuttack, " 4, "	Nil.	No change since last report. Crops promising. Weather fine. Public health improved.
38	Pooree, " 9, "	Nil.	Weather bright and cold. The laghu, or the first late rice, is being reaped and gathered Sarud, or the main late rice, is now ready for the sickle, and in some places is being reaped. The mustard, rahur, kalai, moong, and kulthi pulses are promising. In Khoorda the harvesting of the rice crop is in progress. Other crops promising. Cholera is still raging in parts.
39	Balasore, " 10, "	Nil.	Weather fine. Ryots are still busy in harvesting. Outturn of rice crop is good Cholera is still prevalent.
CHOTA NAGPORE
South-Western Frontier Agency.
40	Hazareebagh. Dec. 10, '75	Nil.	Weather cloudy and sunshine alternately, but colder than the previous week. The condition of the crops remains the same, but would be greatly benefitted by rain, which still holds off. The outturn of the paddy, which has now been reaped, is reported to be better than was expected.
41	Lohardugga. " 11, "	Nil.	Weather cloudy, with every appearance of rain coming. The harvesting of the rice crop is now almost over This crop has been a very fine one throughout the district. Rain is much wanted for the rubbee crops, particularly in Palamow. General health is good
42	Singbhoom .	..	Return not received
43	Manbhoom, " 11, "	Nil.	Weather too dry, but pleasant—cool in the morning and hot in the day. The state and prospects of the crops are favorable.

The mean barometer, as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means, are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches, above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

The following are the conditions of sale:—

1. The Opium will be sold for exportation by sea only, and no certificate will be granted except to cover such export.

2. The Opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 800 per chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by Clause 12 of these Conditions of Sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

3. The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M. of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertized for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Member in charge, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the whole quantity advertized shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Member in charge may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

4. Each lot shall contain five chests.

> DEPOSIT.
> When the amount bid is less than Rs. 1,200 per chest, Rs. 200 per chest.
> On bids of Rs. 1,200 and upwards, but less than Rs. 1,600 per chest, Rs. 300 per chest.
> On bids of Rs. 1,600 and upwards, but less than Rs. 2,000 per chest, Rs. 400 per chest.
> And so on, Rs. 100 being added to the deposit for every bid additional, to the extent of Rs. 400.

5. A Promissory Note for a sum, calculated according to the scale noted in the margin, shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room, and before the lot is registered in the sale book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal Receipts or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 4 o'clock in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale: or on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal Receipts, or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be resold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Member in charge shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6. The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the last-mentioned condition, if remaining unredeemed at 4 o'clock of the fifth day following the day of sale, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

7. No tender of money, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or public securities, on account of Opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before 4 o'clock of the fifth day following the day of sale, will be afterwards accepted.

8. The Opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 4 o'clock of the fifteenth day from the day of sale; and in case any lots of such Opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the 5th Condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the Opium shall be disposed of, on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Member in charge shall think fit, and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the Opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale.

9. Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of Opium after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests originally required to be included in each certificate or order.

10. No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present Conditions will be received in this Office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

11. The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall, on demand, tender at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or Government Securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these Conditions.

12. With a view to prevent fictitious biddings, designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained, and the first bonâ fide bidder for a lot after it has been offerred for sale in the mode here described shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these Conditions.

13. The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same agency Opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the Opium to complete the said twenty-five.

14. In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the Opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

15.* The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue:—No. 1, certificate of the Opium advertized for sale; No. 2, report of the examination of such Opium.

16. The public are hereby informed that, in providing the investment of the Behar and Benares Opium for the year 1874-75, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of Opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at Behar and Beneras, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken for the purpose of comparison from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

17. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the Opium advertized for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Member in charge entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of Opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the Opium for shipment.

18. I of 1867	An Act to reduce the amount of the capital of the Bank of Bombay and of the shares thereon, and to amend Act X of 1863 and Act XV of 1863 (Bombay).	The whole.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Government of India is a shareholder in the Banks of Bengal and Madras, and it appoints certain of the directors, and may vote by proxy at the meetings of the proprietors.

The Government has, however, determined to sell its shares and to surrender its powers of appointing directors and voting. As those powers are conferred by Acts of Indian legislatures, and as some of the arrangements connected with the sale are beyond the powers of the directors, the present Bill is necessary.

The opportunity has been taken to repeal the present law on the subject, to consolidate the Acts relating to the Banks of Bengal and Madras, and to incorporate the New Bank of Bombay, Limited.

At the same time the Bill proposes to make certain changes, of which the following are the principal:—

(a). The capital of the Bank of Bengal will be reduced from Rs. 22,000,000 to Rs. 20,000,000, and that of the Bank of Madras from Rs. 5,625,000 to Rs. 5,062,500.

(b). The capital of those two Banks, which is now divided into shares of Rs. 1,000 each, will be divided into shares of only Rs. 500 each.

(c). The kinds of business which the Banks may transact are increased in number. They are empowered to lend upon the security of debentures of Indian municipalities, on goods the documents of title to which are assigned to the Banks as security, and on negotiable securities which, under the provisions of the proposed Act, may be discounted. They may also lend to the Governor General in Council without any specific security. On the other hand, they are expressly forbidden to make loans for a longer period than three months; to make unsecured loans to the same person or firm for more than six lákhs of rupees; to discount any negotiable security, payable where it is presented for discount, which does not carry on it the several responsibilities of at least two persons or firms unconnected in general partnership; or to discount negotiable securities having a longer period to run than three months, except in the case of the Bank of Madras, which may discount such securities payable in Ceylon and running for four months.

The Banks, as constituted by the proposed Act, will still be empowered to act as bankers for the Government of India; and though the Government will cease to have any direct pecuniary concern in the Banks, the interests of the public are so largely involved in their careful management, that it has been thought right to provide (a) that the capital of the Banks shall not be increased or diminished without the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council; (b) that the Governor General in Council in the case of each of the three Banks, the Local Government in the case of the Banks of Madras and Bombay, shall be entitled to require information touching the affairs of the Bank and the publication of statements of assets and liabilities; and (c) that the previous approval of the Government of India shall be required to validate bye-laws.

Letter from Registrar, High Court, Calcutta, No. 1556, dated 8th July 1875.
Letter from Chief Commissioner, Central Provinces, No. 2699—116, dated 3rd August 1875.

RESOLUTION.—The Governor-General in Council observes that, under the provisions of the Court Fees Act, the cancellation of stamps must be effected by the court or office receiving the document to which a stamp has been affixed.

2. His Excellency in Council is not satisfied that the rules at present in force provide adequate security for the stamp revenue in the case of labels affixed to certified copies of papers which are frequently only imperfectly obliterated by the court issuing these documents.

3. In supersession, therefore, of existing orders on the subject, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to direct that the court or office issuing copies, certificates, or other similar documents liable to stamp duty shall, before issue, cancel the labels affixed to them by punching out a portion of the label in such a manner as to remove neither the figure head, nor that part of the label upon which its value is expressed. As an additional precaution, the signature of the officer attesting the document, with the date, should be written across the label and upon the paper on either side of it, as is frequently done by persons signing stamped receipts.

ORDER.—Ordered that the foregoing Resolution be forwarded to all local Governments and Administrations for information and further orders, and that a copy be sent to the Registrar of the High Court, Calcutta.

In reply to your letter No. 700, dated the 16th ultimo, I am directed to express concurrence in your views regarding the objections to the transportation of female term convicts to the Andamans.

No. 700, dated Port Blair, the 16*th September* 1875.

From—MAJOR-GENERAL C. A. BARWELL, Offg. Supdt. of Port Blair and Nicobars,
To—A. P. HOWELL, Esq., Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of India, Home Dept.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 333, of the 14th July, enclosing a Resolution of the Government of India of the same date, on the subject of the transportation of term convicts during the ensuing season, and drawing my attention to the last paragraph of the Resolution regarding the transportation of female term convicts, and inviting a full expression of opinion thereon.

2. In reply I beg to state that the reasons which were given in favor of the transportation of male term convicts can in no way apply to females, and I am of opinion that term transportation in their case is by no means desirable. The demand for intramural work in the settlement is small, and the employment of females on suitable extramural labor is not possible. The accommodation for females is also limited, and male term convicts are not permitted to marry.

3. Under these circumstances, I consider that the transportation of female term convicts to Port Blair should be prohibited.

The following are the conditions of sale:—

1. The Opium will be sold for exportation by sea only, and no certificate will be granted except to cover such export.

2. The Opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 800 per chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by Clause 12 of these Conditions of Sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

3. The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M. of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertized for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Member in charge, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the whole quantity advertized shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Member in charge may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

4. Each lot shall contain five chests.

DEPOSIT.

When the amount bid is less than Rs. 1,200 per chest, Rs. 200 per chest.
On bids of Rs. 1,200 and upwards, but less than Rs 1,600 per chest, Rs. 300 per chest.
On bids of Rs. 1,600 and upwards, but less than Rs. 2,000 per chest, Rs. 400 per chest.
And so on, Rs. 100 being added to the deposit for every bid additional, to the extent of Rs. 400.

5. A Promissory Note for a sum, calculated according to the scale noted in the margin, shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room, and before the lot is registered in the sale book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal Receipts or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 4 o'clock in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale: or on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal Receipts, or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be resold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Member in charge shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6. The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the last-mentioned condition, if remaining unredeemed at 4 o'clock of the fifth day following the day of sale, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

7. No tender of money, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or public securities, on account of Opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before 4 o'clock of the fifth day following the day of sale, will be afterwards accepted.

8. The Opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 4 o'clock of the fifteenth day from the day of sale; and in case any lots of such Opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the 5th Condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the Opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Member in charge shall think fit, and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the Opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale.

9. Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of Opium after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests originally required to be included in each certificate or order.

10. No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present Conditions will be received in this Office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

11. The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall, on demand, tender at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or Government Securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these Conditions.

12. With a view to prevent fictitious biddings, designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained, and the first bonâ fide bidder for a lot after it has been offerred for sale in the mode here described shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these Conditions.

13. The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same agency Opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the Opium to complete the said twenty-five.

14. In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the Opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

15. The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue:—No. 1, certificate of the Opium advertized for sale; No. 2, report of the examination of such Opium.

16. The public are hereby informed that, in providing the investment of the Behar and Benares Opium for the year 1874-75, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of Opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at Behar and Benares, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken for the purpose of comparison from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

17. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the Opium advertized for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Member in charge entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of Opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the Opium for shipment.

18. It is hereby further notified that under the 6th Article of the Convention between Great Britain and France, dated the 7th March 1815, quoted below, the agents in India of the French Government, or persons duly appointed by them, are entitled to demand that out of the quantities of Behar and Benares Opium declared as above for sale at the twelve sales of the year 1876, there shall be delivered to them, at the average of the particular sale or sales to which the Opium so applied for may belong, a quantity not exceeding in the aggregate 300 chests, and the Agents of the French Government must make requisition specifying the quantity of Opium required by them at any particular sale, within thirty days from the advertisement of such intended sale, provided however that the Agents of the French Government may make such requisition for the whole quantity within thirty days from the publication of this notification. If the Agent of the French Government shall not make the requisiton for Opium within the time above mentioned, the entire quantity of about 47,000 chests of Behar and Benares, as above estimated, will be brought to sale in the usual manner; and if they shall make application for a quantity of Opium to be delivered to them out of the quantity advertized for sale at each or any of the twelve sales above mentioned, but shall not pay for it within the prescribed period of payment, the Government of Bengal reserves to itself the right of disposing of the Opium which the French Authorities may so fail to pay for, either by increasing the quantity reserved at the sale next ensuing after the date fixed for payment, or by selling such Opium, or any portion of it at any subsequent monthly sale in addition to the quantity which in this advertisement is approximately mentioned as the quantity to be sold at such sale; or by selling such Opium at a sale to be held expressly for the purpose.

NOTIFICATIONS.—POLITICAL.

Fort William, the 21st December 1875.

No. 3359*P*.—The following General Convention between the Governments of Great Britain and of Tunis, which appeared in the London Gazette of the 29th October 1875, is republished for general information :—

GENERAL CONVENTION BETWEEN THE GOVERNMENTS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND OF TUNIS.

Signed in the English and Arabic languages, July 19, 1875.

The Government of Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and His Most Serene Highness Mohammed Essadock Bey, Lord of the Regency of Tunis, being desirous to maintain and improve the relations of friendship and commerce which have long subsisted between them and between British and Tunisian subjects, have resolved to proceed to a revision and improvement of the Treaties subsisting between the respective countries, in consequence of which the following stipulations have been entered into and concluded between His Most Serene Highness the Bey, and Richard Wood, Esquire, Companion of the Most Honourable Order of the Bath, Her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General, duly authorized to that effect.

ARTICLE I.

Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland may appoint, besides her Political Agent, such Consuls, Vice-Consuls, and Consular Agents in the Regency of Tunis as she may deem necessary; and such Consuls, Vice-Consuls, and Consular Agents shall be at liberty to reside in any of the seaports or cities of His Highness the Bey, which they or the British Government may choose and find most convenient for the affairs and service of Her Majesty, and for the assistance of her subjects.

ARTICLE II.

Every mark of honour and respect shall at all times be paid, and every privilege and immunity allowed, to Her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General accredited to His Highness the Bey which is paid or allowed to the Representative of any other nation whatsoever; and respect and honour shall be shown to the British Consuls, Vice-Consuls, and Consular Agents, who shall reside in the Regency of Tunis. Their houses and families shall be safe and protected. No one shall interfere with them, or commit any act of oppression or disrespect towards them, either by word or deed; and if any one should do so, the Tunisian authorities shall take immediate measures for the punishment of the offender. The British Consuls, Vice-Consuls, and Consular Agents shall, moreover, continue to enjoy, in the most ample sense, all the privileges and immunities which are now or may be hereafter accorded to the Consuls, Vice-Consuls, and Consular Agents of the most favoured nation.

ARTICLE III.

The British Agent and Consul-General shall be at liberty to choose his own interpreters, brokers, guards and servants, either from among the natives or others. His interpreters, brokers, guards, and servants shall be exempt from the conscription, and from payment of any poll-tax, forced contribution, or other similar or corresponding charge. In like manner, the Consuls, Vice-Consuls, and Consular Agents residing at the Tunisian ports under the orders of the said Agent and Consul-General, shall be at liberty to choose, that is to say, the Consuls, each one interpreter, one broker, two guards, and three servants; the Vice-Consuls and Consular Agents, each one interpreter, one broker and one guard, and two servants, not being in the military service, who shall likewise be exempt from the conscription, from the payment of any poll-tax forced contribution, or other similar or corresponding charge. No prohibition nor tax shall be put upon the provisions, furniture, or any other articles which may come to the said Agent and Consul-General, Consuls, or Vice-Consuls, for their own use and for the use of their families, upon their delivering to the Officer of the Customs a note under their hand specifying the number of articles which they shall require to be passed on that ground, but this privilege shall only be accorded to Consular Officers who are not engaged in trade. If the service of their Sovereign should require their attendance in their own country, no impediment shall be offered to their departure, and no hindrance shall be offered either to themselves or their servants, or in regard to their property, but they shall be at liberty to go and come, respected and honoured. If they should depute another person to act for them in their absence, they shall not be prevented in any way from so doing, nor shall the deputy be prevented from acting in that capacity.

ARTICLE IV.

There shall be reciprocal freedom of commerce between the dominions of Her Majesty the Queen and the Regency of Tunis. British merchants or their agents and brokers shall be permitted to purchase at all places within the Regency, whether for the purposes of internal trade or of exportation, all articles, without any exception whatsoever, being the produce or manufacture of the said Regency; and the purchaser shall be free to remove his goods, when purchased, from one place to another, without any attempt being made on the part of the Local Governors to interfere with them.

ARTICLE V.

In accordance with the friendship which has at all times existed between the two Governments, His Highness the Bey engages to protect British subjects who may come to his country either for the purposes of trade or for travelling. They shall be free to travel or to reside in any part of the Regency without hindrance or molestation; and they shall be treated with respect, love, and honour. They shall be exempt from forced military service, whether by land or by sea; from forced loans, and from every extraordinary contribution. Their dwellings and warehouses destined for the purposes of residence and commerce, as well as their property, both real and personal, of every kind, shall be respected, and, in particular, all the stipulations of the Convention concluded between Her Majesty's Government and His Highness the Bey on the 10th of October 1863, relative to the permission granted to British subjects to hold real property in the Regency of Tunis, are hereby confirmed. And British subjects, vessels, commerce, and navigation shall enjoy, without any restriction or diminution, all the privileges, favours, and immunities which are now or may hereafter be granted to the subjects, vessels, commerce, and navigation of any other nation whatever.

Her Britannic Majesty, on her part, engages to insure to Tunisian subjects, vessels, commerce, and navigation within her Dominions, the enjoyment of the same protection and privileges which are or may be enjoyed by the subjects, vessels, commerce, and navigation of the most favoured nation.

ARTICLE VI.

The perfect security which His Highness the Bey accords to the British merchants and subjects who may reside in the Regency extends likewise to the free exercise of the rites of their religion. They shall be free to erect churches, upon the application of the British Agent and Consul-General to His Highness the Bey, who will grant the necessary permission. The British Cemetery of Saint George, and other burial places, now or hereafter to be established, shall be protected and respected as heretofore.

ARTICLE VII.

His Highness the Bey engages that he will not prohibit the importation into the Regency of any article, the produce and manufacture of the dominions and possessions of Her Britannic Majesty, from whatever place arriving, and that the duties, to be levied upon such articles of produce or manufacture so imported shall in no case exceed one fixed rate of eight per cent. ad valorem, to be calculated upon the value of such merchandise at the place of landing, or a specific duty, fixed by common consent, equivalent thereto.

Such articles, after paying eight per cent. import duty, shall not be subject to any other internal charge or impost whatsoever, whether the buyer be a Tunisian or a foreigner. And if such articles should not be sold for consumption in the Regency, but should be re-exported within the space of one year, the Administration of the Customs shall be bound, provided the bales or packages have not been opened, to restore, at the time of their re-exportation, the duty levied to the merchant, who shall be required first to furnish proofs that the goods so exported have paid the said import duty.

After the expiration of one year the merchant shall be free to re-export his foreign goods without claiming the drawback, and the Custom-house shall not levy upon them any duty whatsoever on re-exportation.

Should a British merchant or his agent desire to convey, by sea or by land, from one port or place to another port or place in the Regency of Tunis, goods upon which the ad valorem duty above mentioned has been already paid, such goods shall be subject to no further duty, either on their embarkation or disembarkation, provided they be accompanied by a certificate from the Tunisian Administrator of Customs that the duty has been paid.

And it is moreover agreed that no other or higher duties shall be imposed on the importation of any article, the produce or manufacture of one of the Contracting Parties, into the country of the other, which shall not equally extend to the like articles, being the produce or manufacture of any other country.

ARTICLE VIII.

Vessels navigating under the British flag and vessels navigating under the Tunisian flag shall be free to carry on the coasting trade in the States and Dominions of the Contracting Parties. They shall enjoy the same rights and immunities as are enjoyed by national vessels, and they shall be free either to land a portion of their cargoes, or to embark goods, foreign or native, to complete their cargoes, in each other's ports, without being obliged in each case to procure any special license from the Local Authorities, or to pay any charges and dues that are not paid by national vessels.

The stipulations of this Article shall however, as regards the Colonial coasting trade, be deemed to extend only to the coasting trade of such of the Colonial possessions of Her Britannic Majesty as, under the provisions of the Act relating thereto, may have opened their coasting trade to foreign vessels.

ARTICLE IX.

His Highness the Bey formally engages to abolish all monopolies of agricultural produce or of any other article whatsoever, save and except tobacco and salt, and save and except the fisheries, and the tannery of hides of oxen, camels, and horses.

British subjects, however, or their agents, buying or selling salt and tobacco in virtue of licenses or permits for consumption in the Regency of Tunis, shall be subject to the same regulations as the most favoured Tunisian subjects trading in the two articles aforesaid; and furthermore, they shall be free to compete for, obtain, and exercise the right of fishery, subject to the local laws and regulations.

ARTICLE X.

If British merchants or their agents in the Regency of Tunis should purchase any article of Tunisian produce or manufacture for internal consumption, the said merchants or their agents shall not pay, on the purchase and sale of such articles, any higher duties or charges than are paid, under similar circumstances, by the most favoured class of Tunisians or foreigners engaged in the internal trade of the Regency of Tunis. In like manner Tunisian merchants or their agents in the British dominions shall not pay on the purchase and sale of British produce or manufactures, for internal consumption in the said dominions, higher duties or charges than are paid by British subjects or the most favoured foreigners engaged in the internal trade of the said dominions, upon similar articles of produce or manufacture.

ARTICLE XI.

If a British merchant or his agent shall purchase for exportation any article of Tunisian produce or manufacture, either at the place where such article is produced or in its transit from that place to another, upon which article of produce or manufacture the internal taxes known by the names of "Ushr," "Kanoon," and "Mahsoulat," and others, have been already levied, such article of produce or manufacture shall be subject at the port of shipment to the payment of the export duty only, and the notarial fees and charges for measurement established by law.

ARTICLE XII.

In case of any dispute arising between the Custom-house and the merchant regarding the value to be put upon any merchandize or goods imported by him into the Regency of Tunis, the merchant shall be free to pay the duty in kind, in the most equitable manner.

Should, however, the merchant be unable or unwilling to make use of the above faculty, the Custom-house shall have the right to purchase such merchandize or goods at the price at which the merchant has valued them, with an augmentation of 5 per cent.

But should the foregoing two modes fail to solve the difficulty, His Highness the Bey and Her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General shall each name an arbitrator, being a merchant, and, in case of a divergence of opinion, the two arbitrators shall name an umpire, also a merchant, whose decision shall be final.

ARTICLE XIII.

With a view to the encouragement of agriculture, His Highness the Bey furthermore engages to permit the importation, free of import duty and of every other internal charge, of agricultural implements and machinery, as well as of cattle and animals for the improvement of the native breeds, whenever such agricultural implements, machinery, cattle, and animals are proved to be for private use and not for purposes of trade, in which latter case they shall be subject to the payment of an import duty not exceeding 8 per cent.

ARTICLE XIV.

In case the importation of foreign wheat, barley, and Indian corn should be rendered necessary in consequence of the failure of the crops, in consequence of famine or other causes, which God forbid, such foreign wheat, barley, and Indian corn shall be as heretofore exempt from the payment of any import duty, and shall be subject only to the payment of 20 karoobs (7½*d.*) per kaffis.

With the exception of the above three articles, all other foreign provisions, such as rice, lentils, beans and other pulse known by the appellation of "Hashahesh" (dried vegetables) shall pay an import duty not exceeding eight per cent., but the importer or his agent shall be free to sell such provisions in retail or in any other manner without the payment of any other charge whatsoever.

ARTICLE XV

It is understood between the Contracting Parties that the Tunisian Government reserves to itself the faculty and right of issuing a general prohibition against the importation into the Regency of gunpowder, unless Her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General shall think fit to apply for a special license, which license shall, in that case, be granted provided no valid objection thereto can be alleged.

Gunpowder, when allowed to be imported, shall be subject to a duty not exceeding eight per cent., and shall be liable to the following regulations:—

1. It shall not be sold by subjects of Her Britannic Majesty in quantities exceeding the quantities prescribed by the local regulations.

2. When a cargo, or a large quantity of gunpowder arrives in a Tunisian port on board a British vessel, such vessel shall be anchored at a particular spot, to be designated by the local authorities, and the gunpowder shall then be conveyed, under the inspection of such authorities, to depôts or fitting places, designated by the Government, to which the parties interested shall have access under due regulations.

Gunpowder imported in contravention of the prohibition, or in the absence of the license aforementioned, shall be liable to confiscation, save and except small quantities of gunpowder for sporting reserved for private use, which shall not be subject to the regulations of the present Article.

Cannon, arms of war, or military stores, as well as anchors, masts, and chain cables, shall be imported free of duty, provided they are landed at the opened and recognized ports; provided, also, that previous to the landing of cannon the permission of the Government is obtained.

ARTICLE XVI.

The people of the Contracting Parties shall have the right to establish in each other's country commercial, industrial, and banking companies, co-operative, or mutual or shareholding associations, or any other association, whether between and amongst themselves, or between them and Tunisian subjects or subjects of any other Power: provided the object of such companies and associations be lawful, and subject always to the laws of the country in which they shall be established.

It is, however, understood, that no joint stock companies limited, whose capital is made up of nominal shares to bearer, and no anonymous association shall be established in their respective territories without the authorization of the local Government.

ARTICLE XVII.

British subjects and Tunisian subjects shall be free to exercise in each other's country any art, profession, or industry; to establish manufactories, and factories, and to introduce steam machinery or machinery moved by any other power without being subjected to any other formality or to the payment of higher or other taxes and imposts than those prescribed by the laws or municipal regulations, or which are paid by natives.

It is understood that the manufactories and their appurtenances, being immovable property, shall be subject to the provisions of the Convention of the 10th October, 1863, relative to the permission granted to British subjects to hold real property in the Regency of Tunis.

ARTICLE XVIII.

No harbour, pilotage, light-house, or quarantine dues, or other local dues, shall be levied upon British vessels, which are not imposed upon Tunisian vessels or upon the vessels of the most favoured nation.

If a British vessel shall enter a Tunisian port from stress of weather and depart, it shall not be subject to the payment of the aforesaid dues, but shall pay only the fee to the pilot, should a pilot be required. Should such vessel, however, visit a Tunisian port for the purpose of procuring water and of purchasing provisions, it shall pay only a portion, not exceeding half, of the harbour, pilotage, light-house, and quarantine or other local dues payable at the said port.

In like manner Tunisian vessels which shall visit any of the ports of Her Majesty's dominions shall pay only the harbour, quarantine, and other dues which are levied upon British vessels.

ARTICLE XIX.

The captains of merchant-vessels having goods on board destined for the Regency of Tunis shall, on their arrival at the port where such goods are to be landed, deposit in the Custom-house of such port a true copy of their manifest.

ARTICLE XX.

If a British subject be detected in smuggling into the Regency any description of goods or should be detected in embarking any goods, the produce of Tunis, for which he can exhibit no Custom-house permit, such goods shall be confiscated by the Tunisian Treasury, but a report or procès-verbal of the alleged contraband must, as soon as the said goods are seized by the authorities, be drawn up and communicated to the British Consular Authorities, and no goods can be confiscated as contraband unless the fraud with regard to them shall be duly and legally proved

It is stipulated that vessels navigating under the British flag shall submit to the regulations of the port; that such vessels, speronaras, boats, and the like craft shall not serve as depôts for merchandise; and that whenever their detention in the Tunisian ports shall exceed eight calendar months, they shall, when required to do so, give satisfactory explanations to the British Consular Authority and to the Local Authorities in regard to the motive of their detention in such ports. Should such explanations be deemed unsatisfactory, the Custom-house may, with the consent of Her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General, place a guard on board for the prevention of fraud, the expenses for such guard being at the charge of the vessel.

ARTICLE XXI.

Should British subjects desire to embark in, or discharge goods from, any vessel, they can employ the Tunisian Custom-house boats, paying the usual charges for the use of such boats. They are free, however, to discharge their merchandise without using the Custom-house boats, in which case they will apprize the Administration of the Customs of it in writing, taking care to mention, on the arrival of each steamer or vessel having goods on board to their consignment, that they will be present themselves, or be represented by their agents, to assist at the discharge of said goods. In case of their absence, however, the Custom-house will proceed to discharge their goods, rendering itself responsible as heretofore, unless in a case of "force majeure." No sort of claim can be preferred by the consignee against the Custom-house on the plea that it had not the right to discharge his goods, seeing that the discharge is made with the sanction of the master of the vessel, and not with that of the Custom-house.

Every consignee who discharges his goods after making the demand in writing, will provide himself with a Custom-house officer, who will accompany him to the vessel and return with him to the Custom-house. The fee to the Custom-house officer shall be paid by the merchant.

ARTICLE XXII.

Whenever the Tunisian Government shall temporarily prohibit the exportation of wheat, barley, cattle, or any other article of native produce, such prohibition shall not come into operation until three months after official notification shall have been given, and shall apply only to the specific article or articles mentioned in the Decree enacting the prohibition.

ARTICLE XXIII.

No British subject, nor any person under British protection, shall, in the Regency of Tunis, be made liable to pay a debt due from another person of his nation unless he shall have made himself responsible or guarantee for the debtor by a valid document. Neither shall any British subject be compelled to sell any thing to, or to buy anything from, a Tunisian without his own free will. The seller shall be obliged to deliver up to the purchaser only that portion of the goods which he voluntarily sold to him, and the purchaser shall have no claim or right upon the remaining portion of such goods or merchandize.

In like manner, no Tunisian subject in the Dominions of the Queen of Great Britain shall be made liable to pay a debt due from another person of his nation to a British subject, unless he shall have made himself responsible or guarantee for the debtor by a valid document.

ARTICLE XXIV.

In all criminal cases and complaints where the prosecutor and prisoner are British subjects, and in all civil differences, disputes, or litigation which may occur between British subjects exclusively, the Agent and Consul-General, Consul, or other British authority, shall be sole judge or arbiter. No one shall interfere, but they shall be amenable to the British Consular Courts only.

All civil differences, disputes, or litigations between British subjects and the subjects of any foreign country other than Great Britain, shall be decided solely in the Tribunals of the foreign Consuls, according to the usages heretofore established, or which may hereafter be arranged between such Consuls, without the interference of the Tunisian Courts or Government.

ARTICLE XXV.

Disputes and differences arising between a British and a Tunisian subject, whether the British subject is plaintiff or defendant, of a commercial and civil nature (criminal and correctional excepted), shall be settled by His Highness the Bey, or his delegate, in the presence and with the concurrence of the British Consul-General or Consul.

It is likewise agreed that, should any new procedure differing from the above be adopted and applied at present, or in future, in the treatment of any other nation, the British subjects, without exception, shall be entitled to the enjoyment thereof, whenever Her Majesty's Government shall request it.

It is, however, understood that if Mixed Courts should be at any time established in Tunis with the assent and approval of Her Majesty's Government, in that case all civil and commercial suits and disputes arising between British and Tunisian subjects shall be heard and determined by such Mixed Courts and Tribunals, according to the rules and procedure that may be agreed upon between the Contracting Parties.

ARTICLE XXVI.

The cognizance of crimes committed by British subjects in the Tunisian territory, as well as all contraventions of the police, and other regulations, shall devolve upon the Consul-General or Consul; and the punishment thereof shall be applied by the said Consul-General or Consul, in concurrence with His Highness the Bey. In case the criminal or offender should escape from the Consular, or other prison, the Consul-General or Consul shall not be held responsible in any manner whatsoever.

ARTICLE XXVII.

No quittance or receipt presented by a British subject to a Court, purporting to be a discharge of a debt which he has contracted towards a Tunisian subject, shall be held as a legal and a valid discharge, unless he can show that such quittance or receipt is under the handwriting, seal, or signature of the Tunisian subject or duly executed by native notaries, and attested by the Cadi or the Governor of the place. And in like manner no quittance or receipt presented by a Tunisian subject purporting to be a discharge of a debt which he has contracted towards a British subject, shall be held as a legal and valid discharge of his debt, unless he can show that such quittance or discharge is under the handwriting, signature, or mark of the British subject, duly attested by the Consul, or unless the discharge is drawn up by two notaries and attested by the British Consul.

ARTICLE XXVIII

Should any Tunisian subject be found guilty before the Tunisian Courts of procuring false evidence to the injury or prejudice of a British subject, he shall be severely punished by the Tunisian Government. In like manner, the competent British Consular authorities shall severely punish, according to English law, any British subject who may be convicted of the same offence against a Tunisian subject.

ARTICLE XXIX.

If, at any time, Her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General, Consul, Vice-Consul, or Consular Agent, should require the assistance of soldiers, guards, armed boats, or other aid for the purpose of arresting or transporting any British subject, the Tunisian authorities shall immediately comply with the demand, on payment of the usual fees given on such occasions by Tunisian subjects.

ARTICLE XXX.

If a ship belonging to the Queen of Great Britain, or to any of her subjects, should be wrecked or stranded on any part of the coast of the Regency of Tunis, the Tunisian authorities within whose jurisdiction the accident may occur shall, in accordance with the rules of friendship, respect her and assist her in all her wants. They shall allow and enable the master to take such steps as he may think necessary or desirable, and shall take immediate steps for the protection of her crew and of her cargo, and of any goods, papers, or other articles which may be saved from her at the time of the wreck or afterwards; and, moreover, they shall lose no time in informing the nearest British authority of the accident. They shall deliver over to him, without exception or loss, all the cargo, goods, papers, and articles which have been saved and preserved from the wreck, and they shall likewise furnish the master and the crew of the wrecked ship with such victuals and provisions as they may require, for which they shall receive payment. For their friendly aid and services in protecting, saving, preserving, and restoring to the British Consular authorities the goods and contents saved through their exertions from the wrecked vessel, or any portion thereof, they shall be entitled to such an amount of salvage as Her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General and the Chief Tunisian authority on the spot shall judge a fair compensation for their services. The master and crew shall be at liberty to proceed to any place they please, and at any time they may think proper, without any hindrance.

In like manner, the ships of His Highness the Bey, or of Tunisian subjects, shall be assisted and protected in the dominions of the Queen of Great Britain as though they were British ships, and shall be subject only to the same lawful charges of salvage to which British ships, under similar circumstances, are liable.

ARTICLE XXXI.

Should, however (which God forbid), the crew or any portion of the crew of a wrecked or stranded British vessel be murdered by the natives, or its cargo, or any part of its cargo or contents, be stolen by them, the Tunisian Government binds itself to take the most prompt and energetic measures for seizing the marauders or robbers, in order to proceed to their severe punishment. It, moreover, engages to make the most diligent search for the recovery and restitution of the stolen property; and whatever compensation for the damage done to individuals or to their effects, under similar circumstances, is granted, or may hereafter be granted to the subjects of the most favoured nation, or the equivalent of it, shall be also accorded to the subjects of the Queen of Great Britain.

ARTICLE XXXII.

It is agreed and covenanted that if any of the crew of Her Majesty's ships of war or of British merchant-vessels, of whatever nationality they may be, borne on the papers of said ships, shall desert within any port in the Regency of Tunis, the authorities of such port or territory shall be bound to give every assistance in their power for the apprehension of such deserters, on the application of the British authority. In like manner, if any of the crew of the ships of His Highness the Bey, or of Tunisian merchant-vessels, not being slaves, shall desert in any of the ports or harbours, within the dominions of Her Majesty the Queen of Great Britain, the authorities of such ports or harbour shall give every assistance in their power for the apprehension of such deserters on the application of the Commanding Officer, Captain or any other Tunisian authority, and no person whatsoever shall protect or harbour such deserters.

ARTICLE XXXIII.

The ships of war belonging to Her Majesty the Queen, and the ships belonging to His Highness the Bey, shall have free liberty to use the ports of each country for washing, cleansing, and repairing any of their defects, and to buy for their use any sort of provisions, alive or dead, or any other necessaries, at the market price, without paying custom to any officer.

And it is moreover agreed that, whenever any of Her Majesty's ships of war shall arrive in the Bay of Tunis, and shall fire a salute of twenty-one guns, the Castle of the Goletta, or the Tunisian ships of war, shall return the same number of guns as the Royal salute to Her Majesty's colours, according to ancient usage.

ARTICLE XXXIV.

The Government of the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, in consideration of the sincere friendship that has at all times existed between Her Majesty and His Highness the Bey, agrees that Tunisian ships and cargoes shall be received at the ports and harbours of the British dominions upon the same footing as British vessels and cargoes.

ARTICLE XXXV.

British vessels arriving in any of the Tunisian ports for the purpose of trade or by reason of stress of weather, or to repair damages, shall not be compelled to discharge their cargoes or any portion of their cargoes, and they shall not be made to change their destination or to receive any passengers on board unless it be with their own free will, but they shall be respected, and they shall be allowed to depart without any hindrance. Should they be compelled to land their cargoes, or a portion thereof, in order to effect repairs, they shall also be permitted to re-embark such goods free of any duty or charge whatsoever.

Tunisian vessels shall receive the like friendly treatment in ports and harbours of the British dominions.

ARTICLE XXXVI.

If any British subject should die in any place or territory appertaining to His Highness the Bey, no Governor or other Tunisian officer shall, on any pretence whatsoever, take possession or dispose of, or interfere with, the goods and property of the deceased, but such goods and property, of whatever description, may be taken possession of by his heirs, or by the British Consular authority, without any hindrance or impediment whatsoever on the part of such Governor or Tunisian officer.

If, however, a British subject should die at a place where there is no British Consul, or whilst travelling, in such a case the Tunisian authorities of the place where he died shall be bound to preserve and protect his goods and effects: they shall make, with the assistance of notaries, a faithful inventory of them, which inventory they shall lose no time in sending to the nearest Governor of a place where an English Consul resides.

Should the deceased British subject leave behind him debts due from him to a native, the Consul-General or his deputy shall assist the creditor in the recovery of his claim upon the estate of the deceased; and, likewise, if the deceased should leave behind debts due to him from Tunisians, the Governors, or those who have such power, shall compel the debtors to pay what is due by them to the Consul-General or his deputy for the benefit of the estate of the deceased.

ARTICLE XXXVII.

The British Government and His Highness the Bey, moved by sentiments of humanity and having regard to the free institutions which, under Providence, their respective countries happily enjoy, mutually engage to do all in their power for the suppression of slavery. Whilst, on the one part, the British Government engage not to relax their efforts with friendly powers for the prevention of the barbarous traffic in human beings, and for the emancipation of slaves, His Highness the Bey especially engages, on the other, to cause the Declaration of Moharem, 1262 (23rd January 1846), abolishing for ever slavery in the Regency, to be obeyed and respected, and to use his utmost efforts to discover and punish all persons within his Regency who contravene or act contrary thereto.

ARTICLE XXXVIII.

The British Government and His Highness the Bey engage to do all in their power for the suppression of piracy; and His Highness especially engages to use his utmost efforts to discover and punish all persons on his coasts or within his territory who may be guilty of that crime, and to aid the British Government in so doing.

ARTICLE XXXIX.

Privateering is now and for ever abolished: His Highness the Bey being desirous to maintain inviolable the neutrality of the Regency of Tunis, it has been established and agreed that in case of war or hostilities, he shall not permit the enemies of Her Majesty the Queen of Great Britain to fit out privateers in the ports of the Regency, or to sail from them to prey upon the ships and commerce of her subjects; and it is moreover established that His Highness shall not permit or tolerate in the Regency of Tunis the sale of any prize whatsoever which shall have belonged or may belong to the belligerents.

The Queen of Great Britain will cause to be observed the same rules of neutrality towards Tunisian ships and subjects in all the seaports of Her Majesty's dominions.

ARTICLE XL.

In order that the two Contracting Parties may have the opportunity of hereafter treating and agreeing upon such other arrangements as may tend still further to the improvement of their mutual intercourse, and to the advancement of the interest of their respective people, it is agreed that at any time after the expiration of seven years from the date of the present Convention of Commerce and Navigation, either of the High Contracting Parties shall have the right to call upon the other to enter upon a revision of the same; but until such revision shall have been accomplished by common consent, and a new Convention shall have been concluded and put into operation, the present Convention shall continue and remain in full force and effect.

ARTICLE XLI

If any doubt should arise with regard to the interpretation or the application of any of the stipulations of the present Convention, it is agreed that in Tunis the interpretation the most favourable to British subjects shall be given, and in Her Majesty's dominions that most favourable to Tunisians. It is not pretended by any of the foreging Articles to stipulate for more than the plain and fair construction of the terms employed, nor to preclude in any manner the Tunisian Government from the exercise of its rights of internal Administration where the exercise of those rights does not evidently infringe upon the privileges accorded by the present Convention to British subjects or British commerce.

ARTICLE XLII.

The stipulations of the present Convention shall come into immediate operation and shall be substituted for the stipulations of all preceding Treaties between Great Britain and Tunis, with the exception of the Convention of the 10th of October 1863, already referred to in Article XVII preceding, which is renewed and confirmed.

This Convention has been written in triplicate, consisting in forty-two Articles, besides the introduction, and contained in the preceding forty-three pages, to be signed by both parties, and to be executed in the manner explained and clearly set forth in its several provisions, having for object the duration, confirmation, and maintenance of amity between them.

Dated Monday, the sixteenth day of Gumad-el-Thany, 1292 of the Hegira, corresponding to the nineteenth of July 1875.
